HARRISBURG—In Pennsylvania, 4,231,300 men and women were at work as of the middle of March.

This was reported Friday by Secretary of Labor and Industry A. Allen Sulcove.

He said this is 74,300 more than a year ago and 14,300 more than in mid-February of this year.

Average weekly earnings were $95.35, an increase of $6.26 over March, 1961.

Two Million Blind Persons in India

NEW DELHI—Every fifth man in the world is an Indian. Health Minister Sushila Nayar told India's parliament recently. She said India has two million blind of the world's total of 10 million.

Battle lines are drawn for an old-fashioned political fight with President Kennedy's medical care plan as the prize.

In the next few weeks, intensive grassroots campaigns will be launched in favor of, and against, the bill to provide medical care to the aged under Social Security.

The immediate objective is the House Ways and Means Committee, which shelved the legislation by a 16-9 count last year.

Believing the bill has a good chance for passage on the House floor, Administration strategy is to drum up enough public support to convince members of the Ways and Means Committee that it would be politically wise to vote the bill into the open.

The major protagonists — Mr. Kennedy and the American Medical Association met at the White House Tuesday to discuss the plan.

Nothing was resolved. The American Medical Association said it will continue to oppose the bill and Mr. Kennedy said he will continue to push for it.

Dr. Leonard Larson, six other Medical Association executives and Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff met with Mr. Kennedy less than an hour. The meeting, Mr. Ribicoff said, was called on the initiative of the President.

Dr. Edward F. Annis, chairman of the Medical Association's speakers bureau, presented its case, which has centered on the contention the Kennedy approach would lead to socialized medicine.

No further meetings between the President and American Medical Association are planned.

Dr. Larson said the discussion also involved an invitation for Mr. Kennedy to address the first national Congress on Medical Health in Chicago next October, and the President indicated he would do so if possible.

Three Educators To Be Honored

Miss Louisa C. Smith, English instructor in Waynesburg High School, who will retire this year after 44 years' service will be the guest of honor at the Waynesburg Teachers' Association dinner on Thursday, May 17, in Rohanna's Restaurant.

Other honor guests will be Fred Gillogly, Greene County superintendent of schools, and Stanley S. Manifold, supervisor of special education. Both are retiring at the end of this school year.

Invitations have been sent to retired teachers of the Waynesburg area schools. If any teacher has not received an invitation, he should telephone Mrs. James A. Johnson, Jr., Waynesburg 1055, at once. Anyone planning to attend the banquet should make reservations with Mrs. Johnson by May 10.

T. B. Society Re-elects Officers

All officers of the Greene County Tuberculosis and Health Society were re-elected Tuesday at the annual board meeting in the Fort Jackson Hotel.

Members of the executive board in addition to the officers are, Mrs. J. I. Hook, Mrs. James M. Dent, Mrs. W. B. Clendenning, Clyde Thomas and E. M. Powell.

Goldwater Denies Presidency Desire

NEW YORK — Senator Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican, said Saturday he hasn't "the organization or the finances" to seek the presidency.

Senator Goldwater, in a television interview (Update-NBC-TV) at his Phoenix, Ariz., home, said he has no desire to be president and does not want the Republican nomination.

Ballooning Bureaucracy

The first step the Communists hope to make towards their conquest of a nation is to break down self-government in that nation, for where governmental power is dispersed, it is difficult to subjugate the people. An open invitation to disaster is implicit in the continuing tendency to concentrate power in the Federal Government and to make it more remote from the people.

Little by little, Federal Government, like an octopus, grabs in its tentacles more and more of that which should be either privately owned or locally governed and places its captives under the jurisdiction of a central federal bureau. And what happens when a nation turns from government by the people to government by bureaucracy? Here are some examples gathered from sources in Washington, D. C.

The Federal Government owns and operates thousands of businesses—including one hundred and fifty ice cream plants—at an annual cost of billions of dollars. These businesses enjoy a tax-free status while they compete with privately-owned businesses in forty-seven different lines.

In New Mexico, citizens have rented land from the State for 25c an acre and then applied for and received $9.00 an acre in soil-bank payments for not planting anything on this land. When this was pointed out to officials of the Department of Agriculture, they replied that it was perfectly legal.

The Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee has estimated that there are forty million people being supported by or receiving some form of direct cash payment from Government.

A sub-committee on Federal employment reported to Congress that there are almost two and one-half million Federal civilian employees. In 1942 there was one top-salaried executive for every eighty-nine governmental employees; today there is one for every seventeen. The committee further stated that it found little evidence that any bureau or agency organized in answer to an emergency ever went out of existence.

And whose fault is it—the bureaucrat's? No, for as much as we might like to make him our scapegoat, he's not the one. It is all of us, we Americans.

When the writers of the American Declaration of Independence sat down to outline their grievances against King George III, they put high on the list the following: "He has erected a multitude of new offices and has sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance." That's one of the principal reasons our forefathers put into our Constitution deliberate limitations on the power of the central government. These limitations had only one purpose: to guarantee the freedom of the people.

Those limitations had served the American people well up to a few decades ago. It was then that we began witnessing an increasing effort to annul the planning of the founding fathers. This has been done under the guise of greater efficiency. And (Turn to Page Four)

Eisenhower Calls For Pioneer Ideals; Dedicates Library

ABILENE—Speaking with disdain for some trends in modern art and entertainment, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower called Tuesday for a renewal of pioneer virtues and standards.

Looking hearty and healthy after a winter's vacation at Palm Springs, California, the former President helped dedicate the new $3 million Eisenhower Library across the street from his boyhood home.

Mr. Eisenhower referred to the twist—which he said he does not dislike personally—and some trends in art and movies.

"It does represent some kind of change in our standards," he told the sun-baked crowd of several thousand persons.

Comparing scientific and material gains in this century with what he termed "the vulgarity, the sensuality, indeed the downright filth" the former president asked "I wonder if we have advanced?"

"What has happened to our concepts of beauty, decency and morality?" he continued.

The former commander of the A. E. F. recalled that Tuesday was the 100th anniversary of his mother's birth and praised the virtues which she taught the Eisenhower children.

"The family would like to think she would know they remember her," he said. "She was truly a remarkable person."

Although he was critical of some modern trends, Mr. Eisenhower said this nation is the strongest in the world.

"We are about to see a renaissance in American pride in America, the pride in characteristics that made America great. My prayer is we will be inspired by those men of long ago. If we are we will be a great nation."

Just Thinking!

By JIM DENT

I found a way to beat Daylight Saving Time

... wasn't going to turn my watch up an hour Saturday night

... needed that hour of sleep.

... Here's how to beat it and make it a pleasure:

... Waited 23 hours

... my favorite television program was scheduled, according to my watch,

... an hour later.

... Didn't want to wait an hour

... so set my watch up an hour

... and there was my favorite program.

... Try my way, sometime

... Makes it a pleasure!

Designing of Feeder Road Is Begun

The Linney Drilling Company of Grafton, W. Va., is making test bores for the section of highway which will feed traffic to the Waynesburg interchange from the community and from Route 21 to the proposed North-South highway.

Tests are being put down between Morrisville and Route 21, east of Love's Hill.

The section of road, designed for four lanes, will pass under the interchange of the limited access highway, which will be located on the George Zimmerman farm, west of the county airport. It will follow the line of the airport road, but curves will be eliminated.

The jointure with Route 21 will come east of Love's Hill, passing behind Rohanna's golf course, crossing the ravine between the airport and Love's Hill by a bridge.

This section of the highway is being designed by Westmoreland Engineers.

Kennedy Signs Educational TV Aid Bill

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy has signed into law a bill providing Federal aid to trigger an expansion of educational television stations all over the country.

The measure authorizes appropriations of $32 million over a five-year period beginning July 1 for construction of educational TV facilities. The Federal aid is to be matched by educational institutions and non-profit groups.

The bill represented a compromise between a Senate measure authorizing a $51-million program and a House authorization of $25 million.

Senator Warren G. Magnuson, Democrat of Washington, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, said it climaxed a seven-year fight to bring about wider use of television for educational purposes.

The Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare would allocate the grants under the bill.

To assure a wide distribution of the Federal aid, the bill sets a $1-million ceiling on the amount that could be provided in any one state.

