County School Children To Get Polio Vaccine

Children in the first and second grades of Greene County schools will be given polio vaccine this spring through the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the Pennsylvania Department of Welfare, Ewing B. Pollock, president of Greene County Chapter, announced at a meeting of the board Wednesday noon in the Fort Jackson Hotel.

This is the serum developed by Dr. Jonas Salk and his corps of assistants of which Dr. L. J. Lewis, formerly of Waynesburg, is chief.

The serum which has been given to second grade children for the past several months in various parts of this country, is now being evaluated at the University of Michigan. The results will be given out early in April.

It is presumed vaccination will begin shortly thereafter in order to immunize children before the polio season starts.

A county chairman will be appointed by Mr. Pollock to coordinate the work. There will be a meeting of southwestern district county chairmen in Pittsburgh this month.

Literature will be distributed to schools by the Greene County chapter.

The vaccine will be given through consent of the child's parents. Each child will receive a card for parents to sign before the work begins.

Children throughout the state will receive the vaccine.

In 1954 the county had but two cases of polio, but in 1953 there were fourteen. Two children are still being taken care of by the chapter in a Pittsburgh hospital.

U. S. Justice Douglas to See Russia by Car

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has announced he will take a motor trip in Soviet Russia this summer.

He said he has been advised that the Soviets will grant him a visa and also will permit Robert F. Kennedy, counsel to the Senate Committee on Government Operations, to accompany him.

Back in 1949 the Soviet press printed charges that Douglas was "spying" on the Russians after he went mountain climbing in the Middle East. On his return home from that trip, Douglas scoffed at the charges.

He said that he and Kennedy have permission to enter Central Asia through an Iranian port on the Caspian Sea. They will go by car through the Soviet republics of Armenia, Azerbaijan, Kirghiz, Tadzhik, Turkmen and Uzbek. These states extend from Turkey on the West to Sinkiang or Chinese Turkestan on the East.

A New York attorney, Marshall MacDuffie, said two weeks ago that Communist Party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev had told him a visa had been granted Douglas.

Miss Sayers Dies After Long Illness

Miss Mary Sayers, 90 years, well known civic leader, died shortly after midnight Friday morning, February 25, 1955, in her home at the corner of West College and North Morris streets. She had been ill several years.

Miss Sayers was a daughter of Ezra M. Sayers, prominent attorney, and Harriet Tanner Sayers, and was born March 9, 1864, in the home where she died. She attended Waynesburg schools and was granted a degree from Waynesburg College as of the class of 1884. She also attended DePauw Law School at Greencastle, Indiana, for a year.

As a child of 10 years she and her mother and Frances E. Willard, who later became a nationally known temperance worker, went to Chautauqua, New York, which had just been established by Bishop John H. Vincent. Her father was one of the first to purchase property there and the family continued to go there in the summer for more than 50 years.

In the 1890s women's clubs were just beginning, and after hearing about them at Chautauqua, Miss Sayers organized the Mother's Club here in November 1895. It was the first women's club in Waynesburg and continued to function until about 1914.

She also organized a Chautauqua Reading Circle.

Miss Sayers possessed a crusading spirit. The Waynesburg W. C. T. U. was organized by her mother, and after her death she served as president for about 50 years. She also organized the Frances Willard W. C. T. U. for younger women and Miss Willard visited the organization a number of times.

Miss Sayers also campaigned actively for woman suffrage.

She was a member of the First Methodist Church, the Waynesburg Woman's Club, the Pleasant Hour Club, and was a charter member of John Corby Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. She had also served several years as an honorary trustee of Waynesburg College.

Surviving are three nieces, Mrs. Harriet S. Mitchell of Waynesburg; Mrs. Walter Holleran of MacMurray, and Mrs. Ralph Flowers of Waynesburg; also a nephew, Clyde Martin of Tacoma, Washington.

Funeral services were held Sunday in the Garrison Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. Ronald Moseley. Interment in Green Mount Cemetery.

