Economy Measures Necessary at Hospital

New Vice President Of College Trustees

Richard L. Baily of Carmichaels, was elected to the position of vice president of the board of trustees of Waynesburg College at a meeting Saturday, in Pittsburgh.

His election fills a vacancy created several months ago by the death of Judge Thomas H. Hudson of Uniontown.

Mr. Baily is president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Greene County and of the First National Bank of Carmichaels.

TB Society Gives Respirator to Local Hospital

The executive board of the Greene County Tuberculosis and Health Society on Tuesday voted to purchase a Bird-Mark Simplex 8, a respirator for use for patients suffering from obstructive lung diseases.

This gift is being made as a tribute to the late J. Russell Milliken, who served as president of the society for a number of years.

The board also voted a gift of $350 for the Pennsylvania Thoracic Society which is the research branch of the State Society and is engaged in important work relative to tuberculosis and various lung ailments.

The sale of Christmas Seals makes these projects possible as well as the free chest X-rays which are given in the county several times a year.

Those who have not yet sent in their contributions for Christmas Seals are reminded to do so as soon as possible.

Belgians Needed, Not U. S. Purse, Geographer Says

WASHINGTON—George H. T. Kimble, noted geographer, said Tuesday there's going to be chaos in the Congo for 30 or 40 years unless the Belgians return to help develop the country.

Kimble, a British-born scientist is professor of geography at Indiana University.

He said the idea of the Belgians going back "sounds ridiculous to many people," then commented: "But what's more ridiculous than having 20,000 U. N. people in the Congo, who aren't proving anything except that Uncle Sam has got a bottomless purse? I gather he's putting in $150 million of the $300 million that have been spent in the Congo operation already. And what have we got for it? Not a thing—not even the confidence of the Congolese."

Kimble said he saw no chance of stability coming to the Congo in the near future.

"You cannot expect stability in a country that is so ill-prepared for the responsibilities of self-government, and so beset by tempters and tyrants."

Asked what countries in Africa have a chance to make a go of it, Kimble mentioned Nigeria. He also included among others the Congo—with or without Katanga.

Greene County Memorial Hospital is cutting corners wherever possible in an effort to bring current expenses in line with present income, Eugene Strosser, administrator, has announced.

The hospital employs 220 persons, and ten have already been laid off in the economy move. Other adjustments in the personnel will be made soon.

Credit extension has also been tightened.

Room rates have not been changed, but as of the first of this month price increases have been made in the pharmacy, obstetrics, operating room and outpatient department.

Mr. Strosser stated this is the first price raise in these departments in three to five years.

He said a recent survey made by Blue Cross shows Greene County Memorial Hospital as having the fifth lowest per-patient day cost of 19 such institutions of the same size in Western Pennsylvania.

Financial difficulties are due to the fact that the state pays only $10 per day for welfare cases, whereas the hospital's cost per day for such a patient is $25.85, making the hospital take a loss of more than half of the patient's expense.

The hospital still has a $200,000 mortgage for construction of the new wing. Payment of this debt must come out of the operating income, which normally should be applied only to operating expenses.

The wing was necessary, Mr. Strosser said, in order to provide services the public demands and to keep the institution up to date.

Won't Begin at Home

Brock's 'Economy' Sours In Congress

WASHINGTON—Representative William E. Brock, Republican, Tennessee, reports an enthusiastic response—except from his colleagues—to his suggestion that Congressional pay be cut when the national budget is in the red.

"I've received lots of mail from all over the country," Brock said. "The idea was pretty enthusiastically received."

"How about on Capitol Hill?" "Well," he confessed with a grin, "the idea wasn't exactly warmly received among my colleagues, except for a few new members who think, as I do, that something should be done about the out-of-balance budgets."

Brock proposed a sliding pay scale for members of Congress, pegged to the budget. If the budget were out of balance one billion dollars, members of Congress would take 1 per cent cut in their $22,500 yearly salary. On the other hand, a one billion dollar surplus would result in a 1 per cent increase.

