Election Fires Stoked By Both Parties

No Flag Display Shows Slipping Patriotism

HARRISBURG—Despite extraordinary efforts of the American Legion and by some of Pennsylvania's most prominent newspapers, radio and TV stations, to promote wide-spread display of the American Flag over Memorial Day the "wide" open spaces between flag indicated new depths in a slipping patriotism.

American Legion State Commander George F. Bruno expressed "great concern over the apathy of our people in their respect to our American flag . . . to 'Old Glory'."

"When even U. S. Government officials neglect obvious leadership in what may appear to some persons as a small item among a mass of detail—the display of the American Flag, especially on a date when it is specifically called for—how can we expect the average home-owner, the average patriotic American, to display the Flag in front of their residence?"

"Conspicuous among buildings that did not display the American Colors," said the Philadelphia Inquirer, "were, ironically, some that housed Federal agencies. . . . The Veterans Administration office (at Broad and Cherry streets Philadelphia), for example, has a flag staff—but it remained empty on Memorial Day."

The same newspaper also reported scores of business places

Cancer Clinic At Cresson Closes Doors

CRESSON—The Cresson General Clinic has quietly stowed away its cancer nostrums and gone out of business under pressures from both the State and Federal governments.

Dr. Adelaide I. Galbraith of Patton, osteopath who ran the clinic at the time its activities were exposed, said she went out of business in April.

Dr. John Henry Benko of Portage, who served as oral surgeon at the clinic, is back to practicing dentistry—and dentistry only—in Portage.

Both are defendants in a $60,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Chester Shorey of Wilmington, Delaware, after Benko allegedly practiced medicine with a resultant disfigurement of Mrs. Shorey's nose.

Closure of the clinic at Cresson has left Senator John J. Haluska, the man who imported the notorious Hoxsey cancer treatment to Pennsylvania, with an empty three-and-one-half story building on his hands.

Haluska reportedly was seeking another practitioner to operate in the building. He owns a two-fifths interest in the structure and is trustee for three others who own one-fifth each. They are Dr. Benko, Samuel J. Einhorn of Westminster, and Thomas W. Nelson of Ebensburg.

Investigation of the Cresson General Clinic was started by the Pure Food and Drug Administration, the State Department of Justice and the State Department of Health shortly after its cancer-cure activities were revealed by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette last January.

Indiana Returns Confederate Flags

NASHVILLE—Governor Matthew E. Welsh of Indiana, returned two confederate flags captured by Indiana soldiers in 1862 to Tennessee Thursday.

Tennessee Governor Buford Ellington accepted the flags in ceremonies at the State Capitol.

The two flags are among 17 Confederate banners recently discovered in the basement of the World War Memorial Building in Indianapolis.

Former President Eisenhower's attack on what he called the Kennedy administration's "reckless spending" sharpens political issues against a nervous stock market, just as key primary battles come to a head across the country.

Many see in the Eisenhower attack the start of a major battle in the midterm elections.

The creeping decline of the stock market, the Billie Sol Estes scandal, the deterioration of the situation in Laos, and the continuation of high unemployment give Republicans more potential political issues than they had anticipated.

President Kennedy's popularity is still high—enormous by President Truman's standards—but it is down from 77 to 73 per cent on the Gallup rating, and the Chief Executive seems prepared to spend more of it in fighting for his three top controversial measures: the trade bill, so-called "medicare," and tax changes.

Chief issue this fall is whether voters will re-enforce the hair-line plurality that elected Mr. Kennedy in 1960 by sending more Democrats to Congress in 1962.

As the situation stands, all members of the House (presently 263 to 174 Democratic), a third of the Senate (presently 64-36 Democratic), and 35 Governors (21 Democrats, 14 Republicans) are up for election.

Over the week end in a runoff primary, Texas Democrats nominated John Connally, ex-Secretary of the Navy and friend of Vice-President Lyndon B. Johnson over Don Yarborough, a New Frontier liberal, for the governorship—but by a small margin.

Pitted against Mr. Connally is Democrat-turned-Republican Jack Cox, previously nominated, who in 1961 deserted to the growing ranks of the Texas GOP.

