Texas Eastern to Begin New 791-Mile Pipe Line

—Shreveport, La.—

Construction work on Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation's new 791-mile pipe line, which was authorized by the Federal Power Commission last week will begin immediately, George T. Naff, executive vice-president of the company has announced.

FPC authorization of the new natural gas project comes at a particularly fortunate time not only for southern New England, which the new line will supply, Mr. Naff said, but also for the urgent needs of national defense industry in other states.

The new pipe line, 30 inches in diameter, will increase Texas Eastern's peak day delivery capacity from 740,000,000 to 1,205,700,000 cubic feet of natural gas, 220,000,000 cubic feet daily of which is destined for Algonquin Gas Transmission Company for resale to utilities in Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts, including Boston. This means, Mr. Naff pointed out, that Texas Eastern will be the largest transcontinental supplier of natural gas to New England.

Aerial surveys of the pipe line route have already been completed, he said, and ground surveying and acquisition of right-of-way have begun. First shipments of steel pipe have already been received, and the entire project is scheduled for completion in time for service in the winter of 1951-52. Every effort will be made, Mr. Naff said, to expedite construction in order to commence service as soon as possible.

Texas Eastern's new line will extend from Kosciusko, Mississippi, through northwestern Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky and southeastern Ohio to Conneville, Pennsylvania, where it will join the existing Inch Lines. From Conneville a new pipe line will be built to Texas Eastern's and New York State Natural Gas Corporation's new jointly-owned 105-billion cubic foot Oakford Gas Storage Field.

Seven compressor stations will be built on the new pipe line and six stations will be added to the present Texas Eastern System east of Conneville. These stations, aggregating 98,900 horsepower, will increase the gas-pumping power of the entire system to a total of 376,300 horsepower.

In addition to the New England area, the enlarged Texas Eastern system will provide additional supplies of natural gas in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Missouri.

McCormick Quits Pa. Post

—Harrisburg—

Robert C. McCormick, the man who was hired by former Governor Duff to "sell Pennsylvania," has resigned his $10,400 job in the State Commerce Department.

McCormick, who also helped "sell" Duff to the voters when the ex-governor ran for the U. S. Senate last year, had been given the cold shoulder by Governor Fine's administration.

When Duff went to Washington, he made no provision for taking McCormick with him or keeping him on the state payroll.

McCormick came to the Commerce Department in November, 1948, from Steve Hannagan Associates, publicity organization, ostensibly to work in the Commerce Department.

Last year, however, he was given a leave of absence from his state job to go on tour with Duff during the primary and general election campaigns.

Before going with the Hannagan organization, where he was assigned to the Union Pacific Railroad account in Omaha, McCormick was general news editor of International News Service's New York bureau.

Returns from Arizona

C. E. Buchingham, well known western Greene County resident, has returned from Casa Grande, Arizona, to Washington, R. D. 4. He stated that he just "could hardly wait to see the green hills of southwestern Pennsylvania." He had made a garden for his son before he left and arrived home in time to plant one.

Mr. Buckingham, who has resided most of his life in Richhill Township, has read the Waynesburg Republican for 75 years. He began as a lad when he lived with his grandfather, Samuel Iams.

Other speakers will be Mary Rissinger, assistant supervisor of Home Economics Extension at State College; J. M. Fry, director of Extension Service at State College; and H. R. Cotterman of Capital University in Columbus, Ohio.

Election of officers will be held. The association was formed by a group of agriculturists in an effort to aid farmers with expert advice. First officers of the group were N. W. Sayers, president; George West, vice president; Albert T. Adamson, secretary; and T. H. Montgomery, treasurer. The executive board was H. D. Freeland, J. L. Patterson, Harvey W. Pratt, J. E. Dinsmore and E. D. Maple.

Pleaders Sentenced

Rhoades was also fined $50 for failure to stop at the scene of an accident and $50 for not identifying himself after an accident.

David Leroy Phillips of Sycamore, was fined $50 and sentenced to 90 days in jail on each of two charges of driving after his license was revoked. Sentences will run concurrently.

