Scranton Takes Oath With Plea For Unity

WILLIAM W. SCRANTON

RAYMOND P. SHAFER

William W. Scranton took over the State Government shortly past noon Tuesday, in Harrisburg, with a ringing plea for unity of executive and legislative branches to bring about a new era in Pennsylvania progress.

Within a few moments after the oath was administered at 12:08 p. m. by Chief Justice John C. Bell, Jr., of the State Supreme Court, Scranton said, in an 11-minute inaugural address, that Pennsylvania should have the wisdom to retain the beneficial aspects of its government and demonstrate the courage "to change what should be changed."

More than 13,000 Pennsylvanians jammed the State Farm Show building arena to witness the colorful swearing-in ceremonies attended by Republican and Democratic state, congressional and legislative officials, high-level Republican leaders and rank-and-file party workers.

Among the notables present were three former Republican governors, Arthur H. James, Edward Martin and James H. Duff, and the retiring Democratic Governor David L. Lawrence.

Scranton drew a parallel between the problems which faced Pennsylvania after it was founded by William Penn nearly 300 years ago and the vexing matters of the 20th century.

"Yes," he said, "the challenges were different faces. Problems assume different guises. But truly we hold the same trump cards—resourcefulness, imagination, fortitude. And one more—faith."

The Governor described how Pennsylvania responded to the 17th Century promise of William Penn's holy experiment; how it nurtured an 18th century Ben Franklin and became the cradle of liberty; how it was strengthened in the 19th century by an "influx of brave, stout hearts from the Old World," and how it remained basically strong and vital in the 20th century "despite a buffeting from history's greatest technological revolution."

Then he said: "Don't tell me that Pennsylvania can't lick its problems, because I know it can." Mr. Scranton will outline his industrial development program before the Legislature on January 28.

Scranton said that Pennsylvania, in its fight for progress, still had its "God-given natural resources, the same advantages for commerce and industry, the same progressive spirit that

New Peace Corps Plan Advanced By President

WASHINGTON—The Kennedy administration is moving toward establishing a domestic peace corps program next month.

President Kennedy has given the project a general go-ahead. In his State of the Union address Monday he called for a national volunteer effort to attack social problems at home, according to informed sources.

A committee, headed by Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, who originally proposed the domestic peace corps, has found the project practical and "legislatively feasible."

Their report indicated that the welfare agencies and state governments most likely to use and work with such a program have strongly endorsed it.

Barring complications, the President is expected to issue an executive order establishing the program about February 1 and to send necessary legislation to Congress at that time.

Officials said that what the study group plans is setting up an independent agency with 200 to 500 volunteers on the job later this year. It would build up to about 5,000 volunteers over the next three years.

The hope is that some projects will be under way by the time Congress is called upon to vote on an appropriation for the program, probably some time this summer.

Mayor Richard Lee of New Haven has offered his city as a testing and training ground for the new program. Officials in a number of states, particularly in Kentucky, have expressed a desire for volunteers and have submitted model projects to work on.

With an eye on the administration's commitment to a major tax-cut and economy in government this year, the study group is recommending a low-cost program to the President.

The initial outlay is expected to be under $3 million but eventually growing to about $25 million when the project reaches maturity.

The exact figures depend considerably upon how much mustering-out pay is given to volunteers. Recommendations currently range from $200 to $900, officials close to the project said.

Foreign Peace Corps volunteers are paid $75 a month, or a total

U. S. Senators Once Again on Radio and TV

WASHINGTON—Senator Hught Scott, Republican, Pennsylvania, resumed his bi-weekly radio-television report series with Senator Joseph S. Clark, Democrat, Pennsylvania, Sunday with an apology to Clark.

In the script for the show taped in advance for Pennsylvania radio and TV stations, Scott said at the outset that there was a "matter of conscience" on his mind.

He said that although he felt he stayed pretty well within the rules of political debate during the 1962 fall election campaign he thought that in the excitement toward the end he "went over the line" in associating Clark "with the views of groups with which he was not necessarily in sympathy."

"I had no way of knowing this and I should not have said it," said Scott. "For that I apologize to you, Joe. I want it made clear to the audience that these kind of things don't happen and shouldn't happen, but they do."

Clark thanked Scott for the apology, adding:

"People do get pretty excited in the course of a campaign, and any sense of resentment I might have had because of what you said is certainly gone, and maybe it went because I won."

A Scott aide said later that Scott would not enlarge on whatever the remarks were that he thought offensive to Clark, attributing the whole thing to the "intensity of campaigning in the last few days before election."

In their initial radio-TV show of this year—the fifth they have participated together—Clark and Scott announced jointly their intention of supporting whatever

Carmichaels Bank Opens Drive-In

The First National Bank of Carmichaels opened a drive-in bank at the Mapletown-Greensboro crossroads, on Monday.

Jack Bleakney, formerly of Waynesburg and now of Carmichaels, who has been associated with the First National Bank of Carmichaels for three years, is in charge. He is assisted by Vaughn Nickler of Greensboro, who has been associated with the bank four months.

All banking operations are available to patrons for their convenience.

The drive-in has two windows and also a walk-in window. It is one of the most modern in southwestern Pennsylvania.

State Highways Fires 25 Men for 'Irregularities'

Twenty-five Pennsylvania State Highways Department employees of District 12 were discharged Monday due to "irregularities in expense account procedures."