Democratic nomination normally means victory in Texas, but it was not so in the senatorial race last year, where both parties were represented by conservatives. Texas liberals "went fishing," and for the first time since Reconstruction a Republican, John G. Tower, was elected.

In California, Tuesday, Richard M. Nixon snowed under his conservative Republican opponent for nomination for governor and will oppose the Democratic incumbent Governor Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, in the fall.

The battle will involve both General Eisenhower and President Kennedy.

Kennedy to Visit Brazil July 30

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy plans to begin his visit to Brazil on July 30, the White House has announced.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger confirmed a report to that effect from Rio de Janeiro. He said the plans are not yet complete, pending the dispatch of an advance party to Brazil early in July.

But as things stand now, Salinger said, the chief executive would spend three days in Brazil and visit Rio de Janeiro, Brasilia, Sao Paulo and possibly the northeastern part of the country.

Church, Hospital Benefit by Will

By the will of the late Linnie Jacobs Lantz of Arkansas City, Kansas, a native of Greene County, $3,000 was bequeathed to the First Presbyterian Church of Waynesburg, in memory of her mother, Ackie Durbin Jacobs, and $3,000 was given to Greene County Memorial Hospital in memory of her father, Warren Jacobs.

Firm Purchases Dionne Home

CALLANDER, Ont.—A private firm has purchased the two-story farmhouse where the Dionne quintuplets were born 28 years ago.

The house will be moved near a highway and maintained as a tourist site.

Of the People, by the People, and for the People . . .

Personal Enterprise

In 1933, the United States Government gave official recognition to the Communist Government of Soviet Russia, and since that time the erroneous philosophy of collectivism has affected and taken its toll on our freedom philosophy of personal enterprise.

Since the discovery of America, the "New World," thousands have flocked to our shores, attracted by the promise and hope of a new and better world, increased liberty, freedom and economic opportunities unbounded. They came to the United States seeking a land rich in natural resources and unlimited opportunities which would enable them to advance and provide their own personal security.

In early America, there was no such thing as foreign aid, welfare grants and urban renewal plans. Had they been offered at that time, they would in all probability have been rejected. For at that time, the new America promised new hope for the individual, new promise for the man who wanted to get ahead through his own personal initiative, free from the presence of government restraints, laws and taxations.

In such a setting, the American competitive free enterprise system was born. But today man is confronted with the issue of whether or not he should give away his freedom, private initiative and individual responsibility and surrender to compulsion and coercion—the state of the Mistaken.

Henry Grady, famed editor of the Atlanta Constitution, once stated, "Let man lean on the state for nothing save his own arm can do, and on the Federal Government for nothing save his state can do. Let him cultivate independence by industry and thrift to the point of sacrifice and let him learn that humble things with unbartered liberty are better than abundance bought with the price of liberty."

The most important characteristic of the American capitalistic system is personal enterprise, sometimes called free enterprise. The latter is a misnomer, for there is nothing "free" about personal enterprise. On the contrary, personal enterprise is the responsibility of the individual, and there is certainly nothing free about it.

First of all, the private entrepreneur engaged in personal enterprise has his investment to consider. His money must earn more than the present rate of interest or his business will show no profit. Maintenance and upkeep constitute still another imperative. He also must be prepared for unexpected emergencies sure to occur. Management also carries a great responsibility toward the welfare of employees, beginning with payroll and going right on through health insurance, retirement funds and various other benefits to the nth degree. The private businessman must also make sure his customers get value received. Bookkeeping must be done according to government edict and taxes must be paid, and paid, and paid. As times change, equipment must be scrapped, repaired or replaced, and inventories must be kept in good shape.

Clearly, then, (Turn to Page Four)

Grand Jury Finds Three Indictments, Tour Institutions

The June grand jury found three true bills on Monday and ignored one.

Earl Leonard Marcinak of McClellandtown, R. D. 1, and Charles Daruda of Adah, were held for court charged with larceny by employe and receiving stolen goods. The case involves theft of 189 mercury tubes valued at $4,160 from the U. S. Steel Company's Robena Mine.

