Captain Carroll To Retire as Head Of Company C (K)

Captain Joseph Carroll, who has been commanding officer of Company K, now Company C, First Battle Group, 28th Division, since 1953, retired from service Wednesday.

The announcement was made Thursday at the annual federal inspection. His successor has not been named.

Captain Carroll enlisted in Company K, as a private in 1939. He was called to active duty with the unit in 1941, but left the company to attend officers candidate school in 1942. During World War II he served as a lieutenant in the South Pacific.

Following the war he rejoined the company as a first lieutenant in 1947, and again went on active duty as a platoon leader when Company K was called into service in 1950, and sent to Germany for service during the Korean War.

He took command of the company when Captain Fred Phillips was transferred while the unit was in Germany, and again became company commander when the unit was reorganized in June 1953, after its return to the United States.

Captain Carroll was born at Cross Creek, Washington County, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carroll. He moved to Rogersville in 1937 and to Waynesburg after the Korean War.

He has been employed by the South Penn Telephone Company for 17 years. He and his wife, the former Jean Church, have two sons, Phillips and Gregg.

Two-County Tourist Agency Is Proposed

Greene County Commissioners on Friday, heard a proposal to form a tourist promotion agency for Washington and Greene Counties.

Harry K. Sutherland, Jr., who was named by the Washington County Redevelopment Authority to direct the tourist promotion agency discussed the plans.

The Greene County Planning Commission has approved such a move. Attorney W. Bertram Waychoff, a member of the board, and Loren Mathias, executive secretary, were also present at the meeting.

After incorporation of the agency, it will be eligible for state matching funds. The state program makes available ten cents per person in each county on a matching basis—with a total of approximately $26,000 being available each year in the two counties.

Washington County would be eligible for some 80 per cent of the total amount and Greene County 20 per cent.

The agency would have a five-man board of directors, three from Washington County and two from Greene County. A proposed budget for the first year has been set at $13,450, with 80 per cent of this being allocated in Washington County.

If Greene County commissioners approve the agency as the county's promotion agency, they would be required to allocate 20 per cent of the first-year budget in the 1963 county budget. This would amount to some $2,600.

The total of $13,450 would then be matched by the State.

Thanksgiving Service Wednesday

The annual union Thanksgiving service, sponsored by the Waynesburg Ministerium, will be held Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in Washington Street Methodist Church.

Rev. J. W. Lofgren, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will be the speaker.

CHICAGO, Ill. — Neither the President nor Congress appears eager to take positive action toward solving "the major American problem" of secret government in Washington, it was declared here by a nation-wide organization of newsmen.

This conclusion was based on a report by the national Freedom of Information Committee of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society, to its 16,000 members in the news-gathering and broadcasting fields.

V. M. Newton Jr., committee chairman, said a year's "constant contact" with the federal government, close study of its news policy, and an exchange of letters with President Kennedy and congressional leaders reveals there has been "no major change in the bureaucratic censorship" carried on at the national level through the withholding of records and information from the public.

Newton, who is managing editor of the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune, declared this fact is further pointed up by a comparison of the committee's record compiled during his 10-year chairmanship of the panel.

He is more encouraged, however, by steady gains being made in the national campaign for laws requiring state, county, and city governments to keep their records and meetings open to the public. Fewer and fewer complaints are being made each year over closed door meetings and unavailable records. Thus, Newton asserts, progress is being made at the local level.

With the adoption by Arizona of an open government meetings law in 1962, the legislatures of 25 states have put one or both of Sigma Delta Chi's model laws for open records and open meetings in their books in the last 10 years, Newton said.

A total of 25 states now have open records laws and 27 states have banned closed meetings of government by law, the FOI report says.

Newton declared that the effectiveness and workability of the laws were proved this year in a test survey in Pennsylvania, in which both the open records and open meetings statutes were adopted six years ago.

The freedom of information campaign is being pushed ahead in the remaining 24 states in which one of both of the "open government" laws are needed.

Welfare Dept. Spent $400 Million In Past Year

More than $400,000,000 was spent by Pennsylvania's Department of Public Welfare during the last fiscal year (June 1, 1961 to June 30, 1962), according to a report made public a few days ago.

Of this, $125 million came from the Federal Government.

More than half of the expenditures—about $247 million—went for public assistance, an increase of one-fifth over expenditures the previous year.

The report draws the following picture of public assistance recipients, long a controversial issue because of the program's supposed tendency to discourage initiative:

Children, the report says, are the largest group of public assistance beneficiaries. The report says that "almost all of the mothers want to support themselves; well over half want to work, but because of ill health, lack of marketable skills or adequate day care for their children, are prevented from doing so."

Under a new program of Medical Assistance for the Aged that began last Jan. 1, payments were made to 9,600 medically indigent persons.

