Political Skills Sharpened For Tuesday's Primary

Next Tuesday is the primary election and candidates are girding for the final tussle for nomination.

On the Democratic side Joseph S. Clark of Philadelphia, the present incumbent, is unopposed for United States Senate.

The race for nomination for Governor is three-way. Richardson Dilworth, former mayor of Philadelphia, is opposed by Charles J. Schmidt of Erie County, and Harry F. Johnston of Allegheny County. Mr. Dilworth is the Democratic slate candidate.

Assemblyman Stephen McCann of Carmichaels, who has represented Greene County for 10 years and who is majority leader in the House, is unopposed for lieutenant governor.

Genevieve Blatt of Allegheny County, present incumbent, is unopposed for secretary of internal affairs.

Dr. Thomas E. Morgan of Fredericktown, is again seeking the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 26th District, Washington, Greene and Fayette Counties.

Attorney Howard F. Carson of Charleroi, is seeking to upset William J. Lane of West Brownsville, for the Democratic nomination for state senator in the 46th District, Greene and Washington Counties.

Two Washington County commissioners, Francis E. Pettit and J. Blatch Cummins, have come out in support of the candidacy of Attorney Howard F. Carson of Charleroi, who is running for the Democratic nomination for state senator in the Greene Washington District.

Wednesday morning's Washington Observer stated, that in a meeting between the commissioners and their employees, "the employees learned in no uncertain terms that they are to support Carson next Tuesday."

"At the gathering of Commissioners' employees, there were several 'guest speakers' in addition to the two Democratic Commissioners. These included former Democratic County Committee Chairman Harvey Stuart, the present County Solicitor Vincent R. Massock and United Mine Worker District 5 President Joseph Yablonski, all speaking on behalf of Carson, who is the son of President Judge Roy L. Carson.

"In essence, the primary will become a pitched battle between two blocs of political patronage. The organization controls the state patronage which consists chiefly of state highways department jobs but with a large number of other jobs. The commissioners control the largest amount of county patronage to pit against the state job-holders.

"The Lane-Carson battle will not be fought only in Washington County. The Senatorial District also includes Greene County."

For General Assembly, the Democrats again have three seeking nomination. R. Wallace Maxwell of Waynesburg, is a prominent attorney.

Russell Headlee of Perry Township, and Russell E. Headlee, lumberman, of Monongahela Township, are also running for General Assembly. They are complicated by the similarity of their names.

State committee candidates are Leo Matthews of Morgan Township, present incumbent; Wilma Conklin Doty of Waynesburg, and Charles I. Donley of Carmichaels.

Two members of the county committee are to be elected in each precinct. The fight for county committee is particularly hot among the Democrats.

On the Republican ticket James E. Van Zandt of Blair County, is unopposed for candidate for United States Senate.

For governor, William W. Scranton of Lackawanna County, is the Republican state candidate.

He is opposed by J. Collins McSparran of Lancaster County, master of the Pennsylvania Grange.

Raymond P. Shafer of Crawford County, is the only Republican candidate for lieutenant governor.

Audrey R. Kelly of Susquehanna County, who is a practicing attorney in Montrose, is the

Glenn's Mother Given High Honor

NEW YORK — The American Mothers Committee, Incorporated, Tuesday conferred the extraordinary award of "World Mother" on Mrs. John H. Glenn of New Concord, Ohio. The move came in addition to the naming of Mrs. Mary Celeste Weatherly of Fort Payne, Alabama, as American Mother of 1962.

"This extraordinary award of World Mother is not given because John T. Glenn, Jr. has become our first American orbital astronaut," said Mrs. Daniel A. Poling, president of the committee, in presenting the citation.

"It is a tribute," she said, "to the mother whose home training, guidance and love have made her hero-son a symbol of inner spiritual manliness for all mankind to admire and emulate."

Mrs. Weatherly, 70, is a great-great-niece of George Washington. A widow, she has three married children, including an adopted son, all of whom have made successes in their own right. She has seven grandchildren.

Commonwealth Harasses Industry McSparran Claims

J. Collins McSparran, independent Republican candidate for governor, in winding up his campaign, has charged that unwise harassment by State agencies has contributed to less of industry and has created an unfavorable business climate in Pennsylvania.

"Only sound, responsible and stable government at both state and local levels will correct this situation. Industry must not be asked to bear unreasonable tax burdens which place it in a non-competitive position with similar industries outside our borders," he declared.

In the field of agriculture the candidate stated:

"Much attention must be concentrated on tax factors that have an adverse effect on the owners and operators of the more than 100,000 farms in Pennsylvania. Excessive taxation can be as destructive on agriculture as upon all other business and industry. Farmers must not be squeezed out of business any more than a storekeeper or manufacturer in a city or town."

As to welfare:

"Adequate welfare programs must be maintained. Abuses that exist, such as: the subsidizing of illegitimacy, the encouragement of indolence and the use of such programs to build political parties, must be curtailed. Every able bodied recipient of welfare payments should be required to perform some services in return for the assistance given."

Care of the aged:

"There is increasing need for facilities in which the needs of our elder citizens can be met. We should promote and encourage the establishment of private institutions for the care of our older citizens supplementing these with state-owned facilities which will provide comfortable and pleasant surroundings for those who cannot be cared for in private institutions."