A true bill was returned against Harold Martin trading as Waynesburg Mobile homes, Waynesburg, R. D. 2, charged with receiving money under false pretenses. The prosecutors, Chester and Stanley Snyder, contend Martin sold them a trailer for $500 and then failed to deliver the title to the trailer.

Edward Sokol of Keisterville, was held for court on a charge of operating an automobile while his license was suspended. The jury found insufficient evidence to hold Ida Mae Hearst, 28, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Charles G. Lane, 26, of Pittsburgh on larceny charges. The two Negroes were arrested several days after a tray of diamond rings was taken from the Hudson Jewelry Store, West High street, May 15. One of the clerks identified Miss Hearst as being a woman who was in the store the day the theft took place, but no one saw the diamonds being taken and none of the stolen property has been recovered.

The jury on Tuesday visited county institutions, Curry Memorial Home, Greene Hills Farm and the county jail.

With regard to the jail, the jury's report states: "We found the facilities, considering the present physical structure to be clean, orderly and well kept. However, we do recommend and urge the commissioners of Greene County to consider the erection or installation of a more modern and adequate jail facility to better conform to the prison standards of the time in which we live."

Similar recommendations have been made by past grand juries for many years.

No recommendations as to the Curry Home and Greene Hills Farm home were made since the county commissioners are planning to enlarge and remodel the Curry Home and to close Greene Hills Farm when that work is completed. Both institutions were found to be well kept.

Byrd Says 'Debt' Tops $1.25 Trillion

WASHINGTON—Senator Harry Floyd Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia says the total debt and other commitments of the United States government are approaching $1,250,000,000,000.

The Virginian, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, conceded in his statement Wednesday that many of the commitments might never have to be met.

But he insisted the figure was a realistic picture of claims that could be made on the government—and likely would be made in an economic collapse. And, in addition, he said, the $1,250,000,000,000 figure is far from complete because "it does not include untold billions in clear and certain commitments for future spending which cannot be calculated."

Accident Costs Top Road Funds

NEW YORK—The Nation spent a total of $6.7 billion on highway construction during 1961, but the cost of traffic accidents was even higher.

The economic loss from motor vehicle accidents amounted to $6.8 billion, according to a survey by C. I. T. Corp., a major industrial and highway financing firm.

The survey defined accident costs as loss of wages for those killed and injured, reduced earning power because of disabilities, medical and hospital expenses, property damage and insurance.

Degrees were conferred upon 171 seniors by Dr. Paul R. Stewart, president of Waynesburg College, at the 111th annual commencement Sunday, on the campus in front of Miller Hall.

Three women were given honorary degrees in celebration of the 105th anniversary of the 1857 commencement when Waynesburg College first granted degrees to women.

"Corridors of Light" was the title of the address given by Dr. Margaret Criswell Disert, academic dean of Wilson College, Chambersburg.

Rev. Charles Alexander Platt, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Ridgewood, N. J., preached the baccalaureate sermon titled "Do Not Neglect the Gift You Have."

Honorary degrees were given to Dr. Disert; Mrs. Vira Ingham Heinz, Pittsburgh civic and religious leader; and Mrs. Constance Prosser Mellon, chairman of the board of trustees of the Richard King Mellon Foundation, Pittsburgh.

Dr. Disert, who was presented by Mrs. C. A. Weaver of Waynesburg, received the Doctor of Education degree.

Mrs. Heinz, who was presented by Mrs. D. D. Lessenberry of Pittsburgh, received the Doctor of Human Letters degree.

Mrs. Mellon, who was presented by Mrs. Paul G. Benedum of Pittsburgh, received the Doctor of Humanities degree.

Council Schedules Meeting With Borough Planners

Waynesburg borough council Monday night decided to hold several meetings this month with the planning commission to discuss off-street parking, zoning ordinances and urban renewal.

Waynesburg Jay Cees were granted the privilege to hold their annual Rain Day Festival from July 23 to 28, on High street from the Municipal Building to Morris street. An emergency passageway is to be left open in case any emergency vehicle must pass through the business district.

Speeding on High and Greene streets was discussed at great length. Speed limit is 35 miles per hour on the two streets but residents have complained of cars going much faster. Council warned that the law will be strictly enforced.

