Twelve men have been working on a new catalogue for the British Museum for 20 years. They have just got up to the letter "D"—and may not reach "Z" before 1975.

"It's like writing a novel that has no ending," said Noel Sharp, editor of the catalogue, who has been on the museum's staff since 1929.

He explained the new (or not so new) catalogue will ultimately be spread over 250 volumes, with 18,500 entries to each volume.

A "lost art" among motorists—the use of hand signals to help pedestrians and other drivers—is badly in need of revival in the opinion of Otto F. Messner, sec-opinion of Otto F. Messner, sec-retary of revenue.

Messner declared that hundreds of accidents would be avoided if motorists complied with require-ments of the state's Vehicle Code

He said:

"Many drivers seem to feel that giving hand and arm signals is simply an optional matter.

"But the law states definitely that they must indicate in advance when they are going to stop or in which direction they are going to turn."

1744, according to the Swan-Hughes Bible. The pathetic death of John Swan, Jr., while floating down the Ohio with the Jacob Vanmeter party, is told in both Evans and Waychoff. His record is also given under the family of John and Elizabeth (Lucas) Swan. In that article we used a record taken from McAdams'
"Kentucky Pioneers," (pp. 58) in which the will of John Swan was reported filed in Hardin County, Kentucky, Will Book A. pp. 11, where the will was reported probated on February 18, 1783. After writing that history of John Swan, Jr., a copy of the will of John Swan, Jr., has been placed in our hands, which shows it was filed in Will Book A. pp. 11, in Lincoln County, Kentucky. There are several points of difference to be noted in the comparison of this record and the previous record printed under the heading of John Swan Family. First the date of the will is shown to have been July 17, 1780, probably at the time he was preparing for the journey to Kentucky. And the wording of the will plainly discovers that the son Thomas Swan was living at the time John Swan made the will, and not born posthumously as reported.
Here is a copy of the will of John Swan, Jr., as shown in Lincoln County, Kentucky, records.

White Pine Is Popular With Tree Planters

With Tree Planters

Many landowners who are planting seedlings this spring favor the magnificient white pine which is a good, reliable fastgrowing tree. Lumber from the white pine is highly valuable for all types of construction work and the price of white pine timber is surpassed only by black walnut, white ash and white oak suitable for distillery kegs.

According to District Forester, Loren R. Brown of Uniontown, about a million white seedlings will be sold by the State Department of Forests and Waters at the production cost of $6 per thousand. Mr. Brown will gladly furnish a free booklet listing the 20 tree seedlings available to Pennsylvanias upon receipt of a postal request.

SAVORY FAMILY MEAL

Fried fish and potatoes team up to make a colorful and tasty meal. The fish gets its zesty flavor from a dip in condensed tomato soup before frying, and the crispy-brown Lyonnaise potatoes are made especially delicious with pimiento, onion and parsley. Foods fried the Homogenized Spry way are delicious, and so digestible that even the children can have second helpings. Clip these recipes now to help you plan appetizing meals for your family.

ZIPPY FISH FRY

½ cup sifted fine cracker crumbs
1 tablespoon corn meal
½ teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt

1 pound fish fillets (flounder, haddock, whitefish, etc.)
½ can undiluted condensed tomato soup 1/4 cup Homogenized Spry

Mix first 4 ingredients thoroughly. Cut fish into serving pieces. Dip in tomato soup, then in crumb mixture to coat evenly. Fry fish in hot Spry in skillet until golden-brown on both sides. Serve piping hot with Lyonnaise Potatoes and a green vegetable or tossed salad. Makes 4 servings.

LYONNAISE POTATOES

√3 cup Homogenized Spry
4 cups raw potatoes, cut in
1/2-inch cubes
3/4 teaspoon salt

1 small onion, chopped very fine 2 pimientos, drained and dried 2 tablespoons parsley, finely chopped

Melt Spry in heavy skillet over high heat. Add potatoes and salt and fry until almost done. Add onion, pimientos, aird parsley. Fry until potatoes are golden-brown, stirring carefully and mixing well. Makes 4 servings.

