Face-Saving Propaganda Sifted by United Nations

—Washington—
Representatives of the 17 United Nations Allies fighting in Korea are meeting in Washington to discuss the progress of the military cease-fire talks at Kaesong.

The Washington representatives are expected to receive a preliminary report on the Kaesong parley and an analysis of their import.

High U. S. military and diplomatic officials believe the first meeting of the generals and admirals in Korea will indicate whether the North Koreans and Chinese Communists are sincere in seeking an end to the year-old conflict.

The UN Allies are anxiously awaiting word on whether the Chinese Reds will try to insist on impossible demands.

Far Eastern commander, General Matthew B. Ridgway, echoed the views held in Washington when he told newsmen in Korea: "Whether there is to be good faith or not is only to be judged by performance . . ."

A similar view was expressed by Iranian Ambassador Nasrallah Entezam, president of the UN General Assembly, following a meeting yesterday with John D. Hickerson, assistant Secretary of State for UN affairs.

The propaganda broadcasts of the Far Eastern enemy seem to indicate to some observers that a formidable campaign is underway to save face. Every effort is being made to make it appear that the U. S. is seeking peace because of extremely heavy losses.

Even the fact that Ridgway agreed to hold the talks in Kaesong, instead of at Wonsan, as he had first proposed, is proclaimed as a victory.

Where the North Korean leaders asked that the meeting be held in Kaesong, which they described as an "open city," they now call it a town within their lines to which the UN negotiators were forced to come to sue for peace.

The Pyongyang radio is even more vituperative than Peiping. It charges that the "American imperialists" lost "598,000 of their hired soldier . . . thus losing the U. S. military and political prestige as the biggest power in the world."

The Koreans, it adds, go along with the cease-fire proposal to prevent expanded hostilities and to eliminate the threat of a world war.

Of possibly deeper significance, the same program says that a cease-fire is not a solution. Other problems remain, it adds, and their solution depends on "the sincerity and further efforts of the American leaders in realizing their mistakes."

The Peiping radio disquietingly links the cease-fire negotiations with the turning over of Formosa to them and brands plans for a separate peace with Japan as a "conspiracy."

The Red Chinese radio also continues to call for more war materials. While claiming victory in Korea, it warns against America's "aggressive plans," which, it says, will not be abandoned in spite of the Korean "defeat."

Sergeant Wins Honor Medal

—Washington—
The leader of a slashing bayonet charge credited with routing an attacking enemy force and saving an American battalion has won the Army's 26th Medal of Honor in Korea.

He is Master Sergeant Stanley T. Adams, who came from Olathe, Kansas.

Sergeant Adams though wounded, survived the furious assault, and will receive the nation's highest honor on a date still to be announced.

Truman May Visit West Coast in Fall

In addition to his graduate work he has also served as director of the band, orchestra and chorus at Etna High School, near Pittsburgh, and for the past year has done substitute work in the Pittsburgh school system.

While an undergraduate he was a trumpeter for four years in the Kiltie Band at Carnegie Tech and is a member of the honorary musical fraternity, Sully Klan.

Mr. Hunter and his wife and their two children will move to Waynesburg before the opening of the fall semester.

James D. Thomas, electrical contractor of Waynesburg, was low bidder on wiring. His bid was $1,695.

The building will be 40 by 100 feet and is to be concrete blocks with a bituminous floor. It will be on the site of the old exhibit hall which fell last November under the heavy snow.

Construction will start at once and it is expected to be ready for the fair which begins August 15.

Former College Instructor Writes Novel

Ollive Cunningham Meredith Brown, a member of Waynesburg College faculty in the early 1900s, has written a novel "The Greatest Need," published by the William-Frederick Press in New York.

Mrs. Brown, a graduate of Emerson School in Boston, was the instructor in education in Waynesburg for several years. Following her marriage to Attorney Harry Meredith, she resided in Fairmont, W. Va. Later she married a second time. Mr. Meredith died a number of years ago. She resides with her son and his family at 3471 Locke Lane, Houston, Texas.

The novel deals with a religious theme and the announcement says, "Mrs. Brown has created in this rewarding novel a modern allegory of the eternal war between good and evil and a challenging quest for true destiny. Unremittingly engaging, always charming, here is a quiet, intelligent epic of spiritual growth—alive with unforgettable characters, rich in incident, action and human truth."

The book has had favorable reviews. Mrs. Brown wrote Mrs. A. L. Lehman of Fairmont, formerly of Waynesburg, that she spent six years studying novel technique of the latest and best authorities, and then spent six years on the novel itself.

Waynesburgers Promoted

Mrs. Raymond C. Gray of Park avenue, has received word that her husband who is serving with the Fifth Regimental Combat Team in Korea, has been raised in rank from second to first lieutenant. He is attached to Regimental Headquarters Company.

Lieutenant Gray served in the 28th Division during World War II, and also was a recruiting officer in Greene and Fayette counties after the war.

John R. Henderson, who is also in the same outfit, has been promoted to captain. He served with the 99th Division in Europe during World War II and has been in Korea since October 1950.

Mrs. Henderson resides on College street in East Waynesburg.

Neighbors Harvest Crop For Injured Veteran

Another instance of good neighborliness in Greene County took place last week when 30 ex-service men from Richhill Township veterans farm training program, and 10 residents of the Wind Ridge community, harvested the hay crop for Robert H. Crow of Wind Ridge R. D. 1.

Mr. Crow, a 28-year-old World War II veteran, suffered fractures of the jaw and leg June 26, when his automobile struck a bridge abutment at Rogersville.