If the new budget is approved as President Kennedy proposes—$12 billion in the red—members of Congress would take a 12 per cent pay cut under the Brock plan.

Brock said he didn't believe his proposal had any chance of approval by Congress but "I think something should be done."

Phone Toll Cut Offered by Bell

WASHINGTON—Telephone users would be able to call anywhere in the United States for a dollar or less under new interstate night telephone rates proposed Tuesday.

The Federal Communications Commission announced that the Bell companies had offered the new interstate rates for the hours between 9 p. m. and 4:30 a. m.

To make up some of the cost, rates would be increased 5 or 10 cents on person-to-person calls up to 800 miles.

The rates, effective about April 1, still must be approved formally by the FCC. This was all but certain since the agency had asked the companies to adopt the "after 9 p. m." reduction plan. FCC Chairman Newton N. Minow lauded the plan.

Security Breakdown

Will It Happen Again?

In the light of recent events, we might ask ourselves how the United States got into such deep trouble in Cuba, and if steps have been taken to insure that we shall not see another communist takeover or a series of takeovers in this hemisphere?

At a presidential press conference last year, a well-known female correspondent raised a question as to whether a certain State Department official was a security risk.

The President reprimanded the reporter severely for asking the question, and subsequently the State Department issued heated statements to the effect that the reporter was all wrong.

Recently the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee investigated, then brought out these facts:

- This man was appointed to a position in the State Department for which his qualifications were highly doubtful.
- His starting salary in the State Department job was $7,000 a year. His salary in private employment at the time of his appointment was $3,120.
- He was appointed without a security check.
- His appointment actually was made effective before he even filled out his application forms.
- He falsified his job application by omission. When he later filled out an expanded personal history form, he falsified that by direct misstatement.

This individual had a hand in shaping U. S. policy with respect to Cuba both before and after Fidel Castro's takeover. He held a position which, by definition, made him one of the State Department's experts in Latin American affairs, and Cuban affairs in particular.

But, even to the day when Fidel Castro stood before the world as a self-proclaimed Marxist, the Senate report says, this official of the State Department never told his superiors officially that Castro was a communist surrounded by communist influence.

Yet, over a period of years, great quantities of solid intelligence came to this man's desk respecting the communist nature and connections of the Castro movement, of Castro himself and his principal lieutenants. The Senate committee was unable to document a single case in which the official passed any of this material up to his superiors or mentioned it as credible in any report or policy paper.

Instead, he became an active apologist for Fidel Castro, even to the point of openly contradicting intelligence officers who were attempting to brief a representative of the President of the United States about communism in the Castro regime.

Eventually, this official became the subject of a full-scale security investigation. Here is what the report of the Internal Security Subcommittee says:

"He was 'cleared' improperly (in the name of the Secretary) by an official who made no concurrent written record of either the clearance or the reason therefor, and who at the time of the clearance had not read either the security file (on the official) or even the official summary and evaluation of that file."

The Senate committee report adds: "Or else State Department records were arranged after (the official) had been mentioned at a presidential press conference, so as to show that he had been cleared several months before. There is substantial evidence that this may have been the case."

Unfortunately, there is no evidence that the State Department has taken any steps to close the security gap which allowed one man to operate in this manner. How many similar cases are there of which we know nothing? We are not speaking of this man's loyalty. We are speaking of his ability to represent the U. S. government.

As the Senate committee pointed out, this particular official "was not 'responsible' for the communists' Cuban takeover in the sense that he alone brought it about. Neither can he escape a share of the responsibility."

As of now, following publication of the Senate committee findings, this man is still retained in the State Department!

Paul R. 'Prexy' Stewart Resigns From College

President Paul R. Stewart of Waynesburg College has requested the college trustees that he be permitted to retire from that position as of June 30. Joseph W. Ray, Jr., Uniontown attorney, who is president of the board, made the announcement. Dr. Stewart will become chancellor in June.

