Soldiers Song A Hymn?

-West Point, N. Y .-

—West Point, N. Y.—
Military Academy historians said General Douglas MacArthur's phrase "Old Soldiers never die—They just fade away" may date back a century to an old hymn.

A march entitled "Old Soldiers Never Die" and bearing the same line was copyrighted in 1931 by Carl Fisher Inc. of New York. The composer was Charles R. Campbell.

It contains this refrain: "Old soldiers never die,

"Never die, never die,
"Old soldiers never die,
"They just fade away."
Then it continues:
"Young soldiers wish they would,
"Wish they would wish they

"Wish they would, wish they

Would, "Wish they'd fade away."
However, this song was published long after MacArthur's graduation from West Point in 1903.

Lieutenant Colonial James E. Leer, the Academy's public information officer, said the song may have been based on a British soldiers' ballad of World War I.
The ballad in turn, Leer said, may have been a parody on a hymn composed in 1855 and titled "Kind Words Can Never Die."

British General
Thanks MacArthur
—Toyko—
The commander-in-chief of the British Commonwealth occupation force in Japan has thanked General Douglas MacArthur for his "great services to us" and wished him "happiness in the future."
Lieutenant General Sir Horace Robertson issued the following statement:

I want to thank General of the Army Douglas MacArthur on his completion of more than a half century of service to his country, on behalf of the British Commonwealth, and particularly Australia, for his great services to us over the past 10 years.

"His great victories in the Pacific have been followed by his assistance and guidance in our share of the occupation of Japan, and lately in the cause of the United Nations in Korea."

White House Up-Keep Boosted

-Washington-

The high cost of living—plus expensive new conveniences—will up the cost of running the White House an estimated $49,600 for the coming year.

the coming year."

House appropriations committee hearings have disclosed requests totaling $315,600 for the year starting July 1. This compares with $266,000 for this year, and $145,570 in 1943.

In detailing White House needs, Chief Usher H. G. Crim pointed out there are a lot of new gadgets and space to be serviced when President Truman moves back to the renovated executive mansion in December.

The $5,400,000 White House

mansion in December.

The $5,400,000 White House renovation job, the committee was told, will include:

A $600,000 air-conditioning system, requiring a $25,000-a-year hike in the White House electricity bill.

Two additional elevators, making seven in all.

Another 21,435 square feet of floor space.

More bedrooms and more bath-rooms (and bigger laundry bills). The estimated increase in running expenses is based on Mr. Truman's occupancy of Blair House for five more months until the White House is ready December 1 and occupancy of the restored White House for the remaining seven months of the fiscal year.

Asked by Representative Thomas, Democrat, Texas, to explain the increase in White House running expenses since

House running expenses since 1943, Crim said:

"I think there has been a decided increase in the cost of everything in 1951 and over 1943..."

quired.

On the farm, however, requirements and availability have not always been synonomous. In the past, the hot water problem often represented a pioneering chore. It involved a steady hand on the pump handle and a large kettle on the kitchen range. Summer operations were bad enough, but winter made the job most unpleasant—what with cold water sloshing out of the pail and dousing your ankles, and icy pump-to-kitchen paths to negotiate. Former farm boys are prone to discuss such misadventures with some relish, but few would return willingly to these inconveniences.

Fortunately, few present-day farmreish, but few would return willingly to these inconveniences.

Fortunately, few present-day farmers must undergo the rustic hot water worries which plagued their fathers and grandfathers. Electric water pressure systems now are bringing water into their homes, and electric water heaters are providing hot water at the turn of the faucet. Such heaters are "clean as an electric light" and can be installed anywhere in the home or basement nearest to the source of the greatest hot water use.

Statistics record that a family of four will use an average of 310 gallons of hot water per person per month. Electric consumption costs for this quantity—at the hot water faucet —averages about 350 kilowatt ...ours of power per month.

You've come a long way from the horse-drawn plow . . . but

. . if you're relying on yesterday's methods of insuring farm property, you are overlooking a big part of your modernizing program.

No up - to - date mechanized farm business can afford to be without the protection offered under the new Agricultural Machinery and Livestock Floater Policy.