—New York—

The nation's death rate from tuberculosis reached a new low in 1950, but at least 110,000 more people fell ill with tuberculosis, a statistician reported Friday.

Candidates Announce For Primary

Several announcements of candidates for county offices in the July 24 primary have been made in the past few days.

Mrs. Rae Black Spragg, who was appointed clerk of courts to fill out the term of her brother, the late George H. Black, is seeking nomination for that office. She was appointed by ex-governor James H. Duff. It is considered unlikely that she will be opposed.

Two aspirants for the office of county treasurer have announced. They are Glenn A. Arnold, Waynesburg real estate dealer and auctioneer; and Pauline Cole Kiger who has been an employee in the treasurer's office since 1932 when her father was elected.

The present treasurer, John R. Conklin, cannot be a candidate for the office, since by law he cannot succeed himself.

The present board of county commissioners, Bert G. Titus, Frank F. Bryan, and John G. Bally are all candidates for that office again.

J. Clarence Kinnan, prothonotary, will seek a second term, and it is presumed that the register and recorder, Harold Dulaney, will also seek nomination.

Clair Bee In W. Va. On Mining Deal

—Charleston, W. Va.—

Basketball coach Clair Bee of Long Island University, arrived here Saturday for what he said was a series of conferences about "a coal mine."

The veteran Blackbird coach, a Grafton (W. Va.) native, answered in reply to a reporter's question as to whether he planned to leave LIU:

"No, I don't think so."

Bee was met at the airport by Frank Grimes of Charleston, a high school classmate; Robert H. Moore of nearby Gauley Bridge, identified as a small coal operator, and Erwin Warden, also believed to be a coal man.

The Charleston Gazette said Bee looked into a business matter which might lead to his departure from the basketball scene. He was shocked deeply by the recent "fix" scandal involving games in Madison Square Garden. Three members of his current team were arrested on charges of accepting bribes to fix games and Long Island reacted by canceling the remainder of this year's schedule.

(Mr. Bee is a graduate of Waynesburg College.)

Bradley Sees Crisis in Europe

—Washington—

General Omar N. Bradley has told senators the next 30 days may bring vital decisions on the European defense army and has urged speedy Senate approval of sending United States troops, it was reported Monday.

Bradley was said to have told senators that it might "seriously weaken" General Dwight D. Eisenhower's effort to get early co-operation from Western European nations if the whole issue were taken up in House hearings, an action that might involve 30 days' delay.

Letters to the Editor

Tributes to Mr. Leckey

Uniontown, Penna. March 2, 1951

EDITOR: Waynesburg Republican

I just read your splendid article in the Republican about Howard L. Leckey. You are one hundred per cent right; Howard was a great historian and a good citizen.

Will you please send a copy of the Republican to Mr. Edwin B. Graham, 1112-B Investment Building, 239 Fourth Floor, Pittsburgh, Pa. Mr. Graham is secretary of the State Society of the S. A. R. With my best wishes, I remain, Very sincerely,

EDITOR: Waynesburg Republican

I have just heard of the sudden death of Mr. Howard L. Leckey whose interesting articles on the "Ten Mile Country" have been running in your paper. I have been helping Mr. Leckey on the Hook, Lakin, Fee and Ankrum families and only last week received from him his draft of the articles he had written on the Hooks and Lakins. His letter was dated February 23, only three days before his death. I replied on the day of his death, February 26, with a few slight corrections and one or two very small additions in the Hook draft, but found no changes to be needed on the Lakin. I enclose a copy of my letter.

If you are expecting to proceed with the printing of such of his articles as he had completed and would like to have me do it, I shall send you a new draft of his article on the Hooks as I had corrected it. By way of introduction, I might say that I am the author of the Hook genealogy published in 1925 upon which Mr. Leckey leaned for some of the facts about the Hooks in his forthcoming article about that family.

In closing, please see that I get all issues of the "Republican" published after the issue of February 15, in which his articles appear and bill me for them. I don't want to miss a one of them. Mr. Leckey had sent me the earlier issues.

