Greene County Fair To Open 5-Day Run

Emergency Loans Now Available to County Farmers

Emergency loans are available in Greene and Washington Counties to eligible farmers whose crops have been damaged by drought, Robert J. Meneely, county supervisor, Farmers Home Administration, has announced.

Funds can be advanced for the purchase of feed, seed, fertilizer, insecticides and farm supplies, the repair of equipment, payment of one year's taxes, rent, insurance and other essential farm and home operating expenses. Loans may not be made to refinance existing debts or to compensate applicants for their losses. Applications may be made at 67 West Cherry avenue, Washington.

To be eligible, a farmer must be primarily engaged in farming and have reasonable prospects for success in the farming operations he plans to carry on. In addition, he must have suffered a substantial loss, from the drought and must be unable to obtain the credit he needs from other sources.

The interest rate is three percent. Repayment schedules depend upon purposes for which funds are advanced and upon the estimated income of the applicant. For example:

Loans for permanent seedings may be repaid over periods up to the expected life of the seedings.

Loans for feed are to be repaid as livestock products are sold.

Loans for crop production are repayable when income from the crop is normally received.

Adequate security is obtained to protect the Government's interest.

Jurors Chosen For Philadelphia City Hall Scandal

Judge Eugene V. Alessandrini said late Tuesday that it was "anybody's guess" whether a predominantly Democratic membership in the special Philadelphia City Hall grand jury would throw the investigation off its non-political course.

The matter came up with the disclosure that 14 of the first 19 prospective jurors were registered Democrats. The five others are Republicans.

Judge Alessandrini has repeatedly said he was determined to keep partisan politics out of the investigation of alleged corruption in the Democratic-controlled city government. But the issue has developed into a hot one, with the jury scheduled to convene on September 4, traditional starting date for the fall election campaign.

The corruption charges were brought by the Republican Alliance and the investigation was ordered by Judge Alessandrini, a Republican. The probe's chief prosecutor, W. Wilson White, and his first assistant, F. Hastings Griffin, Jr., are both Republicans.

White said over the week end that he was seeking a Democrat for the job of second assistant prosecutor.

The judge has said that political affiliations or political activity will not be sufficient to disqualify a juror for service.

Judge Alessandrini also said that the jurors' backgrounds would be screened for their fitness to serve before the panel convenes.

Panama Canal Teases Compass

COLON, Canal Zone—The Panama Canal cuts through the S-shaped isthmus in such a way that the Atlantic entrance is northwest of the Pacific terminal, the National Geographic Magazine says.

At places in Panama the sun rises over Pacific waters and sets over the Atlantic.

Greene County Free Fair, sponsored by the county commissioners, will open Tuesday and continue day and night through Saturday.

Charles R. Clark of Waynesburg, is general secretary. Running races will be held Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Wednesday afternoon and evening the famous Pennsylvania State Police rodeo will be presented at two and eight o'clock. In case of rain, the rodeo will be changed to Thursday.

More than 70 members of the state police and their dogs take part in a show of great skill and daring. The rodeo was presented at the fair a few years ago and crowds are eager to see this fine performance again.

Jimmy Martin and the Sunny Mountain Boys will entertain on Tuesday.

On Wednesday, Rickie and Copper of TV fame, will perform, as well as the International Winstons, and Danny and Margie Baker, puppeteers.

The lightweight horse pulling contest will be held Thursday night and on Friday night the heavyweight contest will be held.

Walter Procanyn and his Crystal Tone recording orchestra, will play on Friday and the Harvest Moon Polka Champions will present a musical comedy routine.

The Pennsylvania Mine Safety Meet, sponsored by the Southwestern Safety Association, will be held on Saturday afternoon.

In the evening a professional wrestling show will be staged featuring the Crusher and others seen on television.

A huge display of fireworks will close the fair.

All animals to be exhibited must be at the fairground by four o'clock Monday afternoon.

A Department of Agriculture health certificate will be required for every beef and dairy animal entered. The health certificate blanks may be obtained either at the Agriculture Extension office in Waynesburg or at the office of Dr. Elmer Marx, Waynesburg veterinarian.

Sheep from certified scabies-free flocks will be admitted if the owners present their flock certificates at the time they unload. All others must present proof that animals have been dipped for scabies under veterinary or Department of Agriculture supervision within 10 days of the opening of the fair.

Entries in the home and garden department must be in the hall by seven o'clock Monday evening.

Judging of livestock and other exhibits will start at nine o'clock Tuesday morning.

