Dr. Paul R. Stewart, now closing his 41st year as president of Waynesburg College, and Mrs. Stewart, were honored by the honorary alumni of the tri-state area, at a dinner Monday May 7, in the Twentieth Century Club, Pittsburgh.

An oil portrait of Dr. Stewart, painted by Western Pennsylvania's noted artist Malcolm Pareell of Washington, Pa., was presented by the honorary alumni in recognition of "Dr. Stewart's long and distinguished service to higher education in the tri-state area."

Stanton C. Crawford, dean and secretary of the Faculty in the University of Pittsburgh, will make a formal presentation of the portrait to the college at the annual alumni banquet, June 2, in Waynesburg.

Serving with Mr. Crawford on the dinner committee were, Viers W. Adams, dean of the School of General Studies in the University of Pittsburgh; Stanton Belfor, executive secretary and director of the Pittsburgh Foundations; and Mrs. Agnes L. Starrett, director of the University of Pittsburgh Press.

N. J. Bill Hits Coal Pipeline

TRENTON — A bill designed to stop a proposed coal pipeline from West Virginia was approved by the New Jersey Assembly Monday, April 21, and sent to the Senate.

The proposed pipeline, which would carry a mixture of coal and water, was opposed by both railroad management and labor on the grounds that it would put between 1,500 and 2,000 rail workers out of work in the state.

President Kennedy is backing a Federal bill which would allow the pipeline to be constructed in spite of any state bans.

Railroad Worker from Philadelphia Takes Family to Russia; Back Now

NEW YORK — David Paul Johnson, a Philadelphia railroad worker, came home Friday with his family to take up anew the American life he forsook last month to move to the Soviet Union. He sadly acknowledged that he had made "an exceptionally tragic mistake."

Johnson, his wife, and twin four-year-old sons, Cole and Lindsey, stepped wearily from a plane at Idlewild Airport. In a brief talk with newsmen, he expressed hope that he would have a chance to "pick up the pieces of our tragic life."

It took Johnson only about one week to become disenchanted with Russia and the way of life there.

Before leaving London Thursday night, he told American Embassy officials that "I misjudged the whole situation." He reported he found Russians ill-fed and clothed and living in poor housing.

Johnson said he had supported Communist causes in Philadelphia for the past eight years but never was a party member.

Asked his opinion of "home-grown Communists," Mr. Johnson said:

"I suggest that they go there (Russia) and look around and see what is there."

Another newsmen inquired if he now would give any support to causes in the United States sympathetic to communism.

"Of course not," Johnson said.

Johnson was asked to give his impression of the Soviet Union as he found it during his short visit.

"It is an evil, bad thing," he said.

Someone wanted to know how he could make up his mind in such a short time.

"Ten minutes is all you need," Johnson replied.

Fifty Million Service Aid To Aged Asked

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy asked Congress today to authorize a five-year, fifty-million dollar program of Federal grants to improve services for the aged.

The grants would be used to help train personnel for work in the field of aging and to provide Federal aid for community projects and demonstration and research projects.

Those Eligible:

The fund would be administered by the secretary of health, education and welfare.

Non-profit institutions and organizations would be eligible for grants for projects dealing with problems faced by older people.

Money also would be available to universities and other organizations to step up their training programs for professional and technical personnel needed to provide services required by older people.

In a letter to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Speaker John W. McCormack, Democrat from Massachusetts, Kennedy said the life expectancy of the population is steadily increasing and estimated that by 1970 about 20 million persons will be over 65.

Kennedy, by executive order, set up the President's Council on Aging to make a continuing study of the overall responsibility of the Federal government with respect to problems of aging and to make recommendations to him on policies and programs.

The council will be composed of the secretary of welfare, who will serve as chairman, and the secretaries of agriculture, commerce, labor and the treasury, the chairman of the civil service commission, the administrator of the housing and home finance agency, and the administrator of veterans' affairs.

Shortly after President Kennedy acted Tuesday afternoon, with the statement that the Red "threat to Thailand is of grave concern to the United States," Soviet Premier Khrushchev sent word that Russia agrees on the necessity for a cease-fire and peaceful political settlement in Laos.

The President termed his action "a defensive act on the part of the United States" consistent with the United Nations Charter provision for collective self defense

School Aid Bill To Help State

WASHINGTON — Pennsylvania would receive 14,000 college scholarships under a school aid proposal now under consideration by a joint Senate-House committee.