Mr. Ray said, "it is with deepest regret that I must announce Dr. Stewart's intention to retire. When a leader such as Dr. Stewart, who has faithfully served as president for forty-two years and as a teacher for fifty-two, indicates that he wishes to retire, we cannot but honor his request. But we do so reluctantly and with our deepest appreciation to him for his complete devotion to the college and his wholesome influence upon the thousands of students who have attended Waynesburg during the last fifty years."

Mr. Ray stated that no successor has been decided upon at this time although the board of trustees will seek a man who is well qualified as an educator and administrator and who has had experience for this position.

In announcing his retirement plans, Dr. Stewart made this statement: "I want to thank my students, alumni, faculty, trustees, and friends for the invaluable help they have been to me as we have changed this college from a small institution in 1921, with an enrollment of 66 students, to the present student body of more than 1,000. Without the cooperation of all, we could not have changed from one building—A. B. Miller Hall—to

Council Passes 1963 Ordinances For Tax Levies

Waynesburg Borough Council Monday night unanimously passed a 17-mill real estate tax, five per cent amusement tax and a $5 per capita tax.

However, the one-mill merchantile tax on wholesale business and the 1.5 mill tax on retail business were passed by a seven to two vote.

All taxes are at the same rate as 1962 levies.

Councilmen William Stephan and Leslie Conkle voted against the merchantile tax, stating that it placed an unfair burden on borough merchants since the levy is made upon gross receipts. They also stated that a merchant might operate at net loss for the year and still be required to pay tax.

Mr. Stephan and Mr. Conkle pointed to the fact that an out-of-town merchant may operate in the borough without paying the tax.

An estimated $15,800 is obtained from the merchantile tax and it is needed to balance the budget.

A resolution authorizing council to borrow up to $23,000 during the next six months was passed. Of this amount, $7,228 will be used to pay for the new borough grader, with the balance needed to finance the borough's share of the cost of the new Purman Run Bridge.

The money will be borrowed at 4 per cent interest from the First National Bank and Trust Company with repayment being scheduled over a five-year period. Council instructed police to strictly enforce the ordinance that sidewalks must be cleaned within 24 hours after a snowfall.

Younkin's Service Station was awarded a contract to furnish oil products for borough vehicles and equipment on low bids of 22.4 cents a gallon for regular gasoline, 25.9 cents for premium gasoline, 30 cents a quart for regular oil, and 50 cents a quart for gear oil.

Mayor Roy (Buck) Shultz reported departmental earnings of $1,677.75 for January, broken down as follows: parking meter receipts, $1,313; parking fines, $106.75; motor fines, $10; borough fines, $108; amusement licenses, $140.

U. S. Seeking Site for Park

WASHINGTON—Senators Joseph S. Clark and Hugh Scott have introduced a bill in the Senate to acquire the site of the Jacob Graff house in Philadelphia for inclusion in the Independence National Historical Park.

Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence while a tenant in the Graff house. The site is now occupied by a hot-dog stand, but parts of the old building are still extant in Philadelphia on another site to which the building was moved. A group of citizens will raise the funds privately to reassemble the house on the original site if Congress approves purchase of the land. The building would be used as a library of documents of freedom.

SS Benefits At 60 Urged

WASHINGTON—Senator William F. Proxmire, Democrat, Wisconsin, Monday proposed lowering the Social Security retirement age to 60 to help reduce unemployment.

Under a bill drafted by Proxmire, a person could retire at 60 and receive two-thirds of his Social Security benefits.

"I'm aiming the Social Security retirement bill primarily at unemployment," Proxmire said in a statement.

"No one would be forced to retire early," he said, "but those who did would offer job opportunities for unemployed younger workers, many of whom have growing families and desperately need a chance to work."

He said people over 60 who lose their jobs find it almost impossible to get new ones. "We can take them off the growing unemployment lists without added cost to the taxpayer or the economy by lowering the retirement age and the pension benefits in proportion," Proxmire added.