'Fighting Tenth' 63rd Reunion

The 63rd annual reunion of the famous "Fighting Tenth" Infantry, Pennsylvania National Guard, was held Saturday in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post Home in Brentwood, Pittsburgh.

According to the recently published roster 848 of the 921 men of the regiment are deceased. Eight have not been located.

Greene County's Company K had 114 men when it was called for duty in the Philippines during the Spanish-American War. Fourteen members survive. Most recent deaths were Private J. R. Scott, Waynesburg attorney, and Corporal Jesse F. Ullom, Waynesburg pharmacist.

Surviving members of Company K are: Former U. S. Senator Edward Martin, Washington, who was a sergeant; Corporal Samuel L. John and Private Benjamin F. Hamilton, both of Warren, Ohio; Private Albert Cathers, Private Donald Scott and Private Joseph W. McCullough, all from Waynesburg; Private O. I. Dille, Wind Ridge; Private Oliver Morris, Waynesburg, R. D. 3; Private John A. Williams, Monongahela; Corporal Lorenzo F. Milliken, Philadelphia; Private Robert Cooke, of St. Cloud, Florida; Private Bruce W. McVay, of Florida; Private Winfield Scott, of Oklahoma, and Private Bowyer Keys, of Arkansas.

The Philadelphia Bulletin Says:

'And for Dessert . . .'

A new, and gooey, element has been introduced into the forthcoming investigation of City Hall scandals: a dessert allegedly thrown at a picture of former Mayor Richardson Dilworth.

Just what effect this artistic achievement might have on the grand jury probe, and on the participation in it of the man accused of doing the throwing—who also happens to be the assistant prosecutor—remains to be seen. A number of questions may be raised.

Was the alleged defacement of the Dilworth portrait a partisan act of sabotage, or an altruistic attempt at improvement? Was there malice aforethought, or merely a desire to get rid of an unwanted plate of dessert?

An all-important point to be cleared up involves the material tossed at the painting. Was it ice cream and cake, or blanc mange, or cherry jubilee? The answer could be very significant in indicating how the portrait looked afterward. Better? Worse? No different?

There is no question, of course, as to why this particular bit of dessert is exhumed 10 years after the event by a Democratic Councilman questioning the judge who called the grand jury and the two special prosecutors, W. Wilson White and F. Hastings Griffin, Jr.

The idea was to taint the investigation, before it even gets started with partisanship.

"It has been reported to me," announced Councilman William Dwyer, at a committee hearing on an appropriation for the grand jury operation, "that Griffin, at a dinner party, threw a plate of dessert at a picture of Dilworth.

"This," he added, "is going to be an impartial probe—by partisans."

Prosecutor White was quick to declare that "this is going to be an impartial probe!" And Griffin, the target of the Dwyer jab, reaffirmed that he has divorced himself from politics to assist in the grand jury investigation.

If the best the Democrats in Council can do to smear the grand jury probe as partisan is this resurrection of an incident said to have taken place at a dinner party in 1952, they are in real trouble. The incident of the dessert tossed at a Dilworth picture may go down in history alongside the mystery concerning the overalls thrown into Mrs. Murphy's chowder.

The compulsion to improve a portrait with the addition of a beard, a mustache or other adornment is commonplace. Democrats as well as Republicans have been known to indulge in this form of amateur artistry. Improving a picture by hurling a plateful of dessert at it must be put down as a novelty. But that state of the picture beforehand has to be known before a judgment can be rendered.

The owner of the Dilworth portrait apparently liked it as it was. The dessert-tosser evidently did not. Perhaps what is needed here is the mediation of the Art Jury—not the grand jury, which must still look into much less trivial matters.

Just Thinking!

By JIM DENT

First time we've heard of efficiency experts being paid 10,000 bucks

Just for suggestions and recommendations

Without being required to prove their theories.

There is one recommendation the "experts" made

That we'll guarantee will become a fact

Making High Street into a Mall.

Thanks to Davey and his Stooges

After the new thruway has been completed

And the underpass placed opposite the airport

Not only will we have a Mall

On every street

But a Pall on every business place!

Then there will be some significance to the name of our burg of Wayne

Thanks to Davey and his Stooges!

W. H. Hartley Named Bank Director

William H. Hartley, Greene County superintendent of schools, has been elected a director in the Rice Landing National Bank to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of W. Glenn Sharpnack.

Mr. Hartley is a resident of Rice Landing and a grandson of Oscar Hartley, one of the original directors when the bank was founded in 1903.