This policy protects you from almost every type of damage to your farm machinery and also covers any livestock loss due to

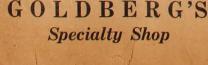

Fire . . . Lightning . . . Windstorm Hail . . . Explosion . . . Earthquake . . . Riot Collapse of Bridges . . . Flood . . . Collision Overturn or Upset . . . Transportation Smoke ... Aircraft ... Theft

Without this type of policy you could lose a large part of your farm investment. With the broad protection of the Agricultural Machinery and Livestock Floater policy, such losses can be prevented.

Speaks on Early Indian Cultures

Many interesting insights on late pre-historic cultures in the upper Ohio Valley were discussed Friday night by Dr. James B. Griffin, anthropologist, at the first annual Professor Andrew J. Waychoff Memorial Lecture at Waynesburg College.

The handles on Indian pottery ware, for instance, were described as "the most sensitive indication of time and geographical area in which they were made that we know of."

They were made by head and the head of the sensitive indication of the sensitive indication of the sensitive indication.

They were made by hand, and as one style succeeded another its influence can be noted in village sites from Florida to Indiana. "It is easy to think," Dr. Griffin said, "that an Indian woman would rather be caught dead than making a pot handle not in style."

He said that by and large the Indian cultures in the upper Ohio Valley could be traced from Asia and also from South America, and through trading habits as vell as migrations.

The fragrant aroma of sweet bread baking makes everyone hungry for delicious homemade buns. Homogenized Spry gives them a fine, soft texture and melting tenderness. They're magically easy to make when you follow this tested recipe Clip it and see for yourself!

4½ cups sifted all-purpose flour ½ cup Homogenized Spry ½ cup butter or margarine 1½ cups brown sugar 2 tablespoons water 1½ teaspoons cinnamon 3½ cup raisins

2 eggs, well beaten

Crumble or sprinkle yeast in lukewarm water in small bowl. Add 1 teaspoon sugar and let stand until yeast is thoroughly dissolved (5-15 minutes). Put Spry, salt, and ½ cup sugar in large bowl, add milk, and stir until Spry is melted, then cool to lukewarm. Add eggs and dissolved yeast and mix well. Add flour gradually, beating thoroughly after each addition. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead to a smooth dough. Place in Sprycoated bowl and brush dough with melted Spry. Cover and let rise in warm place until light and double in bulk (about 1½ hours).

Melt Spry and butter together and mix ¼ cup with ½ cup brown sugar and water. Spread in the bottom of 2 Sprycoated 8 x 8-inch pans. Roll dough into rectangle, 15 x 20 inches, ¼-inch thick, brush with remaining Spry mixture, spread ½ cup brown sugar over dough and sprinkle with cinnamon and raisins. Roll like jelly roll and cut in 1-inch pieces. Place, cut-side down, on sugar mixture in pans. Cover and let rise until light. Brush with additional melted butter and sprinkle with remaining ½ cup sugar.

Are You in Your Picture?

IN practically every family there is a person who is almost a complete stranger to the pages of the family snapshot album. Now this doesn't usually mean that this person is away from home—or doesn't participate in family activities. Most of the time it is the clue to who in the family uses the camera most.

participate in family activities. Most of the time it is the clue to who in the family uses the camera most.

Not long ago I took a picture of an attractive young couple who have been married about four years. It turned out to be quite good, so I sent them a print. In her note of thanks, the young wife commented that when she mounted that picture in their album, she suddenly realized that it was the first picture of them together to appear in the book since the first of their-two youngsters was born. In all of the others, one of them was posed with the children while the other took the picture. Now that is what is bound to happen most of the time, but I think that every so often there should be some picture that includes everyone. You can sometimes manage this by asking an outsider to trip

Fifty-Year History of Greene County Sports

Beginning with the 1914-15 bas-ketball season and for the follow-ing three winters, Waynesburg High School played the biblical role of a little David battling big Goliaths.

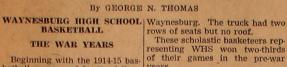

role of a little David battling big Gollaths.

Waynesburg was really small then, but yaliant Coach John Meighen and his lads, often held their own with teams from Connellsville, Greensburg, Wheeling and Uniontown.