Gas Refund In Area OK'd

HARRISBURG—Columbia Natural Gas Company next week will reduce rates by $466,000 annually and will begin the refund of $3,797,500 to 250,000 customers in Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania.

The reduction in costs, and the huge refund, will be made because of successful negotiation of lower charges by pipelines, won before the Federal Power Commission by the State Public Utility Commission and the City of Pittsburgh.

The rate reduction, which amounts to one-half cent per 1,000 cubic feet, is permanent. The refund, which will be spread over 12 months through reductions in billings, will amount to $11 for the average home heating customer and $2.04 for the non-heating customer.

In a related action, the PUC authorized Pennsylvania Gas Company of Warren to refund $698,000 to its 69,000 customers, and to reduce rates on a permanent basis by $356,000 annually.

State School Merger Foes Revising Bill

HARRISBURG—Legislative and administration officials began Monday to rewrite the state's controversial school district reorganization law.

"We have not agreed on any specifics as yet, but we hope to have some specific recommendations to make to the governor by the end of this week," said Lieutenant Governor Raymond P. Shafer.

Attending the session in Shafer's office were the chairmen of the House and Senate Education Committees, Representative Edwin D. Eshelman, Republican, Lancaster, and Senator Paul L. Wagner, Republican, Schuylkill; Attorney John D. Killian, counsel for the Department of Public Instruction, and James Reichley, Scranton's aide on legislation.

A measure is before the Senate to defer for one year the timetable for consolidating school districts as set up in a 1961 law.

The measure was amended last week, substituting the word "may" for "shall." The change raised speculation whether all the mandatory features of the law would be killed.

Tickets Available For G. O. P. Dinner

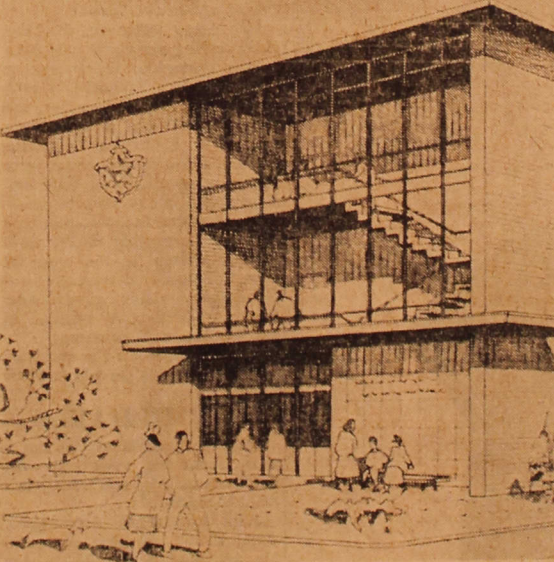

Governor William Scranton will speak at a Lincoln Day dinner at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday, February 12, at Win Coaches, Route 51, north of Uniontown.

The Republican committees of Greene, Fayette, Washington and Westmoreland Counties will sponsor the affair.

Tickets may be secured by calling 627-3961.

Hostesses from Greene County will be Mrs. Albert A. Sayers, Miss Catherine Sayers, Mrs. E. Bryan Jacobs, Mrs. Daniel McCoy and Mrs. T. S. Baily.

Proposed New Science Hall

Contract For 'Stewart' Science Hall Let To Crump, Inc., of Pittsburgh

Dr. Paul R. Stewart's dream of a fine science hall for Waynesburg College is a step closer to reality with the awarding of a contract to Crump, Inc., Pittsburgh, by the board of trustees at its meeting Saturday, in Pittsburgh.

It is a fitting climax to over half a century of service by Dr. Stewart. He will become the college's chancellor upon his retirement as president on June 30. Dr. Stewart was president for 42 years and a teacher for 52.

Crump, Inc., made a base bid of $988,900, which was $32,600 lower than the next one. Plans call for the shell of the five-story structure to be built with the first three floors to be completed for use in September 1964.