The committee is expected to forge a compromise from two bills, supported by the Administration in each chamber of Congress.

The Senate bill would provide $17,500,000 for the scholarship program in the first year, with $131,000,000 earmarked for its enlargement in the following four years.

Pennsylvania's first year share would be 1631 scholarships valued at $1,141,700, with an additional 12,223 anticipated in the ensuing four years.

The Senate bill also contains $300,000,000 for construction of additional academic facilities, and $50,000,000 for grants to junior colleges.

Pennsylvania's share over the five-year period would be $79,400,000 and $17,100,000 respectively for each purpose.

Under the House measure, Pennsylvania would get $55,500,000 of $180,000,000 distributed nationally for construction grants to institutions of higher learning.

Another $37,000,000 would be reserved for the State under a $600,000,000 program to supply aid to academic facilities.

The President termed his action "a defensive act on the part of the United States" consistent with the United Nations Charter provision for collective self defense undertaken so "we may be in a position to fulfill speedily our obligations" under the Southeast Treaty Organization defense pact for that area.

The current crisis in Laos dates back to a coup in the capital of Vientiane by a paratroop captain who seems to have retreated into the obscurity whence he came. On August 9, 1960, Captain Kong Le led his 2d Paratroop Battalion in an uprising that overthrew the pro-Western government of Premier Prince Tiao Somsanith.

Kong Le argued that Laos should be withdrawn from the cold war. He installed a government headed by Prince Souvanna Phouma, a former premier who agreed with the captain that Laos should be neutral.

As in most cases of political upheaval in Laos, the majority of Laotians accepted the change of government. But not General Phoumi Nosavan, who had been Easy victories for Republican and Democratic organization candidates for governor marked Tuesday's primary election.

Despite warm weather and sunny skies in most sections of the state approximately only 40 per cent of the nearly five and a half million eligible Republicans and Democrats turned out for the 13-hour polling period.

Representative William W. Scranton of Lackawanna County, organization choice for gubernatorial nomination, scored a victory over his lone opponent, J. Collins McSparran of Lancaster County, master of the Pennsylvania State Grange.

In the three-way contest for the Democratic nomination for governor, Richardson Dilworth, former mayor of Philadelphia, took a landslide victory over his two rivals, Charles C. Schmitt of Erie County, and Harvey F. Johnston, McKees Rocks realtor.

Organization candidates for other state-wide offices were unopposed and thus won their respective party nominations without a fight.

They were:

U. S. Senator
REPUBLICAN — Representative James E. Van Zandt of Blair county.

DEMOCRAT — U. S. Senator Joseph S. Clark of Philadelphia, seeking re-election to a second six-year term.

Lieutenant Governor
REPUBLICAN — State Senator Raymond P. Shafer of Crawford county, who is rounding out his first term in the Legislature.

DEMOCRAT — State House Majority Leader Stephen McCann of Greene County.

Secretary Of Internal Affairs
REPUBLICAN — Mrs. Audrey R. Kelly, Susquehanna county attorney, who is active in G. O. P. women's circles.

DEMOCRAT — Secretary of Internal Affairs Genevieve Blatt, who has held the office for two four-year terms.

In the 26 Congressional District, Greene, Washington and Fayette Counties, Jerome Hahn, Washington attorney, and Dr. Thomas E. Morgan of Fredericktown, present incumbent Democrat, were unopposed for nomination. Dr. Morgan is chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Charles E. Bradshaw of Washington County, was unopposed for the Republican slot for senator in the General Assembly in the 46th District, Greene and Washington Counties.

A battle royal for the Democratic nomination for state senator was waged by Attorney Howard F. Carson of Charleroi, and William J. Lane of West Brownsville, present incumbent. The race was close and Senator Lane won by only a narrow margin. A change of five per cent would have left Mr. Carson in.

Attorney Albert A. Sayers of Waynesburg, is the Republican nominee for representative in the General Assembly.

On the Democratic side for candidate for General Assembly Russell E. Headlee, "lumberman," of Monongahela Township, won over his two opponents, Attorney R. Wallace Maxwell of Waynesburg, and Russell Headlee "farmer" of Perry Township.

Kenneth Bally, retired banker of Waynesburg, was unopposed for Republican state committeeman. Charles I. Donley, retired Carmichaels postmaster, was nominated over Leo Matthews, present incumbent of Clarksburg, and Wilma Conklin Doty of Waynesburg.

