President Sees 'New Hope' For Ending Global Conflict

President Eisenhower in a radio-TV report to the nation Monday night on the Big Four Conference declared that new hopes for peace "were ignited" at Geneva and that Americans now have both the "most shining opportunity" and the toughest assignment in the history of the country.

The President warned against the delusion that the war for peace has been won in a week. But he painted a future bright with hope if the paths opened at Geneva are pursued "prudently and cautiously."

He declared: "I believe that only with prayerful patience, intelligence, courage and tolerance, never forgetting vigilance and prudence, can we keep alive the spark ignited at Geneva."

"But if we are successful in this, then we will make constantly brighter the lamp that will one day guide us to our goal—a just and lasting peace."

Mr. Eisenhower told of accomplishments at Geneva which included a growing realization by East and West alike that atomic war could be "race suicide" and a "sharp realization" by the world that the United States is willing to go to any honorable length to attain peace.

But, the President said the "acid test" of the summit meeting will come when the Big Four foreign ministers return to Geneva in October to wrestle with the knotty issues passed on to them by the chiefs of state. He declared:

"Then is when real conciliation and some giving on each side will be necessary."

The Chief Executive also repeated an assurance he had given earlier to Congress.

He said: "There were no secret agreements made either understood or written ones. Everything is put before you on the record."

While emphasizing the hope of the world that came from Geneva, Mr. Eisenhower laid equal stress on "the wide gulf that separates, so far, East and West."

He described this as: "A gulf as wide and deep as the difference between individual liberty and regimentation, as wide and deep as the gulf that lies between the concept of man made in the image of his God and the concept of man as a mere instrument of the state."

The President added: "Now, if we think of those things we are apt to be possibly discouraged, but I was also profoundly impressed with the need for all of us to avoid discouragement merely because our own proposals, our own approaches, and our own beliefs are not always immediately accepted by the other side."

"In laying the issue of peace before the American people, he declared:

"We, all of us, individually and as a people now have possibly the most difficult assignment of our nation's history. Likewise, we have the most shining opportunity ever possessed by Americans. May these truths inspire, never dismay us."

Discussing his dramatic proposal for aerial inspections by U. S. planes over Russia and Soviet flyers over this country, the President cited two reasons behind it. He said:

"The principal purpose, of course, is to convince every one of Western sincerity in seeking peace. But another idea was this: if we could go ahead and establish this kind of an inspection system we could possibly develop into a broader one—and eventually build on it an effective and durable disarmament system."

On the matter of increasing East-West contacts, "there was the greatest possible degree of agreement," Mr. Eisenhower said:

"As a matter of fact, each side assured the other earnestly and often that it intended to pursue a new spirit of conciliation and cooperation in its contacts with the other."

Texas Eastern to Build New Compressor Station

Texas Eastern Gas Transmission Corporation will soon begin work on a new compressor station near Ryerson Station, Richhill Township, as part of the conversion of the "Little Big Inch" pipeline from gas to petroleum products. The lines were built during World War II for that purpose and later converted to carry gas.

The 47-acre property is on Route 30039 just off Route 21, about 22 miles from Waynesburg. It was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. John Benton Parson and Omar Elwood Parson of Aleppo Township.

The main compressor station will be 8,800 horsepower and there will be eight 1,100 reciprocating compressors. There will also be a building containing the office, warehouse and garage. A water cooling system, communications equipment will be installed and there will be several other smaller buildings. It will be known as Holbrook Station.

Texas Eastern's other Station 20, also known as Applegate, is also in Richhill Township.

Several weeks ago the pipeline company received Federal Power Commission approval for the removal of the major portion of the Little Big Inch System from natural gas service and construction of substitute facilities to maintain the company's gas delivery capacity as the station will be located on Texas Eastern's 30-inch pipeline which extends from Kosciusko, Miss., to Connellsville.

Total cost of the new natural gas facilities is estimated at $70,883,000, which, in addition to a new 30-inch pipeline, a 377-mile extension from the southern terminus at Kosciusko, Miss., to Beaumont, Texas, includes eight new compressor stations, 100 miles of additional lateral and connecting smaller diameter lines, and the addition of compression to certain existing stations.

