Kennedy Opens Fire on Medicare Opponents

Country-wide debate over the President's plan to finance medical care for the aged under the social-security system was stirred by President's Kennedy's Madison Square Garden speech in New York, Sunday.

The President appealed to the American people, and especially the doctors and hospital administrators, to support the plan — denying that the proposal was radical and asserting that its critics were completely misinformed about its provisions.

Administration spokesmen and others rallied to the defense of the King-Anderson bill across the country.

There were other rallies in favor of the program in Milwaukee, Chicago, Cleveland, Cincinnati, and Washington D. C., among other cities.

But even as the President and his aides and supporters were stumping the country in favor of the controversial Medicare program under social security, the critics also were having their say — and preparing to say more.

In the nation's capital, Republican Senators Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, and Homer E. Capehart of Indiana, and Representative Thomas B. Curtis Republican of Missouri, all put out statements attacking the bill.

The American Medical Association immediately challenged the President's appeal for his medical care program saying that the giant rallies staged by the administration could not conceal that "the King-Anderson bill would force an immediate 17 per cent payroll tax increase on workers earning $5,200 or more and their employers."

The A. M. A. spokesman said the President was backing the Kerr-Mills proposal because "we believe in voluntary enterprise — including health insurance and repayment plans — for self-reliant Americans."

The trouble with the King-Anderson proposal, he continued, "is that it gives the federal government dangerous power to control medical practice in hospitals. The quality of medical care would suffer. Even the use of some effective drugs would be denied. This unsound proposal would not be insurance, it would be another tax burden on the workers."

This Rain Waits For No Man

MIAMI, FLA. — A barber in suburban Perrine was working on a customer when it began to rain.

The barber put down his clippers, picked up a large potted plant and carried it outside where it would get a watering, then returned to his clipping.

MISS LOUISA C. SMITH

Miss Louisa Smith Honored by Teachers Society

Miss Louisa C. Smith of Waynesburg, who will retire in June, after teaching forty-four and a half years, was honored by the Waynesburg Teachers Association at a dinner Thursday night in Rohanna's Restaurant.

Others honored at the dinner were Fred T. Gillogly, Greene County superintendent of schools, and Stanley S. Manifold, supervisor of special education. Both will retire at the end of June after several years of teaching and administrative work.

More than 160 persons were present. All paid high tribute to Miss Smith's ability. She is head of the English department in Waynesburg High School.

Miss Smith began teaching in the midsemester 1918, at Richhill Township High School. She came to Waynesburg High School in 1921. She is noted for making her subject interesting, and her sense of humor, but still maintaining discipline.

Miss Smith was presented with a letter of appreciation from Waynesburg School Board. The certificate was presented by Kenneth Milliken, president of the board.

Walter Montgomery, superintendent of Waynesburg Public Schools, presented a gift in token of the esteem and appreciation of the Waynesburg Teachers Association. H. Porter Rinehart, Waynesburg elementary art instructor, presented a water color portrait.

Kennedy Affirms Philippine Tie

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy has reaffirmed U. S. friendship for the Philippines and said the country looks forward to an early visit by Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal.

The President also expressed hope in a statement that failure of Congress to pass the seventy-three million dollar Philippine war damage bill "will not be allowed to alter the harmonious relations between our countries and our profound and lasting friendship."

Macapagal has called off the trip he had planned to the United States for next month. He said the climate was not right for a visit at this time in view of House rejection last week of the measure to compensate Filipinos for damage suffered in World War II.

Justice Curtis Bok Dies at 64; Race For Seat Due

State Supreme Court Justice Curtis T. Bok died on Tuesday at the age of 64 at his home in Radnor, near Philadelphia.

Justice Bok had been in ill health for several months and had missed several sessions of the court. A former Common Pleas judge in Philadelphia, he was elected to the State's high tribunal in 1958.

Member of one of Philadelphia's most prominent families, Justice Bok was a grandson of Cyrus H. K. Curtis, founder of the Curtis publishing empire. The justice's father, Edward Bok, was editor of the Ladies' Home Journal.