A congressional report explaining the compromise bill said that although the Federal Communications Commission 10 years ago reserved 273 channels for educational TV only 62 are in use. Yet, it said, a minimum need of 1,197 such channels has been indicated by national surveys.

Head of '28th' Calls Guard Cut 'Fatal Error'

Dr. H. C. Schreiber Dies in Hospital In Philadelphia

Dr. Harry C. Schreiber, 69 years, former well known Waynesburg jeweler and optometrist, died Friday, April 27, 1962, in Germantown Tospital Philadelphia, where he had undergone an operation, on April 25.

He was a son of William and Johanna Roessler Schreiber, and was born June 9, 1892, in Carnegie, Pa. He attended Cornell University and was a veteran of World War I, having served in the Air Force.

Dr. Schreiber came to Waynesburg as a jeweler in the Kennedy Jewelry Store. Later he opened his own store in the Downey House building. It was destroyed in the disastrous fire in December 1925. He continued to operate a jewelry store until 1946, when he began the practice of optometry. Dr. Schreiber was a graduate of the Pennsylvania School of Optometry and also of the Bowman Technical School, in Lancaster.

He retired in 1960 and later moved to Philadelphia.

Possessed of boundless energy, Dr. Schreiber entered into all efforts to expand business in the community and all plans to enhance Waynesburg.

He was a past president of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs, and was a member of the American Optometrical Association and a Charter member of the Greene County Country Club.

Dr. Schreiber was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and had served as an elder for many years. After moving to Philadelphia he became a member of the Summit Avenue Presbyterian Church. He was also a member of Waynesburg Lodge No. 153 F. and A. M.; a 32nd degree Mason and a member of Syria Shrine, Pittsburgh. Dr. Schreiber was also a past exalted ruler of Waynesburg Lodge No. 757 B. P. O. Elks, a past commander of the James Farrell Post, American Legion, and a member of Greene County Voiture 40 et 8 Societe.

Surviving are his wife, Helen Jackson Schreiber; one daughter, Emmy, wife of Dr. Arnold Farmer of Philadelphia; two grandsons, Carl Rodney, 17, and Thomas Arnold, 13 years. A son, Carl Balmer Schreiber, was killed in 1940, near Waynesburg, while training as a pilot.

Funeral services were held Tuesday in the Garrison Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. A. D. Sowers. Interment in Greene County Memorial Park.

County Man Retires From Gas Company

James M. Phillips, R. D. 2, Waynesburg, retired on May first after completing nearly 23 years' service with Manufacturers Light and Heat Company. He joined the gas company at West Brownsville in August 1939, as a laborer in the production and transmission division there. Promoted to spring foreman in 1948, he was transferred to West Newton in 1953, and returned to West Brownsville in 1958.

HARRISBURG—A U. S. Defense Department proposal to reduce national guard manpower requirements could be a "fatal error," Major General Henry K. Fluck has warned here.

General Fluck is commander of the 28th Infantry Division, Pennsylvania National Guard.

He said the Government's plan to cut back both national guard and reserve forces "is a gamble on the benevolence of Khrushchev."

"If, like the Hungarian Freedom Fighters, we lose our bet on peaceful co-existence, we will be involved in the most gigantic conflict in human history," the General warned.

General Fluck said nuclear warfare "demands that we be able to sustain the loss of battalions and even entire divisions, and be able to counterattack effectively on land as well as in the air."

"For this reason," he said, "the United States Army is fighting for a larger better equipped and better-trained national guard—certainly not for a reduction."

Orders to prepare to trim National Guard units went out Friday forcing state adjutant generals to designate units for elimination in the reserve rollback.

Pennsylvania's Adjutant General Malcom Hay said the cutback would "give me no choice" but to delete 19 PNG units, made up of more than 2,000 officers and men.

32 Buildings In County Suitable For Shelters

John Shaw of Butler, assistant area Civil Defense director who visited Greene County recently stated 32 buildings in the county are suitable for use as public fallout shelters in the event of a nuclear attack.

If they are given final approval under the National Fallout Shelter Program, and their owners agree, the buildings will be stocked with food and other emergency supplies and will be suitably marked to indicate they are places of refuge. The cost will be borne by the federal government.

