JACOB ARCHER

There is no military service noted for Jacob Archer, son of Patrick Archer. In the Census for 1790, he is listed as head of a family that had one male over 16 years, two males under 16 years, and two females.

ELIZABETH ARCHER

Elizabeth (Bett or Betsy) Archer, daughter of Patrick Archer, was probably the wife of William Wells, who joined him in a deed in Greene County. This interpretation is arrived at by interpretation of the will of William Wells, who made a bequest to his niece, Mary Thomas, a daughter of J. E. Archer.

POLLY ARCHER and NANCY ARCHER

Polly Archer or her sister Nancy Archer, daughters of Patrick Archer, was the wife of George Fee, son of Thomas Fee and his first wife, Thrasher. George Fee also served in Captain James Archer's Company. He went to Bracken County, Kentucky.

THE ANKROM FAMILY

The Ankrom Family (also spelled Ankrum, Ankrum, Ankrim, etc.) of the Tenmile Country, are descended from one Richard Ankrom of Frederick County, Maryland, where at an early date he and George Fee, ancestor of the Tenmile Fee Family, joined in buying land from John Hawkins. (BB 3, pp. 572 Annapolis Land Office.) While living in Frederick County, Richard Ankrom made his will on November 29, 1790, which was probated February 8, 1794, in which he named his sons, Richard Ankrom, Jacob Ankrom, Aron Ankrom, and John Ankrom. He says his son, John Ankrom, is deceased, and leaves that share in the estate to two sons of John Ankrom, namely: Richard and William Ankrom. He also mentioned granddaughters, Nancy and Sarah Delashmutt. Richard Ankrom's wife was Elizabeth (Frederick County, Maryland Will Book 2, pp. 507.)

When Elizabeth Ankrom, widow of Richard, died she also left a will, which she had made on August 24, 1795, and which was probated November 20, of the same year. In addition to naming the same sons as heirs, with John Ankrom deceased leaving children, she mentions the children of Mary Delashmutt, apparently a daughter and mother of the two girls mentioned in the will of Richard Ankrom. She also gave a portion of her estate to Elizabeth Thrasher, another daughter and probably the wife of John Thrasher, warrantee of a tract of land on Tenmile but one farm removed from the deceased John Ankrom. This tract called "Chance," warranted to John Thrasher May 7, 1785, by virtue of a Virginia Certificate, was patented to him on February 26, 1788. (Frederick County Will Book 3, pp. 149.)

It seems probable that another son William Ankrom, not mentioned by these two wills, but named one of the executors of John Ankrom's Will in Washington County, Pennsylvania, made in 1782, had also died before the parents, probably without issue.

THE ANKROM FAMILY OF TENMILE

This Maryland family of English extraction was represented on the Tenmile prior to 1776 at which time John Ankrom maintained a fort, perhaps one of the stronger kind, since it was being used in 1777 as a rendezvous for the Frontier Rangers under Colonel William Crawford. It is described in pension records as being four or five miles from Fort Jackson, and was certainly on the tract of land warranted to John Ankrom under the title "Pocket Money" on February 22, 1788, and was located to the east of the Mouth of Coal Lick on land still owned by the Ankroms. Joseph Archer had an adjoining tract and John Thrasher lived to the west of them. All three men were members of Captain James Archer's Militia Company. James Pribble says he was stationed here in 1777 and several subsequent years under Captain Jess Pigman and frequently met men of Archer's Company on his patrols. Soon after getting the warrant for the land in 1788, John Ankrom died leaving a will with his brother, William Ankrom, and his brother-in-law, William Wells, as executors of his estate and guardian of his children. William Ankrom refused to act. "Letters Testamentary dated May 21, 1789, were duly granted to said William Wells" (Land Office Grants, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.) William Wells then secured the patent for the land as the Administrator of the estate and later went to the heirs of John Ankrom. The will states that Thomas Wells was living on John Ankrom's land at the time of the writing, November 2, 1782.

In addition to John Ankrom, son of Richard and Elizabeth Ankrom of Frederick County, Maryland, a brother, Richard Ankrom, also settled on the Tenmile, but a few miles west of Fort Jackson, taking titles to several tracts of land, including "The Square" on Pursley Creek and "Newburn" and "Emsworth" between Pursley and Smith Creeks. From the sale of this land we know that he and wife, Ruth, went to Tyler County, (West) Virginia, where Richard Ankrom died in 1828. (Greene County Deed Book 3, pp. 605.)

After service in the Revolution while living in Maryland, Jacob Duckett Ankrom, another brother of John Ankrom, went to Tyler County about 1784. His tombstone says he was born in 1752, the son of Richard Ankrom, Sr. The presence of the "Duckett" name and the similarity of surnames, along with the many intermarriages with the Wells family, supports this belief of relationship as clearly as it points to the original location of the family in Maryland, where we find the Ducketts, Wells, Duvall, and other close neighbors of the Ankroms on the Tenmile.

