Jacktown Fair Opens For 97th Exhibition

The 97th annual Jacktown Fair at Wind Ridge, sponsored by the Richhill Agricultural Association, opened Wednesday with ideal weather. It will continue day and night through Saturday.

Despite the drought, garden produce and livestock entries are of top quality.

A number of new classes for 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America were added this year.

One member of the board said "We're holding the fair for young people."

Mrs. Grace L. Boord and Miss Margaret Nichol, Greene County extension home economists, are judges for the ladies' department.

Rex Carter, Fayette County farm agent, is chief judge for livestock, and will judge dairy cattle. Clarence Nichols of Elm Grove, is judge for sheep, and H. C. Terndrup of Clearfield, is judge for other livestock. John D. Gopen, Greene County farm agent, and his assistant, Jay Espenshade, are assistants.

A complete list of awards will be published in next week's issue of the Republican.

Thursday night, the light weight horse pulling contest will be held at eight o'clock, and on Friday night the heavy weight contest will be staged.

The Greene County Citizens Band will play both days.

The Jean King School of Dancing of Uniontown, will be a feature Saturday night, and the fair will be climaxed by a large display of fireworks.

Keystone State Shows have the midway and rides.

Officers and directors of the Richhill Agricultural Society are: Ross Burns, president; O. I. Dille, first vice president; J. E. Dinsmore, second vice president; Thomas M. Tharp, secretary and treasurer; O. I. Dille and Raymond McCracken, concessions and privileges; H. E. McNay, superintendent of gates and custodian; J. E. Dinsmore, superintendent of stock; Raymond McCracken and C. J. Behm, superintendents of horse pulling. Honorary directors are L. F. Engle, John B. Carter, John Gopen and Charles B. Orndoff.

Miss Maude Carter is general superintendent of the Ladies' Department. Her assistants are Alene Stickle, Regina Braddock and Miss Gertrude McNay.

Situated on one of the highest and most beautiful spots in the county, the fair has become a place for reunion of old friends, and former residents come from long distances.

Even during World War II, when travel conditions were rough, Jacktown Fair did not miss an exhibition.

Through its 97 year it has been an outstanding factor in the improvement of agriculture in this county and surrounding areas.

Adoptions in U. S. Rise by 114 Per Cent

WASHINGTON—Adoptions jumped 114 per cent in the United States between the years 1944-1960, the Children's Bureau has reported.

The bureau said there was little interest in child adoption during the early depression years, but at present, some 100,000 children are adopted in this country each year.

Hiram L. Hoge, Founder of Bakery, Dies at 94 Years

HIRAM L. HOGE

Hiram Lee Hoge, 91 years, widely known Waynesburg businessman and founder of the Hoge Bakery, died Sunday morning, July 29, 1962, in Greene County Memorial Hospital. He had continued active in business until a few years ago when his health began to fail.

Mr. Hoge was a son of George and Abigail Woods Hoge, and was born September 3, 1867, on a farm on Smith Creek, near Waynesburg. He was a descendant of pioneer families prominent in the early settlement of this area. When he was 14 years of age, the family moved to a farm near Oak Forest.

In 1893, Mr. Hoge was united in marriage, with Miss Sara Ely, whose death occurred several years ago.

He operated a general store at Oak Forest for three years, and then moved to Waynesburg where he operated a brick business.

After a time, Mr. Hoge engaged in the grocery and bakery business in the Blair Hotel building on East High street, and as the business grew he opened a wholesale bakery at the corner of High and Porter streets.

In 1929, Mr. Hoge built a modern three-story brick building for the bakery on North Maiden street. It has operated successfully in Greene, Washington and Fayette Counties, and in northern West Virginia.

For several years before retiring, Mr. Hoge was associated in the business with his son, Albert.

He was always interested in projects for the betterment of the community.

Mr. Hoge was a member of the First Baptist Church and of Waynesburg Lodge 153, F. A. M., having joined in 1898.