Cost of the approved plans will be $782,900, according to Charles B. Stoy, Jr., vice president for finance and business affairs. Completion of the upper floors will depend on the availability of funds.

"We are very pleased with the bids we received since even the highest bid was $50,000 less than we had anticipated," Mr. Stoy said. Bids were received from nine firms.

A bid of $105,830 for furnishings and equipment was offered by the Southern Desk Company, Hickory, N. C. This brings the total cost of the building shell and completion of the first three floors to $888,730.

Harding Thayer and Associates, Pittsburgh, is architect.

Electric Water Heater Works 24 Hours

Next to the homemaker the hardest-working occupant of any home is the electric water heater. Day and night, it labors away, producing hot water for hundreds of personal and household uses.

You can choose between a wide variety of modern electric water heaters that will provide an adequate and ever-ready supply of hot water. Among the most popular are the so-called "quick recovery" heaters. This is the engineer's way of describing a rather small unit which has tremendous capacity because it heats more water as quickly as it used. This development is particularly important in today's homes where space is limited.

To fit any homemaker's needs, the modern electric water heaters are available in both countertop and tank models. The latter can be installed in basements or utility rooms, while the countertop model is trimly designed to fit into the kitchen and look like another appliance.

The countertop models are available in a wide variety of materials and colors, and provide extra counter space in the kitchen.

Another prime advantage of electric water heaters is that it does not require a vent or flue. This enables you to put it anywhere in the house, even in the kitchen where it will be close to the sink, dishwasher, and possibly the laundry.

By bringing the water heater closer to where the hot water is used, shorter piping is required. This reduces the thermal loss, keeps the water hotter, is easier and less expensive to install.

California Asks Uncle Sam Pay Up

SAN FRANCISCO—California has dusted off an old bill and served it to the federal government—a $7½ million one dating from the Civil War.

It has to do with paying for troops and equipment to keep the Overland Trail and preventing the Confederates from pushing into Arizona and New Mexico.

At President Lincoln's urging says Attorney General Mosk, Californians coughed up more than $4½ million. Now California wants it back with interest.

For 90 years neither the House nor the Senate has agreed at the same time on repayment. Mosk has urged congressional committees to get together.

Mosk says the money will come in right handy to meet another kind of invasion—a population rush from North and South alike, that has sent California's bills soaring.

U. S. Pays 90 Pct.

WASHINGTON—The Federal Government provided more than 90 per cent of the four billion dollars spent on aircraft-industry and missile research in 1961.

Panning Out

The old forty-niner knew what hardship and risk really were. He traveled thousands of miles — by stagecoach, covered wagon, packhorse and foot — to reach his objective. And at his weary journey's end was a big question mark.

Gold . . . or nothing?
Although gold is mined more scientifically these days, men still take chances to earn their living or make their fortune, as the case may be. And in the course of their life work, most men meet up with disappointments which are enough to discourage their enthusiasm for living and their efforts to meet their goals.

That man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God . . . Luke 4:4

Check those persons who allow temporary setbacks to ruin their hope and chances for happiness, and you will find that at the church has not been brought into their lives. For it is just as true today as always that "men cannot live by bread alone." He needs, more than ever in these swiftly moving days, the inner comfort and faith that only the church can give.

Religious principles still count. They shine through every page of the Bible. Do not neglect to make them a part of your own life as well, through your participation and your partnership in the church of your choice.

Low-Growing Evergreens Require Little Care

Many evergreens can be used in foundation plantings to add all-year color, says the American Association of Nurserymen. Here taxus and junipers predominate, with flowering deciduous trees and shrubs for variety. Radiation-Sterilized Bacon Ready for Use in Army Mess Halls

Pupil Total In U. S. Tops 40 Million

WASHINGTON — There are more than 40 million pupils enrolled in the nation's public schools and it is costing $19.1 billion to educate them, the National Education Association (NEA) has reported.

In its annual report on school statistics, the NEA also noted there are 1.5 million classroom teachers in the public schools, drawing an average salary of $5,735. The current salary figure shows a $220 increase over the 1961-62 school year.