Other public welfare beneficiaries were the blind, the mentally ill, hospitals, and teenaged youngsters.

THE WHITE HOUSE

Thanksgiving Day.. 1962

By the President of the United States of America

A PROCLAMATION

Over three centuries ago in Plymouth, on Massachusetts Bay, the Pilgrims established the custom of gathering together each year to express their gratitude to God for the preservation of their community and for the harvests their labors brought forth in the new land. Joining with their neighbors, they shared together and worshipped together in a common giving of thanks. Thanksgiving Day has ever since been part of the fabric which has united Americans with their past, with each other and with the future of all mankind.

It is fitting that we observe this year our own day of thanksgiving. It is fitting that we give our thanks for the safety of our land, for the fertility of our harvests, for the strength of our liberties, for the health of our people. We do so in no spirit of selfrighteousness. We recognize that we are the beneficiaries of the toil and devotion of our fathers and that we can pass their legacy on to our children only by equal toil and equal devotion. We recognize too that we live in a world of peril and change—and in so uncertain a time we are all the more grateful for the indestructible gifts of hope and love, which sustain us in adversity and inspire us to labor unceasingly for a more perfect community within this nation and around the earth.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, JOHN F. KENNEDY, President of the United States of America, in accord with the joint resolution of Congress, approved December 26, 1941, which designates the fourth Thursday in November of each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, the twenty-second day of November of this year, as a day of national thanksgiving.

I urge that all observe this day with reverence and with humility. Let us renew the spirit of the Pilgrims at the first Thanksgiving, lonely in an inscrutable wilderness, facing the dark unknown with a faith borne of their dedication to God and a fortitude drawn from their sense that all men were brothers.

Let us renew that spirit by offering our thanks for uncovenanted mercies, beyond our desert or merit, and by resolving to meet the responsibilities placed upon us.

Let us renew that spirit by sharing the abundance of this day with those less fortunate, in our own land and abroad. Let us renew that spirit by seeking always to establish larger communities of brotherhood.

Let us renew that spirit by preparing our souls for the incertitudes ahead—by being always ready to confront crisis with steadfastness and achievement with grace and modesty.

Let us renew that spirit by concerting our energy and our hope with men and women everywhere that the world may move more rapidly toward the time when Thanksgiving may be a day of universal celebration.

Let us renew that spirit by expressing our acceptance of the limitations of human striving and by affirming our duty to strive nonetheless, as Providence may direct us, toward a better world for all mankind.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this seventh day of November, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty-two, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and eighty-seventh.

National Mines Acquires Right To Crucible Mine

National Mines Corporation of Weirton, W. Va., has purchased all surface and mining facilities of the Crucible Mine from Consolidation Coal Company.

It is believed National will operate Crucible along with its Isabella Mine just across the Monongahela River.

The deed which was filed a few days ago, stipulates that if National abandons the mining lease, the surface is to revert back to Consolidation.

There is no indication yet that the transfer will mean a source of employment for Crucible miners who have been idle since early in 1961.

As recently as 1957, more than 700 men were employed at Crucible, which for years was one of the major mines in Greene County. The work force was gradually reduced until there were just 81 men working at the time Crucible finally shut down in February 1961.

Crucible Steel, which opened the mine in 1912, disposed of it because the company felt it could better meet its needs by buying coal from other producers.

Cosolidation, in acquiring the property in March 1961, announced it did so to provide the company with additional reserves of high quality metallurgical coal. It is estimated there are still some 50 million tons of unmined Pittsburgh coal in the big Crucible field.

Christmas Parade Here, December 1

Waynesburg's annual Christmas parade, staged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and sponsored by Waynesburg Chamber of Commerce, will be held Saturday, December 1, at two o'clock.

James Hook, chairman of the Jaycee Parade Committee said prizes will be given for outstanding floats.

Clubs or other organizations which wish to enter floats are to contact Mr. Hook as soon as possible. William Urban will be parade Marshal.

Christmas Queens from each of the county's five high schools—Waynesburg, Carmichaels, West Greene, Mapletown and Jefferson-Morgan—will participate. They will be accompanied by their high school bands.

A $350,000,000 coordinated high-voltage transmission line and power plant construction program, one of the largest ever undertaken by the electric utility industry, was announced Monday morning by West Penn Power Company and 17 other investor-owned electric utilities.

Highlights are construction of: More than 600 miles of new 500,000-volt transmission lines from a point near Wheeling, W. Va., across Pennsylvania to terminals near Philadelphia, in northern New Jersey, and in metropolitan New York; and two large mine-mouth power plants with a total capacity in excess of 2,100,000 kilowatts, one near Elderton, Pa., on the eastern edge of Armstrong County, and the other near the Pennsylvania-West Virginia border between Point Marion and Morgantown.