Mr. Hartley has more than 30 years of service in Greene County schools. He became county superintendent of schools July first, after serving for four years as assistant superintendent of schools.

Planning Firm Makes Last Report To Commission

The final report of Carrol V. Hill Associates, a professional planning firm hired by the Waynesburg Planning Commission, has recommended an urban renewal program, improved parking facilities, new parks and playgrounds, new streets, an improved storm sewer system, new public buildings, and removal of overhead utility lines in the business district—as means of improving the community and bringing in more trade.

The planning firm was paid $10,000 to study improvements for the community.

The report states that federal and state money is available for many public works programs.

Establishment of a six-year capital improvement budget to finance the borough's share of the cost of such a program, was suggested.

Also it was recommended that a borough manager be employed, and suggested that since Waynesburg and Franklin Township have many problems in common, such an official might be hired between them.

The planners stated that the community and the borough officials must give such a program full cooperation of it is to be carried through.

The report dwells on the possibility of an urban renewal program for the purpose of redeveloping Redbird Hollow.

The report sets up a proposed six-year capital improvements budget as follows.

Urban renewal: $5,000 from the general fund in 1963 for completing the survey and application and $50,000 in 1964, to be raised through general obligation bonds.

Taxis High Court Hopeful

MORRISTOWN — President Judge Alfred L. Taxis, of Montgomery County Orphans Court, is the latest Republican to seek that party's nomination for the vacancy in State Supreme Court.

Judge Taxis announced Monday he was after the nomination which will be made by a specially selected committee. The vacancy was caused by the death in June of Justice Curtis Bok, Philadelphia Democrat.

Both parties must name a candidate by September 24, to be placed on the November ballot. Governor Lawrence has the power to appoint an interim judge to serve until December 31, but has not yet done so. He is expected to act soon.

The Republicans are expected to name their candidate within two weeks.

Senate OKs New Narcotics Chief

WASHINGTON — The Senate confirmed by voice vote Monday the nomination of Henry L. Giordano as commissioner of narcotics.

Giordano, deputy commissioner for almost four years, moves up to succeed Henry J. Anslinger.

Company C., 429th Engineer Construction Battalion, which was called into active service during the Berlin crisis, will return from Fort Bragg, N. C., on Saturday, after 10 months' service. They are due to break camp on Thursday.

Captain William Sabolosky of Scenery Hill, is in command. Most of the men are from Greene County.

An armory at the corner of North Morris street and Blackberry alley, is being readied for the company.

A public welcoming ceremony will be held Saturday morning at 10:15 o'clock on the courthouse plaza.

At 10 o'clock, the company will march from their armory west to Richhill street, south to High, and east to the courthouse.

Colonel Charles I. Faddis, veteran of both World Wars, and a former congressman, will deliver the address.

H. Leslie Shriver, head of Waynesburg Chamber of Commerce, will be master of ceremonies.

Waynesburg High School Band will play.

Following the ceremony, members of the unit and their families will be invited to a picnic to be held at the new JayCee recreation park, east of Morrisville. The auxiliaries of the local American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts are in charge of the picnic.

The community is urged to display flags and welcoming signs.

Dignitaries invited include Judge J. I. Hook, the County Commissioners, mayors of boroughs in the county, Congressman Thomas E. Moragn, Assemblyman Stephen McCann, Sergeant Kenneth Roy, local Army recruiter, and Captain Joseph Carroll, commanding officer of Company C, First Battle Group, Pennsylvania National Guard.

Lawrence Hit on 'Budget Stealing', 'Political Rule'

HARRISBURG—State Senator M. Harvey Taylor, 86-year-old Dauphin County Republican leader, on Friday labeled Governor David L. Lawrence as a "political governor" who balanced his budget by "stealing money from the next administration."

Taylor, who has been feuding with Lawrence for years, was caustic in his criticism of the governor during his appearance before the Young Republican biennial convention.

"We now have a political governor who will be out in a few months," Taylor said. "He's no Solomon. He's to be pitied."

"When he talks about balancing the budget he forgot that every Republican governor except John S. Fine had a balanced budget. George M. Leader left office with a deficit during the first half of his administration."

"Lawrence got a balanced budget by stealing money from the next administration."

Raymond Shafer of Crawford County, candidate for lieutenant governor, pointed out that during the last eight years of Democratic control of the State government, taxes and expenditures have doubled.

"So much of the money being spent by the Democrats is for power politics and not for increasing services in government," Shafer said.