U. S. Jets Down Two Red Fighters

—Washington—

The State Department has revealed another aerial clash between U. S. jets and Communist jets. This one ended with two Communist fighters being shot down over Red-held North Korea.

The department said a few days ago that four Red planes attacked a U. S. bomber on February 5, over the Yellow Sea off the coast of North Korea.

The bomber opened fire on its attackers, damaging one, and five U. S. Sabrejets escorting the bomber swarmed after the North Korean attackers.

The State Department said: "Pursuing them as they fled in the direction of Pyongyang, the Sabrejets shot down two North Korean Migs over nearby coastal areas."

According to reliable informants, the "nearby coastal areas" were definitely in Communist territory.

April Draft Quota Lowest

—Washington—

The Defense Department Monday issued a draft call for 8,000 men in April. This is the lowest monthly quota since Selective Service resumed in September 1950.

The April call is 3,000 lower than the 11,000 quotas previously announced for February and March. All of the April draftees will go into the Army.

The reduced April draft was attributed by officials to an unusually high recruiting record in January, when the Army signed up more than 25,000 volunteers and the four services combined enrolled 68,000.

The bureau said reports from states showed the decline was due to improved employment conditions in a variety of industries, particularly textiles, apparel and construction. Largest declines in initial claims were California's 4,000, New York's 3,600 and Pennsylvania's 2,200.

P. U. C. Suspends Four Million Gas Increase

—Harrisburg—

The Public Utility Commission Monday suspended for six months a $4,376,970 annual rate increase proposed by Manufacturers Light and Heat Company.

Manufacturers had asked that the increase go into force in two steps, March 4 and 5.

The PUC ordered an investigation and public hearings to determine whether the proposal, which would affect 234,288 consumers in 22 counties is justified. Under the law which permits an initial rate delay period of not more than six months, the PUC must complete its hearings and hand down a decision by September 4.

Protests have been filed by a number of communities and individuals. They include the City of Pittsburgh, Washington, Uniontown, Connellsville, Bradford, Beaver Falls, Canonsburg, Masontown, Summerville and Ellwood City.

The company said that $628,775 would cover the cost of purchased gas and wage increases for which an increase was denied by the PUC in a prolonged rate case in 1953 and 1954. The remainder of the increase, $3,739,195, would provide the revenue to meet increases in cost of gas and operating expenses since the 1953-54 case.

According to data supplied by Manufacturers, the proposed increases would boost monthly bills on non-heating customers about 75 cents, based on an average use of 5,000 cubic feet.

Household heating bills, computed for a six-room house using 180,000 cubic feet annually, would increase by $10.80 a year, the utility figured.

Manufacturers serves the following counties: Adams, Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Bedford, Butler, Clarion, Elk, Fayette, Franklin, Fulton, Greene, Jefferson, Lawrence, McKean, Mercer, Somerset, Venango, Warren, Washington, and Westmoreland.

Most of Cash Stolen from Kikta's Returned

Conscience got the better of the burglar who stole $283 from the safe in the Kikta Furniture Store on East High street, some time Saturday night, and he returned $277 in a newspaper which he placed in the door handle early Tuesday morning.

The robbery was discovered Sunday afternoon when Stanton Lowe, assistant manager, found a steel bar on the outside of a side door and which was held by a lock at one end, had been pried off.

Mr. Lowe and Armand Leonelli, manager, found the safe had been opened but not damaged. A quick search found everything in place.

However, in their haste to look over the store, they failed to look for the cash and it was not until Monday morning when business began that it was found missing.

Officers were notified. Sheriff Tom Boyd stated after the cash was returned that they will continue investigation since return of the money does not relieve the thief of a criminal act.

The Pioneer History of Greene County, Penna.