The extra high voltage transmission facilities and the first units at the power plants are scheduled to be completed by 1967.

The high-voltage lines—higher than any now in operation except for test facilities—will tie together the major systems in the eastern mid-Atlantic area, provide pathways to eastern load centers for delivery of power from the two new plants, and permit the flow of large amounts of power to or from the west.

S. L. Drumm, president of West Penn Power, in making the announcement, pointed out that "in addition to the national significance of this forward-looking and dynamic program by investor-owned electric utilities, the location of many of the facilities involved in Western Pennsylvania is expected to focus additional attention on this area."

"The technical progress represented, the boost to the economy through the utilization of coal available in Western Pennsylvania and the northern edge of West Virginia, and the provision for meeting future power requirements of our customers contribute to this picture."

One transmission of 500,000 volts will run eastward from a connection with the American Electric Power System at its Kammer power station, near Wheeling to the new Allegheny Power System station between Point Marion and Morgantown.

U. S. Steel Fails To File Appeal

U. S. Steel Corporation has allowed the 60-day period to expire for filing an appeal to the Greene County Court in a dispute with the County Commissioners who refused to remove $1,359,810 assessed coal mine properties from the tax rolls of Monongahela Township.

The corporation this fall petitioned the commissioners to have its coal cleaning plant, blending bins, river tippie and other installations at the Robena Mines taken off its assessed property in Greene County.

The corporation based its request on a ruling of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court which makes buildings which house industrial and mining equipment and machinery exempt from real estate taxes.

In 1953, a state law had excluded manufacturing and mining machinery from real estate levies. It held that buildings which exist solely to protect the machinery are included in the exemption.

The Greene County Commissioners did not agree with U. S. Steel's interpretation and refused their petition on September 18.

If the appeal had been granted Monongahela Township would have lost $50,000 in taxes and the county $18,000. U. S. Steel is the largest taxpayer in the county.

First Federal's Christmas Club Tops $251,000

First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Greene County mailed checks totaling more than a quarter-million dollars to its Christmas Savings Club members last week.

Approximately 2,600 persons received checks, which total slightly more than $251,000, a new Christmas Savings record at First Federal, which has its home office in Waynesburg and a Fayette County office at Uniontown. Both offices shared in the year's increase of more than $45,000 over the previous year's total.

The checks represent weekly savings of members, plus dividends.

This year's distribution went to approximately 650 more persons than took part in the previous year's Christmas Savings total at First Federal. Enrollments are now being received for the 1963 Christmas savings club.

Muscular Dystrophy Drive Begins in County

Greene County Chapter, Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, has begun its annual march. The campaign will continue through November.

Charles R. Clark of Waynesburg, is chairman of the county chapter.

Locally, it helps patients to obtain medically prescribed orthopedic equipment, provides recreation and makes available many other essential services. In addition, it contributes toward the work of the national organization, which supports a nationwide network of clinics and carries on a massive research program, including sponsorship of the Institute for Muscle Disease and grants-in-aid to major institutions in the United States and abroad.

Muscular dystrophy is hereditary and is characterized by slowly progressive muscle weakness. It begins in the pelvic girdle muscles and becomes apparent where there is clumsiness as well as difficulty in running and climbing stairs.

Late in March of 1621 concluded a peace treaty with the Indians which was to last for fifty years.

Thanksgiving

PLIMOTH PLANTATION

FIRST THANKSGIVING AT PLIMOTH PLANTATION

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING celebrated at Plymouth in 1621 was a harvest festival, a gathering of family, friends and neighbors, and a time of games and feasting.

Almost half of the original 102 Pilgrims had survived the first winter. They had labored long and hard to build a village and plant crops. When their harvest was gathered, they celebrated.

In writing to a friend in England describing the First Thanksgiving, one of the Pilgrims said: "Our harvest being gotten in, our Governor William Bradford sent four men on fowling; so that we might after a more special manner, rejoice together, after we had gathered the fruit of our labours. They four, on one day, killed as much fowl as, with a little help besides served the company almost a week."

"And among the rest, their (the Indians) greatest king, Massasoit, with some ninety men, whom for three days, we entertained and feasted, and they went out and killed five deer; which they brought to the Plantation and bestowed on our Governor, and upon the Captain (Myles Standish) and others."

In describing this Thanksgiving, which set the pattern for the traditional American celebration, other writers tell of foot racing, wrestling, exercising arms (infantry drill) and pitching the bar.

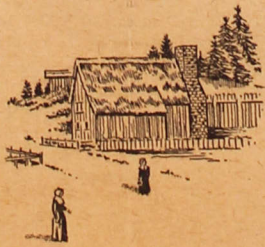

These scenes were acted out by citizens of Plymouth, Massachusetts, many of whom are descendants of those who celebrated the First Thanksgiving. Appropriately enough, the setting was at Plimoth Plantation, an outdoor museum where the first Pilgrim settlement is being re-created.