Tips on How to Avoid Accidents With Power Mower

With the drone of power-driven lawn mowers about to start, Dr. F. Edward Coughlin, Regional Medical Director, for Region IV, of the Pennsylvania Department of Health, has offered tips on how to lower the number of injuries these machines inflict on adults and children. Both power and hand-driven mowers are not completely safe in use because they can cut most things they touch besides grass, Dr. Coughlin said.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that 75,000 power mower accidents occur each year. More than half the injuries are to the feet and hands. About one-third involve different parts of the body when stones or pieces of metal are thrown by the mower blades. These missiles can have the impact of a 22-caliber bullet.

Since most injuries are due to carelessness or error on the part of persons using mowers, Dr. Coughlin advises these precautions:

- Remove stones, sticks and other objects from the lawn.
- Check all bolts, nuts and screws to see that they are properly tightened.
- Add fuel before starting the engine, never while the engine is running.
- Keep hands and feet away from mower blades when starting and mowing.
- Learn how to stop the mower's engine quickly.
- Children and pets should be at a safe distance from the mower, preferably inside the house.
- Stop engine before pushing mower across gravel driveways, walks or roads.
- Be sure of footing when mowing slopes or when grass is wet.
- Never plug in an electric mower when it's raining.
- The mower should always be moving away from the operator.
- Sit-down mowers can turn over on sloping ground.
- Disconnect the spark wire before checking or cleaning mower.
- Mowers with crank-type starters should not be in a charged position until ready for use.
- Keep fuel in marked, closed container in a safe place.
- At all times, stop the engine when the mower is left unattended.
- Scan the path in advance of the mower at all times for objects that might be thrown.

Pet Lion's Share Goes to Cats

WASHINGTON — Canines add 35 million puppies a year to the dog population, the Humane Society of the United States reports. But the lion's share of the pet explosion is a catty situation. The Society reports 50 million kittens are born annually.

Good Cooks Are Better With Electric Range

No question about it—you can vastly improve your reputation as a wonderful cook when you cook with a modern electric range! And you can do this easily without "learning how to cook all over again!"

What's more, you can save yourself hours of kitchen time. You can take the afternoon off and not have it spoiled worrying about dinner for the family. It can be prepared beforehand, popped into the oven, and forgotten. The automatic timer takes over and watches dinner whether you're at home or away. When you're ready to serve, dinner will be ready—perfectly cooked and right on time!

Those heartbreaking failures will be a thing of the past, too, when you cook electrically. Those cakes that never quite turned out; pies that just missed coming to the table in all their perfect, mouthwatering glory will be eliminated thanks to the accurately controlled heat of the electric range.

Meats, too, are done to a juicy turn without even a peek into the oven while they're roasting—and never, never a basting. Vegetables contribute more to your family's health and taste infinitely better when cooked virtually "waterless" on your electric range. Yes, a modern electric range is that talented.

Decide right now—that as a slave to an old-fashioned range—you're through. From now on, you're going to be the Queen of the Kitchen, and properly worshipped by your family as such. Your new, modern electric range will be your scepter!

Why you save more than money with U. S. Savings Bonds

A timely message about one of "the best things in life" that isn't free

One of the best things in life—freedom itself—really isn't free at all.

We pay for freedom many ways. With our vigilance as free men. With taxes. With our commitments to millions of other free men everywhere.

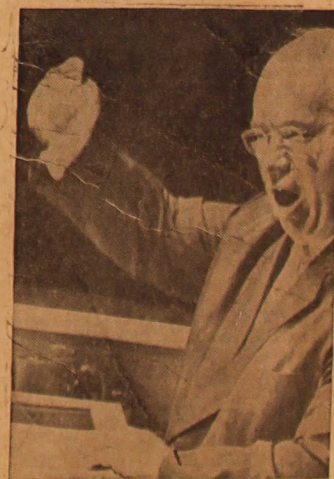

And there's another way, a quiet way, we Americans help pay for freedom. That's to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. For Bonds are more than just a way to save money. Bonds are also a way to help Uncle Sam guard your very right to enjoy the money you save.

Let's say you're saving for a home. With U.S. Savings Bonds you also help save a better world to build it in.

Doesn't that sound like a good reason to buy Bonds now? These days more than ever you'll be saving more than money.

Not all the benefits of Bonds are in dollars. Bonds help Uncle Sam pay the price of liberty itself.