I'm sure Waynesburg citizens must have been deeply shocked, as I was at Mr. Leckey's untimely passing. It isn't often that a community produces a person of ability and public spirit whose interest in past events is such that he is willing to perform the enormous task of correlating them and writing them into one record for the pleasure and benefit of others. He possessed that commendable, but uncommon emotional quality that appears in human beings once in a generation.

Waynesburg is fortunate to have had him as one of her citizens.

Yours very truly,
JAMES W. HOOK

I have been informed that a Mr. Howard Leckey died recently in Waynesburg. I sincerely hope that this was not the Mr. Howard L. Leckey, author of "The Ten Mile Country and Its Pioneer Settlers" with whom I have had pleasant correspondence in the exchange of records for his history and a family history on which I am working. If the information I received was of Mr. Howard L. Leckey, will you please forward to me two copies of your paper which has an account of his death.

Also will you please give me the name of the person who will take over Mr. Leckey's records and work. I am attempting to obtain additional information for his work and he in turn has been attempting to clarify discrepancies in records and establish relationships.

I thank you kindly,
(Miss) JESSIE V. STILES

Thank you for your kindness in sending the message about Mr. Leckey. It was a terrible shock to us. He will live on for generations because of the wonderful contribution he has made to history in his "Ten Mile Country."

BERNICE L. SWAINSON

EDITOR: Waynesburg Republican

Copy of your March 1 issue received today. I was sorry to learn of the death of Mr. Leckey, though I knew him only by his historical writings as appearing in the Republican.

Many years ago, my father, Norval Hoge, and a cousin of his, delved rather deeply into the history of the Hoge family. I found other sources of information pertaining to the same. Mr. Leckey's version squared closely with all this other information, and was more compact. Beginning with the immigration of William Hoge from Scotland in approximately 1690, and tracing down to father's family, it is fairly accurate. Fairly because where in doubt, or not having authentic information, Mr. Leckey omitted the names. His facts were painstakingly assembled and well written.

These genealogies of various families represented in the Ten Mile district surely must be of great interest to members of these families, and I congratulate you for your goodness in printing them.

I enclose payment for the extra copies sent me.

Very cordially yours,
THOMAS J. HOGE

I recently wrote to the Waynesburg Chamber of Commerce inquiring about the publisher of "The Ten Mile Country and Its Pioneers," by the late Howard L. Leckey, of your city.

Mrs. Harriet B. Grim, secretary of the Chamber, promptly and graciously supplied the information that you are publishing installments of the book, and might be able to inform me where I can get a copy.

I am interested and collect histories of Pennsylvania, and it was through the obituary of Mr. Leckey that I learned about his book.

I will greatly appreciate any information you can furnish me which will enable me to buy a copy.

Yours very truly,

In the trespass action brought against Bernard Mulvaney of Washington, by Kenneth L. Fox and Gail A. Fox of Mt. Morris, the jury brought in a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The action arose from a truck automobile accident on the Kirby-Garard's Fort road April 5, 1949. Mr. and Mrs. Fox claimed that the defendant was responsible for the accident and asked compensation for injuries and for damages to their automobile.

In a counter-suit, Mulvaney charged that carelessness on the part of Fox resulted in the accident and asked reimbursement for damages to his truck.

The jury went out Wednesday afternoon to fix damage if any for an ax attack June 27, 1950, made by Max V. Efishoff, 63, on Mrs. Mary Michaloff and Walter Poughleb, both of Pitt Gas. Efishoff is now serving a sentence in western penitentiary.

Stalemate In Korea, MacArthur

General Douglas MacArthur Wednesday made another flying visit to Korea and warned that under present conditions the fighting will "reach a point of theoretical stalemate." Meanwhile, powerful Red assaults forced South Korean troops back on the east central front, as other Allied forces smashed across the Han.

MacArthur expressed satisfaction with the execution of the UN strategic plan which he described as calling for "constant movement to keep the enemy off balance" and limit the Communist offensive potential.

He took an implied slap at the policy preventing air or other attacks on the Chinese Communists at their Manchurian invasion springboards, terming this an "abnormal military inhibition."