Investigation was conducted by the State Attorney General Morton Stahl, and results were given to Secretary of Highways Park H. Martin, on Friday.

Names of those discharged were withheld and will remain unidentified unless legal action is taken.

Several of the men are believed to be Greene County residents.

Four of the employees were under civil service and were classified as surveyor assistants with yearly salaries of $4,121 to $5,268. The others were not under civil service, and do not have the right to appeal dismissal.

N. G. Bell is head of District 12, located in Uniontown, who stated investigation is being made in order to have the money returned to the state.

It is believed the irregularities had been going on for some time since most of the amounts were around $1,000.

It is reported that the men, who were mostly in surveying crews, would rent a large room, paying a dollar each, then put in their expense account charges for a single room.

'We'll Match You' West Virginia Says

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—State Road Commissioner Burl A. Sawyers has asserted that West Virginia will match Pennsylvania's vigor in completing Interstate Route 79 from the border to Charleston.

His statement came on the heels of a promise by Henry D. Herral, incoming Pennsylvania secretary of highways, to speed buildup of the link between Erie, Pa., to the West Virginia border.

Mr. Sawyers said the interstate crossing of the 136-mile road, near Mt. Morris, Pa., a few miles northwest of Morgantown, W. Va., had been "practically decided."

Pennsylvania already has completed a short segment of the four-lane, divided highway as part of the Washington, Pa., bypass. Other work north of the W. Va. state line will commence next spring.

Innes' Paintings In St. Lawrence Show

A collection of the paintings of James Innes, assistant professor of art at Wayneburg College, will be exhibited by St. Lawrence University, Canton, N. Y., from February 4, to March 13.

The exhibition is in connection with the Festival of Arts held every spring semester at the university. Each year St. Lawrence presents programs in the performing arts as well as in the fine arts and literature. Later events in the year include drama, music, and a large exhibition of contemporary painting.

The show of the paintings of Mr. Innes will be held in the galleries of the new student union on the campus. Included will be work in Chinese ink and in casein.

Mr. Innes received his B. F. A. and M. F. A. degrees from the Kansas City Art Institute.

Hartley Named Director of Bank

William H. Hartley of Rice's Landing, Greene County superintendent of schools, was elected a director of Rice's Landing National Bank at the annual shareholders' meeting Saturday. He fills the vacancy of A. J. Tapper, who is now employed outside the state.

All officers and directors were reelected.

Officers are Isaac Moredock, president; Russell McKee and John W. Clarchick, vice presidents; William W. Lopp, executive vice president and cashier, and Jack Bayard, assistant cashier.

Directors, in addition to Mr. Hartley, are Isaac Moredock, John W. Clarchick, Russell McKee, Lee D. Albacher, Leroy Ross and John Lucas.

One of the first signs of spring is the stirring of candidates who will stand for nomination in the primary election.

All county offices, with the exception of judge and sheriff, will be at stake this year.

Petitions may be taken out February 26, and must be filed by March 18.

District Attorney Glenn R. Toothman, Jr., of Waynesburg, has announced he will not seek nomination again for his office. Mr. Toothman stated he had tried to serve residents of the county to the best of his ability and expressed his appreciation of having been elected two times.

John B. Carter, who has served five terms as county commissioner, and who has also been Republican county chairman for a number of years until last spring, also has announced that he will not be a candidate.

Herman Gugliotta of Dilliner, Democratic commissioner for two terms, has announced he will again be a candidate in the primary.

Emil Fox of Waynesburg, ex-sheriff of Greene County, will also seek nomination for commissioner on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Fox was defeated by only 115 votes the last time. He is head of the county surplus food office.

Leroy Titus, county treasurer, who by law cannot succeed himself in that office, has not announced, but probably will be a

Robena Disaster Inquiry to be Held Underground

A public hearing into the Robena No. 3 coal mine explosion that killed 37 men, ended Tuesday after testimony from the last two witnesses.

Meanwhile, preparations are being made for underground tests in an attempt to duplicate conditions that prevailed when the blast occurred December 6, at the mine's Frosty Run shaft.

Lewis Evans, outgoing State Secretary of Mines, said these tests may require several days. After that, he added, it may take a week or so to compile all the information obtained at the hearing into a final report.

Mr. Evans, who will serve as a special consultant to Governor William W. Scranton until the report is completed, pointed out that the primary purpose of the hearing was to "get enough information to prevent future disasters."

The U. S. Bureau of Mines issued a similar statement.

Jesse F. Core, U. S. Steel Corporation vice president for coal operations, issued a statement saying:

"With completion of the tests now going on underground, positive action will be taken to direct ventilation currents in such a manner that they will dilute and carry away any harmful gases generated and thus insure against a recurrence of such a disaster."

The underground tests are being made to check out a theory of Walter E. Cook, U. S. Steel's Frick district assistant general superintendent, that a crosscut was made in such a way as to disrupt ventilation and allow deadly methane gas to gather.

Earlier, W. A. Boyle, acting president of the United Mine Workers, had issued a statement in which he charged several safety practices had been often neglected in the Robena mines.

The final witnesses were electrician Donald Sherrow, who told how he started a fan in the Frosty Run shaft after it had stopped the day of the explosion, and Stanley Boskovich, general maintenance foreman and electrician, who described procedures for reporting of repairs needed on equipment.