These new facilities will increase the capacity of Texas Eastern's 30-inch pipeline by an amount equal to that now being carried by the Little Big Inch which is 200,000,000 cubic feet per day.

About 1,168 miles of the Little Inch from Beaumont, Texas, to near Moundsville, W. Va., will be converted to carry petroleum products.

Cordell Hull Dies at 83, 'Father of UN'

Cordell Hull, 83-year-old Tennessean who served as Secretary of State longer than any other man and who was called the "Father of the United Nations," died Saturday morning in Bethesda Naval Hospital, Maryland, where he had been a patient since March 26.

Services were held Tuesday in the National Episcopal Cathedral in Washington and interment was in the crypt where his wife was entombed March 26, 1954.

By poignant coincidence Hull's death occurred as the Big Four Conference in Geneva ended.

It recalled the warning he issued on his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary in 1946 that "incalculable disaster" would result of the Western powers and their wartime ally, Russia, failed to find a way to exist in peace and harmony.

Though Hull had shunned the spotlight since ill health forced him to resign as secretary of state in 1944, he had remained a commanding figure in Washington.

President Eisenhower ordered flags at half staff until after the services.

The Chief Executive said Mr. Hull's "life was honored and his death mourned by millions of men at home and in the far places of the earth by reason of his integrity of purpose, his high sense of obligation and his long and fruitful labors in the cause of peace."

In the American tradition of such men as Abraham Lincoln, Hull was born in a log cabin. He left his birthplace in the Tennessee hills to become successively, a lawyer, a soldier, a judge, a state and national legislator, and finally a statesman of immense stature.

The eloquence he displayed when aroused was never more dramatic than on December 7, 1941, when he flayed the Japanese "peace" emissaries who had come to Washington on the eve of the infamous sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

During his long service as secretary of state—11 years—Hull played leading roles in both the peacetime drama of President Roosevelt's administration and in the grand strategy of World War II.

Miss Elms Honored By Reader's Digest

Miss Elizabeth M. Elms of East Franklin street, Waynesburg, recently won a Sterling Silver Honor Emblem by The Reader's Digest, in recognition of outstanding service as a subscription representative of the magazine. Sterling Silver Honor Emblems are awarded to only one in every fifty Digest representatives, so Miss Elms' achievement is noteworthy.

Commemorating its 33rd anniversary this year, the Digest is awarding Honor Emblems to men and women who have actively represented the magazine in their communities for 20 to 25 years or more, and who have secured 20 or more subscriptions in the past year. Similar awards are being conferred, regardless of the length of service, on those who have obtained 100 to 500 or more subscriptions in the previous year.

Leader's Income Tax Bill Faces Real Test In Senate

'Rainbow' Jackson, Of 'Ed & Rainbow' Dies Wednesday

ED & RAINBOW

Elmer Waltman, known professionally as "Rainbow Jackson," burnt cork partner of Ed Schaughency, died Wednesday morning, July 27, in Allegheny General Hospital. He had been ailing for more than a year. Mr. Waltman was born in Kane, Pa., September 17, 1895. From 1939, until his illness, he was on the daily Ed & Rainbow Musical Clock show over KDKA.

He came from a family of show people, and when he was big enough to get out in front of the footlights, he too was signed up for theatrical work. He got his start with Hal Hoyt and Company on the old Keith Vaudeville circuit. He next formed a partnership with Joe Clark and for years they toured the Keith, Pantages and Independent circuits as Davis and Clark.

Mr. Waltman settled in Pittsburgh shortly before World War I, and after serving in the army, he became a sign painter. In 1924, he tired of the sign business and devoted most of his time to small parts in radio.

He first became known to Pittsburgh radio listeners as Uncle Elmer on a local children's hour which was broadcast from the stage of the Moose Temple on Penn avenue. He auditioned at KDKA in 1936, and got the part of Leroy in the cast of the old Strollers' Matinee, which featured Glenn Riggs, and played character parts in many KDKA productions.