By L. K. EVANS

The third and last wife of Rev. John Corby was Nancy Lynn, by whom he raised eight children—Andrew, William, Mary, Sarah, Pleasant, Cassandra, Amelia and Nancy. It is maintained by those professing to know that he was the father of twenty children—four boys and sixteen girls. I have accounted for all but two and have presumed them to have been children of his first wife, and to have died in infancy. Andrew married Elizabeth Myers, and settled in Tyler County, Virginia, and had eight children. He died in 1850, aged sixty-three years. William married Rebecca Stephens, and removed to Athens County, Ohio, in 1837. He died December 26, 1875, aged seventy-four years. They were the parents of eight children, five of whom are still living; all married and rearing families. He had a son, John, who was killed when fourteen years old, near Garards Fort, by a runaway horse. The tradition, as I have heard it, is that the horse ran between two trees that grew close together and the boy was dashed against one of them with such force as to kill him outright. Mary Corby married Rev. Jacob Myers, and was the mother of eight children. John C. Myers of Muddy Creek, long since deceased, was the eldest son, and he was the father of Oliver P. and Jacob Myers, now of Illinois, and with whom many of my readers are familiarly acquainted. Sarah Corby married John F. Wright, and died about one year after. Amalia Corby married Amos Wright, and was the mother of twelve children, among whom are John C. Wright of Cumberland Township, Mrs. Joseph South of Dunkard Township, and Mrs. Richard Hanna of Monongahela Township. Nancy Corby was accidentally killed by the fall of a rail while climbing a fence when quite young.

Cassandra married Joseph Gregg, and was the mother of twelve children, ten of whom lived to adult age, and nine of whom reared families. Among them are Joseph Gregg of Cumberland Township, Corby Gregg, who occupies the old homestead near Willow Tree Tavern; Orpha Titus, recently deceased, who was the mother of Mrs. Robert Hoge of Franklin Township. Sarah Gregg married William Wood, Nancy married Robert J. Evans, (uncle of the author hereof), and Eliza married Thomas Patterson, and are all three living, with large families of children and grandchildren, in Woodford County, Ill. Pleasant Corby married Peter A. Myers, and was the mother of many children, eleven of whom lived to adult age. Ten married and reared families, but one of whom is living now. Among them was Alfred Myers, who married Jane Evans, and is the father of Ayers L. and Robinson D. Myers of our town, and of Albert and Alpheus at Garards Fort. Peter A. Myers married Mary Garard, and is the father of Josephas Myers of Garards Fort. Eliza married Reuben Shelby, and is the mother of Mrs. Hiram Bell, near Jefferson. Amelia married Henry Davis and is remembered by our citizens as the "widow Davis," late a resident of our town, and mother of Alexander Davis and Mrs. John R. Bell. Harriet married Robert Minor and raised a family of children and resided near Clarksburg, W. Va. Nancy married Evan Evans, and was the mother of the widow Alexander of Monongahela Township, Mrs. Dr. Greene of New Geneva. Mrs. Robert H. Johnson, near Garards Fort, and the author of these sketches. Sarah married Eli Titus, and is the only representative of the Myers family now living. She is the mother of quite a family of boys and girls, several of whom are dead. Myers died in the army during the rebellion that his name might live; Eli, Jr., lives in Monongahela Township; Sarah Jane married Dr. Hubbs and lives in Brownsville; Benjamin, Albert and Imri are all married, and live, I think, in Dunkard Township, near their parents.

Rev. John Corby and his two last wives, Elizabeth and Nancy, are all buried side by side in the old Garards Fort grave yard. Upon Elizabeth Corby's tombstone is this expressive though inelegant epitaph: "Beneath the Indians tomahawk, Me and my babe, we fell; Was hurried suddenly away, With Jesus for to dwell."

Rev. John Corby died June 9, 1803, aged 70 years. Nancy, his last wife, was born June 29, 1761, and died August 1, 1826, in the 65th year of her age.