Shafer also asked the Democratic leadership to explain why unemployment had not gone down in the State and why the morale of the State police had dropped to an all-time low.

Welcome Rain Hits City Yesterday

Attend the Church of Your Choice Regularly

Goals

Not so many years ago, a Swiss mountaineer died—a man who considered he had failed. For years, he had been trying to scale one of the highest of the Alps. Many times he came close to the top. But something always made him turn back—treacherous ice, stinging winds, or snow which made progress impossible. At his death, he had not achieved one of his goals. But he had reached greater heights, and seen greater sights than any other man in his village. And the shaft the villagers erected over his grave carried three magnificent words, "He died climbing..." All men do not aim at the same goal. Not everyone can climb the same mountain. But your church knows this to be true:—in all men's hearts are good goals, worthwhile goals, that can best be attained through participation in church membership. The church bestows the spiritual assistance that all men need in their drive to the top. That is one of the great reasons for attending your church regularly. With the help of God's strong hand, you will climb the heights together.

Doc's Hard Put Just to Keep Up

NEW YORK—Pity your doctor's peepers!

If he's to keep up with medicine he's got a choice of 6,000 medical journals to peruse—compared to a lowly $50 back in 1879. In addition, reports Patterns—a publication for doctors—the doctor must decide which of the 3,000 books in medical and allied sciences he has time to read to keep up.

Hunters Receive $116,458 in Bounties From State Game Commission

Bounty payments on foxes and great-horned owls totaled $116,458 for the 13-month fiscal year, June 1, 1961, to June 30, 1962, according to figures released by the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

The commission's bounty section in Harrisburg reported payment of 7,826 claims on 8,951 gray foxes; 18,406 red foxes, and 1,406 great-horned owls.

The state paid $4.00 for each red and gray fox and $5.00 for each great-horned owl killed in the wild and properly probated for bounty during the game season last November and December.

The figures represent a considerable increase over the prior fiscal year with only a small number of claims attributable to the extra month in the 1961-62 period.

During the past year, 2,904 more red foxes; 1,365 more grays and 184 more great-horned owls were probated.

Glenn L. Bowers, deputy executive director of the commission, pointed out that the figures indicate the bounty system is not producing the intended results of controlling predators. During the past 10 years, the numbers of foxes and owls being probated annually show very little change from year to year, and no decreasing trend. Bowers said that if the bounty system was producing the desired results there would be a reduction.

In Washington County, bounties were paid during the past year on 203 gray foxes, 312 red foxes and 35 horned owls. Greene County hunters were paid bounties on 255 gray foxes, 189 red foxes and 10 horned owls.

This compares with the state highs of Crawford County claims on 926 red foxes, Lancaster County with 420 gray foxes, and Bradford County with 98 owls.

Shorter Season Urged by Medics

State medical experts have called on high school football coaches to consider shorter seasons and longer training schedules to help cut down the number of gridiron deaths and injuries.

The plea was made Thursday as more than 100 coaches, trainers and physicians gathered in Harrisburg for an all-day conference on athletic injuries, co-sponsored by the Pennsylvania Medical Society and the Big 33.

Two of the main speakers were Dr. Leonard F. Bush, chief of staff at the Geisinger Medical Center in Danville, and Harold Egli, one of Bush's physical therapists.

Dr. Bush advocated that high schools trim their schedules to eight games and have at least four weeks of pre-season practice.

Egli focused his attention on the training aspects of football. "It is a known fact," he said, "that boys who start preparing for football four and a half weeks before regular practice are in better shape and less prone to injury."

He advocated the use of weightlifting and wind sprints for a few weeks to condition a player for football.

DEER MOST HUNTED

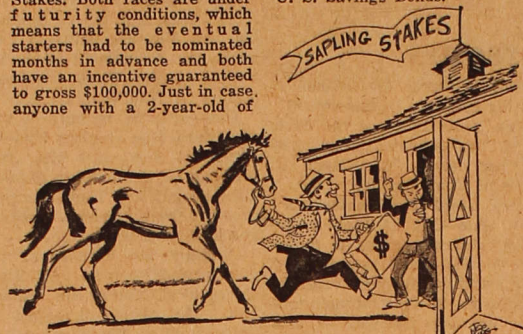

No other big game animal in North America is as widely known and hunted as the white-tailed deer. There are almost four and one-quarter millions of them in the United States.