It now will be the duty of the state committees of the two political parties to certify candidates for election to the vacancy. Governor Lawrence, meanwhile, may fill the vacancy on an interim basis.

Two Democratic names became the subject of speculation shortly after the announcement of Justice Bok's death. They are Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis, a former Philadelphia Common Pleas judge who is a close friend of Congressman William Green and who lost in a bid for endorsement for the gubernatorial nomination, and Judge Warren K. Hess of Reading, a perennial hopeful.

On the Republican side, Judge Woodside's name was the first possibility suggested.

May 27 Rural Life Sunday; U. S. D. A. Theme

HARRISBURG — Rural Life Sunday, May 27, occurs just 12 days after the Centennial year of the U. S. Department of Agriculture begins.

Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning believes the Centennial might well provide the theme for a Rural Life Sunday of special significance to both rural and urban congregations.

"The story of American agriculture in a real sense is a great success story," the Secretary said. "The tremendous progress of American agriculture in the past century has made it the most productive in the world. No nation has ever been as fortunate as ours in the quantity, variety, and wholesomeness of the food that is available.

"But, the very abundance our farmers and ranchers have produced has also led to a striking paradox. The paradox is that even as he does a better job of producing food and fiber, the farmer generally has not shared equitably from his increased efficiency.

"Today, farmers have not achieved parity of buying power with other groups in the economy. Yet the cost of food to the consumer takes a smaller percentage of his take-home pay than it did 15 years ago, and less than half as much as in the Soviet Union, which is still plagued by serious food shortages."

Henning hopes that Rural Life Sunday will be the time to consider these and related facts, to pay tribute to agriculture's many achievements in the last 100 years, and to explore the challenges that face farming in the 1960s.

He succeeds Clive W. Palmer, who retired recently.

Primary Result Lauded by G. O. P.; Sign of Trend

HARRISBURG—Three Republican spokesmen have professed to read November victory portents in the primary election results.

G. O. P. State Chairman George I. Bloom noted that U. S. Representative William W. Scranton, Republican choice for governor, received nearly 90,000 more votes in the statewide runoff, than did his Democratic foe, Richardson Dilworth.

"More significantly," said Mr. Bloom. "Scranton received 78 per cent of the Republican votes in sharp contrast to Dilworth's 72 per cent of the Democratic vote."

Representative Scranton's campaign manager, Walter Alessandroni, observed that in Philadelphia Mr. Dilworth received 145,000 primary votes, less than half the 300,000 requested by U. S. Representative William J. Green Jr., Philadelphia Democratic boss. United States Senator Joseph S. Clark, running for a second nomination, polled more than 25,000 votes more in Philadelphia than Dilworth.

In Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, said Mr. Alessandroni, Mr. Dilworth "had the political life kicked out of him" when his opponents polled a "fantastic" 38 per cent of the vote.

Republican primary chairman Miles Horst said Mr. Scranton's 7 to 2 margin, as contrasted to Mr. Dilworth's 5 to 2 majority, reflected "a whopping endorsement by rank-and-file Republicans."

RARATUKI DOESN'T USE NATURAL GAS IN HIS JOB... BUT WHAT ABOUT YOU?

Raratuki Tongo is the best coconut cracker on the island of Boronga. To earn his livelihood, he depends primarily on a strong right arm. He doesn't use natural gas on his job.

Things are different in this part of the world. Whether your company makes steel, glass, aluminum, or ice cream cones—natural gas plays an important role in its manufacture. Many industries in this area depend on low-cost natural gas to operate more efficiently and profitably. It is a vital factor in keeping present industries... and in attracting new ones. This economical source of energy helps make your job more secure. Natural gas is now being used in more than 25,000 different ways in homes and industry. Coconut cracking is not on the list.

But if natural gas is ever available on the island of Boronga—a way will be found to put it to work to help Raratuki do his job more efficiently.

KEEP PENNSYLVANIA "THE SAFE DRIVER STATE"

By Keeping Your Distance

"Tailgating"—following another vehicle too closely—is a dangerous practice. If the car in front should stop, or even slow down suddenly, a rear-end collision could result.