'Fightin' Mink' They'll Call 'Em Now

The fate of 79 game cocks seized by State Police in a raid in Perry Township, near Mt. Morris, Sunday afternoon, was sealed Tuesday when they were sold for $10 to be ground up for food for mink, aristocrats of the fur bearing world.

They were purchased by William and Fred Smith who are raising mink on a poultry farm near Khedive.

The birds, valued at $10,000, some as high as $500 apiece, were brought in from the tri-state area to a farm at Mt. Morris R. D. 1, for a fight Sunday afternoon.

Owners and those attending the fight forfeited $10 each when they failed to appear for a hearing before Justice of the Peace John L. Daily Monday.

New Naval Bases Given Approval

Norman Hall, Noted Author, Dies in Tahiti

—Honolulu—
James Norman Hall, 64, co-author of "Mutiny on the Bounty" and other South Sea stories, died last Thursday of a heart attack at his home in Papeete, Tahiti.

With the late Charles Bernard Nordoff, Hall wrote the trilogy based in the British ship Bounty—"Mutiny on the Bounty," "Men Against the Sea" and "Pitcairn's Island."

Hall's daughter, Nancy Hall Rutgers, left Honolulu July 3 with her husband and two children to spend the summer with Hall on Tahiti.

A son, Conrad L. Hall, lives in Los Angeles.

Many books by Nordoff and Hall were made into motion pictures.

One of Hall's latest, "The Far Lands," was written in Honolulu last year during a visit of several months.

Hall was born in Colfax, Iowa, and graduated from nearby Grinnell College.

In 1914 he was on a walking tour in England when World War I broke out. He enlisted in the British army and served in France. Once he was the sole survivor of a gun crew he commanded.

Later he served in the Laffayette Escadrille and with Captain Eddie Rickenbacker in the old U. S. Army Air Corps.

After the war he found civilian life boring. He went to the South Seas in 1920, and spent the rest of his life there.

UMT Board To Meet On Thursday

—Washington—
An official of the new military training program claims the group expects to complete its work well within the four-month period set by Congress.

Townsend Hoopes, executive director, announced that the five-man commission headed by former Rep. James W. Wadsworth (R), N. Y., will hold its first official session next Thursday.

Under terms of the new Draft-UMT law the group—known officially as the National Security Training Commission—will draw up specific plans for submission to the Senate and House Armed Services Committees.

The law requires the committees to make a report on the commission's proposals within 45 days. Hoopes explained that this will prevent bottling up of the UMT measure in committee by "legislative or parliamentary maneuver."

Deadline for filing of the commission's report is October 29—four months from the date the Senate confirmed the commissioners.

U. S. Cancels Additional Trade Pacts

—Washington—
The U. S. is canceling trade agreements with Russia, Bulgaria and Romania, and has served notice it will take similar action against China and other Red-run countries.

State Department officials said the U. S. is asking for revision of trade pacts with Hungary and Poland, two other Iron Curtain nations, and will cancel those unless the changes are agreed to.

The department said cancellation results from amendments to the recently-renewed Reciprocal Trade Act directing that tariff benefits be denied the Communist bloc.

Hardest hit by the action will be luxury furs imported from Russia and China—ermine, fox, kolinsky, marten, mink, muskrat and weasel.

After cancellation is effective, Red governments must pay tariff rates in effect in the early 1930's before the Reciprocal Trade Act was passed.

Last year total U. S. imports from the Communist bloc were some 82 million dollars, compared with exports of somewhat less than 26 million.

Trade with the Red-dominated nations has been at a very low level so that cancellation will have little apparent effect.

Work to Start on School at Spraggs

Work will begin in about two weeks on the new school near Spraggs in Wayne Township. Contracts were awarded Monday by the State Public School Building Authority in Harrisburg. The building will be brick and fireproof.

Contract price for the building is $98,350.

The Headlee Lumber Company of Dilliner, was given the general contract at $73,850. McVehil Plumbing & Heating Company of Washington, was low bidder with a price of $10,625 for heating, and $7,745 for plumbing. Hiles & Lightholder of Canonsburg, were given the electric contract on a bid of $6,130. The total price includes walks, steps, driveway and construction of a lawn.

The State School Building Authority approved plans last spring and the building will be erected with an appropriation of $13,486 which the township will pay back over a long period of years.

The building will house the lower six grades in the eastern half of Wayne Township, and will replace five one-room schools, two of which, Spraggs and Johnson, are still in use. Children from the western end of the township will attend Brave and Kuhntown schools.

There will be three classrooms, a room which will serve as an assembly room for pupils and a community room for residents. A kitchen will be installed.

Atomic Shell Being Made, Wilson Report Tells World

—Washington—
Mass production of atomic weapons seems imminent. These will not be "A-Bombs" but atomic explosive charges for mortar and artillery shells and guided missiles. Top military men have been forecasting such developments for a year. Now the quarterly report of Charles E. Wilson, chief of the Defense Mobilization Board, brings them into the sphere of likelihood.

Included in the 50-page report is a brief but spectacular reference to atomic weapons.

Mr. Wilson declares that atomic and other "new weapons" are now reaching the production stage. The place of primary importance he gives to atomic weapons. Says Mr. Wilson: "The most striking advances are in the field of atomic weapons."

"Atomic bombs, considerably improved over those used in World War II, are being produced on an industrial basis."

"The development of atomic warheads for artillery shells and guided missiles is proceeding, as is that of the atomic-powered submarine."

"In addition, progress is being made in defensive measures against atomic attacks, in methods of detecting and measuring radiation, and in decontamination of procedures."

The announcement that improved atomic bombs are being produced on "an industrial basis" is of major military importance.