Surviving are four children: Dr. George E. Hoge of Waynesburg; Mrs. Paul Nefflen of Vergennes, Vermont; Albert R. Hoge of Waynesburg; and Mrs. Robert Hamilton of DeWitt, N. Y. Also surviving are three grandchildren: Mrs. Homer Milliken of Plainfield, N. J.; Richard Hoge of Philadelphia, and Robert Hoge Hamilton of DeWitt, N. Y.; and two great-grandchildren, David and Mark Milliken of Plainfield, N. J.

Three sisters survive: Mrs. A. B. Reese of Wooster, Ohio; Mrs. Thomas S. Crago and Dr. Mary H. Hawkins, both of Waynesburg.

Funeral services were held Wednesday in the Weaver Funeral Home, conducted by Dr. Harry Gardner. Interment in Green Mount Cemetery.

Masonic services were held Tuesday night in the funeral home.

MEN AGE QUICKLY

WASHINGTON—The median age of married men is nearly 45 years, averaging 3½ years older than their wives.

Kennedy the Politician

Mr. Kennedy is now talking frankly partisan language about his stalled domestic legislative program. He blames the Republicans for his lack of success. There was a long series of statements to this effect in his latest press conference.

Mr. Kennedy respects both logic and objectivity but in this case he seems to be taking leave of both. Why should he blame members of the opposition party for predictably voting against bills which they traditionally disagree? He could more logically blame the voters. The voters gave him an insufficient number of Democrats who agree.

And how can he shrug his shoulders so fatalistically about the conservative Democrats while pointing such an accusing finger at the Republicans? Where is consistency?

Mr. Kennedy also argues that because Republicans oppose his program they are for inaction. He is for action. But in many cases enough Republicans agree with the broad aims of Kennedy domestic bills to pass them, if they had been drafted with more attention to the national need and less to Democratic politics and power.

But his frankly partisan approach to most of the major domestic bills provoked a frankly partisan answer. He knew that the conservative Democrats would vote with the opposition. Logic would suggest that his strategy was at fault, and not either the conservative Democrats or the Republicans. He misjudged the election returns.

This is all the more curious because at the start of his second year in the White House the President told reporters he was going to follow an entirely different strategy. He recognized the need for emphasizing national needs and deemphasizing party politics.

A few weeks thereafter he proposed a department of urban affairs in a highly political manner. For whatever reason, perhaps a rising political self-confidence, his approach to Congress radically changed. With this more recent approach Mr. Kennedy created his own frustration.

He has now explicitly described his plan for the coming congressional campaign. To the degree that it can be separated from recrimination over the past, it is a partial return to logic again. The President is tackling the real cause of his difficulty in the narrow decision of the voters. "The areas I'll be campaigning in are seats . . . where there will be a very clear choice between Republicans who oppose these programs and Democrats who support them. That's where I am going to go."

The voters will be there waiting. It remains to be seen whether they will consciously choose to base their vote on what kind of Congress they want to give Mr. Kennedy. (Many of them probably didn't last time.) But they have this opportunity now and they should use it.

Meanwhile it is curious that Mr. Kennedy should be gauche about allocating blame for his plight, when he is supposed to excel at the political arts. It could be that he misjudges the future voting as well as the past. He may find that the same actions on his part which drove the moderate votes in Congress into opposition will cause the voters in November to prefer more conservative candidates. — THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE Monitor.

Helicopter Makes Forced Landing

A U. S. Army helicopter piloted by Captain Harvey C. McCoy of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Captain Albert J. Barber of Dayton, Ohio, made a forced landing Thursday evening on the James Mason farm, Waynesburg, R. D. 2, near Kirby.

The men, who are stationed at Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio, were returning from camp at Fort George Meade, Md., when a fan belt broke causing the engine to become overheated. There was no damage in landing, and the craft took off for Columbus on Saturday after repairs had been made.

Kansas City Divided Over Weather

KANSAS CITY, Missouri—Urban expansion has brought many problems, and the United States Weather Bureau apparently has its share.

Now that it is 54 miles from the north to south city limits, the bureau's Kansas City office was finding it difficult to satisfy all the critical citizens.