During testimony on Monday, Mr. Evans remarked that poor ventilation existed at the mine prior to the explosion, and added that some changes in mining procedures probably would be necessary.

“And on the seventh day...”

“... God ended His work which He had made; and He rested on the seventh day from all His work which He had made.

“And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it He had rested from all His work which God created and made.”

4-H's Tally Year's Work On Dairy Projects

Raising dairy cattle and demonstrating the use of dairy products in meals are popular 4-H Club projects. Hundreds of girls and boys throughout the state, in checking project results, are probably asking themselves the question a prize-winning dairy- maid asked herself.

“Where would I be today if I had not had the opportunity to join 4-H?” According to the youths' own stories, they learn good health habits, accept responsibility and work with others. And they usually profit from their efforts.

The dairy project is open to boys and girls who have one dairy animal or an established herd. Many young dairy members started with a single heifer, and in 10 years or less built a valuable herd.

Of the 134,000 club members in 50 states enrolled in a dairy animal project today, about a third are girls. This ratio held among the six national dairy scholarship winners last year.

Cows Cooperate

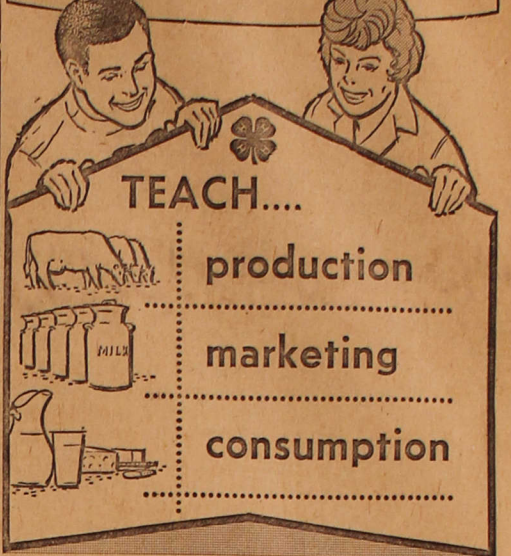

The 4-H's not only learn how to care for dairy animals, but also adopt proven scientific methods of feeding, milking, marketing and breeding.

Showing and judging cattle are exciting aspects of the dairy program, according to the members. Extension dairy specialists, dairy industry personnel and volunteer club leaders help the young people acquire know-how and skills that will enable them to continue a modern dairy operation.

Seeing Leads to Eating.

This year an estimated 200,000 club members from Maine to California are participating in the dairy foods demonstration program.

4-H CLUB DAIRY PROJECTS

The “know-how, show-how” project is a favorite of the younger teenagers. Sometimes the girls pair off and work up a team demonstration. Others develop a solo demonstration. Audiences range from a few club members, groups of adults, to television viewers.

Rewards Vary

Among favorite recipes are frosty milk drinks, cottage cheese salads, cakes, sandwich spreads, snacks and party fare. The recipes are double-barreled, youthful meal planners point out, because they are packed with nutrition and good eating.

Each of the 4-H dairy programs has a sponsor that provides incentive awards in the form of medals, wrist watches, educational trips and college scholarships.

This year marks the 15th anniversary of the dairy foods demonstration program sponsorship by the Carnation Company of Los Angeles.

The Oliver Corporation of Chicago, for the sixth straight year, provides the dairy animal program awards.

County, state and national winners are selected by the Cooperative Extension Service, and awards are distributed through the National 4-H Service Committee.

Greene County Has More Winners In State Farm Show

Following are additional awards won by Greene County exhibitors in the State Farm Show last week in Harrisburg:

Read the Bible, Methodists Urge

ATLANTIC CITY — Greater use of the Bible by all Americans was urged Thursday at the concluding session of the annual meeting of the National Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

A program to help make “the Bible come alive in the minds and hearts of the people,” was recommended by the editorial division to the general board. Dallas was chosen for next year's January 7-9 meeting at the final session in the Traymore Hotel.

The editorial division report noted “with deep concern the need of Americans, including Methodist Americans, for more adequate and meaningful Biblical knowledge.”

Opossums Take Easy Way

Among mammals, baby opossums are probably the most accomplished hitchhikers. They not only spend their early days in mother's pouch; they later become straphangers on her back.

Greene County Future Farmers, Homemakers Win

A homemaking demonstration titled "Trip Tips" won first place for the Future Homemakers of America of the Jefferson-Morgan Junior Senior High School, in a three day series of demonstra-tion by 26 competing schools at the State Farm Show, last week in Harrisburg. This placing car-ried an award of $65 according to an announcement by Mrs. Clio S. Reinwald, coordinator, Family, Migrant and Nursing Education, Department of Public Instruc-tion. Ten awards were given totaling $395 in prizes.

The demonstration was planned in November by the home-making teachers, Mrs. Ina Vance and Miss Lois Clarck and their students. The skit showed what to wear, how to choose clothes and accessories and how to pack for school or for travel. The girls who participated were Lynda Pyle, Patti Pogue and Dana Young. They were accom-panied to Harrisburg by the two homemaking teachers.

The demonstrations were judged on subject matter, prepara-tion, presentation and effective-ness.