From 1939 until his illness he had been one of the best known radio personalities in the Tri-State area. Together with Schaughency and many other radio and stage favorites, he played every city, town and hamlet in the area.

His "Hello, Grandma," and "Goodbye, Grandma," with which he opened and closed the Ed & Rainbow programs, became household words where ever KDKA is heard. He was loved by youngsters and oldsters alike for his droll stories, his fund of riddles, and his character roles.

—Just Thinkin'

House Democrats Tuesday night passed Governor Leader's $411,000,000 classified income tax bill but it will meet great opposition in the Republican controlled Senate.

The 108 to 98 vote by which the bill was passed was two more than the 106 minimum needed. In the final hours Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, and organized labor put the political screws on five Allegheny County "holdouts."

They were Representatives John J. Murray of Forest Hills, and George E. Jenkins of Bradock, who prior to Tuesday had said they positively would not vote for the bill.

All Republican present (four were ill) voted "no" and were joined by four Democrats in their opposition.

Three of the Democrats made up the remainder of the "rocks of Allegheny." They were Representatives John T. Walsh of McKeesport, and Matt S. Anderson and Daniel A. Verona of the Hill district.

The fourth Democratic "no" was shouted by a real sleeper, Representative Julian Polaski of Erie.

Anger against Democratic "steam roller tactics" broke out in Republican ranks. Speaker of the House Andrews adjourned the session. The Senate timetable had called for first reading in the Senate Tuesday night, one on Wednesday, and a vote Thursday.

"All right, all right, if they want fireworks, we'll give them fireworks," Minority Leader Smith shouted. "Two can play at this game. We'll make them read every bill at length."

If Smith carries out his retaliatory threat this legislative session can very well be extended until the end of the year at six days a week.

Just before the House vote on the tax itself, Minority Leader Smith had complementarily warned the triumphant Democrats:

"We have heard a great deal in the past about Governor Leader putting his political future on the block. What about the members of this House?"

"Are you going to vote for a wage tax and break your promise to the people who elected you? Will Governor Leader be up for election next year? No!"

"Every member of this House will be the first to face an accounting to the people. Not the governor."

"You and I know very well," Smith continued, "that this vote is a gesture because this bill is going to be killed the third day after it hits the Senate."

Baily's Garage Sells Dodge and Plymouth Cars

The Baily Garage, located on the Masontown road, on the edge of Carmichaels, was established in 1930 by Howard "Doc" Baily and has held the Dodge and Plymouth agencies continuously. Mr. Baily's son, Allan, is associated in the business with his father. The garage, featuring complete service, is open 12 hours, and a 24-hour towing service is maintained. Leroy Ross, who sells automobiles, has been with the garage 20 years. An expert body and fender repair shop is maintained by Lindsey Crow and Earl Walker, who have also been with the garage a number of years. Mr. Baily is a descendant of pioneer settlers in the area who were prominent in the early history of the county. He attended Waynesburg College and played on the college baseball team. He also played on sandlots in Greene and Fayette Counties. Mr. Baily married the former Hildur Mortenson, who is a teacher in Cumberland Township High School, and a member of the Board of Directors of the Children's Aid Society of Greene County. Allan Baily married the former Helen Stockdale of Carmichaels. They are the parents of two boys and two girls.

Ann, daughter of John Swan, was born in the state of Maryland. She married John Hughes. He was killed by two Indians. Afterward she was married to Mr. Isaac. She had one son by her last husband, lived and died in the State of Kentucky.

Martha, daughter of John Swan, was born in Washington County, Maryland; married Joseph Hughes, a brother of John Hughes, who was killed by the Indians. John Hughes, who lived out of the town of Jefferson, was no relation to John and Joseph Hughes, although bearing the same name. Joseph moved to the State of Kentucky. He reared an interesting family. Some of his children moved to the state of Missouri, and his descendants are wealthy and prosperous people.