Tyler County deeds, Wills, Marriages, etc. show that the family moved to that location early, in some cases before they had sold their Greene County tracts, early enough to give their name to settlements, creeks, etc. From the numerous descendants still living there, we have received much help in uncovering the relationships and descendants of this pioneer family.

Family of John Ankrom

John Ankrom served in Captain John Archer's Washington County Militia Company in 1782. His wife was Martha Wells, and is identified as such since John Ankrom made his brother-in-law, William Wells, one of the Administrators of his estate. She was further identified by William Wells in his will filed in Tyler County, West Virginia, on January 2, 1835, in which he names his sister, Martha Ankrom, as one of his heirs. She remained a widow.

There is considerable confusion about the families of John and Martha Ankrom.

He made his will on November 2, 1782, but it is known that he was in the Cumberland Township, Washington County, Tax List for 1784, when he refused to turn in his property for tax purposes, claiming under Virginia law. He also received land warrant from Pennsylvania in 1788, and in same year was taxed in Franklin Township, Washington County.

His will was probated February 1, 1789, so that he died between the fall of 1788 and the spring of 1789. His will named wife Martha, sons, Richard Duckett, and William. An unborn child and is on file in Washington County, Pennsylvania. (Will Record 1, p. 97; File A-8-1789) Orphan's Court records show no appointment of guardian for the children.

The Benjamin Lakin Mss. states definitely that children of John and Martha, Ankrom were Elizabeth, who married John Lakin, Debora, Sarah, Martha, Richard, and William. On this basis and fact that nearly seven years expired between date of John Ankrom's will and his death we feel that children as named by Benjamin Lakin are correct.

Children of John and Martha (Wells) Ankrom

1. Richard Duckett (Ducat) Ankrom. The William Rhodes Papers says he married Nancy Rinehart on January 3, 1798. She was a daughter of Thomas and Hannah (Inghram) Rinehart. She seems to have died before 1822, for on February 10, 1822, Richard D. Ankrom sold land in Greene County to John and Thomas Ankrom and is not joined by his wife in the deed. (DB 4, pp. 704.)

Children

- John Ankrom, to whom he deeded land.
- Joseph Ankrom, born 1807, married Charlotte Rinehart, daughter of Barnet and Ruth (Styles) Rinehart.
- Thomas Ankrom, also received land by deed from Richard Duckett Ankrom. He married a daughter of Barnet Eagon.
- Agnes Ankrom, married Thomas.
- Sarah Ankrom, married Jacob Thomas.
- Amanda Ankrom, married Wells.

Announcing-

The Opening of the Western Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike—December 26 at 7:00 A.M.

The Western Extension comprises that section of the turnpike west of the original terminus at Irwin and is 67 miles long. Ten miles of this extension between Irwin and the Pittsburgh Interchange (U.S. Route 22) was opened to traffic Aug. 7, 1951

Above is a map showing in detail Pennsylvania and Ohio State Highways in the vicinity of the Gateway Interchange; also the temporary access roads for carrying traffic until the projected Ohio Turnpike is constructed

THE opening to traffic of the Western Extension makes possible 327 miles of non-stop travel from the suburbs of Philadelphia in the East to the Ohio-Pennsylvania border in the West—reducing travel time between these points by as much as five or six hours.

Contrary to general reports, the Western Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike System does not, so far as its patrons are concerned, dead-end in a borderland cornfield. Pending construction of the proposed Ohio Turnpike, the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission has built access roads connecting the Turnpike west of the Gateway toll booths with Pennsylvania State highways at points less than one mile from the Ohio border.

Engineers and contractors working against time and the elements have made it possible for the Commission to open this extension this year. The Beaver Valley Interchange (Route 18) will remain closed for an indefinite period contingent upon the completion of the new State Highway 18 in the area of the interchange.

Because there will be clean-up activity along the right-of-way during the next several months, the Commission has decided that throughout this winter period the regular turnpike speeds on the section between the Ohio line and the Pittsburgh Interchange will be reduced to a maximum of fifty (50) miles per hour for passenger vehicles (including buses), and forty-five (45) miles per hour for all other vehicles.

The Commission asks all its patrons to cooperate in the observance of these temporary speed regulations, which will be strictly enforced.

Between Irwin and the Ohio-Pennsylvania border are four modern service station and restaurant units, completion of which has been delayed because of material shortages.

The Gulf Oil Corporation's gas, oil and rest room facilities will be open at Pleasant Valley Station, located on the west-bound lanes seven miles east of the Pittsburgh Interchange (U.S. Route 22). However, it will be some time before restaurant service will be available.