At speeds of 50 miles per hour, or faster, if you can read the license number of the car ahead, you are following too closely! Drop back, and keep your distance.

If every motorist had observed this safety rule last year, 25,492 accidents and 19 fatal accidents might have been prevented!

WORSHIP TOGETHER THIS WEEK

Somewhere in your town a man you may have never seen waits hopefully for you.

He is a minister. A priest. A rabbi. A man used to speaking out... making decisions... taking action for himself, for his congregation and his community.

But where you're concerned, he can only wait and hope you will come. He holds something in trust for you—the powerful, crucial first introduction to Faith. And he is anxious to pass it on.

The strength and confidence of Faith can mean many things to many men... and to the families who count on them.

So together with your family start to find that Faith this week.

Points of three, let them be; points of five, let them thrive. That's the difference between poisonous and non-poisonous ivy. Many people are susceptible to poison ivy and when they come in contact with it, they have skin eruptions, intense itching and swelling.

Sensitivity tends to wear off unless renewed by repeated exposure, meanwhile a person apparently not sensitive may become so at any time. Eruptions may occur on the skin as a result of indirect contact with the poison, through animals or insects which have come in contact with the plants, or through clothing or dust, carrying the poison.

Usually the injury is sustained by bruising the plant upon the skin. The explosive skin eruption of poison ivy is a type almost peculiar to itself and easily diagnosed. The incubation period of poison ivy dermatitis is usually a matter of only a few hours.

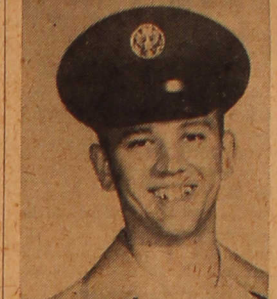

Usually those people who suffer from acute attacks of poison ivy dermatitis are sensitive to that plant alone. While poison ivy eruptions may occur throughout the year, typical cases begin in early summer and gradually grow more severe as the weeds flourish.

Prevention obviously can best be exercised when the offending weed is recognized and avoided. Persons who have frequent recurrences of poison ivy dermatitis should receive preventive desensitization.

This may be obtained either through injections of an extract of the plant or by oral administration. While these measures do not offer complete protection, they help minimize the danger.

An ill weed grows apace, wrote the poet, and what else but poison ivy.

TV Standards, Morals Rapped As Probe Ends

WASHINGTON—Senator Thomas J. Dodd wound up his year-long investigation of television sex and crime Monday by declaring the major networks had slipped badly from their self-imposed moral standards.

The Connecticut Democrat, chairman of the Senate juvenile subcommittee, said certain officials of NBC, CBS and ABC were too concerned with the "race for ratings" and tended to emphasize crime, violence and sex.

"Taken as a whole, this type of television programming does not commend itself to the highest possible standards of broadcasting," Dodd said. "Where children and juveniles are concerned, it is an almost complete void."

Earlier, the presidents of the three major television networks denied that their companies require the injection of objectionably sexy violent scenes into program scripts.

"This fascinates me," was the tart retort of Dodd. He called it a fascinating thing to have witness after witness from the television industry deny such policies in the face of evidence that a "concentrated effort" had been made to emphasize sex and violence.

Presidents Robert K. Kintner, of the National Broadcasting Company; Frank Stanton, of the Columbia Broadcasting System, and Leonard H. Goldenson, of American Broadcasting Company, testified.

$1,000 Award for Physics Laboratory

A $1,000 award to Waynesburg College by the Spectroscopy Society of Pittsburgh has resulted in the purchase of new equipment for the physics laboratories.

Now in service in the physics laboratories are a neutron beam irradiation facility, a laboratory electromagnet, a beta ray spectrometer, variable high potential D. C. power supply, and microwave optics equipment, all to be used in connection with the laboratory exercises in the physics department.

Robert Makufka, instructor in physics since September, prepared the proposal which resulted in Waynesburg College being chosen as one of the recipients for the second time in the five year period since the society initiated the awards program.