The Rev. Corby was a man of great energy, possessed of remarkable decision of character. He was a very positive man to defend the right or to denounce the wrong. And this trait drew upon him the resentment of the wicked, which at one time they vented in a most diabolical and scandalous manner. They procured a base woman to accuse him of improper conduct, to which she proposed to make solemn affirmation. Neither the church nor the better citizens believed the accusation, but Mr. Corby thought it imprudent to continue to preach while subject to such a grave and disgraceful charge. He ceased for the time to preach. In the meantime the church fasted and prayed. The woman was cited to appear before a magistrate and testify to the affirmation. She came, but when the solemn oath was administered she faltered and trembled violently and was apparently too much agitated to speak. Some wished to excuse her and allow the matter to pass without further notice. But Mr. Corby insisted that she should go on and swear to the truth. When pressed to make answer she declared him an innocent man, and said it was a plot by certain persons whom she named to ruin his influence and avenge themselves of certain supposed injuries. He was therefore fully acquitted and immediately resumed his ministerial labor.

He was a very effective preacher, capable of producing powerful impressions on an audience. But his work outside of the pulpit was thought to be the cause of his great success. He would come down from the pulpit, mingle freely and familiarly with the congregation, and would sing and exhort among them with great earnestness and deep feeling. It is estimated that he baptized, during his ministry in this neighborhood, from 300 to 400 persons. Considering how sparsely the country was then inhabited, this was certainly a great work. He had two public debates on Baptism during his ministry, one with a Methodist by the name of Cook, and the other with a Presbyterian by name of Armstrong, in both of which he defended his views in a manner entirely satisfactory to his Baptist brethren. He subsequently, in response to Mr. Cook, wrote an able defense of believer's Baptism and had it published in pamphlet form.

He was regarded as a strictly pious man, was much loved as a Christian and highly esteemed as a minister and pastor. His sentiments were Calvinistic, opposed alike to Arminianism and fatalism.

His sickness prior to his death was of short duration. On the day of his death he had an appointment to preach, but being ill his brethren met at his residence and he discoursed to them as well as he was able. After services he asked for his hymn book, and after reading and singing a few lines suddenly expired, dying in the full triumph of a never dying faith. His funeral sermon was preached by Edgar David Phillips, from the text, "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth, yea with the spirit, that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them." He was buried by a large assembly of bereaved relatives and sorrowing brethren who mourned his loss. The following characteristic epitaph was inscribed on his tombstone:

"Death, thou has conquered me. I by thy dart am slain; But Jesus Christ shall conquer thee, And I shall rise again."

RUDOLPH FIRKUSNY

Pianist With Symphony

Karl Kritz, associate conductor of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, will conduct his first pair of subscription concerts of the current season this Friday night and Sunday afternoon at Syria Mosque. The soloist will be the celebrated Czech pianist, Rudolph Firkusny, who will perform the Beethoven Concerto No. 4. The orchestra will perform the Brahms "Academic Festival Overture," Shubert's "Unfinished" Symphony and Smetana's Symphonic Poem, "The Moldau."

Firkusny is probably the most widely traveled of all the top-flight pianists now living in America, for in addition to his annual tours here and in Europe, he flies to South America, Africa and the Near East for seasons on those continents. He is a particular favorite with American symphony orchestras, and the subject of much high critical praise. New Yorker magazine, in a rarely printed pan of praise, declared, "Firkusny's performance was nothing short of miraculous."

Firkusny is a native of Napa-jeda, Czechoslovakia. He made his debut with the Prague Philharmonic at the age of ten and was well known throughout Europe by the time he was 18. His American debut took place in New York in December 1938. He recently became an American citizen and now makes his home in New York.

Mr. Kritz, well-known director of Pittsburgh's Civic Light Opera, is making the first of two appearances at the regular subscription concerts while regular conductor William Steinberg is in Europe conducting leading orchestras there.

Tour of YWCAs For Students

Because of available and interesting positions in the Pittsburgh YWCA—now and in the future—the Pittsburgh Association has planned an extensive tour of various units of its work. This tour will give women college students of the tri-state area an opportunity to know more about the YWCA as a possible vocational choice.