Highways:

"The construction of the interstate highway system in conjunction with the Federal government is desirable and should move ahead as rapidly as possible. Likewise, new construction in both the primary and secondary systems is constantly needed. However, it is sheer folly to devote such a large proportion of our highway funds to these purposes that we are not able to properly maintain presently existing highways. A better balance in the use of highway funds is a necessity."

Fate is in Our Hands!

Federal Aid to Education

In this age of the abbreviation—when the United Nations' Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization becomes UNESCO, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization becomes NATO, and Co-Operative for American Relief Everywhere becomes CARE—we sincerely hope that it is not indicative that Federal Aid to Education might become FATE.

Will it be our fate to suffer governmental intervention in our local school systems? Will it be our fate to subject ourselves to government control because of a sense of obligation to our creditors? Those who want a strong central government to control almost every phase of our lives have put out so much propaganda in favor of federal aid to education that many have come to believe that such assistance is both desirable and necessary. Only rarely is the question asked, "Do the schools really need federal aid?"

At this time, there are more classrooms, more teachers, a lower pupil-teacher ratio and a higher level of education in the United States than ever before in history. In the last ten years the number of public school pupils increased 48 per cent. The number of classrooms jumped 50 per cent. Teachers' salaries rose 72 per cent—to an average of $5,389 a school year—and money spent per student increased from $224 to $390 per year. All this was done without federal intervention, federal dictation or the federal control that is sure to follow massive federal subsidy. It has been done with the local taxpayers' money—taxpayers who are interested in seeing the schools in their communities improve and expand on the local and state level.

If we fall for the Washington politicians' promises, it is our fate to be even more sadly disappointed than those who have left such things to the local politicians in the past.

Federal aid to education could very well become our fate. It is our hope that it never will be, for we suspect that the zealots for federal aid to education are far less interested in more money for education than they are in more control over education. Let the other abbreviations stand as they are, but let's not add another. Let's not let Federal Aid to Education become—FATE.

To Train Labor for Second Shoe Firm At Carmichaels

Under a state grant to finance the cost of training additional employees, Gigi Footwear at Carmichaels will begin training 137 men and women late this month or early in June.

LaBelle Footwear, Inc., which remained in Brooklyn, N. Y., after Gigi moved to Carmichaels, will move there sometime this summer and employees are to be trained for the second firm.

The state grant provides $28,500 to finance a six-week training program for new employees. The money is used to pay instructors and purchase materials which will be used. All shoes manufactured during the training period will be turned over to the state for use in state institutions.

The training program is being sponsored by the Cumberland Township School District. Applicants for the training program will be interviewed and tested by the Greene County office of the Bureau of Employment Security, at Waynesburg.

Paul Corder, manager of the office, said that all applicants who meet the required qualifications as to aptitude will be referred to the Gigi manager.

The trainees will not be paid during the training program, but will furnish a pool of trained personnel from which the company can draw when it expands its working force after LaBelle moves into the plant.

The training program will be conducted in the factory building in hours when Gigi is out of production.

Greene County Industrial Development officials have acted as intermediaries in processing the application for the training program.

County Law Library To Receive $3,500

Judge J. I. Hook on Monday approved an appropriation of $3,500 for the county law library.

The appropriation is the same amount as was granted last year and will be used to operate the library during 1962.

A petition requesting the appropriation was submitted by Attorney William P. Thomas, Jr., treasurer of the Law Library committee of the Greene County Bar Association.

Area Directors to Discuss School Reorganization Act

The controversial state school reorganization act, passed by the 1961 General Assembly and facing implementation, amendment or repeal at the next Session, will be up for discussion when the school directors from five Southwestern Pennsylvania Counties gather at the California State College, Saturday, May 12.

Directors from Allegheny, Fayette, Greene Washington and Westmoreland Counties will assemble for morning and afternoon sessions and a noon dinner with Walter S. Rhodes, Point Marion, regional director, presiding.

High light of the morning session will be an address by Dr. Herbert E. Bryan, Director, Bureau of School District Organization, Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg.

Mr. Harry Riffe, County Superintendent of Schools in Fayette County, will speak on the responsibilities of County Boards of School Directors in implementing the provisions of Reorganization Act 561.

At the afternoon session—

11 Million Dollar Highway Program Scheduled for County During Summer

A program of highway construction to cost eleven million dollars and an improvement program estimated at five hundred thousand dollars, is scheduled for Greene County during 1962.

Ten millions will be used in building the first section of the North-South highway north from Waynesburg to Hart's Mill.

This construction is on the Federal Interstate program and ninety per cent of the funds will come from the federal government.

Reconstruction work includes widening and resurfacing Route 88 between intersections at Paisley and Mapletown. The cost is estimated at $300,000.

The section of Route 21 between the Paisley intersection and the Masontown bridge is to be rebuilt at a cost of $400,000.

Route 21 in Carmichaels is to be widened to 32 feet. This cost is estimated at $52,000.

Route 30051 in Clarksville, will be widened to 36 feet, at a cost of $25,000.

First National Lets Contracts for Drive-In

The First National Bank and Trust Company of Waynesburg on Monday announced contracts have been awarded for a modern drive-in bank and parking area for customers on the site now occupied by the existing three-story office building.