John Swan was an Episcopalian, or the Church of England, in belief, and was one of the founders of the Episcopal Church at Carmichaels, the building is now Greene Academy. All his children and grandchildren were christened under that church, and his influence still remained in my mother as long as she lived. I was nine years old when she died May 25, 1840.

LaSalle County, Illinois, has done pretty well for his descendants. There have been five of his great-grandchildren living in this county, namely, Mrs. Lucinda Vanatta, Mrs. Margaret Milligan, Mrs. Emily Boyd, Ellis Swan and myself, Mrs. Mary Hill, all his great-grandchildren.

Early Forts

The geographical position of the southwestern corner of the Keystone State (Greene County) is largely responsible for making it so rich in historic interest to all, and hallowed ground to the descendants of the pioneers.

It was a "No Man's Land" between the Monongahela and the Ohio Rivers, whose local watersheds and fertile valleys retained the Indian trails and war paths even within the recollections of our great-grandparents.

In those colonial days Washington and Fayette Counties of Pennsylvania; Monongalia, Marshall and Wetzel Counties of West Virginia, had not yet been christened along with Greene, but their forts, block-houses and fortified cabins were, also, a part of our inheritance.

We sometimes forget that the word "Station" was used instead of "Fort"—for example—Ryerson Station in Greene County, Pennsylvania; and Beeler's Station in Marshall County, West Virginia, were military stations, and Shepard's Fort near Elm Grove, West Virginia, on the old Wheeling road from Waynesburg making a connected line of Forts from Old Fort Redstone at Brownsville, Pennsylvania, to Fort Zane, Virginia. Fort Martin on, or near the Martin Church, just over the Dunkard Township line in West Virginia, was a place of refuge for our ancestors in southwestern Greene County.

We are prone to think that our hardy pioneers were more adventuresome than cautious until we study the list of forts and fortified cabins of that earlier period; then we marvel at the safeguards erected so early.

We shall not particularize as to the exact dates of these outposts of civilization in the 17th century. They were followed in rapid succession by the real settlers who built better than they knew for us.

Within the boundaries of our own Greene County the following locations of frontier block-houses, forts and fortified cabins were located.

Let us begin at the "Hub" of our domain—"Fort Jackson," in East End, Waynesburg, north side of South Ten Mile Creek, near the west side of Pratt's Run. In 1774, this land belonged to L. Jackson.

Give Industrious Farmer Spare Time And He Can Make Numerous Devices

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Give an industrious farmer some spare time and a free hand with his transformer type electric arc welder and he's liable to come up with all manner of home-made devices. Examples of what one young southern farmer "cobbled" up during an off season are shown below.

Hack saw—1/6 horsepower motor; 3 plywood pulleys, 4 roller bearings; 3/4" pipe, angle and flat iron—from discarded farm equipment. Grinder—1/3 horsepower motor; automobile windshield; section of metal fence post; scrap metal. Table—pipe and scrap metal. Seat, used with grinder but not shown, can be adjusted to various heights. Parts came mainly Junked automobiles and pipe left over after the installation of a home hot water heating system provided most of the materials for these workable and useful farm tools. In general, here are some of the "scraps" and power units used:

Drill press—stand and frame of 3/4" pipe, connecting rod from old car and wooden pulleys. (Pulleys were made on a home-made bandsaw, also constructed of scrap metal parts welded electrically.) Auxiliary farm tractor—junked auto chassis with motor, transmission, axles and wheels steering mechanism and differential; from two other wrecked cars and one transfer truck; plus 800 pounds of concrete dumped under seat on reinforced floorboards to heavy up tractor.

from an old riding cultivator. The base is a discarded brake drum. Pipes of different diameters, fit one inside the other to form the standard. Holes are drilled through both so that a metal peg can be inserted to raise or lower the seat to height desired.

In addition to enabling farmers to make new equipment, electric welders are invaluable tools to have at hand when machinery breakdowns occur and emergency repairs are necessary.

Set Up New Reserve Unit In County

A new Army Reserve unit, the Service Battery of the 312 Field Artillery Battalion of the 79th Artillery Division, will be located in Waynesburg.