So the bureau, allowing for modern distances, came up with this innovation recently:

"Temperatures will level off near 80 over the northern sections of town and in the lower 70's over the south."

Central Greene School District will erect a pre-engineered four-room steel building on a vacant lot across from Waynesburg High School shop. Harold Jacobs of Waynesburg, is the architect.

The additional space was needed since 104 Mt. Morris students will be transported to Waynesburg High School when the term opens in September. The board believes that when the building is no longer needed it can be used for a cafeteria.

Several changes of teachers have been made.

Mrs. Marlene Dobosh Wynn of Waynesburg, was transferred from the East Ward third grade to first grade in East Franklin school. Mrs. Deborah Hedge Paul, a recent graduate of Waynesburg College, will take Mrs. Wynn's place in the East Ward. Mrs. Mildred Musgrove of Marianna R. D. 1, a graduate of Ashland College, who formerly taught at Bentleyville, will teach the fifth grade in East Franklin.

The supervising principal, W. Walter Montgomery, and his assistant, Stüger Lohr, will have their offices in the East Franklin school. Howard Craft, secretary-manager, will be in the South Ward building. Mrs. Elaine Wood of Waynesburg R. D., and Mrs. Eleanor Parkinson of Mt. Morris Star Route, have been elected secretaries.

Robber Fails in Attempted Holdup

James William Richter, 31 years, of Smithfield, R. D. 2, failed in his attempt to hold up the Top Hat Hotel and Bar at Paisley in Cumberland Township, late Thursday night.

He entered the bar and pointed a .38 caliber pistol at Ronald Lincoln, 22 years, of Smithfield, R. D. 2, demanding "all the money." Lincoln then socked the robber and he fell backward. Two patrons then disarmed him.

State police took Richter into custody and he plead guilty before Justice of the Peace John L. Daily of Waynesburg. He was bound over to court without bail charged with intent to commit robbery and violation of the uniform firearms act.

Before attempting the robbery Richter stated he had let the air out of all cars in the parking area in order to make sure of getting away.

Hearing Set for Sale of School To County Bank

Judge Roy I. Carson has set Saturday, August 18, at 10 o'clock for a hearing on the proposed sale of a building owned by the now defunct Perry Township School board to the Rices Landing National Bank.

The building had been used by the Mt. Morris Bank which closed in 1928. Since then it has been used for Mt. Morris High School. Mt. Morris students will be transferred to Waynesburg High School this fall making use of the five-room building no longer necessary.

William W. Lopp, executive vice president and cashier, has stated the Rices Landing Bank has received approval of the comptroller of the currency to establish a branch at Mt. Morris. The board of directors expects to have it in operation there by the first of November.

W. Va. Court to Use Juries of Six

MORGANTOWN, W. VA.—Two recommendations, including the use of six jurors instead of 12, will be put into effect in September by Monongalia County Circuit Judge Don J. Eddy.

The Monongalia County Bar Association also recommended that the two sides involved in a litigation be given an opportunity at their pre-trial conferences to submit their cases to arbitration which would be binding on both sides.

Judge Eddy said he will cut his 12-member juries in half provided the litigants can agree to such an arrangement and make their plans known to the judge at the time of the pre-trial conference.

Under the arbitration recommendation, each side would pick one attorney to sit as an arbitrator and the judge would select a third lawyer-arbitrator to hear the case.

The judge said he believed the recommendations would cut court costs and speed trials.

World College Proposed by Ike

Centenarian Celebrates Another Anniversary

A family party will be held Sunday for Walter V. Dulaney, well known resident of Perry Township and more recently of Waynesburg, who on Monday, July 30, reached his 101st or 102d milestone.

The family records show two dates.

Mr. Dulaney resides with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold C. Guterlet of 1162 Sixth street, Bonar Addition, where the party will be held. His daughter, Mary, also resides there.

Mr. Dulaney, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Dulaney, was born on Shannon Run, in Perry Township. He was reared in West Virginia, but returned to Perry Township as a young man and resided there most of his life. Until his retirement he was a farmer, stock raiser and stock dealer.