Dr. Charles L. Bryner, chairman of the science department at Waynesburg College, a guest at a banquet recently in Pittsburgh, accepted the award for the college.

Waynesburg was one of five recipients of cash awards to be applied toward the purchase of scientific equipment.

Each year since 1957, the Spectroscopy Society has invited colleges and universities of the district, including southwestern Pennsylvania and the adjoining region of West Virginia, to enter proposals explaining how they would use awards to better equip their science laboratories if they were to receive them.

An awards committee of the society then chooses the best proposals and makes cash awards accordingly.

Development Planned for Ruff Creek Area

Waynesburg Chamber of Commerce, H. Leslie Shriver, president, announced a few days ago, that five farms in the Ruff Creek section of Washington Township, will be developed into a home and recreation area.

The 550-acre area includes farms owned by Mrs. Eleanor Sexton, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Burleigh Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shirk and Mr. and Mrs. William Minor.

The development is located five miles north of Waynesburg at the northwest corner of the intersection of Routes 19 and 221 at Ruff Creek. It is near the Ruff Creek interchange of the proposed North-South Interstate Highway.

The Chamber of Commerce has agreed to engage Warren and Arthur Smadbeck, Inc., of New York City, to sub-divide, promote and finance the development site, which was assembled by the Glenn A. Arnold Real Estate Agency, Waynesburg, and by Ira J. Glockner, agent for Smadbeck, Inc.

Preliminary surveying is to begin almost immediately.

Overall plans call for the development of some 1,000 home sites which will be sold to the public; the construction of several ponds and lakes, and the preservation and development of natural resources, such as woods.

The principal work, such as the building of roads and streets, scheduled to begin early next spring, will provide employment for several men for from 18 months to two years. All expenses are to be borne by the developer under terms of a five-year contract between the Chamber of Commerce and the developer.

The Chamber has agreed to promote the development in metropolitan areas.

The New York firm was founded in 1889 and has opened such developments in various parts of the country.

WASHINGTON—American families have more television sets than telephones, the Census Bureau reported Friday.

Radios still head the list, being found in 48.5 million of the country's 53 million households, the bureau said, but the spectacular spread of TV was the notable fact turned up on the 1960 census of housing.

Ten years earlier only five million households had TV sets and 40.5 million had radios. By 1960 the number of families with TV increased by 41 million to a total of 46 million, and the number with radio sets rose by eight million. The bureau said 42 million households had telephones.

Tommy Walters Shows Improvement; Former Matman Plans to Enter College

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. — Four years ago medical experts thought young Tommy Walters was going to die.

Yet today, that same Tommy Walters is planning to go to college.

He still can't walk, doctors don't know if he ever will. But it really doesn't matter to Tommy any more. Life has taken on a brand new meaning.

The Tommy Walters story got its start the afternoon of March 7, 1958. Tommy was just 16 at the time—a sophomore at Mapletown High School, with his whole life still before him.

He was competing in the annual W. P. I. A. L. wrestling tournament being held at Waynesburg College. Trying to escape from beneath his opponent he suddenly slumped to the mat, his face writhed in pain. He was hurt—and hurt badly.

Local doctors were summoned but they could do nothing. Tommy was totally paralyzed. The crippled youngster was rushed to a Pittsburgh hospital for further examinations.

There, it was discovered he had a badly damaged spine. Doctors gave him little chance of pulling through. At best, they said, he would have to remain a

A BLAZE IN THE BRUSH CAN CAUSE A FLOOD!

A million-dollar flood can be the offspring of a carelessly caused brush fire—one that gets its start when a careless motorist flips a match.

Perhaps not a board foot of lumber is lost. But something else infinitely valuable is destroyed—watershed—brush, leaves, natural mulch that acts like a giant sponge to hold rain water and return it to underground storage.

Slopes burned bare cannot hold rain water. The runoff becomes a flood, spreading destruction and polluting reservoirs. Rich soil is washed away, leaving barren wasteland. Streams dry up.