Work is being expedited at all stations, and as rapidly as they are completed they will be placed in service.

Farley's Scandals Loom as Top Issue
—Philadelphia—

James A. Farley, a former Democratic national chairman once considered a political prophet, said it could be that "the corruption issue, local, state, and national, will overshadow all other issues in 1952."

"If scandals keep on coming out of Washington and in cities in the northern states, they could develop a voting trend," the former postmaster general said in an interview prior to a speech before the Society of St. Vincent de Paul.

Mr. Farley said people seldom vote out an administration which has given them reasonably prosperous times, but he added that voters are aware of high taxes these days. He said high taxes affect the voter's pocketbook and makes him more sensitive to disclosures of corruption.

Poultry House Ventilation OK By Hens—And That's Important

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

So far as we know, nobody ever has asked a hen what she thinks about having the poultry house ventilated. People, who are working for her best interests—as well as those of the farmer—have depended on the hen's reactions to such things. And, she has reacted well in those houses where forced air ventilation has been correctly installed. Egg production has increased and she and her sister layers are healthier.

The farmer, too, has benefited. With an electric ventilating system he can house more birds; his buildings last longer and need fewer repairs, eggs are cleaner and built-up litter becomes practical. In a properly ventilated poultry house, chickens are treated to draft-free fresh air, which reduces sickness; they feel better and thus lay better; litter dries quickly, so eggs and nests stay clean, excessive moisture—the culprit which causes timbers to decay and nails to rust—is removed.

simple, but tests show that results are satisfactory. Installed on the ceiling, the circulator forces the air upwards, causing it to travel along the ceiling, down the walls and up the center again. Since this type of air circulator moves all the air in the room, it is particularly effective in connection with the use of bactericidal lights. Also, it has been used with good effect to cool poultry houses in the summer.

In other types of poultry house ventilating systems, the fan or fans are installed in the sidewalls of the structures away from the prevailing wind, if possible. They usually are located near the ceiling in the top part of a short duct which extends to within approximately 20 inches of the floor. Ducts have a hinged door at the top to provide access to the fan, and another at the bottom, the latter opening downward. In hot weather, the top door is opened and the bottom closed so that warm air may be exhausted from the ceiling of

4-H Club Group To Exhibit in State Farm Show

Five Greene County members will exhibit prize Jersey heifers at the annual Pennsylvania Farm Show January 14-18, John D. Gopen, 4-H Club leader has announced.

The animals, which are from one to two and a half years, will be shown in the 4-H Club and open classes, and as a County 4-H group.

Those to participate are: Cora Sue Adams, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams of Waynesburg R. D. 5, East Franklin 4-H Club. Her heifer, the youngest, won the junior championship at a district 4-H dairy show in the fall.

James Byard, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Byard of Waynesburg R. D. 5, Ruff Creek 4-H Club.

Lee Walker, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Walker of Waynesburg R. D. 3, Whiteley Township 4-H Club.

New Western Link Stretches Turnpike Across the State

—Harrisburg—
Final completion of the 67-mile Western Extension, latest link of the Pennsylvania Turnpike System, stretches the famous super-highway across the Commonwealth—nearly border to border.

The opening of this important artery on December 26, at 7:00 a. m., makes available for public use 327 miles of four-lane, divided highway, without any traffic lights and with no crossroad intersections, extending all the way from the outskirts of Philadelphia to the Ohio line.

The Western Extension, which will carry traffic around Pittsburgh, runs from Irwin in a northerly direction, just south of Pleasant Valley, then northwest from Murrysville to the Westmoreland-Allegheny County line, through Harmarville and on to a point near Petersburg, Ohio, on the Pennsylvania-Ohio border.

This latest addition to the big toll road was constructed in 26 months at a cost of $77,500,000—more than a million dollars per mile.

The six new interchanges, which lead to some of the State's best-known communities and industrial centers, are (1) Gateway, near the Ohio border; (2) Beaver Valley, connecting with Penna. Route 18; (3) Perry Highway, connecting with U. S. Route 19; (4) Butler Valley, connecting with Penna. Route 8; (5) Allegheny Valley, connecting with Penna. Route 28, and (6) Pittsburgh, connecting with U. S. Route 22.

The four service station-restaurants on the new link carry the names of Zelenople, Butler, Oakmont and Pleasant Valley. The service stations are operated by the Gulf Oil Corporation which has sublet a portion of the attractive stone buildings to Howard Johnson for restaurant facilities.

Two major structures on the extension span the Beaver and Allegheny rivers and three viaducts cross Willow Run and Plum Creek in Allegheny County and Brush Creek in Westmoreland County.