The judges were: Mrs. Mildred Snowberger, Department of Public Instruction, Dover, Delaware; Miss Kathryn Keller, Mansfield State College, Mansfield, Pa., and Mrs. Sylvia Bergman, Pennsylv-ania Power and Light Com-pany, Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

The Waynesburg High School Future Farmers of America dem-onstration team presented a pro-gram showing the proper method of shearing a sheep. In taking third place, the team won $45.

Team members were James Smith, James McDougal, Allen Lemley, Kenneth Gattrell and Mike Yeager. They were accom-panied to Harrisburg by William Black who, with Ernest Closser, assisted the boys in preparing the demonstration. Mr. Black and Mr. Closser are vocational agricul-ture instructors.

The same demonstration team placed fourth in district competi-tion recently. Hempfield High School, the team which won in the district, placed sixth in state competition.

Greene County also had one boy in the 72-piece Future Farm-ers of America Band which pre-sented several concerts. He was Wayne E. Pyle, a trumpet player from Jefferson - Morgan High School. Musicians from 54 Penn-sylvania high schools played in the band, which was directed by James Dunlop, director of the Penn State "Blue Band."

March of Dimes Pioneers Plan To Improve Child Medical Care

Top-quality medical care, though often capable of changing the whole life prospects of infants and children with crippling dis-orders, is unavailable to the majority of these patients.

That is why The National Foundation-March of Dimes is pioneering with a project de-signed to remedy this situation by financing a network of more than 50 treatment centers across the nation for birth defects, arthritis and polio.

But fully twice this number of centers is needed because of the magnitude of the problem. This urgent need is one of the chief reasons for the current March of Dimes campaign here this month.

No other health organiza-tion in the United States, or for that matter not even the federal government, has at-tempted any such compre-hensive network of special treat-ment centers," Basil O'Connor, president of The National Foundation-March of Dimes, said recently.

"We invested a great deal of study and thought in this project before we began in 1960 with the three pilot units patterned after our polio re-spiratory centers," he added. "But even with all this plan-ning and preparation—which included medical conferences across the country—we did not foresee the full magnitude nor the urgency of the needs that these special treatment centers very soon brought to light."

Some Headway Made

"The thoughtful and com-passionate generosity of the American public has permitted the March of Dimes to make some headway in meeting the research and medical-care problems posed by 250,000 in-fants born each year in our country with major birth de-fects; and the 42,000 children and adolescents crippled by some form of arthritis or rheu-matic disease."

These treatment centers for birth defects, arthritis and polio, whose costs are borne directly by about 500 March of Dimes chapters as well as na-tional headquarters, are affil-iated with more than one-half of the medical schools in the United States. They are lo-cated from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Canadian to the Mexican borders.

'Health Teams' Used

Each provides continuous and comprehensive care for inpatients or outpatients by specialist members of "health teams." In the case of birth defects, this would often mean a pediatrician, a pediatric neu-rologist, urologist, orthopedist, physical therapist, medical social worker, psychologist or psychiatrist, and others. Simi-larly, all of the special medical and other skills needed for the research study and the treat-ment of arthritis are enlisted in the "health teams" at the arthritis centers sponsored by the March of Dimes.

These March of Dimes-financed centers are the set-ting sometimes for family dra-mas where emotions range from despair to jubilation. More than once have parents given up hope for their child only to find that early treat-ment has made it possible for their youngster to escape serious disability or death. It is so often a matter of prompt ac-tion and expert treatment that makes the difference.

In a review of the progress in scarcely two years of these special treatment centers, Dr. William S. Clark, director of the medical department of The National Foundation-March of Dimes, reported:

The Guiding Principle

"What we have been achiev-ing through our centers may seem breathtaking and mirac-ulous to some people. But the underlying principle involved here is really very simple. It has been the guiding principle of The National Foundation-March of Dimes throughout its first quarter century, the anni-versary of which we observe this month. It is this:

"Do something to prove that the best care can be brought out of our great medical cen-ters and hospitals to America's doorstep in every town and village, and the American pub-lic, seeing that it can be done, will demand that it must be done. That's the March of Dimes in a nutshell."

West Penn Again Matches Prizes For Development

Communities served by West Penn Power Company can look forward to extra "dividends for development" again this year.

The utility has announced that it will again match cash prizes won by communities in its service area in this year's $20,000 Pennsylvania Community Development Contest, now in its ninth year of providing a community betterment stimulus.

R. G. Lindquist, Jefferson dis-trict manager for West Penn said, "Actually, everyone gains in this contest. Each community that participates has the satisfac-tion of achieving useful improve-ments. For these accomplishing the most outstanding job, cash prizes are an added reward. Bet-ter yet, West Penn doubles the prize dollars."

The utility's "double dollars" policy, combined with its active support of community better-ment projects, has been a major factor in bringing the lion's share of prizes to Western Pennsylv-ania.

With only 10.8 percent of the state's population and 19.5 per-cent of its land area served by West Penn, 16 of the 35 cash prizes awarded in the 1961 con-test — or 46 percent — went to communities in the utility's ser-vice area. The $9,100 in contest winnings for these cities and towns was parlayed into a grand total of $25,650 by adding the matching awards of West Penn and 14 other civic-minded orga-nizations.