The assaults, on the right flank of the U. S. Seventh Division, might signal the beginning of an expected Communist counter-offensive.

South Korean Seventh Division troops fell back to new lines to stabilize and protect the United Nations line northeast of Amidong on the east-central front.

There were reports of Chinese going into the sector for the first time. An American regimental commander said: "We can expect some real trouble now."

On the western front, Allied forces surged across the Han River east of battered Seoul behind a rolling artillery barrage.

The assault-boat crossing of the Han followed intensive patrol action and nearly a week of bombardment of Chinese Communist positions.

ELECTRICAL TIPS FOR THE HOME

If Your Bathroom Light Casts Annoying Shadows and Glare...

DON'T think you have to center one fixture over the bathroom mirror. A lamp placed in this position casts shadows on the neck and chin, making shaving and other close-shaving jobs difficult.

DO install two fluorescent or incandescent fixtures—one on each side of the mirror. For shadowless, glarefree light, center the lamps at 5 feet, 2 inches high and cover them with translucent shields.

Edgar Allan Poe Vainly Sought Legacy In Pennsylvania

—Harrisburg—
Henry W. Shoemaker, President of the Pennsylvania Folklore Society, State Museum, Harrisburg, said "Edgar Allan Poe, the creator of the mystery story and noted poet, spent most of his productive working years in Philadelphia and came of Pennsylvania ancestry, but he failed to obtain a legacy in the Keystone State."
"Poe's parents, of the theatrical profession, both died young, and the boy was adopted by Edgar Allan, a wealthy banker in Richmond, for whom he was named," he said. "Poe, wayward and unconventional, clashed often with his staid, methodical foster parents, eventually flunking out of the University of Virginia where his room today attracts more attention by visitors than those of honor students. Running away he earned his passage before the mast to Greece, where he desired to fight for Greek freedom. The war being over he returned to the United States on a freighter, to Charleston, South Carolina, still fired with martial ambitions and enlisted in the U. S. Army at Fort Moultrie.

"Evidently he possessed military talents, as when Allen discovered him he was serving as Sergeant Major and highly regarded by his superiors. Allen induced the boy to consent to his discharge and in due time Poe was enrolled at the U. S. Military Academy after satisfactorily passing the entrance examination. There the reports show that in military tactics he made good the inventor of 'ratiocination' was a miserable failure, and he cut his classes, and allowed himself to be mustered out, probably due to indifference, rather than lack of ability.
"Mr. Allan was furious, and cut the boy's allowance compelling him to seek his own support which he did by literature, winning the grand prize offered by the 'Southern Literary Messen-

Chandernagore Goes Home

—Paris—
Chandernagore, a spot of land 10 miles north of Calcutta, India, has been formally given back to India after more than 250 years of life as a geographical football.
Chandernagore was first ceded to the French by Emperor Aurangzeb in 1688.
The British took it from the French in 1757.
But they gave it back in 1763. And captured it again in 1794. But finally insisted on letting the French keep it in 1816.
The French did just that until after a referendum in 1949, when it was decided to give it to India.
"From his knowledge of family matters he recognized this venerable Poe as a great uncle, and thinking there might be a legacy forthcoming, he did not wait to write, but took the Pennsylvania Central railroad to Harrisburg. Proceeding by canal to Lewisport, Poe walked across the Seven Mountains to Poe Valley, where he was coolly received by the surviving Poes, and put up at the Armipriester mansion.
"Edgar Allan Poe was received with indifference by his namesakes, and he stood around the mills ignored and treated like an interloper or imposter.
"Poe eventually left the valley of his kinfolds, when his fast emptying purse told him to go or he would have to work his way back to Philadelphia. He emerged in Penn's Valley, coming out by the road which for many years bore the signboard 'To Po Valley,' stopped a while with the Hosterman's at the stone tavern at Motz Bank, now Woodward, took the stage for Youngmans-town, now Mifflinburg, and eventually to Harrisburg, and Philadelphia.
"In commenting on the above, the late lamented Hervey Allen, author of 'Israfel,' a romantic life of Poe, published in 1926, said 'The story of Poe's visit to Center Pennsylvania, though a pretty tale is only Pennsylvania folklore and legend, it was never published as history.'

