Atom Arms Savings In Billions

—Washington—

Senators Bridges (R-N. H.) and Ferguson (R-Mich.), called on military leaders Wednesday to tell Congress whether all-out atomic arming of U. S. defense forces is feasible.

The two Republicans, members of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said in separate interviews that law makers ought to know if it is possible to cut defense costs by $30,000,000,000 yearly by substituting atomic for conventional weapons.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn.), told the Senate Tuesday such a saving would be possible. He urged that the Army, Navy and Air Force be armed primarily with atomic weapons.

He said the cheap, mass production of a-bombs could become a reality in three years, if a start were made now.

He asserted that it would be possible to get the unit cost of a bomb down to what the country now pays for a tank—some $240,000.

Robena Enters National Mine Rescue Meet

Robena is one of fifty-five teams from nine states thus far entered in the National First-Aid and Mine-Rescue Contest at Columbus, Ohio, October 24, the U. S. Bureau of Mines announced Wednesday. Four other Pennsylvania teams have entered.

The Bureau reported at least 44 teams will compete in first-aid events and 11 in mine-rescue contests. Each first-aid team has six members and each mine-rescue team, five.

Described by many as "the world series in safety," the national event is sponsored by coal operators, mining institutes, the United Mine Workers of America, state department of mines, the National Coal Association, and U. S. Bureau of Mines.

All events will be at the State Fair Grounds in Columbus. They are free to the public.

Winning teams will receive trophies and all contestants will be given Federal medallions designed by the Bureau of Mines and attesting to their participation in the contest.

'Good Neighbor' Policy Pays Off For Ex-Marine

—Galloway, Wis.—

A Marine veteran arose at dawn one day last week and stood holding his wife's hand as they viewed the work done by 6,000 neighbors who performed a lifetime's task in 24 hours on his farm.

At the same time the day before they looked out on 80 stony acres, a dilapidated barn, and a one-room lean-to in which they lived.

But thanks to thousands of "good neighbors"—many of whom had never met the couple—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flees and their youngsters had these blessings:

A modern five-room house, a new barn, a milk house, a machine shed, a livestock watering pond.

In addition, the farm was cleared of stones; 20 acres of woods were also cleared, and another 25 acres were plowed, dragged, and fertilized. The lawn was landscaped.

"I don't think I'm deserving of all this," was all Mr. Flees could say. The project was organized by Dr. B. J. Przedpelski, a University of Wisconsin extension agent.

He heard that Mr. Flees, a World War II veteran, wounded on Guam, had lost an eye in a farm accident. The time Mr. Flees lost because of the injury put him far behind in his task of getting the tract in shape.

Dr. Przedpelski originally recruited 200 persons. The actual response overwhelmed everyone connected with the venture.

Many of the 6,000 came to just watch, but stayed to work. Schools were dismissed so that the children could pick up rocks littering the farm.

Local merchants donated overalls and gloves for the workers. Others sent food. Lumber yards provided wood for the buildings.

Bulldozers and more than 100 tractors—so many they got in each other's way—scored over the little farm.

Major General Daniel B. Strickler, commander of Pennsylvania's 28th Division, told the General Assembly in Harrisburg Monday night, the division will be given "a strategic mission right near the iron curtain."

The 28th will go to Europe in November. General Strickler, former lieutenant governor, and also a former member of the House, was given a tremendous ovation by the House and Senate.

General Strickler said the 28th Division will remain in Europe as long as world conditions require. He told the lawmakers he was proud of the Pennsylvania soldiers under his command.

"In all my career," Strickler declared, "I have never had a finer, better behaved group of men than I have in my division. They are interested tremendously in their assignment and eager to do a job."

He repeated his statements to the Senate about the division and added: "The situation of military training has changed vastly since the days of World War I and II. Today the problem of logistics and supplies is greater but it only means we have to do things on a more business-like basis."

Mrs. Carter came to Waynesburg College in 1913, and prior to coming here had been a concert violinist. She studied with Carl Peirce and Felix Wintermiltz in the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, and with Charles Etrick in Albany. She also studied with Guillaume Remy and Maurice Hewitt in the Conservatoire Americain in Fontainebleau and Paris, France.

Mrs. Carter served as director of the School of Music for several years. She was united in marriage with Charles S. Carter, prominent Waynesburg attorney in 1925.

As a hobby, Mrs. Carter paints in oil, and has had several of her studies exhibited in New York. She studied with Emile Gruppe and Anthony Thieme in Gloucester and Rockport, Mass., and with Ralph Pearson in New York.

Dilliner Youth Cleared of Burglary at Greensboro Inn

Jack Lee Tresize, 22 years, of Dilliner R. D., was cleared of larceny and burglary charges by a jury Wednesday in connection with the theft of $30 in cash, three bottles of whisky, and bill-folds valued at $4.50, from the Nassar Hotel at Greensboro the night of May 28.