"Admired by many women, he married in London the wealthy widow of a noted brewer, who declared she would share his hardships, but she soon found she could not keep up with him and the marriage ended in divorce.

"A magnetic preacher, Whitefield was loved by all classes of people and in 1736 by penny contributions a special tabernacle was erected for him at Tottenham Court Road near London, at a cost of $50,000, an enormous sum in those days. The building and the surrounding grounds were always thronged when he preached. Yet at all times he felt that his main 'call' was America and he longed to resume his missionary labors.

"Whitefield was a particularly popular and successful with his missions in Pennsylvania. After one of his tours he was urged to return, in a monster petition signed by 11,000 persons of all denominations. When the great liberal preacher was ferried

Nature's Laws

Nature's Laws

Non-religious philosophers have sometimes said that the world explains itself. But Christian philosophers, not to mention Jewish ones as well, have seen that the world does not explain itself. There is too much evidence of purpose and design running through the patterns of the universe. Definite laws can be discovered and to some degree discovered and to some degree understood.

"GOD INVENTED it," says G.

Us. Lewis about the universe. It is a 20th-century way of saying what the Bible says about the world. There have been whole religions based on the idea that God is good and spirit is good, but anything which is not God or not spirit is bad. If this pr. Foreman were true, one our bodies would be bad, and all the physical world about us would be bad; our souls would be prisoners, so to speak, in a vast fortress of evil.

This is not the truth the Bible tells. The story of Creation in Genesis tells us that when God had finished with making the world he saw that it was good, very good. He invented the world, he invented us body and soul. Whatever evil is now in the world and in man did not come from God, it is not a mistake of God's. The world, as God invented it and intends it, is good.

The World Did not Happen

universe. Definite laws can be discovered and to some degree and to some degree and to some degree anderstood.

The same laws which govern matter on this planet, and indeed the very same elements, the "building-blocks of the universe," are to be discovered in the remotest stars. If the universe were an accident it would not be a universe of law but one in which nothing ould be counted on, nothing excepted. It would be no universe to the world about us why and the physic and all but an infinite confusion.

Why Are We Here?

But creation means something more personal. It means that wo curselves have been called in the existence by the Almighty—not by a good of mere sheer power but by the one God of infinite and all-powerful Love. Man is not here on this planet by some rick of blind fate, mankind is not a mere fleck of foam tossed up by the restless ocean of the Infinite, soon to be washed away in the ebbing tides. Man—that means also, we ourselves—are God's invention.

take of God's. The world, as God invented it and intends it, is good.

The World Did not Happen

The Christian church has changed some of its ideas about creation, but it has never ceased to believe in creation. Very few churches, if any, now affirm that the world was created in precisely six 24-hour days, and still fewer would be willing to name the dates on which creation took place.

Nevertheless the Christian church has not given up, and will not give up, her belief that God created all things. The doctrine of creation means, first of all, that one God willed the universe and what is in it.

The universe did not nappen, it did not make itself. It was not made by different gods working against one another. Zoroastrianism, for instance, teaches that the world was made by two

RETURN OF WOLF

Frank Wolf's return to Waynes burg College in 1928 was destined to be of much longer duration than his first stay of two years. Wolf and Waynesburg College became synonymous.

loss to Duquesne here. However games were close and could have gone either way.

Jiggers White of Tarentum, was again elected captain of the basketball squad. It marked the first time since Harry McHenry (1921-23) that a captain succeeded himself. But Jiggers deserved it.

Before Christmas in 1929, Coach Wolf called practice. Most of his regulars were back. They were Captain White, Smith, Por-ter, Ullom and Harry Edgar, John Knox could not find time for basketball.

basketball.

From the fresh en ranks, the Jackets had good choices. Reporting for the first time were Ralph (Irish) O'Connell of Turtle Creek, Alex Ufema of Cokeburg, Frank Spadaro of Canonsburg, Paul Avery of Youngstown, and Bucky Newmeyer. Avery became a sensation and Ufema and O'Connell saw action along with White and the regulars.