But perhaps even more so is the clear intimation that "atomic warheads" are now, or shortly will be made available.

It is the atomic warhead that Washington and the world is particularly interested in. The warhead is, of course, that part of the shell which explodes close to or at the target.

If an atomic warhead has been developed, then modern war has entered a new phase.

In the early days of atomic fission it was believed that bombs never could be reduced to a size where they could be shot out of weapons because of the large critical mass and explosive mechanism. It no longer can be doubted that this belief has been scrapped and that a new revolutionary and terrible artillery weapon has been reached.

General J. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff, has been forecasting this development for a year.

As recently as May 18 in Seattle, he told a press conference, "it is just a question of time until we have shells with atomic heads."

The mysterious communiqués from recent official summaries made public on atomic experiments at Eniwetok and in Nevada indicated that a whole new series of atomic weapons are now part of the American defense mechanisms.

THE RICE FAMILY

The town of Rices Landing, at the Mouth of Swan's Run (Enoch's or Pumpkin Run) was an important shipping point on the Monongahela River for many years, and because of this it is not surprising that one of the first boat yards was situated at this place. Until comparatively recent years it was the shipping point for the bulk of freight from Waynesburg and other parts of Greene County. Before the advent of railroads to this section, passengers took the boats here for Pittsburgh, Tanneries, saw mills, and at one time a pottery were located in this vicinity. The town which grew up here was laid out on land originally owned by John Rice, from whom it took its name. Abijah McClain laid out another portion of the town on his own land.

John Rice was an early settler, obtaining by virtue of a Virginia Certificate, issued to him April 13, 1780, a tract of 389 acres, which he patented under the title of "Prospect." This was a fitting title since the site had a fine view of the Monongahela River in both directions. On the same day Aquilla Martin obtained his patent to the tract adjoining. A law suit in Hardin County, Kentucky, indicates that Aquilla Martin was a half brother of John Rice's wife. There is evidence to indicate that John Rice and his brother-in-law, Thomas Roach, came from the upper Shenandoah Valley, after living for a time on Patterson's Creek in Hampshire County, (West) Virginia. A will on file in Frederick County, Virginia, shows that a John Rice made his will there November 2, 1782, which was probated May 3, 1785, naming his wife, Hannah, and children, Mary, Sarah, George, Edmund, John and James Rice. (Will Book 5, pp. 73.) Mention is made of brothers, George and Edmund Rice, the latter of whom is listed in the Bedford County tax list of 1772, as living in what is now Fayette County, Pennsylvania (Tyrone Township).

Another item that connects John Rice of Rices Landing with the Hampshire family is a sale by Rev. John Corbly on April 16, 1773, for the small sum of 5 shillings, 52 acres of land which Rev. Corbly had obtained by a grant from Lord Fairfax and situated on the Great Cacapon, to John Rice of Hampshire County. There is a tradition in the Corbly family that after the death of Rev. John Corbly's first wife, he left his children by that marriage with John Rice of Hampshire County, Va., until his second marriage to Elizabeth Tyler. The small sum paid in this transaction seems to confirm this tradition, and the presence of Thomas Roach, brother-in-law of John Rice, among the members of Rev. Corbly's Church at Garards Fort, seems to confirm the belief that John Rice of Rices Landing, was the son mentioned in the will of John Rice of Frederick County, Virginia. (Deed Book 3, pp. 137 Hampshire County, Virginia.)

John Rice died intestate in Greene County in 1802, his estate being administered by his son, Nathan Rice, who filed papers February 8, 1802. But it is from the will of Thomas Roach, who made the children of his sister, Sarah Rice, wife of John Rice, heirs of his estate after the death of his wife, Rachel Roach, that we learn the names of all the children of John Rice. The will of Thomas Roach was probated December 18, 1828. (Will Book 1, pp. 350.)

Children of John and Sarah (Roach) Rice

1. William Rice, died in Cumberland Township about 1851. For many years he operated the Brick Tavern House at Rices Landing, where he also maintained the ferry across the Monongahela River. His estate also mentions the ownership of a coal bank at that place. (O. C. Docket 4, pp. 7, December 1854.) His wife's name was Rebecca

Children of William and Rebecca Rice

1. Lucinda Rice, married Thomas Crago.
2. Margaret Rice, married Hiram Horner.
3. William Rice, Jr.
4. Isabella Rice, married George Kline.
5. Sarah Ann Rice, born February 15, 1830, died February 23, 1902, married 1849, Hiram Curl, born March 1, 1826, died January 25, 1892.
6. James Rice.
7. Samuel Rice.
8. Elizabeth Rice.
9. Henry Rice.
2. John Rice, Jr.
3. Thomas Rice, born April 5, 1774, married Susannah Myers, born July 2, 1776, daughter of George Myers, Sr., and wife.

Child of Thomas and Susannah (Myers) Rice

1. Rachel Rice, born 1798, died April 16, 1866, married Noah Teal, born August 22, 1800, died September 17, 1876.
4. Nancy Rice married William Harrod, Jr., born January 10, 1773, died in Clark County, Indiana, in 1847, son of Captain William and Amelia (Stephens) Harrod. William Harrod, Jr., was the man who gave the interview to L. C. Draper, which has been quoted so frequently in this record. He moved first to Bracken County, Kentucky, and then to Indiana.