Work has been started on the demolition of the building by the Mellon-Stuart Company of Pittsburgh.

Remodeling will include an expanded instalment loan department.

The entire structure will be air conditioned and a special ceiling will be placed in the main lobby with the most modern lighting facilities.

The president, Judge Hook and the board of directors, in making the announcement stated that it was their earnest desire to provide the best and most complete banking facilities for the people of Greene County.

Plans for construction of a drive-in bank were announced last October.

The office building was added to the bank property in 1938.

The drive-in bank facilities will be located in approximately the space formerly occupied by the Waynesburg Water Company and the drive-in access way will accommodate three or four automobiles at a time.

Traffic will move from east to west.

The drive-in bank will also accommodate pedestrians.

Pleads Guilty to Burglary Charges

Eugene Wright, 21 years, one of three youths charged with burglary of the Wonder Bar on East High street, and the Greenway Manufacturing Company in Morrisville, pleaded guilty Monday, before Judge J. I. Hook.

Wright was apprehended March 29, and has been in the county jail, but the other two are still at large. He was given a suspended sentence and put on probation for two years.

Two other pleaders came before Judge Hook Monday.

Marjorie Morris of West Waynesburg, charged with neglect of three small children, was given a suspended sentence and placed on probation for three years.

Kenneth Toland, 51, of Grayville, R. D. 1, who plead guilty on a paternity charge, was ordered to pay a fine of $100 and $30 a month toward support of the child.

Executive vice president Joseph D. Hart, in presenting the check, released the following statement from First Federal officials:

"These men give an invaluable service to our community in protecting property and life. They train themselves in the skills required, and make themselves available night and day to perform what is usually a hard task, and often a dangerous one.

"The amazing thing is not just that they give this fine service without personal reward of any kind, but that they also are giving additional time and effort to raise the funds needed to provide an adequate fire department building.

"First Federal Savings hopes sincerely that this additional gift not only will help with the building and show our appreciation to the fire company, but also may help stimulate public response to their appeals for funds to complete the building."

Fire Chief Lawrence Tennant stated the gift was "most welcome" in the company's effort to raise thirty or forty thousand dollars to finish the building which will cost about $110,000. Cost is only so low because a number of firemen have done a great deal of the work themselves.

U. S. Steel Gives $1,500 to Red Cross

United States Steel Company, operator of the Robena Mine, has given $1,500 to the Greene County Red Cross fund campaign, Glenn R. Toothman, County chairman, has announced.

The quota is $9,480, half of which is kept in the county for local work.

Alfred Hill is chairman of the special gifts committee.

Other members of the committee are: Harry Thomas, Richard Morgan, John Minor, John McCurdy, Harry Cree, Fred Spragg, Glise Mariner, Mickey Bruno, Samuel P. Weaver, Joseph Hart, Charles Moore, Russell Moore, William Finch, Floyd Turner, Howard Craft, Bertram Waychoff, Riley White, Andrew W. Waychoff, John Grim, Loren Mathias, John Daily, and Joseph Meighen.

Proposed work which may also be done this year includes: widening to 36 feet of Routes 19-21 through Morrisville, $20,000; widening to 20 and 22 feet of Route 30025 through Rices Landing, $78,000; and widening to 20 feet of Route 30096 through Mather, $25,000.

Bridges on routes 30075, 30014, 30001 and 30015 may also be replaced. This cost is estimated at $201,000.

Greene County has budgeted $422,863 for road and bridge improvement, aside from what the state has scheduled.

This includes $305,914 for resurfacing work; $34,296 for

Easter Lilies in Border for After Blooming Care

If you have a garden, that lovely potted Easter lily you may have just received can be given after-blooming care and set outside to grow and bloom and even multiply in your garden border.

The well-known trumpet-shaped white lily with its long gold or russet anthers, is Lilium longiflorum. The variety giganteum used to be the favorite with florists, but more recently Croft has supplanted it, being shorter and sturdier for pot culture.

L. longiflorum came originally from Asia, but has been extensively grown in parts of the United States, especially the Pacific Northwest, that famous and happy garden spot for lilies of all sorts. Croft was developed at the Bellingham Bulb Station in the State of Washington.

Another form, a bit taller than Croft and grown primarily as a garden lily, is the Estate Lily, also from that region. Creole is another, but from Louisiana.

When the bulbs are ordered for the garden they are planted in the late autumn, in well-drained ordinary loam enriched with humus, in either full sun or light shade. In shade they tend to taller growth. Outdoor blooming time is August.

A variety of L. longiflorum, Harrison's, is offered by one American dealer especially for outdoor planting. It is a hybrid developed in New Zealand and has proved hardy in the Great Lakes region. It also is free from any tendencies to mosaic, that difficulty of some garden lilies.

In a sunny, well-drained spot a half-dozen bulbs will soon form a beautiful clump. Harrison's can be grown readily from seed.

After it has finished blooming, keep it moist to develop the leaves, and then plant it outside. You can knock it out of the pot when it is damp without disturbing the roots at all.

Set it as deep as it was in the pot, even a bit deeper, and don't forget to water it during summer dry spells. Liquid manure or other liquid plant food at intervals will be appreciated. It may bloom again in August, and thereafter will bloom for you each year.