Outstanding members of the era's quintets were Paul Ross, George Black, Benny Staggers, John Penn, Bob Stevens, Hale Howard, Ralph Debolt, Ernest Clayton, Bill Throck morton, Jimmy Farrell, Forrest Scott, Ray Connor, Norman Zahniser and Albert Hoge. Many of these boys went off to war in 1917, and Zahniser and Farrell were killed. Certainly survivors of that early period would not claim that those were "the good old days." World Champion Marksman Gives His Trophies to Kids

ERVEN E. MEDDAUGH

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. — A marksman who has won so many trophies and awards that he has had to give more than 100 of them away to youngsters who visit his range is Erven E. Meddaugh. This crack shot, who has a private range in his home near here, has just set a new world record in the U. S. Revolver Association's individual championship match, when he recorded 291 out of a possible 300. He is glad to give away items from his still over-crowded trophy room. "It makes the youngsters happy and it cuts down on the objects to be dusted," he says.

Meddaugh bought his first gun for $20 in 1937 when he was appointed a deputy sheriff in Dutchess County. With this gun, a Colt officer's model revolver, he has Professor J. J. Markle of Bucknell, took over as coach and Ragan Pipes of Waynesburg College started out as an assistant. Before two more years, Pipes was to die in France.

Captain Staggers led that team to a 500 season with players Howard, Frye, Throckmorton, Carroll, Connor and Long. This team lost to Avalon by a narrow margin a few nights after Avalon was barely beaten by State Champion Kittanning. Waynesburg's offense was paced by Frye and Throckmorton.

Sports fans! Dan Parker reveals the complete, tragic story behind the shocking basketball scandals. For an authoritative picture of how basketball became the victim of the fix, read "Crime Makes A Basket" by Dan Parker, in The American Weekly, the great magazine with SUN-DAY'S PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH. Don't miss it!

Strosnider - Titus

Sehool was as hot as the weather on Tuesday, as he tossed a nohitter at the Red Raiders of Waynesburg High and helped to lead an eight-hit attack against Lyle Wise as the Mikes won, 6-0. In pitching the dream game of all hurlers, Moore allowed only four Raiders to reach first. One managed to reach the initial sack on an error, one was hit by a pitched ball, and two were issued walks. Only one Raider was able to reach second, and he was picked off there.

The win kept Carmichaels in the section lead with a four won, no loss record, and gave Waynesburg a record of 3-3 for the season.

In Christy's League

Seven teams made an official entrance in Christy's Softball League by placing forfeit money up for the season at a meeting Monday night.

Another meeting is scheduled for May 14, at 7:30 p. m. in Christy's Sporting Goods' Store Carmichaels. Te am managers must turn in player contracts at this meeting. (All players in the league are under contract to prevent team jumping in mid-season.)

James Farrell American Legion Post No. 330 will open their 1951 baseball season when the Legion nine entertains Finleyville under the lights of College Field Friday night. Manager "Cat" George has many of the same boys back who performed so well last year and a successful season is anticipated.

The idea of selling "Flanders of raising popples" as a means of raising funds for disabled veterans is credited to Mrs. Mary Hanecy of Milwaukee. She, too was decorated for this service. The nation-wide sale of memorial popies was begun by the Legion and samwaukee. She, too was decorated for this service. The nation-wide sale of memorial popies was begun by the Legion, and Auxiliary, in 1921. At first silk poppies made in France by French widows and orphans were used, in 1922 the first poppies made by American veterans were produced in the hospitals of Minnesota. Wearing the flower was the nation's tribute to the war dead. The idea of the poppy as a memorial flo wer for War dead sprang as naturally as the little wild flower itself grows in the fields of France and Flanders. The flower was the one touch of beauty which survived amid the hideous destruction of war. It seemed to be the one immortal thing in that region where death reigned.

It was the poet who first gave expression on Saturday evening or before masses.

Gandhi Memorials

Set Up in Ohio

Mahatma Gandhi has two memorials near here although he never saw this place or the persons who built the monuments. One monument is a stone cairn set by the roadside in front of a farm called "Gandhi Farm."

The other is the farm itself—the idea, not the real estate—where Philip and Eleanor Maver have formed an extension of the Mahatma's own "Tolstoi Farm."

'Mountain Mary' Young Most Honored Woman In Penna.

Pennsylvania ann als contain no greater epic of a life of unselfish service than that of Mary Young, a Gold Star Widow and Mother of the Revolutionary War, says Henry W. Shoemaker, President of the Pennsylvania Folklore Society, State Museum.