The total enrollment in elementary schools is 26,374,730, an increase of 687,693 over last year. High school enrollment is 13,633,082, an increase of 627,632.

Of the total cost, $15.5 billion is for current expenditures, the NEA said. Another $3.6 billion is being spent for capital outlay—school construction and interest payments on school bonds.

Last year's current expenditures were $14.3 billion. Current expenditures for pupils in average daily attendance is $432, compared to $415 last year. The state-by-state figures vary from a low of $230 in Mississippi to a high of $620 in Alaska.

High school teachers are still being paid more than those in elementary schools, the report said, although the gap is narrowing. The average for high school teachers is $5,995, for elementary school teachers $5,560.

States in the Far West pay the highest average annual salary, $7,161. The average in the Middle Atlantic states is $6,114, in New England $6,099, in the Southwest $5,557, in the Northwest $5,166 and in the Southeast $4,750.

Alaska pays the highest average salary, $7,350, and Mississippi the lowest, $3,610. The NEA emphasized that the Alaska salary figure is deceptive because living costs are so high in the newest state. In terms of purchasing power, the NEA said, the dollar in Alaska is about equal to 68 cents in the District of Columbia.

WASHINGTON — Radiation-sterilized bacon will be permitted for the first time in Army mess halls under a Food and Drug Administration ruling expected this week, it was learned today.

The radiation kills spoilage organisms in the meat and permits it to be stored for periods up to several years on shelves, without refrigeration.

Bacon will be the first food approved for any consumers. The Army Quartermaster Research and Engineering Center at Natick, Mass., which has been studying food irradiation processes for a decade, is far along toward seeking similar permission for chicken, ham, fruit, compe, oranges, white potatoes and even shrimp.

Studies indicate that irradiated foods probably would be competitive in the public market place. Costs may be greater than for heat-processed and frozen foods, but reduced transportation costs for irradiated products tend to make up the difference.

"Irradiation is not the answer to all food processing problems," according to Dr. Edward S. Josephson, chief of the Food Irradiation Laboratory of the Quartermaster Center, "but it is a new dimension in food sterilization, important not only for the United States but for the developing countries of the world" where refrigeration facilities are poor.

Sterilizing food by intense radiation differs from the common practice of enriching the vitamin D content of milk by exposing the milk to ultraviolet light. The ultraviolet rays convert a natural ingredient in milk into an active form of the vitamin. The milk still must be refrigerated.

Workers Begin Heart Campaign For This Month

Leslie Shriver, co-chairman of the Heart Fund campaign in Greene County conducted by the Southwestern Pennsylvania Heart Association during the month of February, presided at the kick-off meeting for volunteers held at the Greene County Veterans Club, Wednesday evening, January 30.

Mr. Shriver welcomed volunteers and explained the meeting was designed to give leaders in the various communities an opportunity to discuss and suggest fund-raising techniques in which this year's campaign will be the most successful in the county.

"As the Heart Association discovers new methods and techniques in mastering the secrets of heart diseases, so too, must the fund raising force devise new and original methods to achieve the campaign goal," Mr. Shriver pointed out.

The county Heart Fund chairman, Harry E. Mertz, was introduced, and discussed the program objectives of the Heart Association. He stressed the need for more funds to carry on research, education and community service objectives. Mr. Mertz declared, "As funds become available programs will grow. One reason I like to think about the program first, is that it can help set our objectives for fund raising. The more convincingly we can tell our public what program we wish to accomplish with the funds we are asking for, the more certain we are to raise them."

Dr. A. Carl Walker, president of the Southwestern Pennsylvania Heart Association told the group "We're winning the fight against the heart diseases."

He stated "We have made great strides in diagnosis and treatment, although we still do not know the causes of hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure, problems which account for 90 per cent of the heart and circulatory diseases. But thanks to advances in diagnosis, to the development of new methods of treatment, and to new concepts of rehabilitation, three out of four who survive first heart attacks can now return to active, productive lives, often resuming their old jobs."