Any person who adds to his present residence anything in construction or exterior improvements must secure a building permit. This will only apply to those who exceed $100 in exterior home improvements. Additional rooms or tinning a roof if exceeded by $100, must be handled by a building permit to be secured in the municipal building.

Frank Church, borough engineer, presented preliminary plans and draft for the proposed construction of the new bridge across Purman Run on East street. The Borough's share in the bridge is $10,000 with the overall cost being $41,600. The borough's cost includes the reconstruction of East street from Franklin to Liberty street.

Democrats to Elect County Chairman

The Greene County Democratic Committee will meet Saturday, June 16, at eight o'clock, in the headquarters to elect a chairman.

Thomas H. Boyd, present chairman, has announced he will seek re-election. Also Steven Yarish of Carmichaels, who has been a committeeman since 1958, has sent letters to all members, stating he is a candidate.

Probably another candidate will also be put up by opponents of the organization.

S. J. (Ted) Pecon of Carmichaels, is the present treasurer, and Samuel Thomas of Rogersville, is secretary.

Key Lawmakers Say Vote Unlikely On Medicare

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy is facing almost certain defeat on the hottest issue pending in the election-year Congress—medical care for the elderly.

Although the White House has not given up hope, key lawmakers now figure that there is virtually no chance that the controversial legislation can be pried out of the House Ways and Means Committee this year.

The committee holds the key to the fate of the bill. A show-down vote in the 25-man panel is fast approaching.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, Arkansas Democrat, may call the committee into session late this week to begin preliminary closed-door discussions.

The White House does not want a showdown until it either has (1) lined up the 13 votes needed to win; or (2) given up hope of getting them.

The bill would provide limited hospitalization and nursing home benefits and home visits by health officials for all persons 65 or older who are covered by the Social Security program or by the Railroad Retirement program. Doctors' bills would not be paid.

West Virginia Towns Get Federal Aid

WASHINGTON—The Urban Renewal Administration has approved a grant of $32,182 for preparation of development plans for Lewis County, W. Va., and the towns of Weston and Spencer.

The funds will go to the West Virginia Department of Commerce. Under the law, Federal aid may be obtained for up to three-fourths the cost of planning projects in distressed areas.

Retired Teachers To Meet Saturday

The Greene County Retired Teachers Association will meet Saturday at two o'clock in the community room on the second floor of the County Office Building.

All retired teachers are urged to be present. Plans will be made for a membership drive. Retired teachers have active organizations in nearly every county in the state.

1,549,000 Vets In Pennsylvania

The Veterans' Administration announced Friday that its latest survey shows there are 1,549,000 war veterans living in Pennsylvania.

Gordon R. Elliott, manager of the VA's regional office, said this includes 1,100,000 veterans of the Second World War; 300,000 of the Korean conflict and 70,000 who saw service in both.

Only 138,000 Now Lack Shoes

MEXICO CITY—The government Statistics Bureau says Mexico City residents are the best dressed in the nation. Of the capital's population of 5 million, only 138,000 lack shoes, the bureau reported.

Ike Concerned Over Economy Under Kennedy

WASHINGTON—Dwight D. Eisenhower said Friday he and other Republican leaders are "deeply concerned about the direction in which our economy seems to be going" under the Kennedy administration.

Too much control is being lodged in the federal government, he said, and some people seem to be losing faith in the ability of 185 million Americans to make their own decisions.

"No central group can sustain the strength of a free economy, and the liberty guaranteed by our founding fathers," the former president said.

The way to reverse the trend, he said, is to elect a Republican House this year "and that is what we expect to do."

Eisenhower spoke at a news conference after holding a four-hour strategy session with Republican leaders in Congress and eight of his former Cabinet members, including former Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey, former Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy, and former Attorney General William F. Rogers.

Bloom Disputes Ease in Taxes

HARRISBURG—"It is downright untrue," that Democratic Governors George Leader and David L. Lawrence improved the business-tax climate in Pennsylvania, Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom said a few days ago.

Republican opposition to Democratic tax programs, rather than the Democrats themselves was responsible for the decrease in the percentage of general-fund revenues contributed by business, Mr. Bloom asserted.

"Furthermore, business—in dollars and cents—is paying more State taxes today than it did eight years ago," he said.