To gain this final approval, however, each municipality in which there is a potential shelter must have a Civil Defense director and this director must appoint a special deputy to have charge of local shelters.

All the 32 buildings meet the minimum requirement of cutting down radiation damage to one-hundredth of the outside damage. These shelters would house at least 10,000 persons.

Thomas C. Brown of Waynesburg, is the county Civil Defense shelter director. However, several townships with suitable buildings are without a shelter director.

New Electric Range is Bride's Best Friend

The bride will start her married life off right when she buys a modern electric range. There'll be no jokes about her first breakfast biscuits being as hard as small hand grenades. By following a simple biscuit recipe, she'll serve her groom delicately brown, soft biscuits with the aid of a new electric range. She'll just set the controls, put in the biscuits, and minutes later they'll be done to perfection through and through. She need not fear having her in-laws to dinner either. She can be justifiably unconcerned because with an electric range she knows there is no chance of failure—no such thing as a badly charred roast. Vegetables will have more life when cooked with just a tiny amount of water. Vitamin and mineral content isn't lost down the drain. Dessert will be the new bride's special fete. Cakes will come out of the oven light and fluffy, with no bumps or cracks. Guesswork is eliminated because they're baked at a proper, controlled heat. There will be no last-minute frenzy before her in-laws arrive. She will greet them with self-assurance because she knows the dinner will be a big success. Inexperience in cooking won't concern the new homemaker. The word "failure" will disappear entirely from her vocabulary. With good recipes, her dishes will appear as if done by a professional kitchen. The modern electric range is truly a bride's best friend.

Your Health

Pennsylvania Medical Society

Walking was prescribed as a health measure by Hippocrates, the Father of Medicine, some 2,400 years ago.

He urged early morning walks to relieve emotional disturbance, evening walks for sensitive natures, and brisk walks to reduce weight.

Many of the ancient philosophers practiced and preached the value of walking.

William Wordsworth, Thomas Carlyle, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Charles Dickens, and Henry David Thoreau, were ardent walkers.

In the Victorian era, walking was a popular exercise and walking tours about the countryside were happy holiday outings.

When a person today remarks that he has walked ten or fifteen miles in the country, he is likely to be considered eccentric.

Where do people get exercise nowadays?

Too many of us get the car out to go three or four blocks, sit on a hard seat to watch others play baseball, and don't even walk the golf course but are carried in an electric cart.

Fortunately, there still are people who get pleasure out of walking.

There are hiking clubs that do a lot of good in encouraging people to walk.

There is the Appalachian Mountain Club of Boston, founded in 1876, and the Sierra Club, organized in 1892 by the California naturalist John Muir, which now has 15,000 members throughout the country.

The International Youth Hostel movement, founded in 1909, has an estimated 1,300,000 members in 32 countries.

More people need to get up on their feet and walk.

Walking is not only good exercise, inexpensive and available to all, but it lifts the spirit and puts zest into life.

tightrope walkers

Our spectator is impressed. "Whew," he says, "You wouldn't catch me up there for a million dollars! Those people will never have any competition from me!"

This same spectator, incidentally, doesn't think it's worth the bother to attend church. That's something else they can keep, too . . .

Yet this same man who wouldn't get up there on the high wire for a million dollars goes through life walking a tightrope all his own—a rope on which he balances delusions against fancies, fears against hopes, uncertainty against braggadocio. Every so often, just to reassure himself, he says he's living a pretty happy life, everything considered. But in his heart of hearts, he knows he is not at all sure of his step.

The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord; and he delighteth in his way. Psalms 37:23

This man needs to come to church. Somewhere along the line he lost faith in God. And man cannot live by bread and circuses alone. Without the divine balance that gives insight and sureness to the step of reverent people, man loses faith in himself.

Let us help this man to regain faith in his God and himself through religion. For religion is reclamation, of a broad and noble kind. It straightens our vision. It builds character. It awakens long-forgotten spiritual values. It gives to the already miraculous fact of human existence, the final, God-like touch.

Get this man to your church. Get him off his tightrope.

Get him living again . . .

Washington is pictured as the only source of efficiency, holding the only solution to our problems, offering the best way to build our homes, schools, roads and public buildings. Washington would have us believe that it offers the only answer to the education of our children and the care for our sick, our aged, and our needy.