It will be conducted, Friday, March 18. A bus has been chartered to meet the girls at the Central Branch of the Pittsburgh YWCA, 59 Chatham street, at 2:30 p. m., and will be concluded at approximately 9:30 p. m. at the East Liberty Branch. The college students will be guests of the Pittsburgh YWCA for the bus tour and dinner. Should it be necessary for students to spend the night in Pittsburgh, lodging will be arranged for them in one of the YWCA residences.

Students of Waynesburg College have been invited to join the tour that will give them first-hand knowledge of the community service of the YWCA in Pittsburgh and elsewhere in the United States.

Henry W. Shoemaker, Folklorist, said much of the romantic and healthful aspects of Pennsylvania were saved for future generations by the creation of the State Forest Reserves and State Forest Parks, begun through the farsighted efforts of late Myra L. Dock of Little Graeffenberg of Adams County, born March 6, 1855.

"It is a day well worth commemorating," he said.

"Very early in life she noticed woodmen destroying a grove of aged white pines, on the opposite side of the highway from her early home in Lancaster County, 'tall, noble trees which stood out against the western sky like sable giants, and gave a purple light among their branches, a soft bed of needles to walk upon beneath them and preserved the perpetual running of a mountain stream.'

"She vowed she would not die until she had made definite steps in Pennsylvania forest preservation. In this she was successful, first interesting Dr. Joseph T. Rothrock for the cause of forest conservation. With Dr. Rothrock she was able to explain the plan to the late Governor Pennypacker who signed the bill creating a series of forestry reserves, planned to be located on all the watersheds of the Commonwealth.

"These were not created or preserved without a generation of hard fighting. Some woodsmen moved the county lines so as to proceed with forest demolition and various flaws were discovered in the titles to prevent the State from taking over desirably timbered tracts, but in the main the combination of Miss Doak, Dr. Rothrock, Simon E. Elliott and John T. Fulton proved successful and in her life-time a forest reserve of nearly 1,000,000 acres was established. Among these forestry reservations were a dozen areas of virgin timber, where the axe had never struck and these were turned into State Forest Monuments by Gifford Pinchot, when he came to Pennsylvania as State Forester.

"Hers was the greatest service performed for Pennsylvania by a woman," said Pinchot, "and I am not forgetting Molly Pitcher, Eve Curry, or Jane Grey Swisshelm. Miss Dock perpetuated not only water power and climate, but beauty."

"Myra Dock, member of an illustrious family, laid aside her official duties in the State Forest Commission when she saw her great purpose accomplished, but spent her remaining years exploring new forest regions where water power might be conserved and describing the woodland wonders of her beloved Pennsylvania. She went to her reward ten years ago.

"Lovers of trees and wild flowers and game extol her energy and efforts to save the natural contours and waters of the Commonwealth."

Self-Employed Help With Social Security

Self-employed people in this district are making extra copies of their Schedule C as well as Forms 1040 and 1065 when filing claims for social security benefits, Henry Harper, manager of the Washington District Office, has announced.

These copies, Harper said, must be furnished to the Social Security Office as evidence of their 1954 earnings when the retiring self-employed individual claims his benefits. These copies will not be returned to the individual claimant but will be used in computing the amount of his benefit payments.

Most of these applicants are also furnishing evidence of payment of the social security tax for 1954. This evidence can be a receipt from the Director of Internal Revenue, a cancelled check or a money order receipt. The Washington District Office experience indicates that the 1954 self-employed cases will be processed more quickly because of the cooperation on the part of the claimants.

Streamlined Barns Make More Money

Cut-away sketch at right showing a practical loose-housing system is one of many illustrations in two new educational booklets on how farmers can cut down work and increase profits by efficient barn arrangements.

Labor-saving stall barn layout from new manual available to local farmers.

Farmers are streamlining their production methods to combat high costs and labor scarcity, according to a review of agricultural information.

The trend towards increased efficiency is affecting methods used in all types of farming, but perhaps is most strikingly illustrated by the manner in which dairy farmers can make more money by planning operations so that they cut down on work in providing the cow with room and board.