Miss Roxie Christopher of Uniontown, was discharged by the Greene County Criminal Court on a charge of false pretense Tuesday, when a demurrer was filed by defense counsel on grounds that insufficient evidence had been produced to convict her of the charge or to connect her with it.

A petition was then filed for the Commonwealth asking that the defendant be required to show cause why a new trial should not be granted.

Miss Christopher was connected with a Uniontown construction firm which erected a dwelling financed under a GI loan made to Charles J. Samuels of Rand, W. Va. The home, the commonwealth contended was not completed with the funds so obtained.

James Wise, 56 years, of Fairmont, W. Va., was sentenced to 9 months in the Greene County jail Saturday by Judge J. I. Hook when he pleaded guilty to the theft of a heifer from the farm of Charles White in Wayne Township, last July 9.

The animal was valued at $450 and was traced to Baltimore where it was sold at a livestock auction.

Wise was arrested by Sheriff Emil Fox and State Police, Judge Hook stated if Wise pays a fine or its value, he will be given a chance for parole after three months.

Vincent Przyhoeki of Penn Pitt, was placed on probation for two years when he pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery. The charge was brought by his wife, Helen.

Charles Dennis Hardy of Bobtown, who pleaded nolle contendere to a loitering charge, was put on probation for a year. He was caught by two men on West Elm street loitering near their homes last December.

Bond Issue Set At $190,000 for Sewage Plant

Council has fixed the bond issue to be voted upon in November for completion of the Waynesburg Sewage disposal plant, at $190,000. The amount will place the borough within $6,000 of its bonding limit.

The sum of $56,000 is outstanding from an issue floated in 1926 for street construction.

Assessment to property owners for improvement of Lincoln street from Morris to Richhill, which was completed last year were fixed at $4.05 per foot.

No action was taken on a request by T. P. Fredeley and Waynesburg College to ban parking on a half block extension of First avenue east of Morris street.

A resolution to ban parking on High street between Morris and Washington from 7 to 9 p. m. on Saturday was defeated.

John Clark, a watchman at the fire house, was granted a leave of absence because of illness.

Change Proposed In Primary Date

—Harrisburg— A bill changing Pennsylvania municipal primary date in odd years from July to May has been passed unanimously by the House. It went to the Senate.

The legislation would change the primary date in odd years from the fourth Tuesday in July to the third Tuesday in May.

Representative Charles C. Smith (R-Phila.), sponsor of the bill, said the purpose of the change is to give voters more time to campaign and consider candidates.

The primary this year was moved up from September to July to give Pennsylvania service personnel on duty outside the state time to receive and return general election ballots.

 Car Hop—Russian Style —Vienna— American officials have said that a high-ranking Soviet official is driving a new American car, stolen recently from H. G. Torbert, chief intelligence officer of the United States legation here.

The car, they said, has been identified as that being driven by a Russian official in charge of purchasing for the Soviet monopoly in Austria.

The Russian, the United States sources said, bought the car for about $2,200 from a "professional thief" specializing in stealing American cars for Soviet officials.

The thief was arrested recently and supplied the Americans with a list of his "customers."

United States sources said an official protest may be made but that no direct attempt will be made to recover the stolen cars.

Initial campus enrollment for the first semester of the 1951-52 academic year at Waynesburg College is 485 students, it was announced by Registrar M. K. Talpas following registration of the three upper classes.

The total does not include students at the Uniontown Center or those who will enroll in evening extension courses.

Although the enrollment is somewhat less than that of the last few years, it exceeded the anticipated figure due largely to a heavy influx of Freshmen who registered last week.

The total registration decline reflects a nationwide decrease among college students, due to the near completion of the GI education program, college officials said.

The enrollment by classes is as follows: Seniors 112; Juniors 92; Sophomores 84; Upperclass (Intermediate Freshmen) 49; Specials 22. Of the total of 485, there are 356 men and 129 women.

Following are the freshmen: James Abbott, South Hills, Pittsburgh.

THE BUCKINGHAM FAMILY

This early Pennsylvania family was among the earliest settlers on the North Tenmile, and since their arrival have been more or less identified with the Jefferson and Clarksville communities. The family is directly descended from one William Buckingham, who came from England in the 17th Century, and settled in Chester County, where he bought land in Birmingham Township on April 7, 1687. He became a Baptist preacher and was identified with the Cohansey Baptist Church of New Jersey, and later with the Brandywine Church in Birmingham Township, Chester County, Pennsylvania. He died about 1701, leaving a wife, Margaret, and a number of children.

John Buckingham, son of William and Margaret Buckingham, was one of these children. He was born about 1670 and removed to New Castle County, Delaware, where he died at the age of 84. He married, in Delaware, Hannah Brundsen, a daughter of John Brundsen, an immigrant from England, about 1678. He and his wife were members of Brandywine Baptist Church.