The individual American seems to be shifting his responsibilities to the state and in so doing he is destroying the precious rights and rewards of his American heritage. Now, it seems, when we grow tired of exercising some of our individual rights and freedoms, we just create another bureau to exercise them for us. As we Americans have given up more and more of our responsibilities to Washington, the present system of government by bureaucracy has grown by leaps and bounds.

What we tend to forget is that this bureaucracy is cold and impersonal—not subject to elections by the people—and containing within its very structure the necessity of growing and becoming even more powerful. More and more of our policies are being determined by bureaus rather than by those chosen by ballot. These bureaus have been frozen into permanency by civil service regulations and are beyond the reach of any popular election.

FAMOUS AMERICAN TAVERNS

Old Mill Inn in Bernardsville, N. J.

It Stored Grain for Washington's Army

This is the story of a pre-revolutionary barn deep in the heart of New Jersey, a barn which evolved like the butterfly from the caterpillar into one of the most famous caravansaries of the country. Associated with the inn in legend and antiquity stands, just across the way, the Old Mill, one of the state's finest monuments of colonial stone and masonry.

The Old Mill and the old barn both saw service in the American War of Independence. The Old Mill ground grist to feed Washington's army camped at Jockey Hollow in the winter of 1779; the old barn stored the grain, to be drawn by the troops as needed. The building of the majestic Old Mill with its beautiful arches and grand proportions, set among the green trees of the Somerset Hills, was a major production of enterprising early Americans. Whole families gathered to haul the stones by oxen and sledges from the surrounding countryside. But our immediate interest is the conversion a generation ago of the humbler colonial barn into a thoroughly modern inn and tavern for wayfarers.

In re-creating the old barn not a beam was touched by saw or axe. The old barn itself suggested what to do and no change was made in the roof line or structure. In spite of time the frame was perfectly good, as the guest can see by glancing at the solid ribs and cross-beams purposely left exposed to tell their own tale. Shutters and hinges on doors are exactly as they used to be. The sub-divisions of the barn are the same; the large dining room was the wagon and machinery room, the grill was the horse-stable, the entrance hall and living-room were partitions in the barn and so was the passageway from front to back. Each of the seven bedrooms on the second floor was a bent in the great haymow.

For five years the proprietor has been Mr. Raymond M. Cantwell, graduate of Cornell's College of Hotel Management. Neighbors and devoted customers are pleased that Mr. Cantwell has the same respect as they for the old building and its special kind of quaint charm. They are pleased, too, that he dispenses the fine foods and fine beers and ales which are historically associated with the old building.

Moon 'X-Ray' Scientist Says

WASHINGTON — Scientists have discovered that the seemingly inert moon is a great X-ray machine.

Dr. Richard W. Porter of New York told the International Committee on Space Research (COSPAR) Tuesday that the moon emits X-rays in response to a heavy bombardment it receives from solar and cosmic radiation.

These so-called secondary X-rays are among the lunar characteristics which the United States wants to investigate with space instruments before it undertakes to land a man on the moon and bring him back.

Happy Apple Sundaes

Sundaes are blissfully easy desserts, for you start with scoops of ice cream and simply add the toppings. One jolly notion is to fill a large bowl with ice cream balls, set out a variety of toppings and let each one concoct his own Sundae. This is gleeful going. Here are some suggestions:

HAPPY APPLE GINGERED TOPPING (piquant and spicy)

1/4 cup chopped candied ginger 2 cups canned apple sauce
1 quart vanilla ice cream

Combine candied ginger and apple sauce; chill in refrigerator several hours or overnight. Place a serving of vanilla ice cream in individual dishes; top with the sauce. Makes 6 servings.

HAPPY APPLE ORANGE SUGAR SAUCE (pungent and refreshing)

2 cups canned apple sauce 2 tablespoons orange juice
1/2 cup light brown sugar 1 quart vanilla ice cream
2 tablespoons grated orange rind

Combine apple sauce and sugar; heat until sugar melts. Cool; add orange rind and juice. Chill several hours. Place vanilla ice cream in individual serving dishes; top with the sauce. Makes 6 servings.