Some people prefer to carry the bulbs over as potted plants. For this, keep watering until the foliage has all died down, let the bulb go dry for about two months, and sink the pot in a shady place in the garden for the rest of the summer, watering it regularly.

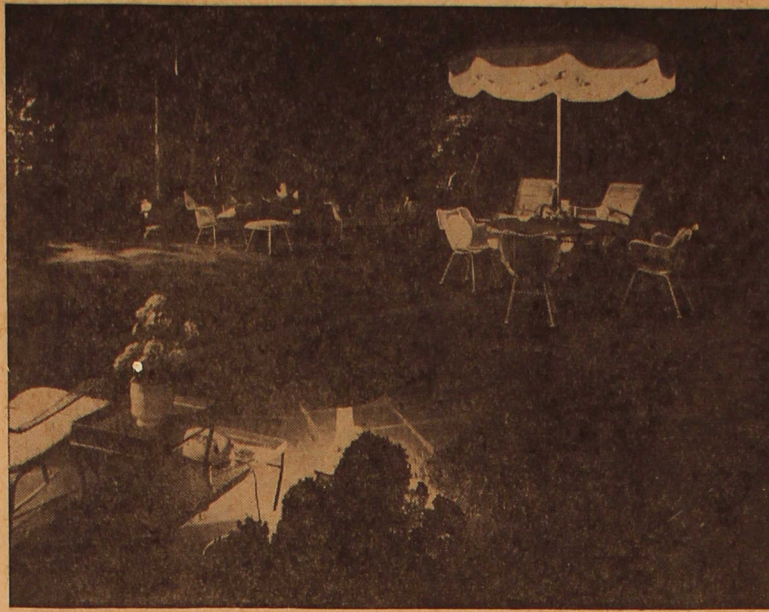

In the autumn repot the bulb in rich, well-drained soil and keep in a cool basement, watering it well, until January. Place in a sunny window, feed with liquid manure once a week, and it should bloom in March.

CITIES OUT-TUG COUNTRY

In 1900 two-thirds of the population of the United States lived in rural areas. Now 65 per cent dwell in cities and suburbs.

The khapra beetle of Indian origin is the world's worst pest on stored foods, attacking 24 foods, including grain, nuts, dried milk, beans and prunes.

Outdoor Lighting Extends Daytime Activities Into Night

A wide variety of outdoor lighting equipment is adding new dimensions to the leisure-time living of millions of families. Available to suit all occasions, uses, tastes, and pocketbooks, outdoor lighting equipment enables the family to enjoy virtually all types of outdoor activities after dark.

Floodlights are the most common type of outdoor lighting and can serve overall illumination in specific locations for sports, outdoor cooking, and other activities requiring maximum visibility. Lights can be permanently mounted on adjustable standards and poles, fence, walls, sides of buildings or in trees. Portable floodlights also are available and come equipped with clamp-on holders. These can be clamped to spikes for ground placement or directly attached to fences and trees.

Outdoor lighting for sports and games provides a wonderful opportunity for a family to play together. For lawn and court games, six floodlights mounted on two telescopic poles (trees or buildings also can be used) give ample light to the playing area. An archery range would require three floodlamps on a pole located behind the archer to illuminate the full range and target. A single floodlamp behind the target will aid in the search for stray arrows.

Night lighting also is geared to aid the gardener or hobbyist. Worklights clamped to movable stakes or pipes give the worker the run of the garden to transplant, snip, and trim. Do-it-yourself carpentry projects can be enjoyed outdoors in the cool of evenings. The man of the house can pursue "week end" hobbies on a nightly basis.

"Mushroom" lighting units—dome-shaped lamps mounted on stems—are popular for lighting walks and steps, flowers, plants, and shrubs. Several different styles are on the market. A variation of the mushroom unit is a portable floor lamp designed for outdoor use. It resembles indoor floor lamps in appearance and performance, but has a weather-resistant finish and a heavy base for sturdy support when winds come up.

Light shields simulating flowers or rocks are also available, and they make for a subtle means of illuminating flower beds, plants, and rock gardens.

Christmas lights are as jolly in July as they are in December, and many people string a row of multi-colored bulbs along terrace beams or eave as a touch of decoration.

Most outdoor lighting equipment comes with up to 12 feet of weather-proof cord—permitting the home owner to experiment with light placement to create special effects. Lighting can be relocated to spotlight flowers or plants or to focus attention on a handsome tree or piece of statuary. It can be made to emphasize the nature of an occasion; creating a festive party atmosphere or a feeling of shadowed beauty and relaxation.

The wide range and versatile performance of outdoor lighting equipment permits every family to set the stage for better living electrically . . . outdoors!

There's something to be done for your child on this special day of every week. Will you stir yourself to do it? Or put it off until next week?

Regular weekly worship, begun early and fostered with conviction and understanding, may be the most important single contribution you can make to your child's growing-up. As children grow, they will need every bit of strength they can find. Strength comes from Faith. Faith grows through worship. WORSHIP TOGETHER THIS WEEK

'Glory Day' May Be Last for Foreign Legion

SIDI-BEL-ABBES—The French Foreign Legion April 30, celebrated the 99th anniversary of its "Glory Day"—possibly for the last time.