Children of William and Nancy (Rice) Harrod

1. John Harrod.
2. Ann Harrod, married John Poe.
3. Elizabeth Harrod, married Daniel Kiger.
4. James Harrod, married Mary
5. Mary Rice, married Henry Sharpnack. (See separate record to follow.)
6. Rachel Rice, married Robert McMinn. Bates "History of Greene County" says he was born in Ireland, and was a school teacher for many years before taking up farming. There are no dates available for Robert McMinn or his wife. The family reports that they died near Carmichaels and were buried in an old cemetery in "the Old Town," but that their bodies were later removed to Laurel Point Cemetery. It may be well to note that a William McMinn was naturalized at Waynesburg on January 26, 1818, while a John McMinn was also naturalized here in August 1808. William McMinn stated he had come from Ireland to America, arriving here on June 18, 1812. John McMinn stated he had lived in the United States at least five years prior to the date of his application for naturalization. No such application is found for Robert McMinn. Because of this circumstance, it may be well to mention that one Robert McMinn was a soldier in Captain James Denny's Company, Chester County, Pennsylvania Militia, under Colonel John Gardner in August 1780, and apparently the same man served in Captain Thomas Laird's

Cumberland County Militia Company from September 10, 1780, until October 21, 1780. The relationship of these men is not shown, but these records indicate this Irish Family was migrating to America before the end of the Revolution.

Children of Robert and Rachel (Rice) McMinn

1. Elizabeth McMinn, married James Mahana.
2. Mary McMinn, married James Pogue.
3. Sarah McMinn, born 1815, died 1844, married John Curl, born 1808, died February 4, 1894.
4. Thomas R. McMinn, born April 22, 1820, married Elizabeth Pollock.
7. Jesse Rice.
8. Nathan Rice, administrator of his father's estate. He died intestate about 1821.
9. Hannah Rice, married Miller.
10. Sarah Rice, married Harling.
11. Benjamin Rice, named youngest son in the will of Thomas Roach. The will of Benjamin Rice was made March 30, 1852, and probated February 24, 1854. His wife was Sarah Crago, a daughter of Thomas and Priscilla (Thurman) Crago. Charles Rice and Clark Rice were the administrators for the estate of Benjamin Rice. (Will Book 3, pp. 153.)

Children of Benjamin and Sarah (Crago) Rice

1. John Rice.
2. Thomas Rice, married Priscilla Crago, daughter of John and Ann (Hiller) Crago.
3. Samuel Rice.
4. Charles Rice.
5. David Rice, born 1822, died March 10, 1892.
6. Clark Rice, born 1828, died 1899; married Susan, born 1841, died 1914.
7. Andrew Rice.
8. Priscilla Rice, died before her father leaving children. Her husband was Joseph Sedgewick, born October 5, 1811, died March 3, 1882.

THE HENRY SHARPNAK FAMILY

There can be little doubt that there are certain inaccuracies in the traditions of the Sharpnack Family, but just where tradition leaves off and facts take hold, that portion must be left to the family historians. One story is published in the "History of Ritchie County, West Virginia." It states that the ancestor of the Sharpnack Family, first name not given, left Prussia in 1759, with wife and one child, but died enroute to America and was buried at sea. The widow and son Peter Sharpnack, landed at Philadelphia, where soon afterwards the son, Henry Sharpnack, was born. The tradition goes on to say that the sons, Henry and Peter, grew up and became silk merchants in Philadelphia. In due time they disposed of their business, with Peter Sharpnack returning to Prussia at Eberfield Half Camp, and Henry Sharpnack coming to Rices Landing, where he married in 1783, Mary Rice, daughter of John and Sarah (Roach) Rice.

A portion of this story may be true, but it is evident from known facts that a part of it must be revised or explained. In the year 1790, Henry Sharpnack was still living in Germantown, Philadelphia County, at the head of a family that consisted of one adult male, two males under 16 years of age, and three females. At the same time Peter Sharpnack was living in Mifflin County Pennsylvania, the head of a family of three adult males, three males under 16 years of age, and three females. We shall hazard an explanation that Peter Sharpnack may have gone back to Prussia long enough to settle his father's estate, and then returned to Pennsylvania to live for a time at least, in that portion of Mifflin County, where in 1790, lived the families of George Rex, Robert Pennington, Archibald Hamilton, Benjamin Smalley, and other names later identified with the Tenmile Country. As for Henry Sharpnack's statement, then he must have returned to Philadelphia to be living there in 1790. From what we know of the family of Henry Sharpnack, it is true that he must have married about 1783, and the will of Thomas Roach shows that Mary Rice married Henry Sharpnack. Could it be that she was a second wife, married after settlement of Henry Sharpnack at Rices Landing?

Burials in Hewitts Cemetery at Rices Landing disclose another interesting fact not mentioned in the family traditions. At least two Henry Sharpnacks, whose ages cannot differ more than 12 years, must have come of that place about the same time, and to be that Henry Sharpnack, who died May 14, 1860, at the age of 88 years, and is buried in Hewitts Cemetery with wife, Elizabeth, who died March 22, 1851, aged 80 years, was a son of Peter Sharpnack, orphaned immigrant, and thus a nephew of Henry Sharpnack, posthumously born son of the man buried at sea. The latter Henry Sharpnack is reported to have died in 1848, but no cemetery record is found for either he or his wife. It may be presumed that they died at the home of one of their children, then living away from the Tenmile Country.

Known children of Henry Sharpnack

1. Daniel Sharpnack, died about 1821 in Greene County. (O. C. Docket 1, pp. 175 March 1822.) His wife was Mary Shroyer, born November 26, 1782, died August 25, 1870. She has a marker in Hewitts Cemetery.

Pennsylvania Pioneer in Medicine

The celebration this year of the Bicentenary of the founding of the Pennsylvania Hospital, the first in America, is a reminder of the important contributions made by citizens of this Commonwealth to the progress of medical science.