Every community in Pennsylv-ania is eligible to compete in the $20,000 contest, sponsored for the ninth year by the State Chamber of Commerce to stimulate com-munity-wide planning and im-provement. Contest entry blanks have been sent to "all public offi-cials, and commercial and civic groups engaged or interested in local improvement in every com-munity in the state."

Largest total winnings in the 1961 contest in West Penn's ser-vice area west to Point Marion, which set the pace in the Class E category (under 2,000 popu-lation) by claiming first prize of $1,500. This was matched by West Penn and Gallatin National Bank and partially by the Fayette County Development Council for a grand total of $5,000. To achieve this first place Point Marion or-ganized an industrial development corporation and assisted in recon-struction of manufacturing facili-ties at Houze Glass Company.

Waynesburg took second prize and $4,000 with its community center and industrial development activities.

In Class D (25,000 population) —New Bethlehem was a winner for the fourth consecutive year with its recognition of the com-

BIG DIPPER

This dipper, big as a two-car garage, is the business end of the world's largest mechanical shovel designed to uncover coal deposits in western Kentucky at the rate of 9,000 tons a day—enough to heat 7,500 homes for a month! Made possible by modern high-strength steels in critical parts, this 20-story monster, built by Bucyrus-Erie for the Peabody Coal Company, stands 90 feet higher than the Statue of Liberty. It is the largest mobile land vehicle ever built and has a capacity twice that of the 77 mechanical shovels used to excavate the Panama Canal.

March of Dimes Leaders Named For Mothers' March

"The 25th anniversary March of Dimes which is currently under way, promises to be very successful," James Hook, Greene County March of Dimes chairman, said Wednesday in appointing volunteer leaders from 27 communities in the county.

The volunteers are women who will serve as area chairmen in their areas for the Mothers' March phase of the January campaign.

The annual house-to-house canvass will be held throughout the county January 29 and 30.

The community chairman, Hook explained, will in turn recruit other women in their area to assist in the campaign.

"All of the volunteers in the Mothers' March know how important their job is, even though it will take only an hour," Hook said. "Every woman realizes that her efforts will help people to give for the life of a child."

March of Dimes donations will be used to help persons with birth defects and arthritis as well as to support research to find causes and preventives for those crippling conditions. They will go toward the care of thousands of persons who are still suffering from the paralytic effects of polio, with patient aid costs running to millions of dollars a year.

Hook pointed out that during 1962, the Greene County chap-land; and five sisters, Mrs. Mary Horwath, Lakewood, Florida; Mrs. Anna Tekavec and Mrs. Pauline Michaels of Streetsboro, Ohio; Mrs. Helen Barnish and Mrs. Margaret Kugns of Crucible.

Biggest Householder

WASHINGTON—The Federal Government owns 421,360 buildings, according to the 1962 Statistical Abstract of the United States.

'Have a good day!'

THE morning rush hours in large cities where thousands travel the same routes to work each day are somewhat disturbing to many. Whether travel is by commuter train, by bus or automobile, or by some other means of transportation, there always seem to be too many people going in the same direction at the same time. Consequently, elbowing, pushing, crowding, frayed nerves, and exploding tempers seem to be the order of the day.

One morning the writer paused for a moment at a point where hundreds leave their transportation and hurry off to their respective places of business. As he observed the people rearranging themselves and regaining their composure, he also noticed, and was pleasantly surprised at, the frequency with which friends would leave each other with a genuine smile and the happy phrase, "Have a good day!"

As he pondered this later, he realized how full of meaning such a declaration was. It was as though every individual were endeavoring to encourage his friend to forget the mad rush just behind him and to embark happily upon the duties of the day, thoroughly expectant of good.

In today's busy world, in which the thought predominates that men need to compete for everything, even for their places in public transportation or on the public highways, a clash of thoughts and acts often appears unavoidable. In such cases the pleasant reminder, "Have a good day!" is a fitting climax to such an experience. On the other hand, if one were to begin his day with that thought, he would no doubt avoid the experience of hurry altogether.

Many individuals, before setting out for work or doing whatever it is their lot to do, begin their day by strengthening themselves spiritually with the truths of God and man which they find in the Bible. This is particularly true of students of Christian Science, who find much promise in such statements as this one (Ps. 118:24): "This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it."

Mary Baker Eddy discovered Christian Science and founded it on the spiritual teachings of the Bible. For example, in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," she gives the spiritual definition of the word "day," part of which reads as follows (p. 584): "The irradiance of life; light, the spiritual idea of Truth and Love." Then she adds, "The objects of them and sense disappear in the illumination of spiritual understanding, and Mind measures time according to the good that is unfolded."

To "have a good day," then, in the light of Christian Science, one must separate from the mass of human affairs the duties with which one is directly concerned. Then by applying the spiritual understanding that man is the reflection of God, one sees that these duties are really the unfoldment of God's plan and are measured and controlled by Him and that one has God-given intelligence and ability to perform these duties with a high degree of success. For all the avenues and incidents leading up to and following one's opportunity to be engaged in these duties hint God's plan and must be filled with the right thought of place, the assurance of protection, and the evidence of divine control.

Therefore to "have a good day" stems from right thinking, and as a result of the activity for good that this promotes in one's life, one learns to look upon every day as the unfoldment of the Lord's day, blessed with the opportunity to "rejoice and be glad." — The Christian Science Monitor.