This is being accomplished in both the traditional stall barn and the relatively newer loose-housing systems. Full data for such labor-saving arrangements has been compiled and published by the Agricultural Extension Department of the Great Lakes Steel Corporation, Detroit, Mich. The new handbooks are available to qualified farmers through Quonset dealers.

For example: careful arrangements of stall rows, calf pens, feed alleys and storage space reduce time and labor of barn cleaning, handling bedding and feed, and the amount of walking required for milking operation. Advocates of the loose-housing system, in which cows roam in barn and yard at will and come into a "parlor" for milking, contend still greater efficiency is obtained through carefully planned arrangements.

They point out that with good loose-housing arrangement and management, one man can milk up to 30 cows per hour. Hay self-feeding permits the cows to eat "cafeteria" style in the building where hay has been dried and stored, and takes but a few minutes work per week for the entire herd. Manure removal, instead of a daily chore, becomes a once or twice-a-year tractor operation. The modern dairy barn thus becomes a working tool to save time and labor in producing top-quality milk that brings premium prices.

Farm Bureau Co-op Founders' Day

Greene Farm Bureau Cooperative Association will honor farmers who organized the association eight years ago with a Founders' Day observance Friday.

The association is owned and controlled by 1,062 local farmers who use it in cooperative purchase of about $300,000 in farm supplies annually.

The Founders' Day observance will take directors and employees of the association on tour throughout the area it serves, calling on as many farmers as possible. Purpose of the visitation is to report on the progress the association has made since its founding and for the directors to seek the ideas of other farmers for the improvement of Farm Bureau services.

The local Farm Bureau association was organized by area farmers to serve their farm purchasing needs. It is an affiliate and part owner of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, Harrisburg, through which purchases of all the Farm Bureau associations in the state are pooled for maximum on-the-farm savings.

The statewide organization is now providing more than 70,000 farmers with about $35,000,000 in farm supplies annually and net savings to Pennsylvania farmers from this cooperative Farm Bureau purchasing have exceeded $1,000,000 per year in recent years.

The savings are made through pooled volume purchases of such essential farm supplies as feed, seed, fertilizer, petroleum products and others, some of them produced in farmer-owned Farm Bureau mills and factories.

No-Bake Cheese Cake A Taste Wonder

Effortless, and excellent this no-bake cheese cake wins dessert honors. The smoothness of the fresh-of-lemon refrigerator cake results from a custard base, cream-style cottage cheese and whipped cream. Then unflavored gelatine magically blends all the ingredients together and assures a delicate firmness. Cookie crumbs make the topping.

No-Bake Cheese Cake (Party Size 10-12 servings)

Crumb Topping:
2 tablespoons melted butter 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 tablespoon sugar 1/4 cup chocolate cookie crumbs, and
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon 1/4 cup graham cracker crumbs

Mix butter, sugar and spices together. Add half of spiced mixture to chocolate crumbs and remaining half to graham cracker crumbs; mix well. Turn cheese cake mixture into an 8-inch spring form pan; sprinkle with crumbs in wedge-shaped pattern, alternating chocolate and graham cracker crumbs. If desired, an 8 or 9-inch square pan or a 9x5-inch loaf pan may be used. Line with waxed paper. Press crumb mixture in bottom of pan; turn in cheese cake mixture.

Cheese Cake:
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 cup sugar, divided 3 cups (24 ounces) creamed
1/4 teaspoon salt cottage cheese, sieved
2 eggs, separated 1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup milk 1 teaspoon vanilla

1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Mix together gelatine, 1/4 cup of the sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Beat together egg yolks and milk; add to gelatine mixture. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until gelatine dissolves and mixture thickens, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat; add lemon rind; cool. Stir in sieved cottage cheese, lemon juice and vanilla. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add remaining 1/4 cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into gelatine-cheese mixture with whipped cream. Turn into prepared pan; chill until firm.

(Family Size 5-6 servings)
Use 1/2 gelatine recipe but full amount crumb mixture in an 8-inch round pan or 9-inch pie plate.