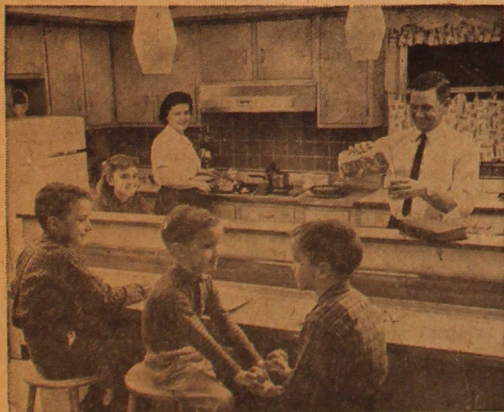

This man would say: "Don't buy Bonds". No wonder. The more Bonds we buy, the stronger we grow as individuals and as a nation.

Build a stronger, richer life...

WORSHIP TOGETHER EVERY WEEK!

You know the hymn—"How firm a Foundation?" Of course you do. But it's more than a hymn. To many it is a way of life.

The foundation is faith. Faith that gives every day a shining new quality. Faith that provides a strong shelter in time of need. Faith that sustains you in sickness and trouble. Faith that makes life a great adventure, truly worth living.

You find faith as a member of a family, as a member of a community. Worshipping together every week, with those you love, with others who believe as you do—gives you strength to carry through with hope and courage.

You can build a stronger, richer life—on a firm foundation of faith. Worship together this week... every week!

Four Museums Treasure Circus Memories

As traveling "big top" circuses fold up their tents one by one, the history, legend, and personalities of circuses are being perpetuated in various museums.

Among the largest museums devoted to the circus are those in Baraboo, Wisconsin, Bridgeport, Conn., and Sarasota, Fla. These cities are steeped in circus lore because large circuses used to quarter in these places for the winter months. Now influential leaders are determined to make the museum larger and more interesting.

There are also circus museums in Somers, N. Y., the "birthplace of the American circus"; in San Francisco, where the Westerbelt collection of P. T. Barnum and Jenny Lind is in Whitney Museum, and in the Public Library at San Antonio, Texas, where the Harry Hertzberg Collection contains more than 20,000 items of bigtop memorabilia.

The Barnum Museum at Tufts University, Medford, Mass., displays the stuffed carcass of Jumbo the elephant. A small circus exhibit is in the Miami County Historic Society at Peru, Ind. Plans for a Circus Concourse are being made at Shelburne Museum, Shelburne, Vt.

The Museum of Art, Science, and Industry being constructed in Bridgeport, Conn., will feature the Barnum gallery with many exhibits of P. T. Barnum, Tom Thumb (native of Bridgeport; his wife, Lavinia Warren, and Jenny Lind, the Swedish "nightingale"). Hundreds of circus exhibits are in the Barnum Museum on Bridgeport's Main Street.

Baraboo, Wis., a town of 7,500 about 40 miles north of Madison, is proud of its Circus World Museum which was dedicated in July, 1959. Circus buffs recall that the first Ringling Brothers show was staged in 1884 in the backyard of the Baraboo Jail. The Ringling circus maintained winter quarters in Baraboo until 1919 when Barnum and Bailey combined with the Ringling organization and it was decided to transfer the winter "home" to Bridgeport. Then, in 1927, the "biggest show on earth" began to hibernate in Sarasota, Fla., for the winter months.

At Baraboo's museum, daily circus shows and sideshows are held from Memorial Day to Labor Day. The sights, the sounds, and the smells are reminiscent of old circus lots. Pink lemonade, popcorn, and cotton candy are sold. The exhibits include posters, souvenirs and other items from American and European shows.

Sarasota, long known as the "circus city," has two museums bequeathed by John Ringling to the state in 1936. They are on the 45-acre Ringling Estate.

In December, 1960, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus pulled up stakes in Sarasota and moved 18 miles to the south at a new location in Venice. Since then, there has been an unusual building spurt and record business for the town's merchants. Daily shows were put on by the circus troupes during the winter. Now plans are being made for the construction of the Ringling Amusement Center of about 20 buildings in the circus grounds.

Recently the American Circus Memorial Association expanded its museum in the Elephant Hotel at Somers, N. Y. Although the building has been the Town Hall since 1931, it is still called Elephant Hotel in honor of "Old Bet," first elephant brought to Somers in 1808. Hackaliah Bailey, a farmer, imported the animal to work the Bailey farm. With the small fortune he made from the elephant's appearances, Bailey built the hotel. P. T. Barnum began his traveling menagerie near Somers and later merged the show with the Bailey family enterprise.