Auto Plates Extended in State

HARRISBURG — The State Revenue Department said Friday present vehicle license plates will be used for another year.

The plates were issued in 1958, for a projected five-year period. Under the schedule, new plates would have been issued this year.

"The condition of the plates has exceeded our fondest expectation," Revenue Secretary Charles M. Dougherty said in a statement announcing the extension, "and it is now clearly evident that in the interests of economy the tags will survive several more years of use."

Dougherty estimated that the state is saving $1 million a year by using the small, pressure-sensitive stickers to signify annual renewal of the license plate fee.

ter of the National Foundation spent $2,600 to aid three children in the county who are still under treatment for polio, one child who has rheumatoid arthritis and one birth defect case.

Broiled Apple-Cheese Breakfast Sandwiches

Bright new breakfast dishes are popping up all over these days... all designed to lure us into eating the better breakfasts we need for the morning's work. First rate coaxers are these hot, open Apple-Cheese Breakfast Sandwiches.

They start their coaxing as they come gently sizzling from the broiler. One sniff of that savory apple-cheese, and appetite takes on keen edge.

You start with toast, topped with cheese. Then cover the cheese with plump, juicy canned apple slices and bacon strips and let the whole thing broil until the cheese is melting, the apple slices hissing hot, the bacon crisp. What a rousing send-off on the day!

|----------------------------------|---|
| 2 1/2 cups (1 can) sliced apples | 8 bread slices |
| 1/2 cup sugar | 1/2 pound sharp American cheddar cheese |
| 1/4 cup water | 16 bacon strips |
| 2 teaspoons lemon juice | |

Combine apple slices, sugar, water and lemon juice; cook gently until apple slices are almost transparent but still firm; drain. Toast bread slices on one side; cover untoasted side with cheese slices. Cover with apple slices; top with bacon slices. Broil until cheese melts and bacon is crisp. Makes 8 open sandwiches.

Waterford Park Advances Opening

The West Virginia Racing Commission has amended the Waterford Park license, originally slated to open on March 30, granting permission to open racing two weeks earlier, starting Saturday, March 16 and running through Saturday, May 18.

The earlier starting date was agreed upon by management in order to provide racing for the many horsemen now at Charles Town who will be unable to race elsewhere at the time. Then too, there are upwards of 200 thoroughbreds now in training at Wheeling Downs and the horsemen there are looking forward to the earliest starting date possible.

Stall applications are now being put into the mail along with tentative dates for the remainder of 1963 at Waterford Park. This is in an extensive schedule that includes almost continuous racing from March 16 through September 2.

PAUL STANEK

Stanek Named To All-America

Four West Penn Conference football players have been named to the 1962 All-American team as selected by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Larry Pugh, 6-1 235-pound sophomore great at Westminster, won a first-team position as offensive guard on the team picked from 325 football-playing schools in the NAIA.

Honorable mention picks were offensive fullback Paul Stanek of Waynesburg, offensive halfback Wayne Swift of Westminster, and safety man Herb Ellis of Westminster.

All four players were named to the West Penn Conference All-Star Football Team the past season.

Pugh and Swift were unanimous selections. Ellis, who quarterbacked the Titans to the conference crown, was selected Player-of-the-Year.

Dick and Ben Repeat Victory

HARRISBURG—Dick and Ben, 4,800 pounds of horse-power, captured top honors Thursday night for the second year in a row in the heavyweight horse pulling contest at the 47th annual Pennsylvania Farm Show.

The two geldings, owned by William Eckles of Washington, R. D. 4, dragged the equivalent of 3,250 pounds 27½ feet.

A standing room only crowd of 10,000 clogged the spacious farm show arena as Eckles drove the team, largest in competition, to the repeat victory.

Jacket Wrestlers Win, 26-8, Over California

Waynesburg Yellow Jacket matmen downed California State Teachers Thursday night in the local gym, 26 to 8.

Pinning for Waynesburg were Tony Gusic, 130; Joe Simon, 137; Bill Coulter, 157 and Mike Zrimm, 167. The decisions were by Bill Taggart, 123, and Gene Arrigoni, 177.

California winners were Pete Belch, 147, by a decision and Bill McPherson, heavyweight, by a fall.

The win gives Bucky Murdock's team a 2-0 record to date and put California at 3-3.

Simon scored the quickest fall of the evening pinning Jim Dumpman at 2:25 with a body press and arm lock in the 137-pound bout.

McPherson, a former Cumberland Township High football star, was impressive in his win over Waynesburg's Bob Gary, getting the fall in 2:36.

Lame Horse Buried With His Mistress

BALTIMORE—Dixie Boy, aging mount of a well-known Maryland horsewoman was put gently to sleep Monday so he could be buried with his mistress.

Miss Grace Berger, who rode Dixie Boy in many leading horse events, died, apparently of a heart attack, Friday.

Under terms of her will, Dixie Boy, now lame, sick and 23 years old, was given a fatal injection by a veterinarian. Miss Berger requested in her will that he be buried with her in the family plot at Waynesboro, Pa. Apparently she feared he would not be cared for properly after her own death.

When she failed to appear at his stall Friday, Dixie Boy looked downcast. By Sunday, he was down in his stall and made no effort to rise. He refused all food.