The Glory Day marks the bloody stand at Camerone, near Vera Cruz in Mexico on April 30, 1863, when 62 Legionnaires held off 2,000 Mexicans for nine hours before going under with all men dead but five.

Last year the parade which traditionally marks "Camerone Day" at the legion's Sidi-Bel-Abbes depot was banned because the first legion parachute regiment formed the backbone of the April generals' revolt in Algiers.

This year, with the end of French rule in sight in Algeria, it may also be the end of the Sidi-Bel-Abbes legend.

Nothing official has yet been decided about the future of the world's most glamorous fighting force, now down from a peak of 90,000 to less than 20,000 officers and men.

May is Biggest Month for Giving Plants and Flowers by Families

Two big flower and planting days occur in May—Mothers' Day and Memorial Day—reminds the American Association of Nurserymen.

Living trees and shrubs are planted by children for mothers, with pink-flowering trees and shrubs in honor of mothers living, permanently tagged with the mother's name, date and the name of the offspring giving the plant, or simply "planted by the (name) family in honor of our mother."

Such gifts are highly valued by families because they will last for many years, up to a hundred or more years, depending on the species. Parents also plant trees for their children. One company executive who planted a tree when each of his children were born, for example, has moved several times and insists on moving the now large trees wherever he goes because of their sentimental value, especially since two children were war victims. Although "living gifts" for mother and father perhaps are more commonly planted it works both ways and affords a natural education to any child who can watch his tree grow all his lifetime.

Memorial Day is another day for planting more permanent and beautiful shrubs and trees that do not require renewal as do artificial memorials that soon fade in the weather. Evergreens and many other plants, flowering as well as non-flowering are used for this purpose, often to make burial plots more beautiful than ever before, year after year.

55 BILLION IN HOMES

NEW YORK — United States life-insurance companies have put nearly 55 billion dollars into residential mortgages since 1945.

More varieties of trees and shrubs and annual and perennial plants are planted now than at any time in the history of this country and probably the world.

Planets Put In Rare Conjunction

With the brilliant constellations of winter sinking slowly toward the horizon, western skies will present an unusually attractive appearance as May ushers in a collection of celestial spectacles.

Featured billing goes to the comparatively rare conjunction of the planets Mercury and Venus just above the horizon. Mercury, looking like a reddish star, will be the lower of the two, just a little above the Pleiades cluster.

Adding spice to the spectacle will be a thin crescent moon located about the same height above the horizon as Venus. Just below the moon will be the bright first magnitude star Alderbaran. This display will take place this Saturday night.

Mercury, the smallest planet and the one nearest the sun, will appear at its brightest this week. Then it will be the second brightest object in the heavens, second only to the brilliant Sirius, the Dog Star.

As Mercury reaches its greatest distance from the sun, it will remain visible for about two hours after sunset during the middle of the month.

After May 13, its brilliance will begin to wane and the planet will disappear from the heavens not to be seen again in the evening sky for the remainder of this year.

Venus will become brighter throughout the summer and fall. It will reach its greatest brilliance October 8.

Dwarf Fruit Trees Make Good Fence

A row of dwarf fruit trees make a fine fence or hedge for the rear property line. One of the latest arrangements for planting dwarf trees is to set them out on six-foot centers thus making it almost as easy to care for a whole row as to care for a single tree, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

Spraying the trees first with a dormant spray and, as the season advances, with an all-purpose spray of Malathion, Methoxychlor and Phaltan, at regular ten-day intervals will keep them practically insect and disease free and requires only fifteen minutes or so to do the job because all the trees can be sprayed as a unit.

The result is a fine crop of mouth-watering, tree-ripened fruits that it is almost impossible to buy in the markets today except at very high prices because of their quality.

New Vice President Of West Penn Power

J. Vincent Soisson has been elected a vice president of West Penn Power Company by the board of directors at their May meeting.

As vice president-marketing, he will continue to administer West Penn's advertising and promotion, area development, market research, and residential, farm, commercial, and industrial sales activities.

An electrical engineering graduate of University of Notre Dame, Soisson joined West Penn as a trainee at Springdale Power Station in 1926. During the intervening years, he has served as district manager at Scottdale and Conneltsville, division manager at Charleroi and Washington, and—since January 1961—as director of marketing at the general office in Greensburg. Mr. Soisson is active in industry circles.

REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF GREENE COUNTY

When you go to the polls Tuesday, May 15, you will have an opportunity to vote for one of the strongest slates of state and local candidates ever presented by the Republican Party.

We feel they are well qualified for the offices they are seeking and merit your support. A large turnout of Republican voters will demonstrate that support.

A ticket led by James E. Van Zandt, for United States Senator, and William W. Scranton, for governor will provide able leadership for the general election in November.

Mr. Scranton was the choice of the entire party and, contrary to charges being made, was not "selected by a handful of men in a smoke-filled room."

Mr. Scranton was the choice of the entire party, after the qualifications of all candidates were carefully weighed. Every Republican county chairman in Pennsylvania participated in that selection—some by attending the meeting at which the choice was made and others by telegram.

Your Greene County chairman, for example, was unable to attend because of a 15-inch snow-storm, but did send a telegram indicating his support of Mr. Scranton.

Your support for the following candidates is earnestly solicited.