Since there will be much clean-up activity along the right-of-way during the winter months, the Commission has decided that the regular Turnpike speeds on the section between the Ohio line and the Pittsburgh Interchange (U. S. Route 22) will be reduced to a maximum of fifty (50) miles per hour for passenger vehicles (including buses) and forty-five (45) miles per hour for all other vehicles. The Commission asks all its patrons to cooperate in the observance of these temporary speed regulations which will be strictly enforced.

Motorists traveling the full 327-mile length of the Turnpike System—Valley Forge to the Ohio border—will pay a toll of $3.25, approximately a cent a mile. The other fare schedules on the Turnpike vary according to the distance traveled and the type of vehicle, ranging from motorcycles to heavy trucks with full trailers.

The tremendous value of the Pennsylvania Turnpike has been convincingly demonstrated in its eleven years of operation.

Today it is firmly established beyond all question as the finest, safest all-weather highway in the world. Not only does it provide the best transportation available anywhere in the United States, but it is also a factor of the highest importance in national defense because of its potential value as a military highway.

From a financial point of view the Turnpike has been a gigantic success. The most optimistic estimates of the engineers are being exceeded.

Revenue from 30 million Turnpike users since 1940 totals almost $53 million. During recent months, the Turnpike experienced its heaviest traffic. Last August, for example, 934,409 motorists, truckers and bus operators paid more than 1½ million dollars in revenue.

The biggest revenue-producing day in the history of the super-highway was Saturday, September 1, 1951, when the turnstiles clicked to the tune of $70,777.67.

The success of the Pennsylvania Turnpike can be measured not only financially, but in the fact that it has established a toll road construction pattern being followed in other states, including New York, New Jersey and Ohio.

St. Peter's Tomb Found, Apparently Empty

—Vatican City—
Vatican archaeologists have reported formally that St. Peter's tomb has been located—apparently empty—under the giant basilica that bears his name.

A two-volume report said the discovery of a series of memorials to St. Peter adjacent to the burial chamber in the water-logged catacombs beneath the basilica made it "unquestionable" that the tomb was Peter's own.

A summary of the report published by the Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano made no mention, however, of the finding of the saint's bones, and it appeared that they might have been removed during the past 19 centuries.

Pope Pius XII had announced earlier that human bones had been found near the tomb, but added that they had not been positively identified as St. Peter's.

Communists Ired By Brand on Pigs

—Berlin—
They were nice, fat, party-line pigs, illustrating a Communist-approved biology textbook for East German school children.

Then someone had a second look at the pigs. The fattest of the lot was "branded" on the rump with the initials SED.

The initials stand for the East German Social Unity (Communist) Party.

East German authorities have ordered immediate withdrawal of all the offending textbooks, according to the West Berlin independent newspaper Der Abend.

Airborne K-9 Dogs Trained

—Manila—
The Philippines army is preparing to train a new paratroop team of dogs to aid airborne units in fighting the elusive Communist Huk. Dogs presently are assisting army forces in tracking down Reds in thick jungle areas.

The new K-9 airborne unit will be 160 strong and include 150 German Shepherd police dogs imported from Japan and a mixed assortment of 10 other dogs.

American military advisers now are training recruits for a full airborne battalion of 500 men. The parados will be attached to that battalion.

Ice Cream Racket Found

—Singapore—
Health authorities have a new worry—racketeers in the ice cream trade. A lot of ice cream is sold in this hot, humid climate—but much of it isn't worth eating. So warns Dr. H. R. Morrison, senior assistant municipal health officer.

He said unlicensed vendors were selling ice cream produced under the most "unhygienic and abhorring conditions." He added they probably make the ice cream "in a back lane or somewhere." He asserted these ice cream makers are likely to make a lot of people "dangerously ill."

Holidays Call For Cookies

You'll want to have plenty of these delicious fruity cookies on hand for the holidays. They have a just-right blend of candied fruits, nuts and spices to give an exquisite flavor. Make them festive with the Creamy Icing decorated with bits of cherries and nuts.

Holiday Fruitcake Cookies

- 1/2 cup Homogenized Spry packed
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 cup sour milk
1 cup currants
1 cup raisins
3/4 cup mixed candied fruits and peels, cut fine
1 cup walnuts, chopped

Combine Spry, brown sugar, and eggs, and beat thoroughly. Sift flour with soda, salt, and spices, add to Spry mixture and mix well. Add sour milk and blend. Add fruits and nuts and mix. Drop rounded tablespoons on sprayed baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 18-22 minutes. Ice cookies with Creamy Icing and decorate with bits of candied cherries. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Creamy Icing: Blend 1 tablespoon Spry, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 3/4 teaspoon vanilla and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Beat in 1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar then add about 3 tablespoons scalded cream alternately with 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, beating well after each addition. Add only enough cream to make a nice spreading consistency.