Receive Awards At Mercersburg

MERCERSBURG — Stephen Walker, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Carl Walker of Waynesburg, and John I. Hook, son of attorney and Mrs. John I. Hook, Jr. of Waynesburg, have received athletic awards in a recent assembly at Mercersburg Academy.

Headmaster William C. Fowle and Director of Athletics Leonard A. Plantz presented awards to nearly 200 boys at ceremonies marking the conclusion of the fall athletic program.

Letters and numerals were given to boys for their participation in three football teams, two soccer teams, and two cross-country teams.

Walker received a letter in cross country and Hook received an award in spider football.

Demonstrates Use Of Fire Equipment

John Gardner of Waynesburg Volunteer Fire Company demonstrated the proper use of fire extinguishers recently at Waynesburg College. Mr. Gardner demonstrated both the soda-acid and water-stored pressure-type extinguishers.

Attending the demonstration were house mothers and women residents of Denny and Walton Halls, other interested students, and several college administrative officers.

Several of the women from Denny and Walton Halls had an opportunity to use the fire extinguishers during the demonstration.

The college recently purchased nine water-stored pressure-type fire extinguishers for Denny Hall.

For Safer Winter Driving, Take a Tip From The Pros

FLINT, Mich. — Winter driving can be safe, enjoyable and more economical if you will follow the same basic rules used by a group of the nation's top drivers — Buick Motor Division's team of professional test drivers.

These expert drivers, operating at the General Motors Proving Grounds test track, Milford, Mich., have been driving day and night, summer and winter, for more than 33 years without a lost time accident. In this period, they've logged many millions of miles on new Buicks.

A. E. McManama, general supervisor of Buick's road test department, says there are certain fundamental rules followed by Buick's driving team for safe winter driving:

- 1 Snow and rain: "Both cause wet highways and wet highways are a hazard. Even more important, though, visibility is cut down by either element, and this is the factor that determines your safe driving speed."
- 2 Ice on highway: "It depends on the fraction you are getting," says McManama. "If we're not getting traction, we get off the road."
- 3 Safe speeds: "A good rule of thumb in rain or snow is cut your speed 10 to 15 mph below the 'Safe speed,' says McManama."
- 4 Clean, clear windows: "If your car stays outdoors at night, a cardboard or newspaper over the windshield (let the wiper blade hold it in place) will prevent your windows from frosting. In driving, an open vent will prevent your windows from steaming. Every window, plus the outside rear view mirror, should be clear."
- 5 Getting out of a skid: "If you're driving properly, you won't get into a skid," points out the Buick supervisor. "But if you do, DON'T touch the brakes. You have to steer yourself out of it, and you can do this only by keeping some traction."
- 6 Warming up your engine: "You should idle the engine a couple minutes to circulate the oil. Don't race the engine during this warm-up. When you start, do it at a reasonable speed. In the new Buicks, watch the green light on the temperature indicator. When this goes off, your engine is warm, and you can also turn your heater on."
- 7 Drive a clean car: "Winter darkness is more difficult to drive by than summer darkness. You don't have the light penetration. A car that becomes covered with salt and road dirt is difficult to be seen by an oncoming driver, particularly against a dull gray winter background. Keep your car clean for your own safety, as well as the car's protection."

McManama sums up safe winter driving in two words — "Be conservative." "If you think 55 mph might be safe on a wet road, then cut your speed to 40. If there's any question about being able to stay on an icy road, then pull off the road." "If winter drivers will just remember that they can't operate the way they do in summer, their motoring will be much safer, and more enjoyable, in spite of the weather," McManama says.

Brief Retirement

This being the time of year for predictions, as well as reviews, it is almost inevitable that a "Longden to Retire" story will be appearing. It's more likely, however, that John Longden will seek to regain his title as Santa Anita's winningest jockey. The one-time coal mine mule driver had galloped, grinning into the Santa Anita winner's circle no less than 853 times prior to the meeting that just opened, but the "Miracle Mile" home stretch can no longer be called "Longden Lane". A young upstart named Willie Shoemaker took title last season pushing his total of Santa Anita winners to 861. Be that as it may, since a day back in 1927 when a discouraged youngster of 15 borrowed tack including ill-fitting boots and a saddle to ride his first winner (Hustler Joe, at Billings, Montana), John Longden has ridden more than 5,700 winners, a world record. At about the time he became the first of eight riders to win more than 3,000 races, stories of his imminent retirement began to circulate. One story goes that the late John D. Hertz, Longden's friend and adviser on matters of Thoroughbred breeding and financial investment, once tried to persuade him to retire and enjoy his wealth. Longden admitted he'd always had a hankering to hunt big game so Hertz sent him on a safari to Africa. On his return, months later, Longden admitted it was good sport, but allowed as how race-riding was better. Hertz smiled, shrugged and released him from the agreement.

brought us greatness in other years, in other ages." But, he added, to assure moving ahead, "these things must be tapped."

"Resources and advantages and spirit must be put to work. Human courage and human hope must drive the motors of human effort and human toil.

"Some of Pennsylvania's problems can be solved soon. . . . Others can only be solved in time. But nothing will happen, nothing will move, unless the labor begins today."

The state government, he said, "has an obvious and vital role" in that labor. He declared that no one could convince him "our State is incapable of that labor" or that other states and governments were more capable than Pennsylvania.