SAFE DRIVING TIPS

KEEP PENNSYLVANIA "THE SAFE DRIVER STATE"

By Checking Your Tires

Good brakes are important, but remember this—your brakes stop the wheels; your tires stop the car! Worn, damaged or bald tires cannot create the friction needed to stop a fast-moving car.

Check your tire treads by slipping a dime into a tread groove. If the tread is not deep enough to cover the date on the dime, that tire is not safe! It's time to replace it.

If every motorist had observed this simple suggestion last year, 924 accidents and 28 fatal accidents might have been prevented!

Social Security Tips

By PAUL A. BENNETT

The time for summer vacation from school is rapidly approaching.

For some, school closing will mean a summer of care-free existence at the beach, swimming, fishing, and boating. To some, it will mean going to the mountains and the more rugged sport of mountain climbing. To most, however, it will mean summer work and the satisfaction of earning money and all of the personal gratification even a limited amount of financial independence brings.

If you are one of the vast number of students who will be working for the first time this summer, there are a couple of important things you should know:

You will need a social security account number. You may get an application for a number from your Post Office or from the local social security office listed in your phone book. After you receive your number, be sure you show it to your employer so that he can record it in his records.

This is of equal importance to the summer-time worker and to the graduate who will be starting his career. All employment is credited under the individual's account number. You should have only one number throughout your lifetime. If you lose your number be sure to apply for a duplicate of your original number.

If you will remember these points, you will be starting your working career with the least possible difficulty.

93 More Apply For Work in April

The Pennsylvania Bureau of Employment Security in Waynesburg reports 93 new applications for work during April. Of this number 32 were women, 15 were veterans, and 10 were handicapped.

There were 508 new and reopened claims, and 2,819 continued and compensable claims. There were 22 new and reopened temporary extended compensation claims and 188 continued T. E. C. and Compensable claims.

The bureau has openings for women to be waitresses, bookkeeper and housework to live in. There are insurance sales openings for men.

Recent Marriage

SCHENA-CATHERS
The marriage of Miss Judith Ann Cathers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Cathers of Nineveh, R. D. 1, and Phillip J. Schena, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schena of Cuba, N. Y., was solemnized Saturday afternoon, April 28, 1962, at 1:30 o'clock, in Beulah Baptist Church, Nineveh. Rev. Fred Cochran performed the ceremony before the altar which was decorated with white gladioli. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an embroidered white nylon gown with a train. Her short veil fell from a tiara of crystal beads, and she carried red roses. Miss Karen Cathers, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was aqua chiffon with a matching headband. Her flowers were aqua carnations. George Schena, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Wallace Cathers and John Lightner, both of Nineveh. Miss Jane Ann Cochran played the wedding music. The bride's mother wore a navy dress with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. Her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Myrtle Cathers, wore a navy dress, and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Clara Ray, a rose colored dress. Both wore corsages of white roses. A reception was held in the church social room. The bride graduated from West Greene High School in the Class of 1958. She attended Duffa Business College in Pittsburgh, and is secretary in the office of the C. S. McKee Corporation, Pittsburgh. The groom attended Cuba Central High School, N. Y., graduated in the class of 1955; has served five years in the Air Force and is a staff sergeant, majoring in electronics, at the Air Force Base in Oakdale. They will reside in Oakdale.

Elected Member Of Jersey Co-op

Charles Adams of Waynesburg, R. D. 5, was elected a member of the Jersey Purchasing Committee of the Western Pennsylvania Artificial Breeding Cooperative at the annual meeting of the Jersey Sire Committee members held at Clarion, Pa.

This committee is responsible for selection and purchase of Jersey sires used by the Cooperative throughout its twenty-five county area. Last year, 8183 Jerseys were bred by the organization.

What Every Bride Should Know

If your daughter is a high school student, the chances are she will graduate with either one semester or one year of home economics training. That's hardly enough to give her a good start on being a homemaker. It certainly will not make her a good enough cook to keep her future husband happy.

And if she is like most teenagers, it's hard to get her away from the radio, television or telephone long enough to let her experiment in her home kitchen with some practical supervision. But if, like 75 per cent of high school girls, she marries within two years after graduation, she could be frustrated and unhappy from her inability to put an appetizing meal on the table. It may take some selling but it will be a big help to her later if she can become interested in cooking at home. One of the first things she has to learn—believe it or not—is the correct use of pots and pans.

She will find it much easier to learn to cook with a matched set of utensils with the same heat conductivity. If they all transmit heat to the food evenly and quickly, cooking times for different foods and methods can be accurate without disappointments. The material in the utensils is important for this reason. Aluminum has the best heat conductivity of all cookware materials and is the easiest for a beginner to use. Because heat travels through it evenly, it does not have hot spots and reasonable care will avoid burning and sticking with less need for stirring. Most experts agree that aluminum cooks better.

The prospective homemaker should know the type of cookware to use for braising, broiling, sauteing, and the several types of baking. There's much more to preparing a good meal but a knowledge of utensils will be a start in the right direction.