Variety Show Tonight at Center High

The Variety Show to be held this Thursday night at 8:15 in Center High School auditorium at Rogersville, will bring a parade of talent from a wide area.
Benny Glover, talented trumpeter of Carmichaels, and Roberta Stagers, Jefferson High School vocalist, promise high class entertainment.
Others vying for top honors include Ellen Ketchum and Johnetta Bryan, dance pupils of Jessie Reed Meighen; Cressida Ketchum and Jody Ross, vocal pupils of Joanna Engle.
Young Tommy Boyd, son of Patrolman and Mrs. Tom Boyd of Waynesburg, will bring down the house with his rendition of "The Thing" and tenor-baritone George Ed Smith will compete.
Piano selections by Jack W. Miller of Waynesburg will be one of the highlights.
From Cameron, W. Va., John A. J. Hewitt, clown and rope spinner, will compete with Mabel Yohe, guitarist and singer, to place Cameron in the winners.
Mary Elaine Hughes of Washington, will do a novelty tap.
Eighty-year old J. L. Tustin will pit his talents against Jimmy Howden, young violinist from Rogersville.
Thelma Jean Thomas, Edith Stockdale, and Betty Moniger will endeavor to keep top prizes in Center High.
Very young singers composed of Mrs. Hester Orndoff's grades, Amanda Yost, Elizabeth Johnson, Shirley Graham, Carolyn Gilbert, Myra Lee Ely, Brenda Church, Ruth Ann Keener, Kathryn Dublin, Mary Jo Hopkins, Mickey Henderson and Elaine Stewart, will do a group of spring songs.
Little Erma Rockwell will share a spot on the program.
John R. Davis, master of ceremonies, outstanding in his tricks as a magician and joker, may pull a rabbit out of his hat or perhaps put five dollar bills in pockets.
His group of music makers, "Coostie" Stockdale, Alberta Stockdale and Hilda Stockdale, will add to the fun.
Judges for the show will be selected just before curtain call.
The program is under the auspices of the yearbook staff.

Featured at the 35th annual Greene County Agricultural Extension meeting this Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in Waynesburg High School will be the famous Westinghouse Quartet. Their appearance was arranged by James D. Thomas, well known Waynesburg electrical dealer.
The quartet was begun in 1931 by Earle F. Elder, baritone, only remaining member of the original foursome. In its 18 years only ten members have sung with it.
Other members are second tenor, William P. McDowell; first tenor, Carl F. Chada; bass, Edwin H. Hanson.
The quartet is a member of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America—and like all true quartets, sings without accompaniment, relying solely on pitch-pipe. With its uncanny ability to harmonize, the quartet uses the pipe only once. The fact that they consistently finish precisely on key, even though they have been singing for a half hour, is a constant source of amazement to other professional musicians.
Their schedule is crowded and they are booked eight months in advance.
The quartet has three styles, straight harmony, barbership, and comedy. Of all the compliments that have been paid to the quartet, they are most appreciative of the epigram uttered by a concert pianist who once tried to accompany them. "I can play on the white keys, and I can play on the black keys," he said, "but these men can sing the notes in the cracks between the keys."

Committee To Aid Research Study

Three faculty members of Center Township High School are serving on a committee to assist in securing information as part of an extensive research project of Pennsylvania State College. The study involves a number of graduates from Center Township High School. Those on the committee are Nancy E. Huffman, Byron A. Hughes, and K. B. Evans, as chairman.
Dr. M. E. John, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology at Penn State, who is in charge of the long-time research study, explained that the project was launched about three years ago when a group of boys and girls, then sophomores in Center Township High School, filled out questionnaires, as part of a group of 3000 students from 75 different high schools in Pennsylvania whose attitudes and opinions were sought. Now that they have graduated, an effort is being made to maintain contact with each of them to analyze problems faced by young people in this changing world.
The committee will seek to locate all those who filled out the original questionnaires and, after answers have been compiled, plans to prepare a mimeographed directory of those in this area. The directory will be mailed to each of the young people.