The old Pennsylvania Hospital, which, after 200 years, still retains its original building with its fine mural, painted by America's and Pennsylvania's first great painter, Benjamin West of Swarthmore, was the first American institution to apply the best scientific knowledge of the time to the care of the mentally and physically ill.

The powerful influence of that institution and the importance which medical science has always maintained in the traditions of the Keystone State, is shown by the fact that the first medical college in America was founded in Pennsylvania 14 years after the opening of the hospital. It was established as a department of the College of Philadelphia, afterwards the University of Pennsylvania. The first medical diplomas ever granted in America were awarded to ten members of its first graduating class.

DEATH IS FASTER!

In Pennsylvania, SPEED is the major factor in one out of three accidents and a contributory factor in many others. Actually, the FASTER you drive, the easier it is for DEATH to catch you!

Why?

At 60 miles per hour a car can do NINE times as much damage as at 20 miles per hour.

At 60 miles per hour you need SIX times the distance to stop that you need at 20 miles per hour.

At 60 miles per hour, it requires a minimum assured clear passing distance of more than 800 feet —or 55 car lengths—to pass a car going 50 miles per hour.

Briefly, your chances of living through an accident are seven times as good at 20 miles per hour as at 60 miles per hour! Remember, don't speed... Death is faster!

PENNSYLVANIA'S STATE POLICE... DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE... GOVERNOR'S HIGHWAY SAFETY ADVISORY COMMITTEE... DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS... DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION—ALL ARE WORKING CEASELESSLY TO MAKE PENNSYLVANIA'S HIGHWAYS THE SAFEST IN THE NATION.

WILL YOU CO-OPERATE? BE ON THEIR SIDE—THE SAFE SIDE!

This message in the interest of highway safety is one of a series prepared and disseminated by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association and the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue

Shockproof Homes

Lesson for July 15, 1951

EVERYBODY who begins a home wants it to last. Nobody really wants a temporary, makeshift home. There have been people who thought they wanted "trial marriage" but such persons did not want a home at all. What is it that holds homes together and makes them last? Life brings many an earthquake shock. How do you get shockproof homes?

Homes Without Marriage

Let it be said at once that while most homes begin with marriage, and the normal home consists of father, mother and children, there are homes without married couples. The story of Mary, Martha and Lazarus in the New Testament is the story of such a home.

Here were three grown persons, two sisters and a brother, and they had a good home; it must have been a good one, or Jesus would not have enjoyed going there as often as he did.

There have been other homes which have blessed all under the roof, such as a cottage group in an orphan's home, or a group of old people living together in one household; even a boarding house may, through the consecrated genius of some one person, become a kind of home beloved and long happily remembered.

But when all is said and done, all these kinds of marriage-less homes, good as they often are, take as their model the "normal" home of parents-and-children. And this normal home begins with marriage. If the marriage is permanent, the home will be; if the marriage drifts and wrecks, so will the home.

"Til Death Do Us Part"

As the present writer has said in "From This Day Forward" (a small book on the meaning of the Christian marriage service): "Only the Christian religion sponsors the highest form of marriage in the world. For Christian marriage is permanent. The state does not demand so much, social pressure in most places will not demand it, other religions have lower ways.

But the Christian ideal of marriage is nothing less than the union of one man and one woman, for their lifetime.

No Endurance Test

"Christian marriage is not a mere endurance test. If that is all, it may be genuine, but not successful. Now a genuine cake is not a pie and not a roast; but not all genuine cakes are successful.

Marriage and a home at their best can be a kind of heaven; but who would want a heaven that might evict its tenants any morning?

On a windy day in a certain street of houses hastily built for G. I.'s, any one might see the flimsy shingles flapping in the wind like so many sheets of paper. The young couples who were flim-flammed into buying these houses have already regretted it. No one wants to live in a house that the wind will blow to pieces. And no one wants a home that will be shaken apart by the winds of adversity or the earthquake shocks of disappointment.

The Heart of the Home

The only real basis of a lasting home is love. Everybody knows this much; not every one knows what love is. Love is not mere sentiment, and much more than emotion.

What Paul said long ago has been put by J. B. Phillips into modern words:

"This love of which I speak is slow to lose patience—it looks for a way of being constructive. It is not possessive; it is neither anxious to impress nor does it cherish inflated ideas of its own importance. Love has good manners and does not pursue selfish advantage. It is not touchy. It does not compile statistics of evil or gloat over the wickedness of other people. . . . Love knows no limit to its endurance, no end to its trust, no fading of its hope; it can outlast anything. It is, in fact, the one thing that still stands when all else has fallen."

A home where love of that sort is at its heart, will stand every shock of time.

"Letters to Young Churches," by J. B. Phillips. Macmillan Co. 1947.

New Cars to Get Spare Tires Soon

—Washington—

A ban preventing auto manufacturers from equipping new cars with spare tires will be lifted by the Government this week because of "improvement in the rubber situation and a reduction in passenger car production."

National Production Administrator Fleischmann gave those reasons in ordering preparation of a directive to end the ban.

The two-month ban did not prevent an auto buyer from purchasing a spare tire from his car dealer but he paid a higher price than he would had the spare come with the vehicle.

Fifty-Year History of Greene County Sports

By GEORGE N. THOMAS

COLLEGE GIRLS BASKETBALL

The dawn of basketball in Greene County was almost simultaneous with the dawn of the new century.

And girls played the game here before the boys. Some months elapsed before males realized the game was not as sissified as they had thought.

But whatever the opposite sex has done with the inflated sphere in half a century, to the girls forever belongs the distinction of having given the game its county baptism.