The Indians were invited to join the Pilgrims in celebrating a bountiful harvest.

When the multi-colored flint corn, which the Indians had taught the Pilgrims to plant, was harvested it had to be shelled and ground into a meal.

Although the First Thanksgiving was a harvest festival, the Pilgrims blessed their food and thanked God for a bountiful harvest.

When it was time to carve the bird, there were plenty of spectators.

Athletic events and contests of skill between Pilgrims and Indians made for another part of our Thanksgiving tradition.

Thanksgiving Day will be a happier, more meaningful day...

for a "thank-you visit" to your Church or Synagogue —

It's a story we all know and love—the first Pilgrim Thanksgiving. The excitement in their little homes must have been pretty much as it is today—the tantalizing smells of roast turkey and pumpkin pie—the bustle and rush of eager children—it must have been a wonderful day!

But before the Pilgrims sat down to their feast they observed the true meaning of Thanksgiving. They all gathered together in their meetinghouse to give thanks for the good they had received, for survival through a long year of hardship, and to pray for the strength and courage to keep their faith in this strange, new land.

This Thanksgiving, why not take your family to your house of worship. A quiet hour of prayer and thanks will make your holiday so much more meaningful.

Wherever you are . . . whatever your beliefs may be . . . take time to offer your words of thanks . . . just as the Pilgrims did more than 300 years ago.

Find the strength for your life...

REPORT TO OUR REPUBLIC
The Republican Report
OF
U. S. SENATOR EVERETT MCKINLEY DIRKSEN
OF ILLINOIS
Minority Leader for the SECOND SESSION, 87th CONGRESS
DOCUMENT NO. 161

At a moment when the exigencies of our age demand great and construction action, the 87th Congress was called to deal with a quantity of legislative requests with little quality, and with patchwork proposals, disorganization, and half-baked social concepts at odds with the American way.

Campaign promises of vigorous leadership requiring sacrifice and dedication from all people were apparently forgotten. Measured in any nautical fashion the sails may be up and there is a lot of wind, but the anchor is still dragging.

This was a "do little" year at a time when this Nation and the world do not have time to waste. To paraphrase Bismarck, the administration has "such a large appetite and such poor teeth."

One of the Congress' major problems has been to meet unprecedented spending requests. Despite Republican attempts to reduce nonessential expenditures in the interest of national solvency, spending for such purposes has skyrocketed; the 1960 calls upon the public for sacrifices have been forgotten. During the 87th Congress, total annual spending increased 21 percent.

While spending by the military went up but 16 percent, spending by departments dealing solely with routine matters has jumped incredibly—for instance, the Department of the Interior's spending increased 49 percent, that of the Department of Commerce 51 percent, and that of the Housing and Home Finance Agency 347 percent. In short, civilian spending is increasing faster than defense and military spending.

The fact that the Democrat helmsmen in the Senate felt it was necessary to disobey the skipper's orders to stay off the rocks was best demonstrated in the defeat of three major Executive proposals.

Department of Urban Affairs
This measure would have clearly established Federal control over our cities at the expense of traditional local administration, and 13 of the 16 Senate Democrat chairmen voted disapproval of the plan.

The specific proposal, through the medium of Reorganization Plan No. 1, was to create a new Department of Urban Affairs headed by a Cabinet rank official. The Senate disapproved the plan by a vote of 42 to 58 in the first Senate rollcall since 1936 at which all Senators were present and voting. The Senators' action effectively defeated the proposal, but the House indicated its disapproval by a vote of 264 to 150.

Standby Public Works
The financing provisions of the administration's $2.6 billion standby public works bill were revolutionary.

The measure would have permitted the President to take from funds earmarked in the U. S. Treasury to protect the savings and homes of American citizens, up to $2 billion. Included in the agencies whose earmarked funds could have been thus looted was the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, which insures the deposits of individual

SAFE DRIVING TIPS KEEP PENNSYLVANIA "THE SAFE DRIVER STATE"

By Driving At Sensible Speeds

Rain, fog, snow and ice make driving conditions particularly dangerous. Always adjust your speed to the prevailing weather conditions, and you'll stay on the safe side.

When bad weather makes driving hazardous, slow your car down to at least 10 mph below the speed limit. A good driver always lets conditions govern his speed!

If every motorist had observed this safety rule last year, 33,454 accidents, and 297 fatal accidents might have been prevented!

German Violinist With Symphony

Violinist Edith Peinemann appears at Syria Mosque in Pittsburgh, November 23, and 25, with Steinberg and the Pittsburgh Symphony.

The German-born violinist will be making her first appearance in Pittsburgh, and is one of a dozen women soloists scheduled to appear with the orchestra during the remainder of the season.