- Children of John and Hannah (Brundsen) Buckingham
1. John Buckingham, married Sarah Knowles Shallcross, a widow. He bought land on April 27, 1744, and constructed a mill on his property. On February 18, 1750, he sold an interest to Joseph Buckingham, and on January 30, 1751, sold another part to William Buckingham. On the same day, John and William Buckingham, with their wives, sold an interest in the mill to Hannah Heath.

Howell James names Jane James in his will, as a daughter of son, William, deceased. William Buckingham died in 1789, aged about 87 years. The names of his children with the birth records, were found among the papers of a grandson, Levi Buckingham, of Hamilton County, Ohio.

ton County, Pennsylvania, June 23, 1827. He married, December 7, 1762, Jane Jones, daughter of James and Susannah (Williams) Jones. She was born June 28, 1744, and died in Washington County, Pennsylvania, March 16, 1826. Both are buried in the Buckingham Cemetery near Fredericktown, Pennsylvania. William Buckingham served in Captain Ezekiel Rose's Militia Company in the Fifth Battalion, Washington County Militia, in the War of the Revolution. (Penn. Arch. Series VI Vol. 2, pp. 206-242). He removed to Ohio about 1779, but returned. Family Bible record was copied in 1827, by Mark Buckingham of Hamilton County, Ohio. Many Chinese Leave Singapore

—Singapore—
Malaya's rubber boom is attracting thousands of Indians while thousands of Chinese are leaving. A government spokesman said "Indians are coming in because of the rather lucrative jobs as rubber tappers. More Chinese are leaving because of unsettled conditions in the country and Red promises of better living in China."

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Exhibit Quality Products—Vegetables for exhibit at fairs and community shows should be true to variety type, says Robert Fletcher, extension vegetable specialist of the Pennsylvania State College. They should be of good market quality, and where there is more than one in an exhibit, each specimen should be the same size, color, shape, and maturity.

Feed Good Hay—Be sure to store some of the best legume hay for the poultry. Penn State extension poultry specialists say that such hay can take the place of some expensive grain. Before feeding the hay cut it into one to four-inch lengths with an ensilage or straw cutter. Then it can be fed on the floor or in racks.

Bale Grass Silage—Where a field chopper is not available for handling grass and legume silage, a pickup baler may be used without twine, says Burton Horne, Penn State extension agricultural engineer. The united bales, or "plugs," are easier to handle than tangled forage.

Control Blight—Continue to spray or dust with fixed copper while the tomato plants are still producing, urges A. H. Bauer, Penn State extension plant pathologist. Dusts should be applied after every rain to control the blight which can cause great loss.

Farmers Get Help—Custom operators perform an important service for Pennsylvania agriculture, says J. K. Pasto, Penn State farm management specialist. They enable many farmers to gain the benefits of modern machine operations without buying costly equipment.

Avoid Off Flavors—To prevent off-flavor milk, feed dairy cows after milking and ventilate the barn so the air will be clean and fresh, urges I. E. Parkin, Penn State extension dairy specialist.

Don't Let Scrap Waste Away, Sell It to Aid Defense, Farmers Urged

Will steel output be increased? That depends to a great extent on whether farmers move their iron and steel scrap promptly, says the Committee on Iron and Steel Scrap of American Iron and Steel Institute.

Thousands of tons of scrap—vital material in steelmaking—are idle in junk piles on farms, and some of it is wasting away, says the Committee. If farmers promptly sell this material to local scrap collectors, it will be moved to steel mills or foundries for the production of defense equipment and essential civilian items. All scrap is urgently needed—whether a few pounds, a few bushels or a ton or more.

Farmers will help themselves by the sale of the scrap and will help strengthen the United States. Each day about 2,000 carloads of purchased scrap are required by steel mills and foundries. The mills are operating at a record high rate and using more scrap than ever before.

Old tools, wornout parts of tractors, trucks, cultivators and other implements; broken and discarded pieces of metal and other scrap should be taken to town and sold right away to the local scrap dealer. Every pound of scrap which comes back to steel mills helps to make two pounds of new steel, on the average.

If the scrap is unusually bulky, preventing its easy transportation by the farmer, the scrap dealer can be called or the local farm agent can be asked to work out an arrangement.

"Farms are one of the big sources of scrap," says the Committee. "Never have farmers had a greater stake in the nation's steel output."

"More scrap from farms means more steel. This vital material must not be allowed to waste away. There is no place for waste in the United States today."

Tiadaghton Resolve Legend Not Recorded As History

—Harrisburg—

Henry W. Shoemaker, President, Pennsylvania Folklore Society, State Museum, Harrisburg, told the legend of the Signing of the Tiadaghton Declaration of Independence or "Resolve" by the Fair Play men 175 years ago on the Clinton County side of Pine Creek.

"Never fully authenticated as a piece of Pennsylvania history, folklorists have preserved it, while historians are putting it together like an historical jigsaw puzzle," Shoemaker said.