Fred M. Hatch, Oberlin College great, and Mrs. Thomas D. Whittles "sold" Waynesburg College girls on the game in 1902.

For the "sissy" game that it was supposed to be, basketball attracted boys who spent a great deal of time in the Old Mill on North Washington street while the girls practiced.

They didn't sit around to watch forms, either, because girls' uniforms, like bathing suits, covered all from neck to toes. They left everything to the imagination.

Soon boys dominated play and the fair sex took the back seat. Although they didn't receive sport page notices equal to boys' games, girls nevertheless considered their contests just as important.

For about eight years, the college girls had informal teams on the campus. Competition was limited to intramural.

In 1911, when the boys' intramural league was going strong, the girls whipped together two teams—Dorm Girls and Town Team—which combined when they met outside competition.

Among their earliest competitors was Washington Seminary. A coed was a young lady in those days and referred to as such. Lineups of girls' teams always listed them as "Miss Brown" or "Miss Smith."

It seems odd, then, to a modern reader who looks into old files to find: "Miss Ruth Luse is the star player among the college girls."

The following year the coeds began playing away games. A fuller schedule was drawn up—about three games—and the girls got down to business.

A victory over Westminster, chief rival, would have meant a good year but it was long in materializing.

They came close to halting "the Presbyterians" in 1914, but lost out by 13 to 9, a typical score.

The girls played on the roller rink floor on South Morris street, same as the boys.

There was considerable controversy as to rules. The girls didn't want to play girls' rules. They liked boys' rules better.

School officials, with the dean of women leading the fight, insisted on use of girls' rules. So they compromised.

A typical writup by a usually bashful—or uninformed reporter read: "The game was an interesting one throughout." No details were listed.

Three Tennant girls dominated that team—Erma, a forward; Lura, a guard; and Rae, center. Erma and Rae were dynamite offensively.

During the war years when boys' teams were temporarily curtailed, the girls—excuse the expression—wore the pants.

Their gloomy—and roomy—bloomers were worn below the knees, and black stockings the rest of the way down, and shoes.

From the waist up, they wore tight, turtle-neck sweaters with long sleeves.

That's as uncomfortable as anyone could get to play basketball.

When spectators came to see games—and they always packed the gym—they came to see the game, nothing else, although the coeds were a very pretty lot.

For two seasons, 1916-17 and 1917-18, the college was loaded with feminine ability.

The lineup contained, with married names in parenthesis, Mary Munnell (Rinehart), Pauline Lewis (Elkins), Edna Faddis (Stephens), Lura Tennant (Sayer), Ethel McNeely, Mary Blair (Scott), Wilma Crow, and Alta Shepherd.

The game was in Waynesburg. The Pitt team got off the W&W with heartsick looks. Their star, Minnie Weymeyer, had missed the train.

Cheers rang loud as Mary Munnell sank 9 points and Waynesburg seemed on the road, at last, to upset them and their perfect three-year record.

But Minnie caught a later train and was rushed into the game. She scored the deciding points to save Pitt's long skein of victories.

After the game, the Pitt girls said Waynesburg was the strongest team they had met all year.

Miss Jessie Clendenning of the faculty, chaperoned the team on its trips one year. But President Houghton, sizing up their builds, interfered the following winter, saying, "These girls can take care of themselves."

Geneva didn't allow men to attend girls' games so bleachers were nearly always deserted.

As the girls filed out for a game at Beaver Falls, they noticed "unproportioned women" in the balcony. The mysterious spectators wore heavy veils.

Authorities investigated. They found the "women" were very masculine Geneva boys, masquerading to see their sweethearts play.

When the nation went to war in 1917, there was little enthusiasm for sports.

But the girls called a meeting and, just as the Rev. Thomas Whittles went before the college president to get a football team in 1895, they sent Edna Faddis, Pauline Lewis and Mary Blair to talk with President Houghton and Professor Stewart.

The girls were convincing. They had their team. A few changes took place in the 1917-18 lineup. The team: Misses Faddis, Lewis, Dille, M. Lewellen, Tennant, McNeely, Huffman, Munnell and Blair.

Edna Faddis and Miss Dille led the scoring from their forward posts as they dumped Pittsburgh College for Women, Franklin College, etc.

But Pitt was still their jinx, although newspapers called the game "an exciting scrimmage."

At this time enough girls were interested to form a second team, called "Bluffers."

Misses Tennant, McNeely, Blair and Huffman were back the next year, and Misses Barriek, Finch and O'Hara joined the squad.

Mary Munnell scored 20 points against Beaver College February 28, 1919, for what is believed to be an all-time girls' record. She was consistently high scorer.

Helen Denny managed that team through a good season. Local fans complained that the Pitt referee gave her team too many fouls when they edged out Waynesburg again in the year's finale.

After almost two decades, the coeds had re-captured the county basketball spotlight.

WEDNESDAY EVENING JULY 18TH, FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH—FOR THE HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE WORLD

Jimmy Haddick Named Director Of Athletics

James (Jimmy) R. Haddick, former Waynesburg College athlete, who has been athletic director and head coach at Wyoming Seminary, Kingston, Pa., has been named athletic director and basketball coach, John R. Conklin, chairman of the athletic committee of the board of trustees, has announced.

Haddick graduated from Waynesburg in the class of 1937, and played football and basketball under the late Frank N. Wolf. He has since received a master of science degree with a biology major at the University of Pittsburgh and is now completing work on his doctor of philosophy degree at the University of Pittsburgh, in physical education.

Before going to Wyoming, a well known preparatory school, Haddick taught and coached at Plum Township High School in Allegheny County.