The battalion which has been in the eastern part of the state will be transferred to Greene and Washington Counties. Headquarters battery and battery A will be in Washington, B and C will probably be in Waynesburg. Commanding officer of the 312th Field Artillery Battalion will be Captain Ewing B. Pollock of Waynesburg, who has been serving as commanding officer of Company C, 326th Engineer Construction Battalion, a reserve unit also located here. He will now be located in the headquarters of the new battalion at Washington.

The cadre of the service battery of the new battalion has also been drawn from Company C with First Lieutenant John F. Holleran as commanding officer. One other officer and 11 enlisted men have been transferred to it from Company C.

There is no connection between the two units, however. Both will use the Reserve Armory in the basement of the First National Bank Building, with Company C continuing to drill Thursday evenings and the Service Battery on Tuesdays.

With Captain Pollock's transfer, command of Company C has been turned over to Lieutenant William B. Sabalsky.

The new Waynesburg unit has three officers, one warrant officer and 76 enlisted men. Its duties will consist of maintaining and supplying equipment for the entire 312th Battalion, which will be equipped with 105 howitzers.

Captain Pollock stated the new outfit has created a large number of openings for noncommissioned officers in both the Service Battery and Company C. Anyone interested in joining either outfit may contact Sergeant George E. Meinen, reserve recruiter, at the Armory in the bank building, either in person or by phoning Waynesburg 1325. They may also contact Lieutenant Holleran at Waynesburg College.

Those transferred from Company C to the new Service Battery, in addition to Lieutenant Holleran, are Lieutenant Clyde W. Roberts, Jr.; Sergeant First Class Richard C. Van Druff; Sergeant First Class, John C. Sowden; Sergeant Bobby R. Dulaney; Sergeant Alvin E. Headley; Sergeant Oral R. Merritt; Corporal Richard E. Cole; Corporal Junior Jenkins; Corporal Lamar W. Shumaker; Private Joseph L. Headlee; Private George H. Rhodes, and Private Ewing S. Supler.

Texas Eastern Offers Exchange Of Stock Shares

—Houston—

Directors of Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation have authorized an offering of shares of its capital stock in exchange for shares of the capital stock of Texas Eastern Production Corporation in the ratio of one share of Transmission Corporation stock for each 2.6 shares of Production Corporation stock. George T. Naff, president of Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, stated that Transmission's action is contingent upon the tender of at least 263,402 shares in response to the offer.

According to Mr. Naff, a registration statement relating to the offer was filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on July 25. When this registration becomes effective, a prospectus detailing the contemplated exchange offer together with the proper exchange form to be used will be sent to all Production stockholders of record.

"The purpose of the offer is to acquire shares of Texas Eastern Production Corporation stock in addition to the 68.64% of the shares already owned by Transmission so that thereafter Transmission will own 80% or more of the capital stock of Production, 80% being the minimum percentage of Production capital stock required to permit the inclusion of that company in Transmission's consolidated Federal income tax returns," Mr. Naff stated.

Mr. Naff declared that the directors believe that the proposed conversion offer is a fair one and will benefit the shareholders of both corporations.

At the meeting a quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share on the common stock of Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation was declared by the board of directors. The dividend is payable September 1, 1955, to stockholders of record at the close of business August 1, 1955. At the same time the following quarterly dividends per share were declared on the preferred stocks of the company: $1.37 1/2 on the 5.50% First Preferred Series; $1.25 on the 5.00% Preferred Series; $1.18 1/2 on the 4.75% Convertible Series, and $1.12 1/2 on the 4.50% Convertible Series. Dividends on the four issues of preferred stock are also payable September 1 to stockholders of record August 1.

YOUR MONEY

Is it safe—and is it really working hard for you?

As any experienced businessman will tell you, part of your earnings should go into a savings account which is not subject to market fluctuations. When you open an account there are two basic things to look for:

One is safety. The other is a good return on your money.

Where are you sure to get both of these things? In an insured Savings and Loan Association! That's why more and more prudent Americans now choose to put their savings in these Associations.