"Latest of a half dozen 'Resolves' as they are called, more oral tradition is known concerning this one and a written copy, the last part probably missing, is preserved in the Public Records office in Harrisburg. The other Resolves were all signed in 1774, the earliest by the Hanover riflemen in Hanover Township, now Dauphin County, on June 4 of that year, followed by Resolves at Lebanon, Lancaster and York. Without doubt the wording of the various Resolves was similar to the Pine Creek document now on file at Harrisburg, and dated July 4, 1776.

"For a long time the place of signing the Pine Creek Declaration was in question, some deeming it was executed at Fort Horn, now in Wayne Township, Clinton County, but the late Professor John H. Chatham in 1913, led the Clinton County and Lycoming County Historical Society members to the giant elm, on the west bank of Pine Creek at the Bridle Ford, where the document, he said, was signed.

"Born in 1846, as a small boy Chatham's grandfather, Professor Walter S. Chatham, had been taken to the spot by Alexander Hamilton, and later the location was confirmed by other venerable residents. Professor Chatham collected and preserved the names of all but a few of the Signers and these were turned over to the committee in charge of a patriotic ceremony held under the elm on July 4, 1918, the names printed on a plaque affixed to the tree.

"Instead of burying it in an iron box at the site of Fort Horn the one original copy was turned over to two fearless young horsemen, Michael Quigley, Jr., son of the first white permanent settler in Clinton County, and his brother-in-law, Patrick Gillfillan. The riders were instructed to take the document to the Congress assembled in Philadelphia, to perhaps give them the added knowledge that the far frontier stood for freedom, and hurry the adoption of the document then pending in Independence Hall.

Spraggs

Major and Mrs. E. W. Thralls and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Thralls of Washington, D. C., were dinner guests of their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miller of Wana, W. Va. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thralls in Fairmont.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Corwin and daughter, Carol, of Waynesburg, were Sunday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Forney Dulaney.

The barn being built for Earl Spragg by Wilbur Groom and George Patterson, is nearing completion.

father, Charles Mooney, from Charles Braddock. Mrs. Breeding teaches home economics in the local high school. Mr. and Mrs. Mooney will move to their new home during the fall.

"The Declaration of Independence had been adopted when the messengers arrived, having been held captive for a short time by Indians.

"Quigley and Gillfillan reached Philadelphia without further molestation. Unfortunately no one there seemed to care about them or their document and, it is said by some, they brought it back to Pine Creek, by others that it eventually passed into the hands of local historians.

"If the couriers returned the document to Pine Creek it may have given rise to the story that it was buried in the iron box in the foundations of Fort Horn. To prove or disprove this, in 1949 Robert F. Rich of Clinton County, had scientists of the U. S. Geodetic Survey visit the ruins with magnetic needles but found no evidence of anything metallic buried there.

"Copies of the declaration hung for years in the homes of the Hamilton and Jackson families and from these the copy in Harrisburg was probably taken."

Pottery Class To Be Formed

Persons interested in taking a course in pottery making at Waynesburg College this fall and winter are asked to meet at 7 p. m. Thursday evening at Ivyhurst, the former Downey residence, at the corner of Greene and Washington streets, at which time arrangements will be made as to the most convenient evening for all concerned on which to hold the class.

The course is open to all men or women living in the tri-county area of Greene, Washington and Fayette Counties, and adjoining section of West Virginia. There are no academic requirements for the course and, it was announced, anyone interested in learning the fascinating art of pottery making is invited whether they are high school graduates or not regardless of whether or not they have ever attended college.

It is also a course in which elderly persons can excel and which is highly recommended by physicians as an interesting hobby for retired individuals, housewives, business men and others. It was pointed out by college officials.

Pottery making is an art which goes back further than recorded history, President Paul R. Stewart said, and one which is mentioned often in the Bible.

Stanley Wyatt, head of the college art department, and Orville Dayton of Waynesburg, will be in charge of the class and will be present Thursday evening to arrange the time of the class meetings.

Peoples Gas Asks PAD Order Exemption

The Peoples Natural Gas Company has filed formal application with the Petroleum Administration for Defense asking exemption from or modification of a PAD order, issued August 15, which imposed limitations on supplying natural gas for house heating and other large volume uses.

Until the government agency acts on the company's application, Peoples will remain free of the restrictions of the PAD order, and will continue to approve house heating applications on its lines throughout Western Pennsylvania where distribution facilities permit.

Annual Dividend For Veteran's Insurance

—Washington—
Veterans can expect GI insurance dividends each year from now on if they keep their policy payments up and the death rate doesn't increase too much.

A Veterans Administration spokesman said this week he does not see why the agency could not pay dividends "indefinitely" if these conditions are met.

Meanwhile, VA is trying to speed up the process of sending out checks to ex-GIs. At present from two to four months pass between the anniversary date of the policy and the issuance of the check.

The spokesman explained that nothing can be done until the vet pays the premium due on the anniversary date. Then, the VA district office certifies to Washington that the premium has been paid and the veteran is entitled to the dividend.

VA's main Washington office then calculates the amount due the ex-serviceman and issues a voucher authorizing the Treasury Department to write the check.