So don't measure a fire's cost just in terms of timber burned. Watershed, too, is invaluable. And don't forget: nine out of ten forest fires are man-caused. Wherever you go in the country, follow Smokey Bear's rules: break matches—crush smokes—be SURE all fires are out!

Remember—only YOU can prevent forest fires!

Waynesburg College to Offer Residents Reading Course at Summer Session

Boating Area May Be Set Up At Rices Landing

A non-credit Development Reading Course will be offered during the first six weeks summer session, June 5 to July 13, at Waynesburg College, according to Donald E. Shamble, Director of Admissions and Special Educational Services.

The course will be offered by demand on the campus in Waynesburg and at the Center in Uniontown. The course will meet for two two-hour sessions weekly for six weeks during the evening. Cost of the course is $40 with materials and equipment being provided by the college. No formal grades will be assigned.

Two sections will be offered. The first section will be for those youngsters who have completed the seventh through eleventh grades.

The second section is for those persons who have either completed high school, are in college, or adults who have or have not completed high school work.

Two phases of reading will be stressed.

The student will be instructed in how to develop greater skill in reading comprehension and speed. This will be done through the guided use of selected reading materials, workbooks, graphs, charts and mechanical reading devices. These materials will be adapted to the individual needs and abilities of each student.

Classes will be small so that the instructor can become familiar with the abilities of each person and aid him in his progress.

The course is not a remedial reading course and the instructor will not attempt to deal with severe reading problems.

The second area that will be stressed in this course will be the development of interest and the ability to select and appreciate good reading materials. This will be done through class discussions of assigned articles, stories, and books.

Part of the goal of the course will be for the student to reflect good taste in his choice of reading materials. Assigned reading will also be examined for purpose and structure.

Officers were re-elected for the year. They were, Harry Gardner, president; Adam Bronkoski, vice chairman; and Jack Williams, secretary-treasurer.

Loren Mathias, executive secretary was instructed to prepare an application for a grant from the area redevelopment authority for a research and development project designed to determine the commercial value of stone and clay deposits in the county.

The project, if approved, would be carried out under the direction of the geology department of Waynesburg College.

Both deny the theft, although Mrs. Sherman Roberts, the clerk who waited on the woman, made a positive identification of her.

Neither Mrs. Roberts, nor the manager, George Moore, saw the diamonds being stolen, nor did they see the man who remained in the parked car. Both suspects are Negroes.

According to Mrs. Roberts, the woman entered the store about 2:15 p. m. and purchased a clock and cuff links, asking that they be gift wrapped.

Mrs. Roberts testified that while she was out of the showroom the woman was near the diamond case. Both she and Mr. Moore said no one else was near the case during the day.

Pair Held for Court in Thief Of Diamonds

Ida Mae Hearst, 28, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Charles G. Lane, 26, of Pittsburgh, were held for court Monday by Justice of the Peace John L. Daily, charged with theft of $836 worth of diamond rings from the Huds on Jewelry Store on Monday, May 14. Bond was set at $500 each.

The pair were arrested Thursday at Somerset on a shoplifting charge. Authorities in Bedford County also filed a detainer for them.

Bloom Assured Scranton's OK

A source close to Representative William W. Scranton said Thursday he expects the Republican nominee for governor to back George I. Bloom for a new term as chairman of the Republican State Committee.

The source, one of Mr. Scranton's close political associates, said there "is no reason to believe that Congressman Scranton would lend any assistance to those who might want to remove Bloom."

The Republican State Committee will meet in Philadelphia June 16, for reorganization purposes and to elect a chairman and other officers.

Mr. Bloom, a Washington county lawyer and top aide to former U. S. Senator Edward Martin, has been chairman of the Pennsylvania Republican organization since 1956.

Although Mr. Bloom has not indicated whether he will seek a fourth term as head of the State Committee, his aides said several county chairmen had urged him to run for another two-year period.

Two years ago Mr. Bloom was able to block a move initiated to oust him as organization leader.

Mr. Scranton and his running mates for other Statewide offices will have an influential voice in naming the state chairman.