In the last two years of Republican Governor John S. Fine's administration (1951-55), business paid about $24 million a year of the general fund revenues, Mr. Bloom noted, representing about 45 per cent of these revenues.

At present, business is paying $280 million a year, or about 27 per cent, to the general fund, he said.

President John F. Kennedy chats with ILGWU President David Dubinsky at ceremony on May 19 dedicating 2,820-unit ILGWU Cooperative Houses, in New York's Chelsea area. Some 20,000 persons attended the outdoor event, with many notables from national, state and city governments and labor movement present.

Seeing You...

You haven't forgotten the night they called—just about a week after you had moved into the new town and were lonesome for the other town in which you had lived for so long.

It wasn't that you didn't like this town. There were good stores, and streets with big elms, first-rate schools, and a clean beach nearby that the children would enjoy in the summer time.

But yet, you were "strangers." You didn't know a soul.

But one night you had these callers. Friendly people. The same kind of people you had left "back home." The same kind of people you had hoped you would meet here—and finally had.

"We'll be seeing you again," they said as they left, "Look for us in church next Sunday."

A man that hath friends must show himself friendly. Prov. 18:24

Thanks to them and their invitation, your family is a part of your new town now. For you found friendship in your neighborhood church. Your children found playmates in the young people's groups, and for you, there were fellowship and worship meetings that welcomed your arrival. After your first morning in church, it wasn't a strange town any more.

You'll find this true in any town in our America. For it's one of our traditions that church people are friendly people—sharing your faith and your beliefs, sharing your interest in making your town a better town for you and your children.

"We'll be seeing you again . . ."
Your church is waiting to say that to you . . .

there is nothing "free" about the personal enterprise system, and today's private entrepreneur is one not only to be envied but one to be respected. His operation calls for the expenditure of both money and effort. It requires constant constructive thought and no small amount of worry.

In the early days of America, personal enterprise was accepted without question as a basic principle. Honest work was the order of the day. Competition was taken for granted and welcomed. For the improvident to have expected unearned benefits at the expense of the diligent would have been a policy completely at variance with the early Americans' code of ethics. To have imposed taxes for giveaway purposes would have been unthinkable. The very young and the very old and the helpless were cared for by their families or by the church as a facet of their religious convictions. Thus, it's easy to see why the system making it possible is properly called personal rather than free enterprise.

Early Americans did not have to worry about the increasing interference by and competition from government agencies, nor did they need concern themselves with the threats of the Mistaken. The United States was built not on formula, but on the freedom of the individual. The wealth of America thus far has been built by the creative energy and resourcefulness of man as an individual. Our nation's greatness is based on constructive endeavor by free men. The personal enterprise system is the backbone of American progress, and if it should ever fall we will have only ourselves to blame.

Only by remaining free will we retain our personal enterprise system. Communist philosophies are directly adverse to our American way of life, and once the Mistaken have destroyed our system of personal enterprise, they will hold the key to the destruction of our freedom.

Freedom is threatened in America today because we have surrendered our individual initiative little by little to the concept of security by edict of our Federal Government. When the Constitution was adopted by the original thirteen states, their primary concern was independence. They thus delegated, in the Constitution, certain limited powers to the Federal Government—and only those limited powers. All other powers not specifically delegated to the Federal Government were reserved by the states for themselves or the people. We have strayed a long way from the precepts of the Constitution, and the Mistaken forces hope we will continue to stray. For when they take away our system of personal enterprise they have also robbed us of our freedom.

Here are ten statements of truth that are the keys to America's personal enterprise system:

- (1) You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift.
- (2) You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong.
- (3) You cannot help small men by tearing down big men.
- (4) You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich.
- (5) You cannot help the wage-earner by pulling down the wage-payer.
- (6) You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than your income.
- (7) You cannot further the brotherhood of man by inciting class hatred.
- (8) You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money.
- (9) You cannot build character and courage by destroying initiative and independence.
- (10) You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves.

Every time one of these keys is ignored or flouted we take another step downward toward the loss of our freedom. For to lose the freedom of the personal enterprise system means to lose everything for which we in America stand—individual liberty.