Continuing: "In both the executive branch and in the Legislature, all of us must vow today to do our part to bring about a new era in Pennsylvania progress. We must have the wisdom to keep what should be kept, the courage to change what should be changed.

"With the help of God let us embrace the challenge, let us welcome the labor. Let us stand tall . . . as Pennsylvanians. Let us walk proudly . . . as Pennsylvanians.

"With these opportunities, Pennsylvania is on the march. Towards greatness for herself. Toward progress for her people."

Before his own induction, Scranton, and his wife, Mary, attended the swearing-in of Lieutenant Governor Raymond P. Shafer in the State Senate chamber. He was introduced but did not speak.

Clark pointed out that resumption of the TV-radio series is not a popular move with his political party this year, nor was it, he said, popular with Scott's Republican colleagues in 1961.

"But I think we both feel that it is in the public interest and that this should be the prevailing reason why we go ahead and continue it," said Clark.

munity-farm relationship and the bolstering of the community by providing new jobs, and new retail wholesale and manufacturing operations. This third place brought $1,100.

Indian Creek Valley, in Fayette County, was presented $1,200 for a variety of projects including a community recreation and picnic area, purchase of a fire hall, fire truck and ambulance, which contributed to a fourth place award.

South Connellsville took fifth place and $900 for its community park development and the formation of a community council.

Hermie came in sixth and won $400 for projects that included a community swimming pool, main street improvement and little league ball field.

In Class E (under 2,000 population)—In addition to Point Marion winning, Flatwoods, also in Fayette County, came in second and claimed $3,000 in prizes. The community built a swimming, picnic grounds and recreation area.

Each community entering the contest for the first time in 1963 will receive an attractive aluminum outdoor plaque designed for prominent hometown display and designating the community as an official participant in the state-wide contest.

"When citizens work together for community improvement, there is no limit to what can be accomplished," said the West Penn manager. "Our company, as a corporate citizen of the communities it serves, is happy to do its part in encouraging worthy community betterment programs."

of $1,800 in mustering out pay after two years of service. The study group recommends a one-year term of service for the domestic corps with an opportunity to re-enlist for a second year.

The staff report suggests a number of ways in which volunteers could be used to help "needy Americans." Among the jobs mentioned, sources said, are vocational guidance counseling for teen-age school drop-outs, serving as teachers aides and recreational workers in migratory labor camps, case assistants in mental hospitals, community development workers in areas of rural and urban poverty, or managing day care centers for children whose parents work or who come from broken homes.

You Can Overcome Winter Driving Hazards

Skidding causes more than half of all accidents on snowy or icy roads, as tires may lose all but 10 per cent of their grip. With less traction, there is less chance for a sudden move to duck out of a tight spot. Snow tires restore 27 per cent of lost friction, while chains restore about 40 per cent of full tire traction.

During winter, be prepared for a skid. Adjust speed to fit driving conditions. If your car should start to skid, keep calm and turn the steering wheel in the direction of the skid. Accelerate slowly and, at the same time, with your left foot pump the brake lightly. As the car begins to straighten out, gradually straighten the front wheels. Ease up on the gas pedal, letting the engine slow the car. If you must stop, continue pumping the brake lightly. Always avoid sudden turns, stops, and acceleration. Steering should be slow and smooth.

Safety experts at Johnsonville's Brake Linings Division maintain that the best way to slow a car on icy and snowy pavements is to pump the brakes. This recommendation is based upon brakes working effectively, which can be assured only by periodic inspection, proper brake adjustment and use of quality brake linings.

Check your brake system at slow speeds on dry roads. Brakes that grab, lock, drag or pull to one side are extra hazardous on ice or snow-covered highways. In addition, check condition of tires, windshield wipers, defroster, lights, directional signals and horn.

Practical motorists should: Head all warning signs and look out for vehicles stalled or out of control, particularly on hills. Keep your eyes on the road and observe traffic patterns ahead and to the rear. Consider the whole traffic pattern, not just the car immediately ahead.

Let honking motorists or those close to rear of your car or coming up fast, pass—they are far less dangerous in front.

Remember that wet ice at 32° is twice as slippery as at zero when it's dry.

Stand up and be counted in the fight against Communism

You, as a private citizen, can hit Communism where it hurts!

WHERE? Communism's weak spot! Eastern Europe—

In Eastern Europe 80,000,000 once free men and women still bravely resist Communist domination. Here, Communism is on the defensive. Here, many Russian divisions are tied down. This is where Communism is under greatest pressure. You can help keep this pressure on.

HOW? By supporting Radio Free Europe—Every day Radio Free Europe's 28 powerful transmitters broadcast news of the Free World, religious services, the plain truth to the brave people of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania. Armed with this truth, they represent a major obstacle to the Communist threat of world conquest. Eighty percent of them listen to Radio Free Europe despite Communist jamming. It is their strongest link with the future.

R.F.E. is a working weapon

Radio Free Europe is one of the Free World's major offensive weapons in the Cold War against Communism and Soviet aggression. But it needs money now to continue its work. As a privately supported, non-profit organization, Radio Free Europe depends on individual contributions from private citizens. Your help is needed. What's it worth to you to hit Communism where it hurts? Ten dollars? Five dollars? Give whatever you can . . .