Briefly, here's what they offer:

You get excellent returns. That's because these Associations invest most of their funds in sound, steady-paying home mortgages.

Your money is safe. It is protected by sound management and substantial reserves. It is insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation—an agency of the U.S. Government.

You deal with friendly, experienced people. Responsible people. People who know how to make your money work hard for you.

Remember, too, that insured Savings and Loan Associations are also the nation's largest single source of home mortgage loans. When you're thinking of buying or building a home, they can be of tremendous help to you because they make liberal loans. They see to it that you get the money quickly—and at moderate rates.

You really owe it to yourself to get acquainted with the insured Savings and Loan Association nearest you, whether you're interested in opening a savings account or talking about a home mortgage loan.

Clarksville Firemen
Answer Two Calls

Fire Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock destroyed a barn on a farm at Clarksville R. D., which is occupied by Mr. and Mrs.
Patsy Christy. Fire was caused by lightning. Two thousand bales of hay were destroyed and also some farm machinery. Damage was estimated at $5,000.
Clarksville Fire Company answered the alarm.

The company also fought a blaze in an automobile operated by Dan Karanovich of Besco, near Pitt Gas, when the car became stuck on a red dog road near the Harry Goss farm. In trying to get going the right rear tire spinning around caught fire which spread to the gasoline tank. Firemen were able to hold the blaze to the rear seat. Karanovich, who has only one leg, lost a new wooden leg valued at $400 which was in the back of the car. Damage was estimated at $2,000. The car had been barrowed from Paul Metros of Besco.

—Atlantic City, N. J.—
A resolution asking resumption of draft deferment for pharmacy students was adopted Friday at the close of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association annual convention.

The delegates also asked the American Medical Association to reconsider its recent change in the code of ethics allowing certain physicians to practice pharmacy, and opposed state aid to hospitals which fill drug prescriptions for out-patients.
Honorary membership in the association was granted to Dr.
Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh, developer of the antipoli vaccine.
William H. Whitman, Pittsburgh, was installed for a one-year term as president, succeed-

Soviet Farms Behind U. S.

—Kharkov, Ukraine—
The American farm delegation visiting Russia estimated that the Soviet Union is 20 years behind the U. S. in farm tractor development.

The 12-member team voiced its opinion after visiting a tractor plant in Kharkov.
The Kharikov plant turns out 100 to 120 tractors daily. Most of the machines are 54-horsepower caterpillars used in general farm work while the remainer are 12-horsepower pneumatic-tired orchard and garden tractors.

Members of the delegation pointed out that the Soviet tractors lack hydraulic systems and other mechanical features which are demanded in today's American tractors.
The Americans' views remained unchanged after visiting a machine tractor station where they inspected planting, harvesting and other machinery.

Dr. W. V. Lambert, chairman of the delegation, remarked:
"Our machinery is much smaller and compact and takes less horsepower to drive."
Three thousand cheering Ukrainians broke police cordons to give the American visitors a thundering welcome on their arrival in the city.
Rarely have foreign visitors to the Soviet Union received such an accord.
The Americans finally had to appeal to the crowds, who followed them to their hotel, to go home. But the enthusiastic Russians were still acclaiming the group at midnight.
Among the throng jamming the square for their first look at Americans were a group of students who shouted:
"Long live friendship between the Soviet and American peoples."

British Ship Reports Chiang Jet Attack

—Hong Kong—
The captain of the 1,896-ton
British cargo ship Inchwells charged Sunday night that Nationalist Chinese Thunderjets riddled his ship's deck and bridge-house with bullets July 9, while it was in a Chinese Communist port opposite Formosa. There were no casualties.

Farmers Urged to Put in Lime Orders

Greene County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee urges farmers to order their lime before August 15, in order that they may determine how much money should be set aside for this year.

Any Greene County farmer who desires to order lime or fertilizer or to participate in the 1955 federal program should do so as soon as possible. A farmer may enroll in the program and not make an order until fall, if more convenient.

To be approved for lime, a farmer must take a soil sample from the field he wants to lime to the Greene County Agricultural Extension Office, First National Bank Building, Room 210, Waynesburg, for testing.