He will take over the basketball and baseball coaching jobs held by Roger Jorgensen, resigned, and as athletic director will fill the position made vacant by the death last January of Stan Keck.

In football he will assist John Wiley, also a Waynesburg graduate, who later starred for the Pittsburgh Steelers. Wiley will coach only during football season, being engaged in farming as a fulltime vocation.

House of Lords Seats Blind Hero

—London—
Sixty-three-year-old Lord Kenswood, who gained fame as a violinist and as a hero in the Second World War despite blindness, Friday took his seat in the House of Lords.

Formerly Ernest Albert Whitfield, he was elevated to the peerage in the recent honors list. He was governor of the British Broadcasting Company from 1946 to 1950.

Kenswood lost his sight at 21 while studying music in Vienna. He became a professional violinist and made concert tours throughout Europe and the United States.

Charles Pounds Two Spar Mates At Ligonier

—Ligonier, Pa.—

The usually amiable Ezzard Charles turned mean here Tuesday, an indication he is on edge for the coming heavyweight championship fight with Jersey Joe Walcott at Forbes Field on July 18.

The heavyweight king gave off a warning signal that he rapidly is getting in fighting form by battering two sparring partners all over the ring in the Ligonier High School gym. Charles showed little mercy as he pounded Dale Hall and Al Smith through a four-round session, working two with each man.

Charles appeared touchy and a trifle on edge as he went through four more rounds of shadow boxing, punching the bag and calisthenics.

His managers, Tom Tannas, and Jake Mintz, plus his trainers Ray Arcel and Jimmy Brown, all were agreed that they've never seen Charles this "mean" before the fight.

"I'm gonna keep away from him for a couple of days," said Mintz, whose clowning tactics and fracturing the English usually kept Charles in a good mood in the past.

Charles' weight was down to 184 pounds after the torrid session and he hopes to knock off two more before the end of the week. He took part in a four-round exhibition show staged by the Ligonier Boosters Club on Monday night in the Ligonier High gymnasium. He went two rounds each with Smith and Buck Jordan.

Challenger Jersey Joe Walcott took a day off Sunday from the training grind in preparation for the title match. He spent most of the day lolling around the Balkin Hotel in McKeesport, his headquarters during the fight. He did four miles of road work in the morning but little after that.

Jersey Joe resumed training Monday at the Rainbow Garden spot where he has been drawing large crowds.

Steeler Team Signs Rookie Texas Fullback

—Pittsburgh—

The Pittsburgh Steelers strengthened their fullback position this week with the signing of Floyd Sampson, a 220-pound, six-foot-three, ten second back from McMurray College in Texas.

This giant speedster, a fifth draft choice, was known as "Mr. Inside" of the Lone Star state after he amassed 100 yards per game in five straight contests.

He was the leading scorer in the All-Texas conference with 54 points and gained the amazing total of 914 yards in 154 attempts.

His college coach, Wilford Moore, wrote the following note to Steeler Coach John Michelosen:

"This youngster is the most under-publicized player in Texas . . . He was the workhorse of our team . . . He's a fast starter and hits on the inside with tremendous force . . . He can also turn an end with good speed . . . Take him early in the draft . . . The Chicago Bears also are after him . . ."

He will help bolster the offensive fullback post that was weakened when Fran Rogel, one of the most promising freshmen in the league last year, was called by the military. He will miss this fall's campaign.

Sampson immediately will engage in an all-out battle for the starting role with George Papich, a great star two seasons ago. He stayed out of competition last fall and recently signed a new contract in an attempt to make a comeback.

The newcomer is 22 years old, is married and lives in Anson, Texas.

At the same time, the Steelers announced the signing of veteran center, Bob Balog, who will be starting his third season with the local eleven.

Balog, who starred at both Denver and Georgia, played on the same high school team with Papich. Both are natives of Youngstown, Ohio. Balog is six-three and weighs 225.

Mikes Release Grid Schedule; Stuvek To Assist Cree

The appointment of Fred Stuvek, a star lineman for the past three years at West Virginia University, as assistant football coach at Cumberland Township High School was announced following a meeting of the school board last Tuesday night.

Stuvek, a native of Fredericktown, was a draft choice of the Los Angeles Rams of the National Professional Football League. He succeeds Thomas Cusimano, who recently resigned as grid assistant to Coach Al Cree.

At the same time, school officials announced a nine-game football schedule for the 1951 season, including one with a Class AA school and two contests with Class A opponents. The Mikes are a Class B school in the WPIAL.

Only newcomer to the schedule this year is Rostraver, which replaces Elizabeth.

The schedule:
SEPTEMBER
7—Monongahela, away.
14—E. Bethlehem, home.
21—Masontown, home.
28—Rostraver, home.

Wheeling Downs Names Leigh Racing Secretary

Several new faces will greet racing fans and horsemen when the 1951 Wheeling Downs race meet opens here on Saturday, July 21.

Richard A. Leigh of New Orleans, La., succeeds Fred Burton of Covington, Ky., as racing secretary; William Hamilton of Coral Gables, Fla., takes over the duties of association steward from John P. Turner of Baltimore; James W. Etheridge succeeds John W. Bowen of Wheeling, as Jockey custodian, and John C. Daly replaces John Bejsak of Baltimore, as one of the patrol judges. The mutual department this year will be under the direction of A. W. Deickman of Fort Thomas, Ky., who succeeds Charles R. Hatton of Baltimore. For the rest, the official family will be substantially the same that has served Downs patrons for the past several seasons. All of the new officials, as is the case with their associates here, are men of wide experience who come to Wheeling highly recommended.