Folklorist Lauds New River Book

Harrisburg—Henry W. Shoemaker, Pennsylvania State Folklorist, said Carl Carmer, New York historical writer and author of the popular new authoritative history of the Susquehanna, came pretty close to saying the last word on the beautiful river's history, which he classes among the world's most storied and romantic waterways. "Carl Carmer has brought out many striking episodes," Shoemaker said, "overlooked by his predecessors and sketched the history of the entire stream from the cool, tiny spring, north of Otsego Lake, in New York, where the North Branch rises, to Port Deposit, near the grand old river's mouth. He tells about the floods that beset the river in 1843, 1846, 1857, 1867, 1868, 1875, 1889, 1904, 1918, 1936, and 1940. No greater event happened on the long, winding course than Conrad Weiser's flat boat convoy of 1723, when he brought from Cooperstown, N. Y., a load of German's Huguenots, and Jews, escaping from the incessant persecutions of the Dutch Patroons, and Weiser from the Round Top at Middletown, showed them the new Land of Promise in the Lebanon Valley, where all went, and stayed and prospered, except the Jews who were ousted from New Judea, by the younger Penns, for alleged violation of the British law of Toleration. The Jews withdrew, mostly to Lancaster, where they prospered and regarded the backset as one more incident and were to be here more than 300 years in Pennsylvania. "There are still unrecorded tales of the river concerning its Indians, pioneer traders, freight boating, rafting, log driving, and sports, of the days of shad, muskalongue and sturgeon, of trumpeter swans, bald eagles and seals. "These rich tales when they can be recorded will continue to add fresh fields of romance to the work of future Historians when delving into the annals of Pennsylvania Folklore and History."

Hunters and State Agree on New License Plan

Establishment of a permanent licensing system for Pennsylvania's 900,000 hunters has been agreed upon in a meeting of representatives of organized sportsmen, legislative leaders and officials of the Game Commission.

The new system, which is expected to work to the convenience of all but a few hunters—those not legally eligible for licenses in the first place—will be sought through the legislature in bills that likely will be introduced late in March.

Harris G. Breth, chairman of the House Committee on Conservation and Wildlife, emphasized that the proposed new system will "under no circumstances involve the examination of hunters."

"And it will not be an opening for the registration of firearms," Mr. Breth added.

With exception of examination of individuals, the permanent licensing system would work much like the licensing of automobile drivers. The state Department of Revenue would establish such a file of all hunting licenses and at the renewing period each year would automatically send out renewal applications.

The legislation that will be proposed would become effective September 1, 1956. In the first year, the fee would be $3.15—the same as now—but in the succeeding years the 15 cents would be dropped. Now, the 15 cents remains in the hands of 1,900 agents throughout the state who issue hunting licenses. They no longer would be in the business.

Eighteen representatives of the state, the legislature and Sportsmen's Clubs met in a closed session in the office of the attorney general to work out details of the legislation.

Raider Matmen Victors Twice

Jefferson High School's mat squad scored two victories during the past week, defeating the grapplers of Claysville High 44-8 and squeezing by the mat crew of Charleroi High 21-20.

In the Claysville match, Jefferson took all of the bouts with the exception of the 185 and 133 pound tilts. Jim Kuhn rocked up a fall for the losers in the 185 pound tussle and Ferencak of Jefferson and Grandon fought to a 3-3 draw in the 133 pound clash.

Falls for Jefferson were recorded by Rumble, 103; Huffman, 120, and Gower, 165.

A first period fall by Jefferson's Tom Dollar in the opening 88 pound tilt was the margin needed to top Charleroi in a dual meet at Jefferson.

The two teams had six wins each, and each had five decisions and one fall. Charleroi's fall was by Clyde Herman in the second period of the 785 pound bout, but his five point victory was overcome by Dollar's fall which was worth six points.