The government cost-sharing rate per ton of standard lime this year is $5 per ton. The number of tons of lime a farmer may get for his farm depends on the soil test requirements for his farm.

The program handbooks listing the practices offered are available at the county office, room 301, First National Bank Building, Waynesburg.

Fifty-Year History of Greene County Sports

By GEORGE N. THOMAS

HORSE RACING

Almost every rural community in the United States exhibited interest in horses and horse racing in the era just after the turn of 1900.

But nowhere were folks so excited as in Greene County when the world's champion pacing horse, Dan Patch, scored record after record.

That's why the news tickers were closely watched in 1905 when Dan Patch went after Star Pointer's 1:59 1/4 record. And, as usual, Dan Patch came through with a 1:58 flat.

There was some pretty fine racing in Greene County, too. E. L. Denny owned a magnificent stable of horses and he took great pride in them, particularly one named "Uffa," and they gave him good reason to boast for they won over the best horses in the tri-state area.

Since many communities had made successes of their annual fairs and horse racing, Mt. Morris joined the fair circuit in 1905, and managed to attract some good horses, among them T. Gibbons' horse which produced a county pacing record in 2:13 1/4.

And owners who trained horses in the county frequently displayed them elsewhere when local fairs had adjourned.

A. S. Long's "Montgomery Boy" won first premium at a horse show in Indianapolis, Ind.

Crowds that followed horse racing in the county were enormous. The small community of Jefferson, for instance, could draw upwards of 2,000 spectators for an afternoon of racing.

Each year, it seemed, racing records were broken and Jefferson came in for its share of racing history.

When Greene County horses were not setting the fastest marks, they were pushing visiting horses that were forced to set records to win.

In 1908, Gred Jamison of Greensburg, probably one of the best trainers in the country, brought one of his favorites, Black Dart, into the county and promptly copped a record speed of 2:12 for the paced mile.

The speed stood as best for three years until a September afternoon at the Jefferson Fair when Beut Kennedy, owned by Charles Sleight of Sabina, Ohio, paced the distance in 2:11.

Slowly, but with certainty, all district fairs incorporated racing when officials noted the tremendous crowds the sport attracted.

Horsemen expanded their stables. In the spring of 1912, 100 horses were in training at Waynesburg's Fairgrounds for the Independence Day and Fair races. The following year, the number jumped to 200.

They came from nine states to compete for $10,000 in purses and one was shipped all the way from Panama.

Racing played such an important roll in community fairs that soon it occupied the dominant position.

Soon there was great demand for more racing, and the Fourth of July was picked as ideal.

Some 3,000 to 5,000 attended these holiday events, but they were small compared to the 15,000 and more who attended fair-time galloping.

The war years, of course, deterred racing everywhere. Greene Countians joined the patriotic ranks and concentrated on supplying and supporting dough-boys.

About the time the war ended, Waynesburg was added to the Lake Erie trotting circuit with a week set aside to bring the district's best horses to the Fairgrounds.

It wasn't long after that the first known case in history of a county horse was sold and exported to England.

Sister Pointer, clocked at 2:17 1/4, was the harness racer sent there to pace, then to be placed in a breeding stable.

From the same stable came Sister Joe, trained and raced by Dr. J. A. Knox of Waynesburg. He sold her to D. H. Shull of Pittsburgh, who had watched the excellent county products run.

Some of those excellent runners were in the midst of the Waynesburg fair races in the last week of August 1921. And what three days of racing they were.

With 20,000 persons watching, two new county records were broken on successive days.

In the 2:11 pace, W. P. Ziegenheim, a chestnut gelding owned by E. S. Frye of Chester, Pa., broke the former record of 2:13 1/4 in every heat of the race, running the first heat in 2:11 1/4.

The very next day, the time for the 2:16 trot tumbled, too, as San Andres from the Duquesne Stables in Pittsburgh, lowered the time to 2:10 1/4 winning the $1,000 stakes in straight heats.