Dividend payments are ranging between $15 and $180, the spokesman said.

Of the $685 million dividend "kitty" less than half—$235 million had been paid out on August 21, to 2,854,000 veterans, but the agency is trying to speed the process.

The spokesman said he expected the government to pay the dividend to more than seven million ex-GIs every year from now on because an outmoded mortality table which makes the premiums higher than they should be.

He explained that by law the agency must base premiums on that mortality table but if the death rate is not high enough at the end of the year to warrant such high premiums, the excess is returned to the veterans in the form of dividends.

Named Home Economist For Manufacturers Gas

Miss Lenore Retzer, a native of Hickory, has been named home economist for The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, with headquarters in Washington.

In announcing the appointment, F. W. Burdette, district manager, said Miss Retzer would conduct the gas company's home service program in Washington and such neighboring communities as Canonsburg, Hickory, McDonald and Waynesburg. She is taking over the activities formerly directed by Mrs. Dorothy Crawford Longmore, who is now located in the company's Hilltop home service center in Pittsburgh.

Miss Retzer attended grade school in Hickory and was graduated from the Mt. Pleasant High School. Her B. S. degree in home economics was granted by Indiana State Teachers College and she did postgraduate work at Pennsylvania State Extension College.

Before joining the gas company in 1951, Miss Retzer taught home economics in Somerset and McDonald schools.

Educating U.S. Children To Top $6 Billion in '51

—New York—
Close to $6,500,000,000 is being invested in a year's education for children now returning to public elementary and secondary schools for the fall term.

According to estimates prepared by the United States Office of Education, most of this sum will go for current expenditures, such as salaries, school plant maintenance, pupil transportation, etc.

Approximately $1,500,000,000 will be spent on new buildings, furniture and other capital outlays.

It is expected, says Emery M. Foster, the office of education's head of analysis research and statistical standards, that there will be an average daily attendance in public elementary and secondary schools of about 23,500,000 pupils. At that rate, about $280 will be spent per pupil during 1951-52.

Teachers' salaries are bound to go up a little this coming year say Mr. Foster and Dr. Frank W. Hubbard, National Education Association research director, but not much.

"On the one hand," says Dr. Hubbard, "we have had a great deal of activity in the past year on the part of local committees of teachers pressing for salary increases. A number of new salary schedules have been written, all of which adds up to some improvement in teachers' salaries."

"Offsetting these hopeful things is the gradual tightening of the tax dollar, particularly as shown by the action of state legislatures. What the net effect of all this will be I am not able to say with certainty, but I would guess, that, on the average, teachers' salaries will advance

Yes, General Eisenhower will accept the Republican presidential nomination.

Yes, General Eisenhower welcomes the active pre-convention campaign which is now getting under way in his behalf.

Yes, General Eisenhower is prepared to give a frank and open declaration of his availability well before the 1952 convention.

In 5, 10, 15 years you'll say, "I'm glad I bought a Speed Queen"

It is wise, when buying a washer, to remember the old saying, "It isn't the original cost, it's the upkeep."

Because — the cost of a lot of hot water and soap and frequent repair bills can take away much of the joy and convenience of owning a washer.

LOOK AHEAD AND BUY A SPEED QUEEN

We know of no other washer in America which has as fine a service record as the Speed Queen. And that record, especially during these days, should be an important consideration in selecting your new washer.

A PEACH OF A PIE

Fresh peaches and red plums, enlivened with orange rind, make the luscious filling for this summer fruit pie. The Spry "Water-Whip" way makes pastry making a joy for there is no "cutting-in" of the shortening and no guessing about how much water to use. Your piecrust will be tender and flaky made this way, easy way. Clip the recipe and try this pie today!

"Water-Whip" Piecrust

(Pastry for 9" 2-crust pie)

- 3/4 cup Spry
- 1/4 cup boiling water
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 2 cups all-purpose flour (sifted once before measuring)
- 1 teaspoon salt

Put Spry in medium-sized mixing bowl. . . . Add boiling water and milk and break up shortening with fork. Tilt bowl and, with rapid cross-the-bowl strokes, whip or beat with fork until mixture is smooth and thick like whipped cream and holds soft peaks when fork is lifted. . . . Sift flour and salt together onto Spry mixture. Stir quickly, with round-the-bowl strokes, into a dough that clings together and "cleans" the bowl. . . . Pick up and work into a smooth dough; shape into a flat round. The dough is now ready to roll either between waxed paper, or on a pastry cloth or board.

Peachy Plum Pie

- 1 recipe "Water-Whip" Piecrust
- 6 medium-sized peaches, pared and sliced
- 4 red plums, cut in thin slices
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch or flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Roll 1/2 of pie dough and line a 9-inch pie plate. Roll remaining dough and cut into narrow strips about 3/8 inch wide. Fill pie shell with sliced peaches and plums. Combine sugar, cornstarch, and salt and pour over fruit. Sprinkle with orange rind and dot with butter. Trim pastry 1 inch larger than pan and turn dough under to make a stand-up rim. Lay pastry strips over fruit, crisscrossing them to make an attractive lattice top. Flute rim of pie. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 50-60 minutes.