A native of Germany, twenty-four year old Edith Peinemann, by her appearance, could very well be one of a crop of talented young American actresses. With a violin in her hands, however, Miss Peinemann demonstrates admirably just why people around Europe figure her to be one of the very best of the young musicians. The attractive soloist will play Bartok's demanding Second Violin Concerto. The program also includes performances of Brahms Fourth Symphony and Cherubini's "All Baba" Overture.

With the appearance of Miss Peinemann, the orchestra signals to local patrons it is finished with its first long concert tour of the season. Two more are scheduled after the first of the year, but from now until late January, the orchestra is back in Pittsburgh.

Tickets for all performances of the Pittsburgh Symphony, including the December 11, performance of Handel's "Messiah," are available in Pittsburgh department stores, the University of Pittsburgh Bookstore in the Oakland district of Pittsburgh, and at Syria Mosque before each performance.

After a trip to the Pocono Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Francis will be at home at 716 North West street, Waynesburg.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Erie, Pittsburgh, Cheswick, Carmichaels and McKeesport.

Innes to Show Art in Pittsburgh

During the month of December, James Innes, professor of art at Waynesburg College will be represented in the galleries of the First Unitarian Church of Pittsburgh, according to Dr. Paul D. Walter, vice president for academic affairs.

The exhibit which will include works in oil, casein and Chinese ink, will be held in the church which is located on the corner of Morewood and Ellsworth avenues in Oakland.

Most of the works on exhibit are from the past few months' production of the artist. Subject matter ranges from landscapes of western Pennsylvania to seascapes from the coast of Maine. Several figure paintings as well as imaginative work of more abstract nature are also included.

Mr. Innes was formerly head of the art department at Central Methodist College. He holds the Bachelor of Fine Arts and the Master of Fine Arts degrees from the Kansas City Art Institute.

The artist has exhibited widely in the mid-west as well as in Mexico and Panama. This will be his fourth one-man show and his first in the Pittsburgh area.

Child Welfare Meeting Tuesday

Greene County is one of 11 counties involved in a regional conference of the Pennsylvania Citizens Council to be held from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m., Tuesday, November 27, at the Central YWCA, 204 Wood street, Pittsburgh.

Theme of the conference will be "New Directions - Public Child Welfare in Pennsylvania." Miss Elizabeth Way Marlatt of Waynesburg, executive director of the Greene County Children's Aid Society, is Greene County chairman for the citizen's council. She said the meeting will provide an opportunity for those interested in child welfare to hear and discuss findings of a three-year study just completed by the Fels Institute of Local and State Government, University of Pennsylvania.

"This survey, the most complete ever made of local child welfare services in Pennsylvania, paints a picture of what we are doing for our disadvantaged children and future citizens," Miss Marlatt said.

Speakers will include C. Wilson Anderson, commissioner of the Office for Children and Youth, State Department of Public Welfare, and Charles P. Cella, Jr., director of the Fels Institute. There will also be a panel discussion on local child welfare needs and services.

Miss Marlatt said a number of clergymen, church leaders, health and welfare agency board members, public officials, school officials and representatives of various services and veterans organizations are expected to attend from Greene County.

A Time To Remember Who We Are

Let us be grateful for our heritage. For a little pride is the wellspring of courage. Let us endure unflinchingly whatever sacrifices we are called upon to make to defend our free institutions from the night of communism, which is bent on undermining our faith in ourselves. Let us rely not only on the gold in our vaults, but the iron in our blood. And let us cling like ivy to the faith of our fathers until, in God's good time, all men are free.

Titans' Swift and Jackets' Laurent Share West Penn Conference Honors

Westminster halfback Wayne Swift and Waynesburg quarterback Jim Laurent share top honors as far as individual point-making was concerned in the West Penn Football Conference in 1962.

Swift, 5-11 180 pound junior from Butler, led the circuit in scoring with 36 points and in touchdown pass catches with four. The Titan dandy won his third letter this fall.

Laurent, 5-11 180-pound senior from Carrick, Pittsburgh, paced the loop in touchdown passes with eight. He added two TDs overland to be the total scoring leader having a hand in on ten touchdowns. Jim won his third letter this season.

End Ron Leach of Grove City, topped the conference in extra points with 12. Leach, 6-0 192-pound junior from Grove City, won his third letter this campaign.

Two quarterbacks—Herb Ellis of Westminster, and Jan Esway of St. Vincent—deadlocked for the runnerup spot in scoring with 24 points each.

Ellis and quarterback Jim Morrow of Grove City, shared the second spot in touchdown passes with four apiece.

End Ed Houston of Grove City, was the highest scoring lineman in the league with 18 points. Houston, 5-11 161-pound sophomore from Oakmont, was second in the circuit in TD pass catches with three. Four players tied for third with two catches each.