Although the State Chairman will coordinate the fall ballot drive, Scranton will rely heavily on his personal campaign manager, former U. S. Attorney Walter E. Alessandrini of Philadelphia.

Mr. Alessandrini served in that capacity during the primary election drive and will continue in that role throughout the campaign.

Quack Cures Come Under Fire

HARRISBURG — The State capital will be a battleground in the war on health quackery this Thursday.

Under fire during a series of discussions by physicians, lawyers, educators and other professional personnel will be all types of quackery.

Dr. Charles L. Wilbar, State health secretary, called quackery a "big business and a big public health problem."

He said Americans spend more than a billion dollars a year on bogus cures.

"Shrewd, sophisticated hucksters" bilk even the smartest citizens with methods that let them operate just this side of the law, Dr. Wilbar added.

Sponsoring the First Pennsylvania Congress to Combat Quackery are the State Medical Society, the State Bar Association, the State Chamber of Commerce, the State Dietetic Association, the Pennsylvania League for Nursing, the American Cancer Society, the University of Pittsburgh, the National Foundation and the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Recount of Votes For Committeeman

Mel Hart of East Green street, who has served as Democratic committeeman in Ward 3 for the past nine years, and who was nosed out by eight votes in the recent primary, will have a recount Saturday morning at nine o'clock before the court.

With four candidates running for the two Democratic committeemen in the precinct, unofficial results showed James L. Conkle with 154 votes, Mark R. Morris with 150, Mel Hart with 142, and Robert L. Ball with 103.

The petition asking that the ballot box be opened and the committee race re-tabulated was filed by Robert T. Robinson, George D. Black and Eleanor W. Bernhart, three Democratic voters in the precinct.

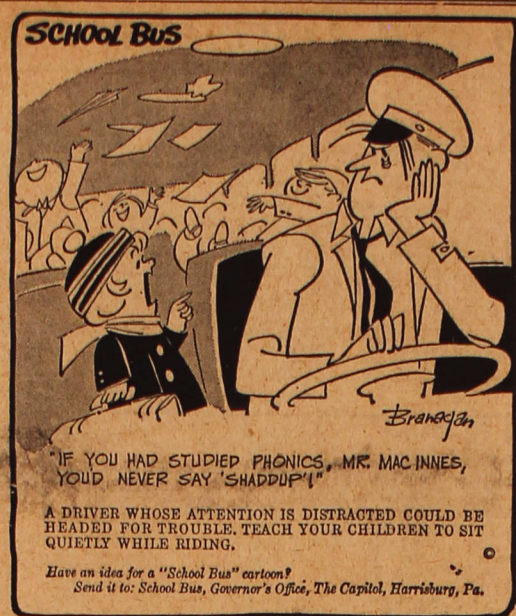

They state in the petition that they believe "fraud or error" was committed.

Mr. Hart put up the required bond of $50 for recount and Judge J. I. Hook ordered the ballot box to be brought into court.

Dr. Dusenberry, Waynesburg College Professor, Receives National Award

Mississippi west. It was from the Spanish and later the Mexicans that American ranchers inherited most of the customs and traditions as well as their livestock—longhorn cattle, the mustang, and Merino sheep. From Mexico, the American cowboy got his manner of dress, his equipment, much of his vocabulary and his method of handling cattle.

Today on television and in the movies, only the romantic side of cowboy life is seen. But there was a realistic side behind it all which most people do not understand. Dr. Dusenberry throws new light on the heritage handed down by the Spanish to ranchers in America, and helps the reader see the realistic side of the pastoral industry in old Mexico.

Dr. Dusenberry is well deserving of this outstanding honor. During fourteen years as a member of the History Department at the University of Pittsburgh, he was highly respected for his scholarly attainments. He has had many articles published in the scholarly journals of America.

Since joining the staff of Waynesburg College as a full professor in January 1962, he has spent most of his time in the revision and final preparation of this manuscript.

Carmichaels, located twelve miles east of Waynesburg, has commissioned him to write its 200-year history. Dr. Dusenberry is a member of several professional societies with listings in "Who's Who in the East," and "The Dictionary of American Scholars."