The 20,000 who saw these races and others just as excit-

Good sports shots, showing or implying action, can be made with the simplest cameras. It's a matter of shooting at the right time.

Good Sports Shots With Simple Camera

Whether it's cheering a big-time tennis tournament or pitching a game of horseshoes in your own backyard, come summer and everybody wants to get into the act—and the action—of outdoor sports. And, as anyone with even the simplest box-type camera knows, this is the time that you'll find some of the best picture opportunities of the year right at your fingertips.

"But," we can almost hear you exclaim, "don't I need a super-deluxe camera to catch fast-action shots?" The answer is no. For, though a fast lens and a fast shutter are real helps whenever you want to picture a subject in motion, you can count on a simple camera to catch action if you make a habit of accurate timing and use a bit of ingenuity, too.

Just study any sport, and you'll observe moments when for a fraction of a second all motion is "frozen"—even though the poses and attitudes of the players suggest jet-speed action. The tennis player with the ball at the peak

DiMaggio and Five Other Diamond Stars Admitted to Baseball's Hall of Fame

—Cooperstown, N. Y.—
Baseball's Hall of Fame opened its doors to Joe DiMaggio and five other immortals Monday.

Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, was the principal speaker at the ceremonies and unveiled the plaques to DiMaggio, Gabby Hartnett, Ted Lyons, Dazzy Vance, Frank "Home Run" Baker and Ray Schalk.

The first four were elected last January by ten-year members of the Baseball Writers' Association. The latter two were appointed by the Hall of Fame committee on veterans.

Asburn Regains National League Batting Lead

Punch-hitting Richie Ashburn, the sparkplug of the onrushing Philadelphia Phillies, has replaced his slump with a surge to regain the National League batting lead from slugger Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Ashburn, who has walloped only three homers among 116 hits, collected 19 safeties in 46 at bats last week for a 12 point gain to .336. Previously, he had dropped more than 20 points while falling into third place.

Meanwhile, Campanella lost 15 points with only two hits in 17 trips. He's tied for second place with teammate Duke Snider at .331. Snider increased his average six points on nine safeties in 21 times at the plate.

Snider hit three homers in last week's games to increase his total to 34. The Brooklyn outfielder also is setting the pace in runs batted in with 101.

In the American League, Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers, dropped three points to .365, but the brilliant outfielder's lead stands at 37 points. Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers, with a three point increase to .328, took over second place from Chicago's Nellie Fox, who dropped to fifth at .312. Al Smith of Cleveland, and Vic Power of Kansas City, are deadlocked for third at .314.

Kaline, in line to become the first triple crown winner since Ted Williams in 1947, took over the home run lead with 22. He also trails Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox by one in the runs batted in department. Kaline has 75 rbi's to Jensen's 76.

After the ceremonies the notables, including National League President Warren Giles and American League head Will Harridge, attended the annual major league exhibition game down the street at Doubleday Field. This year's game sent the Boston Red Sox against the Milwaukee Braves with the Red Sox winning 4 to 3.

The program included the presentation of a certificate to young Billy Capps of San Diego, as the outstanding American Legion junior player of 1954. Shirley Povich, president of the Baseball Writers' Association, acted as master of ceremonies.

DiMaggio, who retired at the end of the 1951 season with a lifetime batting average of .325, easily bettered the required 75 per cent of ballots by collecting 223 of the 251 cast.

Lyons, who came to the Chicago White Sox right off the campus of Baylor University, won 260 games for a club that never finished higher than third. Vance, who gained his fame with the Brooklyn Dodgers, won his first major league game at 29 and led the National League seven straight years (1922-'28) in strikeouts. Vance won 190 games for the Dodgers and seven more for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Hartnett caught 100 or more games in 12 years for the Chicago Cubs from 1922 to 1940. His 236 home runs still stands as a record for major league catchers. Baker, the third baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics' famed "$100,000 infield," led the American League in home runs three times and tied for the lead once some 40 years ago.

Schalk holds the record for most years (eight) as the leading catcher in fielding percentage. He caught 17 years for the White Sox and is the only man to catch four no-run, no-hit games.