More Women in U. S. Than Men, Census Shows

—Washington—

The Census Bureau jolted the male ego with another surprise statistic—men are now the "minority" sex in the United States.

The bureau, still summing up last year's census figures, disclosed that women outnumber men for the first time since the government began keeping track of such things in 1890.

Preliminary tallies indicate there were 76,064,000 women to 74,633,000 males when the count was taken last spring—a margin of 1,431,000 for the women.

That adds up to only 98.1 men for every 100 females, compared with 100.7 males to 100 women when the 1940 census was taken.

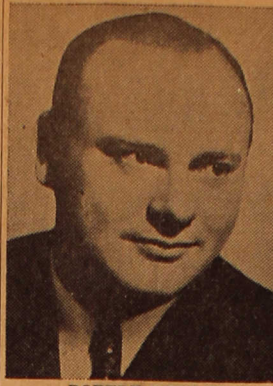

Women have been gradually gaining since 1910, mainly because of reduced immigration to the U. S. The fact that most immigrants were males kept women in the minority even though they outlived the so-called stronger sex.

There are still more boys born than girls—the census shows 8,801,000 boys under five years old and only 8,023,000 girls.

ROBERT WEEDE

A musical highlight of the season will take place at Syria Mosque on Thursday and Saturday evenings, March 15 and 17, when the Pittsburgh Opera, Inc. presents the fourth production of the current series, "Rigoletto," with a cast of leading Metropolitan and other outstanding artists. Robert Weede, famed Metropolitan baritone, appears in the title role, and additional interest is attached to this appearance of Mr. Weede, since he is accompanied by his son, Robert, Jr., who will sing a role in "Rigoletto." It is the first time in the history of opera that a father and son have appeared in the same operatic production. The role of Gilda will be sung by Elaine Maltrick; the Duke by Walter Fredericks; Sparafucile by Gil Ferrando; Maddalena by Vivian Johns; Monterone by Earl Corwin; Marullo by Robert Weede, Jr.; Ceprano by Leonard Lawrence; Giovanna by Anne Strauss; the Countess Ceprano by Gloria Catzone; and Borsa by Henry Cordy. There will also be dances presented by Ballet Intime. Musical direction is by Richard Karp, and artistic direction by Armando Agnini. A large chorus of local artists will appear in "Rigoletto," together with the large orchestra.

"Rigoletto" is in three acts, with music by Giuseppe Verdi, libretto by Plave from Hugo's "The King Amuses Himself," and was first produced in Venice in 1851. Tickets are now on sale at Volkwein's, 632 Liberty Avenue, also Gimbel's and Horne's.

Fifty-Year History of Greene County Sports

By GEORGE N. THOMAS

COUNTY BASKETBALL IN THE TWENTIES

Less than two decades after Waynesburg College coeds introduced, through Athletic Director Fred M. Hatch, a game called basketball, college, high school, and independent squads were termed "rough" and "fast."

Yes, they were fast, but in a different way. Dick Hatfield who made a study of the game in that period says it took a good fast man to stick to the man he was supposed to cover. Guarding was then the game, not high scores.

Until the mid-1920's quintets had one person to attempt all foul shots. Waynesburg and Carmichaels high schools produced their high scores in that period. Waynesburg was the mecca for almost all county scholastic tournaments.

Chief of Police J. R. Davis and Patrolmen P. A. Wilbert and Thomas Allen were called to hold back overflowing crowds at the Armory.

On College Heights basketball fought football for survival. Emphasis on these two sports eventually killed baseball. Basketball might have suffered, too, had not Coaches Frank Wolf and Katy Easterday fancied the floor sport.

In 1920 Paul R. Stewart, later president, was coaching the 'Six Iron Men'—Art Brown, Hallie Long, George Black, Ben Stagers, Cappy Pollock and Hale Howard.

Student Coach Camden Sims ran the team for awhile with mediocre results when Frank Wolf came. He was building a great team when a "name" coach Tony Sorce was brought in. With Wolf's material he had no difficulty amassing a 15-8 record in 1923-4.