Seedlings Provide Wildlife Habitat

Tree, vine and shrub seedlings grown at the Game Commission's Howard Nursery, in Centre County, help provide the food and cover needed by game birds and animals in Pennsylvania. Among the more important plants provided are Scotch pine, Norway spruce, multiflora rose, autumn olive, crabapple, bitter-sweet, black locust, coralberry, silky dogwood, tartarian honey-suckle, and lespedeza natob. The Nursery will continue to produce these and other species, but emphasis will be on Scotch pine and Norway spruce as the most desirable plants for game cover. Multiflora rose and autumn olive will be favored as the most valuable food producing species.

The output of Howard Nursery planting stock this spring numbered 5,213,850 seedlings. During last autumn 658,000 of the plants were released to the Commission's six field divisions, making the autumn-spring total 5,871,850. Of these 4,325,150 were distributed for planting on State Game Lands, other public lands and Farm Game Projects. The remaining 1,546,700 went to soil conservation districts, Future Farmers of America, sportsmen's clubs, Boy Scout groups and other organizations who plant the seedlings to improve game habitat in the State.

Horse Trader, Plus!

"Had a mare on the farm, wasn't much good; traded her for a plater named Flaghorn. Flaghorn won for me and I reckon I just got the 'bug,'" Marion Harold VanBerg was recalling how, in 1937, he entered Thoroughbred racing. VanBerg went right on swapping, claiming horses, selling and, on occasion, buying, with increasing success. Today he keeps 60-odd Thoroughbreds commuting between the race track and his Columbus, Nebraska, farm. The chunky Nebraska learned about horses while a schoolboy, riding quarter-horse races and dreaming of becoming a famous jockey. Outgrowing his dream, VanBerg became a livestock trader. A typical year sees him negotiating deals involving some 100,000 head of cattle, as many hogs and perhaps 15,000 horses. His sons, Bud and Jack (VanBerg also has seven daughters) run his Columbus Sales Pavilion, largest livestock trading center in the area, while he is away with his Thoroughbreds. VanBerg didn't win any of the $100,000 events last year but his horses did win more than 200 races worth a total of some $650,000 in purses. Only two owners topped this; C. V. Whitney and Captain Harry F. Guggenheim. "The basic principle of dealing with Thoroughbreds or draft horses," VanBerg says, "is soundness." He once frowned on "sentiment" and said "I don't have a horse in my barn that isn't for sale." That was before Spring Broker won the Arkansas Derby and carried his gold and purple silks in the 1960 Kentucky Derby.

Five New Records Established at Girls' Track Meet at College Field

A big improvement — both in participation and performance — was evident on Saturday at College Field when the Greene County Track Club held its Women's Tune-Up Meet. Five records for the local club were established in a nine-event program for girls. Records were established in seven meets last summer. Barbara Kennedy, a new comer, led the record assault with three new marks. She set records in the 100 (:12.8), 220 (:32), and broad jump (13' 6").

Also setting new records were Susan Thomas (low hurdles in :14) and Gayle Voelker shot put at 30' 7 1/2").

Miss Kennedy also won the softball throw and was second in the shot put to cop scoring honors with 23 tallies.

Right behind was Miss Thomas, who also scored in five events, with 18 points. She took the hurdles and tied with Miss Voelker in the high jump.

Third in scoring was Miss Voelker, who won the shot put and tied in the high jump, with 11 points.

Rounding out the first-place winners were Sandy LeMaire (440) and Chris Elza (880).

Diana Elza won the 75, broad jump, and softball throw among the 12-13 year olds and Barbara Tennant took the 50, broad jump, and softball throw among the 10-11 year olds. Miss Tennant bettered the softball record.

'Best Soldier In the World'

FORT DEVENS — A young soldier walked the well-beaten path to the old farmhouse. The wind rustled through the green Tennessee hills surrounding the homestead.

Private First Class Thomas York of Pall Mall, Tenn., had come to ask advice from his uncle, former United States Army Sergeant Alvin York, legendary hero of World War I.

Young York was undecided as to re-enlisting in the Army. He had served a full tour of duty in the United States and Europe. He had thought about joining the United States Air Force.

"The American infantryman is the best soldier in the world," the elderly man told him.

Sergeant York still receives and reads Army publications and has Army visitors from all over the world. He says he thinks it is important to keep up with the military activities of the nation.

His nephew, Tom York, re-enlisted and is now stationed here at the United States Army Security Agency School.

Like his uncle, he is an expert rifleman. If he weren't he says, he wouldn't dare to go back home.

Sergeant York, who captured 135 German soldiers singlehanded during the Meuse-Argonne struggle in World War I, lives with his youngest son and daughter-in-law in Pall Mall, Tenn.

As modest as his uncle when he was showered with offers upon his return from the war, young York says of the Army, "it is was good enough for my uncle, it is plenty good enough for me."

Skirting the Ohio Falls
LOUISVILLE—The first effort toward a canal to move boats past the falls of the Ohio River here was made in 1825 when DeWitt Clinton, builder of the Erie Canal, broke ground for the Louisville Canal. The first steamboat through the canal was the Uncas in 1830.

1914 'WEEK' FIRST
ATLANTIC CITY — The first "Be kind to Animals Week" was observed in 1914.

During a severe drought in South Africa in 1895, prosperous citizens of Johannesburg shaved and bathed in soda water.

Rivals Fight Little League Expansion; Pony League Adopts Junior Program

CHICAGO — Athletic feuds, it appeared today, are for the younger set too.