Hofstra and Yellow Jacket Matmen Tie 16-16 in Exciting Dual Meet Here

Waynesburg and Hofstra College mat crews battled to a 16-16 deadlock at the local gym Saturday night in one of the most exciting matches witnessed here in years. The match was the season's final for the Yellow Jackets.

The Flying Dutchmen from New York wasted little time in showing local fans why they are rated one of the best squads in their home state, as the visitors grabbed a ten point lead by scoring falls in the first two bouts before Joe Nicoletta put a temporary halt to their scoring by grabbing a decision in the 137-pound tilt.

Hofstra came back to grab two decisions in the next two bouts to increase their lead to 16-3 with but three bouts remaining, and things looked bad for Waynesburg. However "Bucky's" crew wasn't done.

George Terembes, freshman 167-pounder from Jefferson, put the local squad back into contention with a rapid fall, and at the same time ended the season undefeated.

Captain Ray Carlson kept the ball rolling, scoring a decision over one of the toughest opponents to face him all season, and John Barich came through with a fall in the heavyweight clash to avert a defeat.

Both squads were weakened considerably with the loss of top performers.

Raider Five Scores Win

Waynesburg High School's basketball squad closed their 1954-55 season last week by scoring a 73-63 victory over All-Saints High of Masontown in a contest on the latter's court.

The Red Raiders outscored their hosts in every period but the last when the losers put on a rally that fell short of closing the gap on the victors.

Bennett with 22 points paced Waynesburg, while the All-Saints cagers were led by Donnelly with 20 tallies.

Jefferson Rockets Defeat West Beth

Jefferson outscored West Beth in every period and held a 37-9 lead at the half. Palone and Rota, with 15 and 14 points respectively led the Rocket attack.

West Beth made only six field goals and 19 of 44 fouls. Jefferson made good on 12 of 26 foul attempts.

Pittsburgh Files 'Little Inch' Plea

—Washington—
The City of Pittsburgh Monday filed a brief with the Federal Power Commission here opposing the Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation's application to convert the "Little Inch" gas line to an oil pipeline.

Robert Engel, assistant city solicitor, said the Pittsburgh objections are based on contentions that the conversion would eventually mean higher gas rates for Pittsburgh consumers.

Texas Eastern proposes to construct as a substitute for the "Little Inch" a new line which it states would make possible a reduction in the cost of service.

While conceding that possibility, the Pittsburgh brief cites engineering studies showing that the cost to consumers would increase if the gas line is expanded later.

Erection of Roadside Markers Add To Historic Lore of Pennsylvania

—Harrisburg—
Henry W. Shoemaker, President of the Pennsylvania Folklore Society, State Museum, Harrisburg, said publication of Roadside Markers erected from August 1, 1952, to January 1, 1955, is filled with interesting information and many worthwhile men and women and places have been suitably marked.

"Probably of great Pennsylvania, the most notable is the marker erected in Chester County near the home of John Fritz, the famous ironmaster," Shoemaker said.

"It states, in part: 'His absolute integrity, mechanical ability, inventive genius and practical resourcefulness brought about improved processes and products in the iron and steel industry in America. He introduced the three high rolls into the Cambria mill, applied the Bessemer process to the American practice, improved the manufacture of armor plate. Fritz was born 1.3 miles NE of here in 1822.'"

"Many have wondered why the fame of John Fritz, which is international, has not been more suitably marked in his home state, but this has at least been done and apparently to the satisfaction of all concerned.

"Another Great Pennsylvanian, this time a woman, has been suitably marked at last, this is the marker for Widow Catherine Smith in Union County. As early as 1769, she erected a log house on the Great Island below Lock Haven but was pestered continually by the Indians, who wounded her husband and killed her son, which resulted in her selling out and moving down the river to an earlier claim she has cited near the mouth of White Deer Creek. Here she began building and branching out until at the time of the beginning of the Revolutionary War in 1776, she had a sawmill, flouring mill, tanning mill, and boring mill on the property.

"This last named establishment became a very busy center and riflemen from all over Pennsylvania brought or sent their weapons to her to be reconditioned.