Fifty-Year History of Greene County Sports

By GEORGE N. THOMAS

FRANK N. WOLF

When Frank N. Wolf launched his coaching career in the fall of 1921, he had compiled an enviable athletic record at Penn State and had been a good soldier for Uncle Sam.

FRANK N. WOLF

Born in McKeesport, Wolf participated in all sports his home town high school offered. And he was outstanding in all. By the time he was 16 he was dubbed "the best crack runner in all sports."

When WPIAL was still a baby, Wolf's name had become a permanent part of its records. He established a WPIAL record in high hurdles and took part in discus, high jump, broad jump, 220 low hurdles and mile relay.

At 16 he culminated his scholastic grid career by being named to the WPIAL first team and labeled "most valuable" player. A review of his abilities was topped off with "he's in a class by himself" and "he's the most promising athlete ever graduated."

On and on went similar reports of his prowess in basketball and baseball, too. He was the star on W. D. Mansfield's cage team.

In 1916, probably no other athlete in the area's history was more sought-after than Frank Wolf and Penn State drew the halfback's nod.

Under Hugo Bezdek, Wolf starred in nearly every sport. As a sophomore, he was field general of State's grid team and led them to great heights against Pitt, Penn and Lafayette.

In 1917 Wolf joined the doughboys and became sergeant in the 14th Engineers.

The war didn't dull his adeptness. His final two years were great. He captained the football, basketball and track squads.

As a forward, he set an individual scoring mark in basketball. His team was among the national leaders and one of the best in State's history.

Wolf was one of State's handful of 4-lettermen. He graduated as a metallurgical engineer in 1921.

With the blessing of Coach Bezdek, Wolf could have gone almost anywhere to coach. Probably because Waynesburg was near his home, he told Attorney Lloyd E. Pollock he'd take over the task.

The open arms that greeted him after graduation in 1921 were to close two years later but for no justifiable reasons.

Frank worked hard from the start. Although his contract read that he wasn't required to field a football team 'til 1922, he had the boys ready to go by October. And they won three out of four games while they were supposedly "green."

His two basketball squads and one baseball team during his brief tenure had good records and he brought in athletes on hardly more than a promise of an education. Other coaches promised boys the moon—and more.

This was the period when the huddle was invented because gridmen could not hear number signals above the crowd's roar.

Wolf played pro-football for McKees Rocks, Bradley Eagles, Charleston Senators and Logan (W. Va.) Wildcats between 1921 and 1924.

The Waynesburg Legion Independents, county floor champs, also claimed him as their star center in 1921-22.

The same winter, he coached Waynesburg High School to its first undefeated basketball season under his famous "rigid discipline" system.

Wolf went to high officials to demand why his proteges couldn't compete for the state crown. Refused, he never held it against the PIAA.

Later he helped wrestling coach James M. Miller originate the WPIAL wrestling tourney. Wolf not only was coach of major sports but also headed a robust intramural program. He brought interclass competition which culminated in the great Frosh-Sophomore grid game in 1922.

It became an annual institution for years, determining whether

Wiley Opens Coaching Career On Saturday

Head Coach John Wiley, former Waynesburg College and Pittsburgh Steeler tackle, will open his coaching career this Saturday when he sends his Waynesburg College eleven against the Mountaineers of West Virginia University at Morgantown. Game time is 2:30 p. m. (DST).

Wiley has changed the Yellow Jacket attack from the split T employed by the late Stan Keck to the rock 'em, sock 'em single wing as taught him by two great men of this system, the late Frank Wolf of Waynesburg College, and his professional coach, the late "Joe" Sutherland.

Waynesburg will field a comparatively green team as far as college competition goes, and one that is not too familiar with the new system. However, fans are all agog over the prospects of a good season.

Bill Scott, fullback, of Waynesburg, and Steve Yourchik, tackle, of Jefferson, have been named co-captains for the 1951 season. The co-captain setup will give the Jackets a leader on the field at all times as Scott will be playing on the defense platoon and Yourchik on offense.

Bill White, a halfback, of McKeesport, reported for action this week and will be used as a safety man on defense.

Wiley held another inter-squad scrimmage Tuesday, shifting men from both defensive and offensive squads in an effort to determine his strongest team to send against West Virginia.

Scranton University was added to the Yellow Jacket schedule bringing the total number of games to be played by the team to nine. Only three games will be played at College Field.

AIR FORCE FILM BEAUTY

About a year ago, Miss Curtis F. Ward, 20, of Birmingham, Ala., enlisted in the WAF. Today, as Corporal Ward, she is a photographic laboratory technician at Langley Air Force Base, Va. Above, she is developing film from the aerial cameras of the bombers stationed at her base. Wafs take basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. Many then go to technical schools before being assigned to duties at Air Force bases.