Three players tied for second in PATs with five each. They were Wayne Fullerton of Waynesburg, Dick Camp of Geneva, and Bill Walker of Westminster.

Ellis, 6-1 180-pound junior from Connellsville, accounted for eight touchdowns — four running and four passing—to be second in the circuit in total scoring. He won his third letter this year.

Swift was third in total scoring with six touchdowns.

Swift scored his 36 points with two TDs against Geneva, one against Waynesburg, one against St. Vincent, and two against Carnegie Tech.

The hard-working Titan hit paydirt on runs of five and 19 yards and with pass-run plays of 34, 49, 24, and 11 yards. Ellis tossed Swift all four scoring aeriels.

Laurent's scoring bombs averaged 26 yards. The Waynesburg ace had 29, 50, and four-yard TD passes against Geneva; 39, 27, and 21-yards against St. Vincent; and 29 and nine-yards against Westminster.

Eleven different players scored two touchdowns in a single game. Swift performed the feat twice—against Geneva and Tech.

Laurent connected with three scoring aeriels in two games—against Geneva and St. Vincent.

Laurent scored a TD on a run against Geneva to account for a total of four six-pointers against the Beaver Falls eleven.

Four different players caught a pair of TD passes in a single game.

Leach had a one-game high for extra points with six against Tech. He also had the second best mark with five against Geneva.

Grove City Dick Young had the circuit's longest TD run from scrimmage with a 27-yard jaunt against Geneva.

Geneva's quarterback Dan Frasier and end Jim Hallas combined for the league's longest scoring pass play with 66-yard job against Waynesburg.

Fullerton, Waynesburg halfback, had the longest touchdown run with an intercepted pass and a 71-yard scamper against Geneva. Teammate Jerry Washington, a halfback, had the longest touchdown run with a punt and a 60-yarder against Tech.

Tackle Harry Kent of Grove City, went 25-yards with a recovered fumble against Geneva to lead in that department.

Westminster scored the season's lone safety against Grove City.

Carmichaels, Rostraver, Co-Champions In WPIAL Class A Playoff, Friday

Fifty-five hundred fans braved a cold heavy rain Friday night in Uniontown to see Carmichaels Area and Rostraver Township battle for the Class A WPIAL championship — a battle which ended in a scoreless tie and the teams became co-champions.

Carmichaels' Glenn Ellsworth and Rostraver's Wayne Hewitt and Jesse Burkes lived up to their reputations as foxy ball carriers. The Mikes defensive trio, Joe Lenczewicz, Frank Menhart and Joe Taffoni put up a strong wall.

Rostraver had eight first downs to Carmichaels' three.

The Mikes' first downs all came in the second period.

Rostraver once reached the Carmichaels 24 in the first half, but a fourth-down fumble at that spot was recovered by Ed Vuknic, who turned in an excellent job of linebacking for the Mikes.

Carmichaels biggest moment came on the second-half kickoff when Ellsworth scooped up the slippery pigskin on his own 23 and shedding tacklers all around him, streaked 53 yards to the Rostraver 24, where Burkes nailed him out in the open on a roll-over tackle from behind. The Mikes surrendered the ball when Bob Atcheson's fourth-down pass to Jim Stewart was a yard short of the sticks on the 15.

Lineups:

Rostraver—0
Ends: Simmons, Senich.

Tackles: Peto, Giambra, Gillingham.
Guards: Ruth, Steiner, Yowonski.

Center: Dudgeon.
Backs: Sullenberger, J. Burkes, Stebbans, Hewitt, Gravitte, Blick, Pavelko, K. Burkes, Hughes.

Carmichaels—0
Ends: Stewart, Fedorka.
Tackles: Lenczewicz, Taffoni.
Guards: Menhart, Halterman.
Center: Vuknic.
Backs: Atcheson, Ellsworth, Kuchinsky, Zalar, Boggio.

Statistics for College Gridiron

THE 1962 Waynesburg College grid team, which slipped a notch to a 5-3 record after a 6-2 season in 1961, did not dominate the statistics against its opponents as it did a year ago.

The Yellow Jackets of coach Pete Mazzaferro opened the campaign with wins over Geneva (33-6), Ferris Institute (19-14), Carnegie Tech (26-6), St. Vincent (34-14), and Marietta (22-12) to claim a seven-game win streak over part of two seasons.

Then the Orange and Black hit a three-game losing streak with losses from Westminster (13-12), Muskingum (26-6), and Lafayette (10-0).

The one-point loss to Westminster cost the Yellow Jackets a deadlock for the West Penn Conference with the Titans.

Last season the gridders completely dominated the opposition as far as points (125-49), first downs (98-75), total yards (2,211-1,352), and total plays (470-412) were concerned.