He attributes his long life and continuing good health to hard work, abstinence from liquor and tobacco, and regular eating habits.

The church has always been a big factor in his life. Mr. Dulaney belonged to the Methodist Episcopal Church for many years and attended Claughton Chapel Methodist Church in his later years, until moving to Waynesburg some seven years ago. Since then he has attended the Nazarene Church.

"Hard work never hurts anybody," he stated.

His father and mother both died 83 years ago, leaving seven children, of whom he was one of the oldest.

"We older children had to turn out and support the younger ones," he explained. All his brothers and sisters are now dead.

His wife, who died in 1947, was Ida L. Headley, of Perry Township. They were the parents of six children, five of whom are living. They are Ray, residing at Shortsville, N. Y.; David H., of Hemet, California, Forney, of Spraggs, and Mrs. Martha Guterlet and Miss Mary Dulaney, both of Waynesburg. There are seven grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Dulaney enjoys good health, and often walks up the hill to Greene County Memorial Hospital near his home, to visit friends, and almost daily walks in the neighborhood.

Invigorating Rest

Each summer, people look to a vacation to give them rest and invigoration after the rush and repetitive tasks of a busy year. Yet how frequently the mere physical change of place or of interests provides but a temporary relief from fatigue or monotony!

However absorbing the holiday pursuits, the real need is to exchange the restlessness and inadequacy of material thinking for the true energy and peace of spiritual understanding. In words of tender persuasion, Christ Jesus showed us how to do this. He said (Matt. 11:28), "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." While this invitation has sometimes brought a temporary sense of comfort, only its uplifting spiritual meaning can give the rest that invigorates and sustains. For it is not to the Master as a person or a personal Saviour that we need to go for the lifting of burdens. We need instead to understand that the Christ, which Jesus exemplified so completely, is indeed ever present, revealing to each one his perfect selfhood as God's likeness.

No inactive thinking, no lethargic dreaminess is the Master offering to dispel discord. He continues, "Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls." This Christly yoke is the acceptance of the truth of God's allness and supreme goodness and of man's expression of His. To follow Jesus' command requires the discipline of real discipleship, wherein the suggestions of weariness, overwork, or ill-health are recognized as no part of man's divine perfection.

The Master's words highlight the value of true meekness. The exercise of Christly humility is essential in the demonstration of rest. This humility acknowledges that man is the reflection of God, good, and is therefore never wearied by the errors of self-importance or self-depreciation. Christian Science proves that listlessness and restlessness melt away before the understanding that man's whole existence is, in reality, to express the harmony and power of God.

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy, who discovered and founded this healing Science, lifts the concept of rest from that of delusive inactivity to one of perpetual refreshment through spiritual understanding. She says (pp. 519, 520), "The highest and sweetest rest, even from a human standpoint, is in holy work." From this statement we realize that "holy work" is really evidenced in the joyous activity of knowing man as God makes him, of utilizing wisdom, joy, and serenity in whatever we do.

During periods of contemplation, one gains clearer glimpses of man's God-bestowed ability to evidence freshness, spontaneity, and strength. With renewed vigor one may welcome each opportunity to prove man's God-given dominion whether on vacation or at work.

The rest which truly invigorates is mental, not physical; it is spiritual, not material. It is available every moment because it is included in man's real selfhood. As one perseveres in the understanding of true being, he can prove Mrs. Eddy's statement in Science and Health (p. 426), "The struggle for Truth makes one strong instead of weak, resting instead of wearying one." — The Christian Science Monitor.

ANADARKO, Okla. — Canvas tepees are more popular at Indian City U. S. A. here because, as one Indian guide put it, "buffalo hides stink."

The initial cost of getting the first American to the moon is estimated at $40 million.

Does it matter where you buy your diamond?

It certainly does. A purchase as important as a diamond should not be made on the basis of price or "cut-rate" inducement, but on the firm foundation of quality and value received. At this store we proudly display the emblem of Registered Jeweler, American Gem Society — your assurance that we know and guarantee the quality and value of every diamond we offer for sale.