Tips On Your Social Security

By PAUL A. BENNETT

Are you 65 or over and still working?

If your answer to the above question is "yes" and you have not yet filed your claim for social security benefits, the chances are you are losing money. This statement might come as a surprise to many people. However, recent changes in the Social Security Law make it possible for many more older people to work and still be paid some social security benefits.

Under the present law, a social security beneficiary can earn as much as $1,200 in a year and collect all his social security benefits each month.

A beneficiary who earns between $1,200 and $1,700 yearly gives up $1 of social security benefits for each $2 that he earns. For every $1 that his earnings go over $1,700, he gives up a matching $1 in benefits.

The law includes an important exception to this provision. Under this exception, no matter how much a beneficiary earns in a year, he can still be paid a full benefit for any month in which he does not earn wages of more than $100 and does not actively work in self-employment.

Unchanged is the provision for paying a beneficiary his full benefit for any months which he is 72 or older—regardless of how much he earns. To show how this change in the law operates the following example is an actual claim filed last week in the Washington, Pennsylvania District Office.

Mr. and Mrs. X became eligible for benefits of $150 a month or $1,800 yearly. Even though Mr. X is 66 years old, he is continuing to work at an annual salary of $2,700. By applying the above rules, we can determine how much social security Mr. and Mrs. X will collect.

September 1—For the first $1,200 of his earnings, there is no reduction in social security benefits.

September 2—For his earnings between $1,200 and $1,700 ($500) he will lose one-half of this amount or $250 will be deducted from social security benefits.

September 3—For the amount between $1,700 and $2,700 ($1,000) he will lose $1,000 in benefits.

September 4—The total benefit loss is $250 plus $1,000 or $1,250.

If Mr. and Mrs. X were completely retired, they would receive $1,800 annually. Based on Mr. X's work, he is not eligible for the full amount, however, he will receive the difference between $1,800 and $1,250 or $550.

In many other cases, it's possible that wage earners could be earning three even four thousand dollars a year and still be eligible for some social security benefits. In order to be absolutely certain that you are not losing any of your rights, please call at the Washington District Office to discuss this new provision in the law providing, of course, you are 65 years of age or older.

State Will Get Population Data

HARRISBURG—State planners are going to get figures on what the population of Pennsylvania, by counties, will be between now and 1980.

The State Planning Board has contracted with Temple University to prepare the forecasts. They are expected to be ready next fall.

Francis A. Pitkin, executive director of the board, said the forecasts will be for five-year age groups, by sex, by race (where significant) and by labor force. The data will be kept up to date each year by the use of computers.

The job will cost $24,500 of which the State will pay $8,500, the Federal government $8,500 and Temple, $7,500.

Techniques in the agricultural and biological sciences were explained at an open house held recently at the College of Agriculture, the Pennsylvania State University. Here Robert P. Pfeiffer of the Experiment Station staff demonstrates cross breeding of plants. As shown on the chart, male sterile lines speed the development of crop varieties having desirable characteristics, such as high yielding ability or disease resistance. About 2,000 people attended this event, most of whom were high school students, their parents, and teachers. Lectures, demonstrations, and exhibits were presented on biological, animal, and plant sciences; agricultural business, education, and extension; agricultural engineering; and counseling. Southerners Balk Church Reunion Talks

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.—New talks regarding possible union of Northern and Southern Presbyterian Church bodies were ruled out Tuesday by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. (Southern).

By a vote of 192-154, commissioners (delegates) to the annual General Assembly defeated a proposal to explore possibilities of union with the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. (Northern).

The fact that the Northern church is currently engaged in exploratory union talks with other denominations figured in the debate. Several speakers said they favor eventual union but felt the timing inopportune.

The U. S. and U. S. A. church bodies separated at the time of the Civil War a century ago. Previous efforts to unite them have failed.

Waynesburg and Cumberland Township Tie for Top Spot in County Track Meet

Four records — one of them dating back to 1934 — were broken as Waynesburg and Cumberland Township High School track squads tied for top honors at the annual Greene County track meet held last Wednesday at Cumberland Township High School stadium. Another record was tied.

The Raiders and Mikes each collected a total of 72 points to outdistance the remainder of the field. Jefferson-Morgan was second with 30½ points; West Greene fourth with 28½ points, and Mt. Morris fifth with five points.

New records set were:
440-yard Dash—Loren Dukate, Waynesburg, 0:52. The old record of 0:53 was set in 1934 by Al Povich of Jefferson.