Dr. Roy (Katy) Easterday spent four seasons on the Heights. In his first year, the team was christened "Yellow Jackets" and tied Duquesne for first place in the old Tri-State Conference. The next year the college produced a Freshman team. By 1927, Easterday had developed three stars in Morgan Baker, Ray Welsh and John Knox. They were named to the All Tri-State Squad.

Frank Wolf returned in 1928 and almost immediately the teams had the pseudonym "Wolf-pack." The string of Wolf victories began with colorful Jiggers White.

In the mid-twenties Waynesburg took an option on the HUSS lot on the southern border of the quadrangle and planned for a gymnasium. But Harry McHenry, Clair Bee and Jiggers White never got to play in it.

Seven county high schools had entered basketball when Frank Wolf, in the 1921-22 winter coached both college and high school quintets in Waynesburg. Paced by Abe Kimbel, the high school boys had an undefeated season.

The next year Kimbel set a record of 39 points in one game, which still stands for the local school. Fans began calling Waynesburg High teams "Little Yellow Jackets," when Earl Zook became coach in 1926. In 1929, Waynesburg joined the WPIAL.

Carmichaels High loomed on the basketball horizon in the twenties. Sidney Gwynne looped 37 points in 1923 for an individual record which still stands. Two years later, D. P. Venen broke into a long career as a coach and educator.

The first year, Venen brought the county championship to Carmichaels and the second year won 19 out of 22.

Jefferson was good in the first three years of the decade, when the cry, "beat Carmichaels!" echoed up and down Pine street. The community was able to do it, too, upon occasion.

The basketball bug bit Nineveh prior to 1924 but it wasn't until then that the high school produced an official team. Nineveh reached its peak in 1929 when it sponsored the high school, independent, girl and Methodist Church teams.

Rogersville reached its heights in 1916 when the high school was runnerup in the first county scholastic tourney.

Mt. Morris boys and girls organized teams in 1928 which often held a magic wand over heads of nearby West Virginia teams.

The county tourney was very successful after its origin in 1916, but the Tri-State scholastic meet also held in Waynesburg, was even more widely known, often drawing 40 to 50 teams. College Mentor Katy Easterday kicked the first of them off in 1925 and Wolf kept them going.

Girls from Waynesburg College and most of the county's high schools, whose mothers had introduced the sport to the county, formed squads infrequently. The 1920 team held the Pitt Girls to the lowest score in six years.

County Trappers Receive $141 in January

Greene County residents who trapped and hunted predators during the month of January received $141.00 for their efforts from the Game Fund according to reports from the Divisional Headquarters at Ligonier, Westmoreland County. One weasel, 30 gray fox, and 4 great horned owls were probated by the successful hunters and trappers of the county.

This amount is part of the $12,998 paid out to claimants for the month of January, in the entire state. Since June 1, 1950, a total amount of $43,569 has been paid out of the fund for claims on 4,110 weasels, 8,526 gray foxes, 18 goshawks, and 1,059 great horned owls. Of this amount, $758.00 has been returned to successful trappers and hunters of Greene County in this period.

Information regarding bounty claims can be secured from any District Game Protector, Alderman, Justice of the Peace or Magistrate. Game Commission officials point out that the fur crop of Pennsylvania annually amounts to nearly a million dollars, a highly prized natural resource.

Yellow Jacket Matmen Close Undefeated Season

Waynesburg College's Yellow Jacket mat team scored an easy 32-0 victory over Bowling Green College Saturday afternoon in a match sandwiched in between sessions of the WPIAL tourney. The win was the 20th consecutive victory for the Jackets and gave them their second straight undefeated season.

Coach John R. Conklin's crew had an easy time of it dropping the Ohio team, as Bowling Green was forced to forfeit three bouts. Ray Carlson scored the only fall for the Jackets when he pinned Haylin. Murdock closed out his college career by pinning Russell in an exhibition and Joe Yourchik also brought his mat career to a successful end when he decided his huge opponent 4-1.

Waynesburg will compete in the 4-7 tourney in Cleveland this week end and the following week will try their luck in the National Tourney at Lehigh University.