Junior Olympic Track and Field Meet Scheduled for College Field on Saturday

"Bigger and Better," an over-used gimmick that used to pack them in for Barnum, is a term that really applies to the 1962 Allegheny Mountain Association's A. A. U. Junior Olympic track championships.

This year's event, sponsored by the youth-minded Waynesburg Lions Club, will be held at 12:30 p. m. Saturday at College Field in Waynesburg.

Even the old-timer will have to admit it will be the biggest track meet—as far as number of events are concerned—ever held in Greene County.

There will be a total of 38 events in four age divisions: Midget (11 and under), junior (12 and 13), intermediate (14 and 15), and senior (16 and 17). Competition is for both boys and girls. Even from the standpoint of the number of contestants it appears that it will be a new high for Greene County. Expectations are that the number will be past the century mark.

Full teams will be entered by the Greene County Track Club and the Ammon A. C. of Pittsburgh. Many other communities

FOX EATS GRAVEL

The red fox eats small amounts of grass regularly and gets some of its needed minerals by eating quantities of clay and gravel.

Dandar Nips In Five-Mile Walk

Regis Dandar of Pittsburgh, a member of the Pittsburgh Walking Club, edged John Caldwell of Waynesburg, by four-tenths of a second in a five-mile Youth Development Race Walk on Saturday.

The event was a preliminary to the U. S. National Junior 30-kilometer race walk championship.

Dandar took the lead at the start of the race, but Caldwell caught the Pittsburgh ace at the two-mile mark.

Caldwell, representing the Greene County Track Club, and Dandar battled it out step by step for the next three miles with Dandar winning by a step.

Caldwell had finished in the runnerup spot in the National Youth Development five-mile race walk on July 4, at Pittsburgh, while Dandar was third.

Decca Recording Stars

Waynesburg High School Releases Schedules for Fall and Winter Teams

Schedules for three sports teams—football, basketball and wrestling—have been released by officials of Waynesburg High School for the 1962-1963 season.

The football squad, under the direction of Coach Mike Baker, will open their campaign on September 7 in a home tilt with McGuffey Joint. The season comes to a close on November 2, when the Red Raiders host California High School. The card released shows a total of nine contests for the gridders four of them at home and five on the road.

Coach Jack Cassidy's cage squad will play a total of 18 tilts 10 of which are slated for the local court and eight listed as away contests. The basketball season opens on December 1 with a home game against Redstone, and comes to an end on February 22, when East Washington visits the local hardwood. As in past years, the Red Raiders will once more compete in W. P. I. A. L. Section 18 play.

The mat squad, most successful of all sports teams at the local school, will compete in 12 dual meets and one tournament during their campaign. The season opens with the Red Raiders appearing in a tournament at Chartiers-Houston High School on December 28 and 29. ### Dog Training Now Legal Actual shooting of game birds and animals may be several months away, but for sportsmen who own hunting dogs, preparation for the new season—and a great deal of sport—started yesterday.

T. F. Bell, Chief of Law Enforcement for the Pennsylvania Game Commission, reminds hunters that at sunrise yesterday it became legal to train their dogs on wild game. It has been unlawful to permit dogs to chase or follow upon the trail of any wild bird or animal, day or night since April 1.

This law was established to protect wildlife during the breeding and nesting season.

According to the Commission, it is not necessary for dog owners to have a hunting license while training their canine hunting champions. Dogs may be trained on any wild game found in Pennsylvania except elk, deer, bears and wild turkeys. Dogs must be accompanied by and under the control of the owner or a handler (within call except when actually on a trail or track of legal game.)

Bell warned that no injury may be inflicted on game birds and animals and it is unlawful to carry a shotgun or rifle while training dogs.

Sunday dog training on public lands is permissible. It also is lawful on privately owned land but only when the permission of the property owner has been obtained.

Dogs being trained on raccoons may be run from sunrise to midnight.