To go along with the scraps between the National Football League and the American Football League, between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union, there's one brewing in youth baseball programs.

The Little League, according to the Pony League, started this dispute by expanding into the 13-14-15 year age group, previously serviced by the Babe Ruth Leagues, with a "senior division little league."

This trod on the toes of the Pony League, which furnishes competition for 13 and 14 year olds, and led to the organization of the Junior Pony League for boys 11 and 12, competing previously in the Little League exclusively.

Where this will end is uncertain. So far there's been no suggestion of a "juvenile world series" between Little League and Junior Pony League champions, or even an "intermediate world series" between Babe Ruth and Senior Little League victors.

Such World Series would be possible since both the Junior Pony League and the Little League use the same cut-down diamond dimensions and both the Senior Little League and the Babe Ruth League use the regulation size field. The Pony League, which uses an intermediate size diamond, couldn't compete in either.

Mort Leve, divisional director of the Pony League, said the Little League expanded into the older age group because it be-

Bob Turley Best As Sign Stealer

NEW YORK — His teammates think Pitcher Bob Turley is absolutely no ifs, and or buts—the best sign stealer in the league.

It's probably the real reason Robin Roberts was released and Turley kept.

LOPSIDED SCORE

BOSTON—Gene Stephens, now with the Kansas City Athletics, set a major league record when he made three hits (two singles and a double) in the seventh inning of a 2-3 rout against the St. Louis Browns, June 18, 1953.

Wins Second Place In Army Rifle Match

Captain Clyde W. Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Roberts of Waynesburg, took second place in the senior division of the 800-yard slow fire rifle match with a score of 195-24v at the eighth annual First U. S. Army Rifle and Pistol Championships, concluded at Fort Dix, Saturday.

More than 300 of the Army's top shooters from the New England states, New York, and New Jersey fired in the 6-day title program, the largest rifle and pistol competition in the Northeastern United States.

Captain Roberts, an intelligence officer of XIII U. S. Army Corps at Fort Devens, Mass., lives at Morse Hill road, Bradford, New Hampshire.

President Kennedy's Friends in Congress

One of President Kennedy's friends in Washington, Senator George A. Smathers, Democrat of Florida—who was an usher at his wedding and used to share an adjoining suite with him in the Senate—is up for reelection this year.

Senator Smathers' friends of his intimacy with the President but more often than not votes against him. He opposed last year 53 per cent of key Kennedy legislation.

The personable senator seems to epitomize his moderately conservative state where Mr. Kennedy is more popular than his program. It also indicates a condition which makes it hard to get the Kennedy program through Congress.

Appellate Court Rules Ham is Ham Not Imitation

WASHINGTON — A ham is still a ham, and not an imitation ham, no matter how much water is pumped into it in curing it. The U. S. Court of Appeals here says so.

If Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman wants to do something to alert consumers to what's being done to ham, the court says he can require a label declaring the amount of water content—but he can't order an "imitation ham" label on a real ham because that would be "gross deception."

Packing companies discovered years ago that an attractive way to prepare ham is to pump in a curing solution consisting mostly of water. Last year Secretary Freeman, acting on protests by consumer groups that they were being charged ham prices for the water in the ham, ruled that after the curing process, either the water had to be dried out or the hams must be labeled "imitation ham."

Last February the Court of Appeals upset the order. Mr. Freeman asked for a rehearing.

By a five to four vote, the court last week refused reconsideration and issued a rare opinion by Judge E. Barrett Prettyman that put the department in the frying pan.

A ham's a ham for all that (water in it), the judge said in a 4,000-word opinion.

"It may be more moist than the unwetted pork meat," he wrote, "but it is still ham if it is cured hog thigh . . ."

"When a housewife, presented with a dry ham, soaks it in water or boils it, thus adding moisture, she knows, and everyone knows, that she has not thereby transmuted the real ham into an imitation ham. This understanding is common knowledge. If you add water to ham, what other product do you imitate? . . ."

"Real drugs bottled with water are not 'imitations' of the drugs. Boric acid sold in solution as an eyewash is not imitation boric acid. Whiskey-and-water is not imitation whiskey."

To the Government's argument that calling a watered ham a real ham is a deception to the public, Judge Prettyman replied that calling a real ham an imitation ham is "a gross deception" and an "unconscionable fraud."

Scranton Was Not 'Handpicked' G. O. P. Declares

HARRISBURG — A statement spelling out the events which led to selection of U. S. Representative William W. Scranton as the regular Republican candidate has been issued by 66 of Pennsylvania's County G. O. P. chairmen.

The 67th, William Campbell, of Mercer County, is campaign manager for J. Collins McSparran, primary opponent of Mr. Scranton.

Mr. McSparran has charged that Mr. Scranton was "hand-picked" at a meeting of a few G. O. P. bosses at the home of ex-State Senator John J. McClure in Chester.

The statement, joined in by State Chairman George I. Bloom and Miles Horst, primary campaign manager, declared that, on the contrary, there was a grass roots demand for Mr. Scranton and he actually was drafted.

"Bill Scranton is such a brilliant example of an unbossed, unfettered candidate that chairmen around the State wanted to pay him this special tribute," Mr. Horst said in releasing the statement.

"The vast majority of them had declared for Bill Scranton long before he decided to run," said Mr. Horst.