That this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth. (Abraham Lincoln: Gettysburg Address—November 19, 1863).

Many Are Called But Few Fined

NEW DELHI — Only half the 60,000 persons charged with traffic offenses in New Delhi last year were able to appear in court—because of a shortage of magistrates, city police reported.

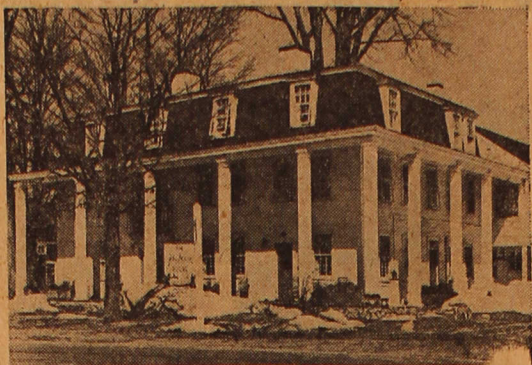

The capital has three magistrates to deal with traffic cases, but needs five more. Most of the 30,000 persons were not called to court committed only minor offenses, so the police have quietly forgotten about them.

FAMOUS AMERICAN TAVERNS

The John Hancock House in Hancock, N. H.

Itinerant Artist Paid for His Keep with Murals

Opened in 1790 and "going strong ever since" is the capsule history of the John Hancock House. It was built on timberland deeded by the British crown to John Hancock, top signer of the Declaration of Independence; but you can be certain that was before Hancock put his famous signature to the famous document.

Continuously operated for 170 years as a resort for stagecoach travelers, drovers and tourists, the John Hancock House is on the main street of one of the loveliest villages in New England. It is a welcome discovery, particularly in spring and fall after passing a dreary succession of boarded-up summer hostels of both ancient and modern type.

Hancock House is a handsome structure, its facade made notable by slender pillars beneath which the railingless veranda is commanded by a fleet of weathered rocking chairs. The lobby is a pleasant confusion of chairs, tables and lamps—just as they came down through the ages. A cathedral clock ticks nostalgically from a mantel. All is simplicity and peace, a choice place to lift a toddy or mug of beer and greet your host with "Wassail!"

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. George V. Sammet, Jr., admit that they "have done only such renovating and refurbishing as was necessary to retain the charm of this beautiful old inn." They are to be congratulated. The Hancock completely lacks the stiffness of the "over-renovated" in doubtful "period" style; it fits like a comfortable old shoe.

Not that time has not left its quaint marks upon the inn. In one of the charming 13 guest rooms, an itinerant artist (about 150 years ago) covered all four walls with landscapes in mellowed colors. Perhaps this way he paid for his lodging in the custom of the day.

Other features of the John Hancock to attract the visitor's interest are the hand reeded timbers, the Bible doors and old wide boards. Look also for the nine gold stars in the Mahogany Room fireplace, which called attention to the fact that New Hampshire was the ninth state to ratify the Constitution, thus making it effective.

Greene Trackmen Bow to Jeannette; First Dual Meet for County Squad

Dick Morris Wins Junior A. A.U. Walk

PITTSBURGH—It was Greene County Day as far as race walking was concerned June 2 at Penn Hills. Here's why:

Dick Morris won the mile walk in the Allegheny Mountain Association's AAU Junior Track Championships.

John Caldwell led the Greene County Track Clubs youth walkers to an impressive win over Penn Hills, 8:15.

Coach John Harwick's hustling heel-and-toes completed dominated the twin-events as they continued prepping for 5-mile National Youth Walk July 4 in Pittsburgh.

Morris, a converted miler from Waynesburg High School who only entered his first race walk April 7, did the mile in 8:37.7. It was his first walk outside Greene County.

Right behing was Caldwell in 8:44. John, who was ninth in the Nationals last summer, appears to be the No. 1 man on the youth team.

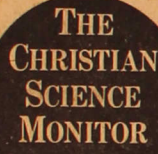

Dave Johnson and Buddy Greco just missed picking up two more medals for Greene County in the junior championship as they finished sixth and seventh.