Rockets Name Team Coaches

Jefferson-Morgan High School has released the coaching assignments for the coming year and absent as head coach in wrestling was Ernie Benedict, head mentor for the past several years. Benedict will be replaced by former Rocket wrestling star Chuck Barno who served as assistant coach last year.

Benedict led a predominantly undergraduate team to a fine 11-1 record last year losing only to mat power Chartiers-Houston at the first of the season. The former West Virginia athlete will still be assistant coach in football under Mark Booth.

Other coaching assignments will include Steve Yourchik and Chuck Barno in junior high football; head basketball coach John Titus with Silvano Confortini as assistant and Robert Lutz as junior high mentor.

Steve Yourchik will also be assistant wrestling coach with Bob English at the helm of the baseball team and John Titus as assistant.

Your Health

Pennsylvania Medical Society

Acetylsalicylic acid—the most-used drug in the world. More than 9,000,000 pounds of this drug are consumed annually in the United States.

It is familiarly known as aspirin.

The list of disorders relieved by aspirin is almost endless including everything from acute rheumatic fever, arthritis and gout, to aches and pains in general.

Widely used and as beneficial as aspirin, it also carries the possibility for serious illness and death.

Aspirin can be deadly to infants who get into the household medicine cabinet or bottle carelessly left within reach.

Aspirin is used most widely for relief of pain of moderate intensity, such as headache and muscular pain.

The naturally occurring salicylates found in bark, leaves and fruit of many plants and trees have been used as remedies by physicians for over 2,000 years.

The effect of salicylates in lowering the temperature of a feverish patient is an ancient observation.

Hippocrates, 400 B. C., described the application of salicylates, and it was not until 1847 that the synthetic compound known as aspirin became available commercially.

There are certain individuals hypersensitive to aspirin to whom administration of large dosages results in headache, dizziness, ringing in the ears, sweating, nausea, mental confusion, and abdominal upset.

Unexplained deep breathing and vomiting in a child who may have swallowed a lot of aspirin by accident should alert a parent to the possibility of salicylate poisoning.

John Harwick Captures First Place In National 19-Mile A. A. U. Walk Race

Race walking, one of the oldest of all competitive sports, came to Greene County for the first time Saturday, and its debut was an outstanding success.

The race—a National A. A. U. Junior Championship over a 30-kilometer course (19 miles) from Waynesburg to Deer Lick and back—was won by John Harwick, a home town entrant.

Harwick, publicity director at Waynesburg College, brought the sport to Greene County when he came here a year ago from Indiana and organized the Greene County Track Club.

Weeks of intensive practice paid off for the 29-year-old athlete when he took an early lead and held it through the long grind to finish the event in the fine time of three hours, five minutes and 30 seconds.

A Pittsburgh youth, Regis "Jerry" Brown, representing the Pittsburgh Walking Club, was second in 3:13.40. Kurt Steiner, the former French Foreign Legionnaire and also a veteran marathon runner from Brooklyn, New York, was third at 3:31.00.

Kaj Johansen of Pittsburgh Walking Club, was fourth. A Waynesburg youth, Dick Morris, who walked with only a few days of practice, finished fifth, while a 50-year-old entrant, Steve Sendek, from McKeesport, was sixth.

Sendek walked 74 miles from McKeesport Friday evening and Saturday morning to compete. He said that he had miscalculated the distance to Waynesburg a little.

Steiner came to Waynesburg after working all night in a Brooklyn glass plant. He came by jet to Pittsburgh, was driven from the airport by William P. Hahn, a former Waynesburg resident who starred in track at Northwestern University, and who was an honor guest at the race.

Jake Lamotta, former world welterweight boxing champion and now a movie star and producer, was honorary referee. He and his wife are visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Walters of near Waynesburg.

The walk was staged under the auspices of the Waynesburg Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Greene County Track Club as a part of the Waynesburg Rain Day Festival celebration.

Members of the Waynesburg Civil Defense organization, State Police and local personnel, cooperated in patrolling Route 18.