HAPPY APPLE PEPPERMINT CRUNCH TOPPING (rosy as a posy)

1/2 cup crushed peppermint stick 2 cups canned apple sauce
candy or after dinner mints 1 quart vanilla ice cream

Combine candy and apple sauce; chill in refrigerator several hours, or overnight. Place vanilla ice cream in individual serving dishes; top with the sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Young-Old Trapper Is Still Active

"The years have not dimmed the love and appreciation of the outdoors for W. S. (Simny) Pyle, of Youngwood, Pennsylvania," says Game Protector Joseph Maholtz, Westmoreland County. "Simny, who is 86 years old, has trapped every year, as he puts it, 'since I was a pup.' His catch this year consisted of 51 muskrats, 29 opossums, 19 skunks, 8 raccoons, 2 weasels, 1 mink and 2 crows. Simny modestly states, 'This has been an off year for me.'"

John O'Keefe, General Manager of Wheeling Downs, said that despite the recently announced sale of the track to new owners, there will be no change in policy and that he would continue in charge of the operation. O'Keefe has been at his present post since the fall.

OPOSSUM TOUGH

The opossum shows an amazing vitality and ability to recover from injuries that would finish weaker creatures.

Trappers Get 3,269 Beavers

The 1962 Pennsylvania beaver season, which ended March 18, resulted in the catching of 3,269 of the big furbearers.

The catch was about 40 per cent below last year's bag of 5,333. In 1960 only 2,940 were taken by the trappers.

The Northwest Division led the other five in numbers of beavers trapped but Wayne County was high with 394 and Susquehanna second with 354. Crawford was third with 262.

More Predators Being Taken

Beaver bounties have been paid on more gray foxes, red foxes and great-horned owls taken in Pennsylvania so far in the Game Commission's fiscal year than during the same period in the previous one.

The March, 1962, report shows that since June 1, 1961, bounty was paid for 6,692 gray foxes ($4 each) 13,707 red foxes ($4) and 933 great-horned owls ($5). During the same period in 1960-61 the totals were: 6,195 gray foxes; 10,880 red foxes and 742 great-horned owls.

The exceptional number of bounty claims processed during February and March of this year is attributed to the fact that moderate winter conditions permitted trappers and hunters to be more active than usual.

DENTAL CLINIC OKAYED

WASHINGTON—The Air Force has authorized construction of a $333,000 dental clinic at Lowery Air Force Base in Denver.

While most flowers travel westward, the black-eyed susan traveled eastward, probably in shipments of clover seeds, and became the state flower of Maryland.

State Seeks Aid in Pollution Fight; People Requested to Report Violators

The assistance of the people in immediately reporting all cases of new pollution either to a fish warden or a regional sanitary engineer of the Health Department is of vital importance in the control of pollution, according to Albert M. Day, executive director of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

"The causes of fish kills may disappear within minutes, certainly within hours," he said. "Immediate reporting provides the state agencies, in most cases, with their only possible chance of tracking the source of a killing substance."

"When the source is found, the Sanitary Water Board will be able to take action to prevent similar kills in the future and the Fish Commission will take action to recover damages for the fish killed."

Fish wardens, Health Department sanitary engineers or citizens who have been trained in the proper method of taking water samples all can gather evidence needed to pinpoint the source of pollution.

These water samples are necessary to establish Fish Commission claims for damages to fish and other aquatic life and to provide the Sanitary Water Board with information needed to prevent future similar pollution.

Fish Commission field personnel take certain steps in estimating the value of fish killed. In brief these are:

If the kill occurs on a small stream or the polluted area is less than three miles in length, an attempt is made to count the dead fish. The number and sizes of the different species are listed.

Data used in estimating larger kills include upstream and downstream limits of the affected water, the distance between these points and the ultimate dimensions upon which the area of kill will be based.

A detailed inventory of all dead fish is made in sample areas throughout the length of the kill zone. The total number of each species, according to size groups, can be calculated and the final fish kill value worked out from the Fish Commission price list. This price list is based on average commercial values of fish in 1961.

Typical examples of prices for fish are: Trout, 7 to 9 inches—47 cents; trout over 18 inches are charged for at the rate of $1.75 a pound. Bass six to eight inches are listed at $1 each. Walleyes 10 to 15 inches are valued at $1.50 each.