"Unschooled and untrained except for careful tutelage at hands of older women in the use of herbs and home remedies, she was a volunteer nurse to the Berks County mountaineers in the post-Revolutionary War days," Shoemaker said.

days," Shoemaker said.

"She carefully compiled a list of her herbal medicines and treatments but its location and owner are unknown. She was immortalized in an anonymous poem and historians and folklorists are still seeking to identify the author of the poem as well as conducting a never-ending search for her herbal remedy book.

"She has been described by Dr. Robert Inschinger as the Florence Nightingale without deducation who through her deep-seeing heart answered the problems of disease and suffering as if she possessed the world's best education and training."

Shoemaker gives the following account of the life and service of erans.

From dawn to dark and often far into the night, she walked from mountain cabin to mountain cabin caring for the sick and afflicted. Once when an epidemic fever struck a large family in Woodchoppers' Gap, she took an extra change of clothing which she hid in a cave along the way. Returning from her visits to the family she would stop in the cave, discard her infected clothes, bathe in a pool in the cave, don her uninfected clothing and return home. Either the fever was a light attack, the family able to withstand its ravages or Mountain Mary's herbal remedies were beyond the medical knowledge of that day, for the entire family survived the disease. Her carefulness in the hand ling of her clothes is credited with preventing the spread of this disease to other mountain

She planted a herb garden to provide the medicines she used and it is said that every medicinal gion was grown in her garden in-cluding ginseng, picris, tansy, boneset, sage, rhubarb root, blue vervain, lobelia and hemlock sweat.

Her cures were human, too, as it is related that she removed the slight discioration from the hands of a Reading lady with a tincture of spurge, Euphorbia Polygonifolia, held in place by damp salt. However, she did not care for such treatments, saying "there are too many real allments to spend time over vanities." But no matter what the demand upon her services, she was always patient, encouraging, and kind.

Nor was she confused by her

Nor was she confused by her neighbors with the "hex doctors" of that area—the old women of Hechsenstettle from the Awdler's Kup (Eagle's Peak) near Robesonia, who cured from the Sixth and Seventh Books of Moses, known as the "Black Book." Even these practitioners had a good word for Mountain Mary.

Naturally, with the meager word for Mountain Mary.

Naturally, with the meager knowledge of medicine among physicians in the Eighteenth Century, many of the mountaineers and backwoods people preferred Mountain Mary with her treatments and herb cures to the doctors. Far from being suspicious or jealous of Mountain Mary the medics in her region concurred in the opinion of Dr. Wunder that "that woman has something."

She even gave aid to the people Shoemaker gives the following account of the life and service of Mary Young:—
Mary Young resided in the Irish Mountain so of Berks County near Princeton and was known far and wide as "Barich Maria" or "Mountain Mary."
Having lost her son in the Battle of Trenton and her husband in the Battle of Princeton in the Revolutionary War, Mary Young walked from her home to those two battlefields, identified the bodies of her dear ones and buried them with her own hands in separate graves
Every year thereafter until her death nearly 40 years after the close of the Revolutionary War, she visited their graves and planted there.

The remainder of her time was spent in caring for her farm and aiding the sick and crippled, including a service as un-official nurse to Revolutionary War veterans.

From dawn to dark and often far into the night, she walked from mountain cabin to mountain cabin caring for the sick and afflicted. Once when an epidemic fever struck a large family in Woodchoppers' Gap, she took an extra change of clothing which she hid in a cave along the way. Returning from her visits to the family she would stop in the cave, discard her infected clothes.

hand in the Pennsylvania Dutch

Just before she passed away she gave this book of remedies to Squire Lobach of Lobachsville which was sold at auction of his goods after his death in 1894. Who obtained the book and what has become of it are unleasure.

Relatives and neighbors whom she had aided in her lifetime carefully cared for her grave and until 1934 annual pilgrimmages were made to the grave by the residents of the Blue Mountain foothills.

In 1934 the Berks County Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution erected a bronze tablet to the memory of Mountain Mary Young at her grave. In 1947 the old pines which surrounded and framed the burial plot having died or fallen, a group headed by Dr. Elmer Johnson and Daniel K. Hoch planted a dozen Blue Mountain white pines in their place, restoring the site to its original appearance. Last year another tribute was paid to her memory when a group of Berks County school children planted old fashioned double daffodils, Mary Young's favorite Easter flowers, around the grave. In 1934 the Berks County Chap-