Things tightened up this fall with Waynesburg leading in points (151-100) and total yards (1,899-1,760) but trailing in first downs (102-96) and total plays (464-417).

Last season the standout Orange and Black defense led in passes intercepted (15-9), yards interceptions returned (139-63), and opponents fumbles recovered (12-7).

This time around the Yellow Jackets led by slim margins in yards interceptions returned (124-105) and opponents' fumbles recovered (12-11), but trailed in passes intercepted (11-9).

COUPLE MILLION HOLES

TULSA, Okla. — Nearly two million wells have been drilled for oil or gas since petroleum production began in this country. The Independent Petroleum Association of America put the total as of Jan. 1, 1962, at 1,869,299—of which 28.2 per cent were dry holes.

WAGON FREIGHT CHARGES

In 1818, ten wagons a day carried goods from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh. Freight charges were $7 per 100 pounds.

Report of U. S. Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen on the Second Session of the 87th Congress:

American citizens up to $10,000. Also included were the earmarked funds of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, the Federal Home Loan banks, and the Housing and Home Finance Agency. Republicans were instrumental in completely defeating this dangerous financing proposal and in greatly reducing the funds.

The Republican policy committee unanimously adopted a declaration against this financing procedure on the grounds that it would jeopardize the financial stability of the agencies concerned and would constitute a unique and peculiar method of back-door deficit spending.

Thereafter, when the measure came to the floor of the Senate not a single Democrat chairman voted for it, and 11 of the 16, including the majority leader, voted against it. The Senate vote was 44 to 32.

As approved by the Senate, the $2.6 billion requested by the administration was cut by $1.1 billion to $1.5 billion, $750 million of which was allocated to the standby program. The House accepted the Senate bill but eliminated the standby program entirely because in any emergency the Congress would obviously be in session. The House authorized instead $900 million for an immediate program, $300 million of which would be allocated for public works in areas designated by the Secretary of Commerce as distressed areas. The remaining $600 million would go to areas designated by the Secretary of Labor as having substantial unemployment in at least 9 of the preceding 12 months. The Senate accepted the revised version.

Because it was recognized that a program of this type in an election year could be used for partisan purposes, the Democrat floor manager of the bill put through the Senate an unprecedented unanimous consent request: "That the Record reflect it to be the sense of the Senate that this bill be administered on a basis that will be free of any partisan favoritism by any agencies of Government having responsibilities under it."

The bill which has now become law is a much better bill than that proposed by the Democrat administration and will, because of responsible Republican action, provide work for those who need it and to whom we owe the responsibility of providing employment and an opportunity to earn a decent wage.

The public works appropriation for fiscal year 1963 included, besides funds for the special accelerated public works program, funds for regular projects of the Department of the Army, the Bureau of Reclamation of the Department of Interior, for the Atomic Energy Commission, the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The final appropriation was $5,067,589,400, over $500 million below the 1963 estimate of $5,651,761,000. The final action was taken by the Senate. 64 to 8 which serves all or part of 18 Western Pennsylvania counties, and Monongahela Power, which serves northern West Virginia.

West Penn Power

From the new station, the line will run northeast to the other new station near the Armstrong-Indiana county border, to be built by companies of the Pennsylvania-New Jersey-Maryland interconnection. This line will have a junction with West Penn Power's existing transmission facilities near Yukon, Pa., in Westmoreland County. This 130-mile section of the extra-high voltage line will cost approximately $17,500,000, and will be built largely by West Penn.

Two circuits of 500,000 volts each will run eastward from the new Armstrong county station, to be known as Keystone Station. One of about 225 miles will run to the Philadelphia area, and the other about 300 miles to terminals in northern New Jersey and the New York metropolitan area. Cost of these lines will be about $100,000,000.

Keystone Station, to cost about $175,000,000, will be a 1,600,000-kilowatt power plant, the largest in Pennsylvania and one of the largest in the nation. Its vast coal needs will come from Armstrong and Indiana Counties.

The Allegheny Power System station, which will cost about $57,500,000, will have a 500,000-kilowatt generating unit. It is expected to burn over 40,000,000 tons of coal over its life, using as much as 1,350,000 tons annually in its early years of operation. It will be the largest generating station on the Allegheny Power System.

A number of advantages cited by Mr. Drumm include substantial operating economies that are important in maintaining low cost electric service, better balancing of power loads between systems to minimize reserve capacity requirements, and improvement in reliability of service.