Bill Klem, Umpire Who Never Called One Wrong, Is Dead

—Miami, Florida—
Bill Klem, one of the most famed of all baseball umpires, died here Sunday.

The "Old Arbitrator," as he was widely known, told his lawyer a week ago, "this is my last game and I'm going to strike out this time."

The 77-year-old baseball figure died in Doctors' Hospital, where he had been a patient since August 11. At his bedside was his wife, Marie, his only immediate survivor.

Klem served as a National League umpire for 36 years, retiring from the diamond in 1941. He then became umpire-in-chief for the league, emerging occasionally to officiate at a charity or exhibition game.

He stood behind home plate for the last time in a pre-season game in the spring of 1944. He wanted to prove that "perfect eyesight isn't the major factor in calling 'em right."

It wasn't until after that game that he told anyone he had become blind in one eye.

"Nobody noticed the difference in my officiating," he later recalled, "and it bore out my point—that being in position on top of the play and few other factors are as important, maybe more important, than perfect vision."

Klem, who set a record by officiating in 18 World Series, entered baseball when it was a rough and tumble affair.

Many baseball men believe that Klem did as much as anyone in the game to raise umpiring to its present level.

Klem himself often said that baseball became the popular sport it is today only after umpires stamped out rowdiness.

Klem, one of the most colorful umpires of his time, often was quoted as saying he never "called one wrong" in his life. He later amended that to say that when he called a play he knew he was right "in my heart."

Mapletown in 20-20 Tie With Centerville High

Center Bill Brown of Mapletown High, intercepted a Centerville lateral in the fourth quarter and ran 30 yards for a score to give the Maple Leafs a 20-20 tie with Centerville High at Centerville Friday.

Jim Wagner scored twice for Mapletown in the first half but Arome scored twice for Centerville and Theakston kicked one extra point to give the Wildcats a slim 14-13 edge at the half.

Score by periods:
Mapletown 6 7 0 7-20
Centerville 7 7 6 0-20

West Beth Clips Mt. Morris High, 38-12

West Bethlehem Township High School, led by the fancy running of Bernie Kamenski, who scored four touchdowns, opened their 1951 grid schedule with an easy 38-12 victory over Mt. Morris High at Mt. Morris Friday. The winners held a 10-5 edge in firstdowns.

Both tallies made by the Black Hawks came in the fourth quarter with W. Haines and Kennedy racking up the six-pointers.

Score by periods:
West Beth 13 13 12 0-38
Mt. Morris 0 0 0 12-12

Union High of Burgettstown Hands Raiders Second Defeat

Hitting the High Spots

By JACK HAMMERS

Most fans are of the opinion that the referee acted a mite hasty in stopping the Robinson-Turpin bout last week. We have to agree, not because we picked Turpin to win. We remember a few months back when Sugar took the title from Jake LaMotta. Those who witnessed the fight saw Jake take a terrific beating in the 11th, 12th and part of the 13th rounds before the fight was stopped. He absorbed punishment for nearly 8 minutes, Turpin for approximately two. Jake is older than Turpin yet he was allowed to continue longer. To us it doesn't make sense.

Last week we tried our hand at picking the football results ahead of time and as the old saying goes, "We should've stood in bed." We had only four right out of ten picks with one ending in a tie. However, some people never learn, so here's how we pick them this week:

Washington over Trinity
Waynesburg over Canonsburg
Ellsworth over Mapletown
Carmichaels over Masontown
Jefferson over East Beth
Bellmar over Centerville
Mt. Morris over Richhill
South Union over Georges
Burgettstown over Baldwin
W. Va. U. over Waynesburg

Cameron, W. Va., Downs Center Township, 40-0

Scoring 21 points in the first quarter, Cameron W. Va. High School had things all their own way as they rolled on to a easy 40-0 victory over Center Township at Rogersville last Friday.

Buck Marling, Cameron halfback, led his team to victory as he scored three TD's. Sherrick, Holmes and Allen scored the other 6-pointers for the West Virginia eleven.

Center threatened only once, when they intercepted a pass and moved to the Cameron 20, but lost the ball on downs.

Score by periods:
Cameron 21 6 6 7-40
Center Twp. 0 0 0 0-0

Scoring eight points in the first quarter and 20 more in the final stanza, Union High of Burgettstown scored a smashing 28-13 upset win over Waynesburg High at College Field Friday night. The loss dropped the Red Raiders from the WPIAL Class A title race.

Burgettstown scored a safety early in the game when John Higgins, who had come in to punt, could not get hold of a bad pass from center and was tackled in his end zone for two points.

Waynesburg kicked off and Burgettstown marched straight up field to score. A pass from Sarracino to Capozzoli brought the score to 8-0.

The remainder of the first and second quarters were fairly even with neither team being able to do much. However, the third quarter found the Raiders suddenly coming to life scoring 13 points to take the lead at 13-8.