ANCIENT WATERS

Club Develops Dog Training Area

"When members of the Emlenton Rod and Gun Club finish developing game food and cover on their grounds they should have one of the best dog training areas in the State." So says Game Protector John Miller, Venango County, continuing:

"With the assistance of Northwest Division personnel and myself, the club members have laid off contour strips. These strips will be planted to such cover as lespedeza, multiflora rose and others. Food will be planted adjacent to escape cover. Also, several sections of corn will be planted, along with rye grass. Shrubs and trees are being planted in clusters in sections not suitable for contour strips. Border cuttings and brush piles are the order for this fall."

FISHING TIPS

Here are some fishing tips—good from now until the end of November. During these months over 400 clubs in seven states from Rhode Island to Delaware will be competing in the 16th Annual R. J. Schaefer Salt Water Fishing Contest. The three species eligible in the contest are striped bass, over 15 lbs.—bluefish, over 4 lbs.—and weakfish, over 4 lbs.

STRIPED BASS
Surface popping or swimming plugs, big spoons and natural baits such as live herring do well. Best months are June, September and October. Fish at daybreak, dusk and night. Try the change of tide.

BLUEFISH
Chum with ground menhaden (bunker) and see if you get any, use a light to medium rod with 30-40 lb. monofilament. Best months are August and September. For the big ones try between daybreak and 2 P.M., at dusk and at night.

WEAKFISH
For bay fishing use light tackle. Sandworms, shrimp and shedder crab or small underwater plugs should work. May, June and July are tops in the bays. These can be caught in the daytime. Schaefer Brewing Co. wishes you luck with the "Big Ones."

Dr. Paul R. Stewart Heads Conference

DR. PAUL R. STEWART

State Plants Over Million Seedlings

"Rain in conjunction with cool temperatures during mid-April provide ideal conditions for planting the 1,212,000 evergreens and shrub seedlings grown at the Game Commission's Howard Nursery and released to the Southwest Division," says Gilbert Bowman, Division Land Management Assistant.

Bowman reports: "These seedlings were planted on State Game Lands and distributed, also, to Farm Game Project cooperators and conservation groups to be planted for the improvement of game food and cover. They were planted on private land open to public hunting as well as public land throughout southwest Pennsylvania."

26 Area High School Gridders Selected For West Squad in 'Big 33' Contest

Greatest Period Of Wildlife Production

This is the season when most of the game bird eggs of the year are being incubated in the wild or mother hens are brooding their young. Also, it is the time fawn deer, cottontail rabbits and other game animals are being born or the young are just beginning to learn about the dangers all around them.

Wildlife people sometimes marvel that so much game survives in Pennsylvania. This is a State having a human population of 11 million, a tremendous number of vehicles on a vast network of roads and extensive farming operations. Additionally, cool and wet weather, fires, pesticides and household pets as well as wild predators menace game birds and animals. The odds are great, but despite all Mother Nature persists and, with the help of man, annually produces a large crop of wild game.

For humane reasons and in the interest of the State's hunters and persons who enjoy seeing wildlife in the open, the Game Commission implores: Particularly now and during the next few weeks, strictly control the outdoor activities of dogs and cats and protect, in any way possible, the broodstock, eggs and young of wildlife.

Hunting License Price Hike Asked

HARRISBURG—The executive director of the State Game Commission says he will ask the commission to consider increasing the price of hunting licenses in Pennsylvania.

M. C. Golden said in an interview with the Harrisburg Sunday Patriot-News that he will present the proposal to the commission when it meets June 21-23.

However, he did not specify how much of an increase he would recommend. Hunting licenses have cost $3.15 since 1949, the year of the last price increase.

"We need a minimum of $7 million to run our present program," Golden said. "That means that the resident hunting license would have to cost $5."

"For a stepped-up program, we would need $9.6 million. That would require a license costing $7.50. However, I would say that the $7.50 fee cannot be realistically considered."

Hot Wire Takes Wildlife Toll

The following wildlife mishap recently occurred near Gilmore, less than ten miles from Uniontown, Fayette County. Game Protector Michael Sarachman reports: "A 6,900-volt wire came unfastened from an insulator top a pole and hung suspended between adjoining poles. The line at its lowest point was about a foot from the ground. Electric service was uninterrupted, consequently the hazard to life went undetected for a time."