Mr. Drumm also announced that seven additional interconnections at somewhat lower voltage between Pennsylvania-New Jersey-Maryland companies and West Penn Power with its affiliates in the Allegheny Power System began continuous operation this month.

ready on the books—the Kerr-Mills Act—a true medicare law which is in effect in over half of the States so far. This law, in cooperation with the States, provides for doctors, surgeons, nursing homes, and other measures, leaving it to the people of the States, instead of the Federal bureaucracy, to administer medicare. The so-called medicare bill was not, as alleged by the Executive, defeated by Republicans and a "handful of Democrats." It was defeated with one-third of the Democrats present voting against it, among them 10 of the 16 chairmen of standing Senate committees. I would call this a "truckload" of Democrats, not a "handful," and would comment that we Republicans were happy to have them help defeat a measure recognized by the public as unhelpful. The final Senate vote was 52 to 48.

Communications Satellite

Liberal Democrats had long opposed filibusters on civil rights by southern Democrats, loudly and emphatically. These liberals completely reversed themselves and proved to the world at large that they are willing to eschew principle if it serves their purpose.

At the time the Democratic liberals began a protracted filibuster, the communications satellite bill had passed the House by a vote of 354 to 9. It had been given careful consideration in five committees of the Senate. It had been described by the President as having been "carefully drafted" and "the most effective way of providing for the development of a communications satellite." It had the support of interested agencies of the Government, including the State and Defense Departments.

The bill provided for the creation of a communications satellite corporation which would operate for profit and not as an agency of the U. S. Government. Shares of stock would be offered in equal amounts to the public and to FCC-authorized communications common carriers at a price initially not in excess of $100 per share. The corporation would have a 15-member board of directors, 3 of them appointed by the President and subject to Senate confirmation, 6 to be elected annually by stockholders who were not communications carriers, and only the remaining 6 to be chosen by the common carriers participating in the enterprise. The president and other officers would be elected by the board members.

All of the development of the satellite in the field of communications had been carried out by private enterprise at tremendous cost. The Government's participation had been the development of missiles or boosters employed in getting the satellites into orbit.

This traditional American system of private enterprise under reasonable Government regulation is the obvious method of dealing with the future of such space satellites.

Thanksgiving Was Pagan Festival

The Pilgrims were joining some strange company when they declared a Thanksgiving celebration in 1621. For the practice of giving thanks for a plentiful harvest goes back almost to the time when man first gave up wandering and hitched himself to a plow.

Along the Mediterranean, ancient peoples held festivals at harvest time in honor of a mother goddess. The Semites called her Astarte, while the Phrygians named her Semele. The Romans honored Ceres, the goddess of agriculture, in a celebration called the Cerealia. And the Greeks paid tribute to Demeter in secret rites called the Eleusinian Mysteries.

Christianity put an end to many of these festivals, but a pagan-inspired belief in the Corn Mother, or the Mother of Grains, survived among some peasants in the British Isles and Europe. Her spirit was thought to live in the last sheaf of grain left standing in the field.

In northern England, the last handful of corn was the "kirm," and sometimes it was fashioned into a "kirm doll." In Austria it was shaped into a wreath and placed on the head of a girl who became the harvest queen.

During the Middle Ages the most common thanksgiving and harvest festival was held on the Feast of Saint Martin of Tours, or Martinmas, on November 11. People throughout Europe still celebrate the day with feasts and new wine.

The Pilgrims probably became familiar with this celebration when they went to Holland to escape persecution in England, and it may have been the remembrance of this holiday that inspired them to hold a thanksgiving feast after their first prosperous year in the New World.

Register for Holiday Jobs

Now is the time to register for holiday employment, Paul Corder manager of the Waynesburg office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service, has reminded residents in this area.

At the same time he urged employers to keep his office at 598 East High Street, informed of their special worker needs during the holiday season as well as of all their job openings throughout the year.

"The local office maintains lists of qualified workers in all fields," Mr. Corder stated. "Through its testing procedures the Employment Service has applicants to the jobs for which they are best suited."

Mr. Corder noted that among persons already registered for holiday work are many college students who will be available during combined term and holiday vacations. Holiday workers also will come from the ranks of the unemployed and from housewives not usually in the labor market, he said.

Cuba Crisis Cost Near $100,000,000

WASHINGTON — The cost of the Cuba crisis has been estimated officially at about $100,000,000.

The Budget Bureau, which provided this assessment, described it as "the roughest kind of allowance." And it emphasized that the amount would increase should the situation in the Caribbean take a turn for the worse.

Most of the money will be used to pay reservists called to active duty and troops retained beyond normal release dates, to operate and maintain the Cuba arms blockade, to finance aerial surveillance of the island, and to move men and equipment to the southeastern part of the United States.

electric cooking is white glove clean! The best way to describe the cleanliness of electric cooking is "white glove clean." Because it's fumeless, flameless, electric cooking keeps kitchens cleaner. Makes that part of housework a snap. Cooking electrically is a snap, too. All you need is the right recipe; the cooking's automatic. Just set the controls. For cleanliness and cooking perfection, there never was a match for flameless electric cooking. Try it!