880-Yard Run — Jim Seals of Jefferson-Morgan, 2:04.9. The former record of 2:08.9 was set in 1955 by Bill Burris of Mt. Morris.

180-Yard Low Hurdles — Bud Tedrow, West Greene, 0:21.95. It broke a record of 0:22.2 set in 1959 by William Swaney of Jefferson-Morgan.

Discus—Brack Diamond, Cumberland Township, 143 feet, 6½ inches. The toss broke a record set in 1959 by Marvin Watson of West Greene.

Cumberland Township's relay team tied the mark of 1:38 in the 880-yard relay which was set in 1957 by Waynesburg. Running for the Mikes were Joe Vuknic, John McCombs, Bill Mosier and Harry Nichols.

Officials credited a combination of factors with contributing to the record-breaking efforts. Closeness of competition, which forced individuals and teams to give everything they had, plus a track which was in excellent shape and the ideal weather conditions which prevailed the day of the meet.

Cumberland Township High School's Brack Diamond turned in the outstanding performance of the meet when he won all three events in which he was entered.

In addition to setting the new county record in the discus, Diamond came within one foot of a record in winning the shot put, and also took first place in the javelin.

Waynesburg Loren Dukate, in addition to setting the record in the 440-yard dash, placed first in the broad jump, and was second in the 220-yard dash which was won by Ron Ross of Waynesburg.

Waynesburg took six firsts, Cumberland Township four, West Greene three, and Jefferson-Morgan one.

Cumberland coach Tom Cimlin lodged a protest on the 220-yard dash, claiming that a photograph taken at the meet showed that one of Waynesburg's runners had crossed into an opponent's lane. The judges and coaches ruled out his protest.

Summary:
100-Yard Dash — Ross, (W); Modrick, (C); Nichols, (C); McClelland, (JM); Nyswaner, (JM). Time—0:10.8.

220-Yard Dash — Ross, (W); Dukate, (W); McClelland, (JM); Nichols, (C); Vuknic, (C). Time—0:24.1.

State Notified of Wildlife Funds

Pennsylvania's preliminary apportionment of Federal Aid in Wildlife funds for the year starting July 1 is $384,068.75, the Game Commission has been advised.

This amount is $2,861.37 more than this State's preliminary share last year. The 1961-62 preliminary apportionment of $381,207.38 and the final, supplemental apportionment of $159,989.15 brought Pennsylvania's total for the year ending June 30, 1962 to $541,196.53.

Federal Aid funds for the various states' wildlife projects are derived from an excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition. ### Birds and Animals Thrive Better On Non-Interference by Humans

Every spring an amazing number of children and adults pick up young game birds and animals and game bird eggs despite the off-repeated admonition: Leave young wild birds and animals where you find them and don't disturb nests.

Some early fawns have appeared and the peak of fawning occurs early in June. Most of the yearly hatch of game birds in this State will occur in the coming weeks. Cottontails begin production early and have several litters during spring and summer. Therefore we now are in the early part of the greatest two-month game production period of the year.

Certainly, fuzzy little bunnies, game bird "peeps" and spotted fawns are cute, but human interference with Nature's production and survival plan is both inhumane and illegal. No human can provide the care, nourishment and training the natural mother can, and the law wisely prohibits the taking and possessing of the young of game birds and animals and other protected species.

Parents are requested: Teach your children to enjoy the outdoors by observing nests of young birds and animals they may come upon but to refrain from disturbing the young and nests of birds and animals.

In many instances, would-be human benefactors believe that nests of young have been "abandoned" if the hen or mother is not on the nest or with the young. Actually nests are left "un-guarded" only temporarily while the adult is feeding. In the case of fawns, the mother does not spend all the time with her young but is always nearby. Therefore, humans seldom "save" the birds or animals they pick up. They doom them by denying these young a normal natural life in the wild.

Electric Brushes Seized by U. S.

WASHINGTON—The Government announced Sunday it had seized 224 Vibra Dent electric toothbrushes on the ground their labeling does not warn of potential shock hazard.

The Food and Drug Administration said the motor and cord units of the nationally advertised devices are not sealed and are capable of transmitting severe fatal shock to the user after immersion in water.

The agency said in a statement that some 50,000 Vibra Dent electric toothbrush and gum massagers, distributed since last February by the Chase Manufacturing Company of New York City, are in commercial channels.

It said steps are being taken to remove them from the market.