"At the scene an adult male and two adult female deer lay dead beneath the wire — electrocuted. Two red foxes which came to feed on the carcasses met the same fate as did two large marauding dogs."

Jumper Stopped By Hunger Pains

CHATTANOOGA, TENN. — A high school athlete set a meet record for the Chattanooga High School invitational indoor track meet—and refused to try for another because he was hungry.

David Justus of Knoxville Fulton High School cleared the high jump bar at six feet but ignored clamors of the crowd to keep trying. He retired from the field to eat.

Million Shrubs Planted in Area

A total of 1,212,000 evergreen and shrub seedlings were planted for wildlife in the Southwest Division of the Pennsylvania Game Commission this spring.

799 Deer Die Violent Deaths

During the month of April, 799 deer were known to have died a violent death in Pennsylvania. Probably many others were killed but not recorded.

By far the greatest number of these (671) were killed by vehicles, primarily by autos on the State's highways. Dogs killed 43, another 60 died of miscellaneous causes and 18 were shot illegally.

Only seven were killed for crop damage, an encouraging drop from former levels.

SAFE DRIVING TIPS

KEEP PENNSYLVANIA "THE SAFE DRIVER STATE"

By Giving Yourself a Break

Driving too long without a rest can tire the driver, dull his senses and tend to slow down his reaction time in an emergency situation. Make sure you are always alert, and are able to drive with maximum efficiency.

On a trip, stop every hundred miles, or every two hours to relax, to stretch your legs and have a snack or a cup of coffee.

If every motorist had observed this safety suggestion last year, 2,690 accidents and 75 fatal accidents might have been prevented!

Cresson Cancer Clinic Closes

Medical Board, which had received a complaint from Mrs. Shorey that Dr. Benko performed the operation on her nose.

The Health Department moved to determine whether quackery was being dispensed.

Dr. Galbraith, who is in Utah, will have to return to Pennsylvania to stand trial with Dr. Benko in the damage suit unless Federal Court finds that depositions are sufficient.

Benko claims the operation he allegedly performed was in fact done by the late Dr. Harold F. Galbraith, also an osteopath, who was medical director of the old Hoxsey Clinic and subsequently practiced at the Cresson Clinic, although he was not listed as an owner. Dr. Adelaide I. Galbraith was the sole proprietor of the Cresson business.

Because of Benko's claim that Dr. Harold Galbraith performed the operation, the Medical Board and the Department of Justice have delayed action on Mrs. Shorey's complaint pending outcome of the case in Federal Court.

Dr. Benko, meanwhile, continues on the state payroll, at $4,200 a year, for work he does not do, as an assistant sergeant at arms in the Senate.

He was put on the job by Senator Haluska, but shows up in Harrisburg only on days that Haluska is present, although he is supposed to be on duty five days a week.

No Flag Display Shows Slipping Patriotism

In Philadelphia's center city, closed for the holiday, had empty flag poles in front of their buildings.

In the town of New Hope, the Inquirer continued, there were but few flags displayed, but in nearby King of Prussia, Old Glory was displayed in dozens of sizes.

Scores of American flags were displayed in the Lancaster County town of Mount Joy, according to pre-arranged reports to the American Legion State Headquarters in Harrisburg, but several post office buildings along the route from Harrisburg to Lancaster — closed for the holiday — failed to hoist the American Flag on Memorial Day.

In Pennsylvania's capitol city, Harrisburg, few flags were on display, "and even at some big shopping centers, where business was being carried on as usual, there were bare flag poles."

"This condition was apparently not peculiar to the southeastern section of the Commonwealth — the Keystone State of the Union — for reports indicate similar lack of open display of patriotism by a show of the American Flag, to have been prevalent throughout Pennsylvania," Bruno said.

"In fact, it appears that fewer American flags are being displayed each year," the Legion Commander declared. "And it is almost nauseating to see a bare flag pole at a government-owned or leased building, whether it is federal, state or local government offices, as thousands of good, American citizens visit our cemeteries to pay tribute to our Nation's war dead — those called by our government to help preserve our freedom and liberty, and the honor of the government."