The Florida Peninsula and the Okefenokee Swamp in southern Georgia are the only areas in this country where the water rat makes its home.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day Back Door Entry

Belmont Park has a great 2-year-old race named after a beverage — The Champagne, but New Jersey has a drink named after a great 2-year-old race at Monmouth Park. Mixologists in the H. M. Stevens Laboratories concocted the Apple Sapling in honor of The Sapling Stakes which next week will bring together contenders for championship in the 2-year-old division. While fillies are eligible for the Sapling, few have started, and why should they? Amory L. Haskell, President of the Monmouth Park Jockey Club schedules an equally attractive romp for them in The Sorority Stakes. Both races are under futurity conditions, which means that the eventual starters had to be nominated months in advance and both have an incentive guaranteed to gross $100,000. Just in case, anyone with a 2-year-old of championship calibre failed to nominate him at a fee of $25 last January, he can, by payment of $5,000, make his horse a supplementary nominee. This rather expensive "back door," which closes five days prior to the race, was used to good advantage last year by Meadow Stable's Sir Gaylord. The only supplementary nominee in the field of 11, Sir Gaylord won with ease, repaying his owner's confidence with $74,046. Monmouth Park, incidentally, is a track that believes in "touting." Prominently displayed over the infield Totalisator board is the slogan: "Your BEST BET — U. S. Savings Bonds."

Some Rare Birds Making Comeback; Others Doomed

Thanks to intensive conservation efforts, several species of birds, once considered nearly as dead as the celebrated Dodo, are making a comeback.

Most familiar, perhaps, is the whooping crane, described as "the largest, most magnificent and among the rarest of all birds to spread their wings over the North American Continent."

Fifty years ago, most naturalists considered extinction imminent for the whooper. But years of conservation work by the Audubon Society and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service are beginning to pay off. There are now believed to be some 40 whooping cranes in existence, double the number of a few years ago, and scientists now say they have a fair chance of survival.

A second species which just escaped extermination is a pint-sized petrel that lives on some islands leased by the United States near Bermuda. Called a "Cahow," this bird was thought to have perished as long ago as 1630.

But a decade ago naturalists, including Dr. Robert C. Murphy of the American Museum of Natural History, found some survivors and started protecting them against attack from their larger neighbors. Now "it looks as if the Cahow is headed for a bright future after miraculously clinging to existence for centuries against incredible odds," the scientists say.

Sad to say, however, there are other species of American bird-life which apparently are soon destined to join the ranks of the extinct.

For instance, the ivory-billed woodpecker. The last colony of these birds was seen in Louisiana in 1944.

Just why some creature vanishes from the face of the earth often is a mystery.

We're kinder to animals. A couple of generations ago, there was hardly a buffalo left in America.

Caribou also have come back from oblivion. A species of reindeer, they're again providing food and clothing to some citizens of Alaska and Canada.

In Colorado, Idaho and Montana, the agile bighorn sheep is hanging on to existence, roaming wild.

Reports from other parts of the world indicate that the show may be just about over for the Japanese crested ibis, the Arabian oryx, the Madagascan ayeaye and the New Zealand kakapo (a parrot that has wings but doesn't fly).

So mother nature has traffic going in both directions, some of her children coming, some going which way are we headed?

Hunting Licenses Available Soon; 1962 Fee Remains Unchanged

The 1962 Pennsylvania hunting licenses—a new type—have been shipped to 1,900 issuing agents across the state and will be available at sales counters in county treasurers' offices and sporting goods stores within the next two weeks.

Although Pennsylvania sportsmen, particularly sportsmen's clubs, had been sounded out earlier this year on a possible license fee increase, the resident fee for 1962 remains unchanged at $3.15, fifteen cents of which goes to the issuing agent. The nonresident license costs $20 with thirty-five cents going to the agent.

The new license is printed in black lettering on a pink card. It becomes valid September 1.

M. J. Golden, Executive Director of the Game Commission, said that for 1962 the license and certificate have been combined into a single unit making it easier for hunters to keep both units together. The big game tag is incorporated as a removable portion of the hunting license. In the past the big game tag was a separate card.

On the new license the big game tag is actually a corner of the license and contains an eyelet to attach it to the game animal. Successful big game hunters must tear the tag from the license and tag the carcass. Information listing the date of the kill, county of kill, license number and name are to be put on the tag.

Successful bear hunters are urged to use a self-made tag and save the big game tag on their license for use in tagging a deer if they should be successful in either of the deer seasons.

(The commission points out that because only a few hundred bears are killed annually and nearly a million licenses issued, it is not practical or economical to provide more than one big game tag.)