The Raiders took over their own 38 early in the third period and started to drive. In six plays they were on the Union 35. A pass from Moore to Heft put the ball on the 4 from where Bell sliced off tackle for the score.

John Summersgill intercepted a pass to set the stage for the next Waynesburg score. A pass from Moore to Bell capped the drive.

Union could make no mistakes in the fourth quarter as they pushed the Raiders all over the field to score 20 points and win. Three times they intercepted passes and three times they scored. Capozzoli, McElhoney, and Mudre scored the points that hung defeat on the Waynesburg crew.

Waynesburg will travel to Canonsburg for a game with the Gunners this Friday night. The Gunners have been unable to score a win this year and will be looking forward to making Waynesburg win number one.

Score by periods:
Burgettstown 8 0 0 20-28
Waynesburg 0 0 13 0-13

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
By Dr. Kenneth J. Foreman
World Citizens
Lesson for Sept. 23, 1951

DO YOU belong to the human race? It isn't as large as you might think. Hendrik Willem Van Loon once figured out that you could make one box, half a mile long, half a mile wide and half a mile deep, and you could put into that box every man woman and child in the entire world, packed in like sardines of course, and then you could nail that box up and tip it over into the Grand Canyon.

With the human race no bigger than that, isn't it stupid of us not to get together? If you ever read Mark Twain's fascinating tale, "Captain Stormfield's Visit to Heaven," you will remember how that mariner got lost on his way to heaven and arrived at the wrong gate. Since no one at that gate had ever heard of "the earth," the captain finally identified himself as from the Solar System.

Still no one had heard of it. Finally some one discovered it, a tiny dot on an enormous map. The Captain was considerably taken down when he learned how small the earth is in the immense starry universe; and so might we all be.

Passengers on the Same Planet
In the eyes of God and his angels, this earth and the people on it do not fill up the big place they fill in the eyes of us mortals. This does not mean that we are unimportant to ourselves, or of no concern to God.

Saint Paul gave us the Christian reason—always the best of reasons—why human beings ought to realize how close together we really are. Speaking to the university crowd at Athens, he quoted from a Greek poet to prove his point: "We belong to His race." (Acts 17:28, Moffatt's translation.)

God made all peoples "from a common origin." In him we live and move and have our being. Remember that Paul was not speaking in a Christian church. Of course Christians are brothers in an even warmer and more living sense; but Paul could say, even to men who were not Christians as he was, that he and they were alike offspring of God, that they all had their being in the same Creator and Father.

The Importance of Being Human
If we would only just stop pinning our little tags on people! We call them "foreigners" or "farmers" or "Canadians" or "college boys" or "Chinese." So they are; but the most important fact about Chinese, or fishermen, or farmers or any other class of mankind, is that they are human beings.

What we have in common as human beings, is infinitely more important than the variations which set us off into different races, classes and groups. The Christian will be a loyal citizen of his own land; but he will also remember that he is a world-citizen too. And as a world-citizen, he will always remember certain truths about all his fellow human beings.

One is that since we all have a common humanity, we all stand in need of God. It is not much exaggeration, if any, to say that to be human is to be helpless.

Scholars write books with titles like "The Human Predicament," which is a short way of saying that if you are human you are in a mess. You need God, whoever you are. But if you know that, then also remember that all other members of the human race need him too, quite as much as you do.

Our Lost Brothers
Remember, too, that while all are summoned to the same destiny (as Paul said: "God commands all men to repent"—not just some of them!), many and many a man (must we say, alas, most men?) misses that destiny.

There is a broad road leading to destruction, Jesus said, and many are traveling that road. How can a Christian be indifferent about a thing like that? Every man on the dark road is a man who might be a Christian.

U. S. Anthem Birth Marked

Baltimore—Coast Guard guns flashed off historic Fort McHenry and shore batteries rumbled their reply Sunday night as Baltimore celebrated the shining hour 137 years ago when the national anthem was born.

And just as it was when the British lifted their fire, Old Glory was flying over the ramparts guarding the port. The mock bombardment is an annual affair to commemorate "Defenders' Day," when volunteers held the fort against the British in the War of 1812.

The main speech was given by Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania. As national chairman of the Crusade for Freedom, Stassen emphasized the need for piercing the Iron Curtain with news from the Western world.

Opium Delays Peace Treaty

Bangkok—A formal agreement between Thailand and Great Britain terminating the state of war between the two countries is being delayed owing to opium traffic in Thailand.

Officials of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs said under terms of the agreement Thailand agreed to sign eight international conventions, including the Geneva convention of 1936, suppressing traffic in illicit drugs.

They said opium was being grown in Kengtung, now part of Burma, and smuggled across Thailand. Thailand has taken up the issue with the Burma government, which in turn, has informed Thailand it will take about three years to stamp out opium growing in Kengtung.

selfishness, hatred and pride he might come over to the highway of God... if some one took the trouble to go after him. But we shall not bother ourselves much, we shall not bother ourselves enough, about our lost brothers, unless we have the world-citizen's eye and the world-Christian's heart.