WHEN YOUR "E" BONDS MATURE

The Treasury Department offers three choices to holders of Series E, United States Defense Bonds, when their Bonds mature:

Choices: You may: One, accept cash, if you so desire; Two, continue to hold the present bond with an automatic interest-bearing extension; Three, exchange your bonds in amounts of $500 or multiples for a Defense Bond of Series G, which earns current income at the rate of 2 1/2 percent payable semi-annually.

Action: If you want to obtain cash, you simply present your bond, with proper identification, to any paying agent. If you want to extend the matured bond you have ABSOLUTELY NOTHING TO DO—just continue to hold it. Extended bonds may be cashed at any time you wish. If you want a G Bond, see your bank for details.

Interest: The extended bond will earn simple interest on the face amount at the rate of 2 1/2 percent for the first seven and one-half years. Thereafter it will be at a higher rate sufficient to provide a total return for the 10-year extension period of 2.9 percent compounded.

Taxes: You have the choice of (1) reporting E Bond interest for Federal income taxes on an annual basis or (2) paying the taxes on the interest in the year when the bonds finally mature or are redeemed. The privilege of deferring taxes does not apply if the E Bond is exchanged for a G Bond.

Changes Seen In Submarine Construction

—London—
Secrets disclosed by the sunken British submarine Affray, lying nearly 50 fathoms deep in the English Channel, will result in important changes in submarine construction, naval experts said.
The Affray disappeared April 16 with 75 officers and men aboard. It was found June 14 off the French coast.
An Admiralty report disclosed that observations from a diving bell showed the Affray's hull to be intact with no signs of damage except to the "schnorkel"—the one device designed to enable a submerged craft to "breathe."
Many submarines have been distrustful of the "schnorkel" which was designed to allow a submarine to cruise at periscope depth of about 30 feet for prolonged periods, extending, if necessary, into weeks.
Experts said the Affray disaster would not bring about the "schnorkel" but that an official verdict would call for its re-design, which naval architects were already studying.
The Admiralty first turned down suggestions for the device in 1933 when a Dutch naval lieutenant, Jan Wichers, first put the idea forward.
In 1943, it was discovered that the German U-boats were using the "schnorkel" which made submarine warfare far more deadly than before. But it was not until after the war that Britain and the United States incorporated the device in submarine design.

Waynesburg Man With Medics in Korea

—Korea—
A Waynesburg Army man is on the Korean front helping speed the evacuation of wounded 1st Cavalry Division soldiers. Private First Class Lester T. Swaney, son of Mrs. Sadie Swaney, Waynesburg, is in the 1st Cavalry's 15th Medical Battalion.
Swaney's unit, a massive mobile tent city operating just short of the frontlines, has established many outstanding records in the Korean War.
During the early days when the UN forces staved off Communist hammerings at the Taegu perimeter, the 15th Medical were famous for their speedy evacuation of wounded. When the 1st Cavalry Division made its historic dash northward from Taegu, 15th Medical Battalion ambulance drivers had to travel 320 miles to evacuate casualties from the front. Maintaining the extended evacuation route was one of the war's most spectacular accomplishments.
At times, the battalion has overburdened its facilities by treating and evacuating casualties of other units. Wounded prisoners of war, also, have been processed through the Battalion. In mid-October, some 10,000 enemy soldiers from the captured North Korean capitol of Pyongyang were given medical attention.

Cost of War? 2 to 10 Billion

—Washington—
The Korean war has cost the United States from two to 10 billion dollars—depending on how you figure it—according to Assistant Secretary of Defense W. J. McNeil.
And if it continues, he told the Senate Finance Committee, the armed forces will have to ask for another two to three billions during the 12 months ahead.
McNeil was reluctant to give an exact estimate of the war's cost to date because of the difficulty of deciding what factors to include. He said he could "prove any figure from two to 10 billion dollars" depending on what assumptions were used.
He explained that although use of the 7th Fleet might be counted in, the Navy would have had to maintain it in the Far East even if there had been no war. Old B-26 bombers were used, he said, but if not they would have had to be replaced anyway.
McNeil said afterward that he would try to get the committee as accurate a figure as possible on the cost of the Korean war.

State C. of C. Seeks 'Ambassador' Bids

—Harrisburg—
The State Chamber of Commerce has asked more than 300 local chambers and community organizations to nominate former Pennsylvanians for "ambassador" honors during Pennsylvania Week, October 15-21.
The local groups were asked by the chamber to submit nominations of "outstanding sons and daughters" by the August 10 deadline.
The chamber was requested by Governor John S. Fine and State Commerce Secretary A. J. Sordani to handle the Pennsylvania ambassador program.
In the past, the awards committee composed of prominent Pennsylvanians, has chosen between 20 and 26 former Pennsylvanians for honors which include return to their hometowns to receive plaques at special ceremonies. Both men and women are eligible for the honors.

Dr. Anton Bruu of the University of Copenhagen heads the staff of 11 scientists aboard the 1,630-ton frigate. The world's deepest hole is off the Surigao coast of Mindanao in the southern Philippines. It is 34,440 feet.

Farm Subsidies Defeat Predicted

—Washington—
The House Agriculture Committee has agreed to ask a Congressional ban on all farm price rollbacks but backed down on a similar provision for manufactured goods and professional services.
Chairman Cooley (D) N. C., said the group will also try to defeat an administration proposal which would give President Truman standby authority to pay subsidies to farmers where needed to stimulate production.
The House starts voting Monday on amendments to the overall price-wage-rents control bill written by its Banking Committee. This measure already is considerably weaker than the new economic controls bill asked by the President.