But this combination lost six-

Frank Wolf. A winning combination from limited material had become s tandard on College Heights. He molded Captain John (Jiggers) White, George Allison, Sammy Smith, John Knox, Clyde Porter, Frank (Pete) Ullom, and Elmer Patzch into a winning combination. Among newcomers were Nick Barlow, Dick Fritz, Harry Cage, Sid Waychoff, King and Montgomery.

The Yellow Jackets got off to a good start again then ran into Duquesne, Bethany and Geneva. This was Bethany's great period in absketball. The Bisons were rouncing teams like Penn State and W. & J. Geneva boasted of a player named Slim Ransom, who played a vital role in waynesburg.

Chicks Get Their Feed New Way Today As Farmers Take It Easy

"Here, chick, chick, chick." This centuries-old call of the poultryman to his barnyard flock to "come and get it" is rapidly losing its appeal its place, on electrified farms, is giving way to inarticulate but more efficient, automatic poultry feeders.

AUTOMATIC CHICKEN FEEDERS-take over hand labor chor

Pioneered in 1946 by the School of Agriculture, Pennsylvania State College, electrically operated feeders are designed to save the many hours of labor involved in a typical handfeeding chore. If you don't know how much work is involved in feeding poultry, here's what Penn State's studies disclose:

You handle 5 to 7 tons of mash to feed 1,000 broilers to market age; about 40 tons of mash to feed 1,000 broilers to market age; about 40 tons of mash to feed 1,000 turkeys for 28 weeks; 25 tons of mash, 25 tons of scratch grain and variable quantities of other supplementary feeds annually in feeding 1,000 laying hens. Thit's a lot of feed—and represents a lot of work. No wonder automatic poultry feeders have appeared on the market as another in the growing list of electrical time and labor savers.

These devices consist of three main parts: a hopper which holds about a

Why? Korea's mountains are as steep and craggy as those of Italy. The ridge lines are as narrow and treacherous. And the trails and roads are even worse than those in the Apennines between Florence and Bologna, where the Fifth Army stalled during the winter of 1944. Unlike Italy, there are no mules in Korea to pack food and water up to isolated doughboys.

Plant Trees for Profit

Plant Trees for Profit

Do you have any barren land, old fields or cutover land that you would like to put into profitable production? This is the question the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters is a sking rural landowners throughout the State. A slogan has been adopted by the Department that will be profitable to heed: "Plant Old Fields for Timber Yields."

For the first time since the war the Department of Forests and Waters offers 20 species of forest tree seedlings available to prospective planters throughout the Commonwealth. If you are interested in obtaining a quantity of these tree seedlings for planting this spring, now is the time to act!

of these tree seedlings for planting this spring, now is the time to act!
Your local district forester, Loren R. Brown, with offices located at Uniontown, will gladly supply all information necessary to properly submit your order. Send him your name and address and he will forward to you, by return mail, a free book listing the 20 tree seedlings available for shipment this spring together with all the information concerning ways and means of tree-planting.

Timber is a crop and land that is producing timber becomes an asset. Land permitted to remain idle and unproductive is a definite liability and will gradually deteriorate and eventually become worthless, Now is the time to put those idle acres to work! The trees are available at state nurseries.

The airdrop is dramatic but there always is a large percentage of waste. A large percentage of pool of the American Army's best friends. Mule proved to be one of the American Army's best friends. Mule trains lugged guns, food, and ammunition. Sure-footed and dependable in their ill-tempered way, mules supplied front-line doughboys on the craggy peaks of Italy and the Vosges Mountains in France.

"Some day big cargo helicopters are going to take the place of mules," said First Lieutenant Craig Scott of Columbia, S. C., who was an 85th Division platoon leader in the past war. "Until then we need mules."

Major Bill Dereus of Clinton, Iowa, who fought in Italy with the 34th Division, said, "Mules, mules, mules! That's the thing we need here more than anything."