During the three years, 1959 to 1961, inclusive, 239 pollution cases were settled. Of these, 184 were settled by voluntary contributions for a total of $65,606.84, and 55 by prosecutions for $9,782.50. While a majority of the voluntary contributions were in the amount of $100 each, some of them were more than $5,000.

The Department of Justice at present is handling a Fish Commission claim for $58,504.50 in damages against the Glen Alden Mining Corporation for a fish kill in the North Branch of the Susquehanna River.

Farm Pond Hosts Many Waterfowl

"A new farm pond constructed near Weikert, at the west end of Union County, filled to its capacity of water by late March," Game Protector John Shuler reports. "I observed on March 31 approximately 50 ducks (mallards, blue bills, baldpates and buffleheads), 25 large gulls and, by actual count, 194 Canada geese either in or adjacent to the pond."

DANGER STALKS THE FOREST ON WEEKENDS

Forest fires menace most on weekends. More people are in the forest—and there's more chance for man-caused fires to flare; more chance for destruction—and terror!

It's a tragic and shameful fact that nine out of ten forest fires are man-caused—too often by the carelessness of a "weekender" who thoughtlessly flips away a smoke or a glowing match.

So when you're in the forest over a weekend—or on a Sunday drive or a picnic—be extra careful. Always follow Smokey Bear's rules:

Break matches—crush smokes—be SURE all fires are out!

Remember—only YOU can prevent forest fires!

Surgeon Honored For Invention of Heart-Lung Device

Dr. John H. Gibbon, Jr., professor of surgery at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, has been named recipient of the Pennsylvania Medical Society's Distinguished Service Award for his invention of the life-saving heart-lung machine.

The award was announced on Wednesday by Dr. Daniel H. Bee of Indiana, Pa., society president. It will be presented to Dr. Gibbon at the convention in Atlantic City in October.

Dr. Gibbon is only the second physician to receive the award in its seven-year history. It was last given in 1956, when it went to Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh, for his work on the anti-polio vaccine.

Dr. Bee, in announcing the award, said: "The award is given only to a member of the state society whose meritorious service in the science and art of medicine, or whose public life and activities, in the opinion of the award committee, has been of such nature as to reflect great credit on the profession."

"Because of the high standards set for the award, it is not necessarily given each year."

The heart-lung machine is employed in surgery and permits correction of both natal and acquired defects of the heart. To date many youngsters up to the age of 12, who in past years might have been doomed, emerge from such surgery so much improved that they are soon running and playing like normal children.

Dr. Gibbon fashioned his first crude heart-lung machine in 1933, but it proved workable only on dogs. In 1953, 23 years after he first thought of the idea, he performed the first successful operation on a human, using his machine at Jefferson Medical Center.

Dr. Gibbon is a fifth-generation physician; his family has been in medicine for 176 years.

Joe Walker Pilots X15 to Record

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE—Crack research pilot Joe Walker of Washington, Pa., rocketed the X-15 a record 48 miles into space Monday, then said: "I had a feeling that if I ran the engine much longer I was going to be in orbit."

He added: "I could take orbit with no strain at all. The success of today's flight means there is no question that we can put a winged vehicle in orbit and land it as I did."

Walker, putting the X-15 into its steepest climb yet, streaked to about 255,000 feet, 5,000 higher than the rocket plan's designed maximum altitude and 38,000 higher than the old X-15 mark of 217,000.

The 41-year-old National Space Agency pilot said only an extreme effort to shut off his engine kept him from going even higher.

His 3,443-mile-an-hour speed and 38-degree climb angle shoved him back into his seat with four times the force of gravity, and: "I had a little trouble reaching the throttle. I kept missing it by about an inch. Finally, I had to lunge forward to reach it."

In future flights, with the engine running longer and with the plane climbing at a shallower angle, the X-15 is expected to climb 75 miles, perhaps higher.

Denver Parks Boast Skiing, Bear Hunts

DENVER—Denver's city park system covers 2,500 acres inside the city and 14,000 acres beyond the city limits.

Included are 20 mountain peaks, extensive ski runs, and wilderness where elk and buffalo roam and bear and puma are hunted.