Summary: 123—Murdock won on forfeit 130—Gizoni decided Feiler 8-2 137—Laurine won on forfeit 147—Reihner decided Nuciarossa 8-3 157—Rensel won on forfeit 177—Carlson pinned Hylin Heavy—Yourchik decided Hursh 4-1

103-Pound Division: Peery (Shaler) decided Meccozzi (Burgettstown) 8-0. D. Hordies (Chartiers) pinned Durig (Claysville) 9:35 first period. J. Pihakis (Canonsburg) decided Wolinsky (Greensburg) 8-1. Gorman (Waynesburg) decided Meozzi (Uniontown) Ref. dec.

Gene Franks Resigns At Masontown High

Gene Franks, football and baseball coach of Masontown High School for the past 16 years, has tendered his resignation to devote his entire time to his work as principal.

A star lineman at Thiel College Franks has captured a total of four Class B WPIAL grid championships.

He took the fourth only last autumn when his proteges, unbeaten but tied twice in non-league play, defeated Aspinwall High School in the post-season title battle.

No successor to Franks has been mentioned as yet.

Wind Ridge Club Turns Down Trout Offer

The Wind Ridge Hunting and Fishing Club Friday night voted against an offer by the State Game Commission to stock trout in Wheeling Creek. The offer was rejected because trout are cannibal fish and bass and other warm water fish would be destroyed.

The club voted to release a number of wild turkeys on the Burns estate at Wind Ridge.

Waynesburg High ceased to compete after 1920.

At Carmichaels the girls began rolling in 1922 and the following winter won the county championship. Three years later, they amassed a team that came to Waynesburg and beat the college girls.

Mapletown was the scene of the county's first all-girl basketball tourney in 1929. Five high school girl teams competed and two others became stuck in the mud on the way here.

Independent basketball teams representing churches, firemen, service organizations and commercial patrons filled floors when schoolboys and schoolgirls rested.

Of the county's communities, Waynesburg, Carmichaels, Rogersville, Jefferson, Rices Landing, Mt. Morris, Garads Fort and Nineveh vied for laurels. Carmichaels and Waynesburg generally fought it out and often ended in a draw.

Walter Glennen's American Legion squad was tops for a couple of years, then Tilton's Tire picked up most of the Waynesburgers. Tourneys for independent squads were held in 1927 and 1928 at Carmichaels.

Many county athletic standouts entered the portals of Waynesburg College. But not all. Charles and Bill Kyle and Abbie Black went to Amherst. Others did well at Massanutten Military School.

Canonsburg Again Wins WPIAL Wrestling Tourney

Coach John C. Ross and his Canonsburg High School Gunners won the 16th annual WPIAL wrestling tourney held Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Waynesburg High School, as they amassed a total of 25 points and sent three boys on to vie for state titles. Waynesburg High School's Red Raiders were second with 23 points and will send one man to the state tourney. Washington High School, with three men headed for the state meet, was third with 22 points.

Other schools scoring in the huge tourney were: Greensburg and Uniontown with 14 each; Chartiers 12; Shaler 7; Dormont 6; Burgettstown and California 4; Jefferson and Carnegie 3; and M. Pihakis (German Township, Jeannette, Trinity, and West View, each with one).

The tourney this year saw many new schools competing. Center Township was one of these and none of the boys had ever been in even a duel meet before. However, they battled top seeded boys in the opening round.

Because of the large entry the first round matches were run off in two sections, one Thursday night, the second Friday afternoon. At the end of the first round, Washington High lead Waynesburg by one point, 7-6, but the Raiders scored a fall Friday night to tie the score at 7-7 going into the semi-finals.

Canonsburg High came back strong in the semi-finals to force into the lead when they sent five men to the finals. Waynesburg sent four and Washington High three.

As in past years the tourney was packed with excitement from start to finish. The large number of schools entered helped this along as on numerous occasions boys that were unknown "took off" favorites. Perhaps the best example of this was Harris' (California) 3-2 decision of Petronka (Washington) in the quarterfinals of the 120-pound class.