Dr. Walker spoke about the amazing advances that have been made in heart surgery with the development of the mechanical heart-lung machine and the improvement of synthetic substitutes for blood vessel segments; the progress made in the medical treatment of rheumatic fever, the forerunner of rheumatic heart disease.

In conclusion Dr. Walker said "Our continued and generous support of scientists with ideas, and with the ability to pursue them, will do a great deal towards filling the sixties with medical wonders that haven't even occurred to me this evening."

Present at the meeting were: Mrs. Delbert Orndoff, Dorothy O. Willard, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Garber, Mrs. Grace Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Brant Smith, Mrs. Samuel Weaver, Margaret Bayard, Mrs. John W. Porter, Linda Guesman, Mrs. Louise Barnes, Mrs. Lewis Vance, Irvin L. Twyford, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Shriver, Mary Glad, Harry H. Thomas, Joseph E. Diel, William C. Connor, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Thomas, Virginia Zoric, Mrs. W. A. Wilson, Jean Headley, Mrs. Betty Kiger, Mrs. David Werminger, Mrs. Thomas Mering, Dr. A. Carl Walker, Harry E. Mertz, Mrs. Margaret Rumble and Mrs. Ralph H. Organ.

New Pipe Organ Installed in Baptist Church

Dr. Marshall Bidwell, noted organist of Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, will give a recital Tuesday night at eight o'clock, in the First Baptist Church. The public is cordially invited.

The new pipe organ in the church has a two-manual console and comprises 37 voices, 19 ranks plus 10 extensions, with a complete set of Moss chimes. It contains a total of 1,232 pipes.

Action of organ is pneumatic of a most modern design and of the finest materials known to the pipe organ industry.

The organ was made in the Herman J. Teller factory in Erie, and Mr. Teller supervised the installation.

Most of the pipes were made in the Tellers factory and were voiced by Hungarian organ technician Ferenc Gyuratz, who is said to be one of the world's top artists, with his fine sense of intonation and true pitch.

Final voicing was completed by Wilson Barry of Princeton, N. J., professional voicer and organist.

Your Health Pennsylvania Medical Society

Mrs. Gamble can't wear sable. She is one of the estimated fifteen million persons in this country who is allergic to something. This something may be any one of hundreds of substances, from food to face powder.

Pollens, house dust, feathers, bleaches, dyes, medicines, and furs are all possible allergens.

Even heat, cold and sunlight affect some people adversely. An allergic person is hypersensitive to one or more substances which are harmless to most other people.

All susceptible persons do not react the same.

For instance, a person allergic to eggs becomes violently ill from a trace of egg in mayonnaise dressing.

Treating allergy is often difficult, especially a food allergy for it is almost impossible to completely eliminate an offending substance from a diet.

However, it is possible to desensitize some individuals by allowing them very small amounts and gradually increasing the daily quantity until a normal amount may be eaten.

Desensitization of an allergic individual may be done through a series of inoculations with extracts of the offending substance.

While allergic diseases are seldom fatal, the symptoms are distressing and in severe cases they affect work, sleep, appetite and recreation.

Obviously, avoiding the substance causing the allergy is one way of combating the disorder. Avoiding sable should be comparatively easy for a Mrs. Gable.

But it is not so easy to get away from ragweed pollen, an allergen which causes hay fever and makes millions miserable.

Yellow Jacket Cagers Battle Grove City Here, Thursday

Bentleyville, Top in Section 18; Carmichaels 2nd

Bentleyville-Ellsworth hoopsters notched another Section 18 victory Tuesday night when they defeated Mapletown 54-34, in the Maples' gym.

The Maples were never able to hit their stride.

This defeat dropped Mapletown from second place to third, and allowed Carmichaels to take second.

Bentleyville-Ellsworth is leading the section.

Waynesburg High's Red Raiders took a slim victory of 58-56 from Jefferson-Morgan in the gym Tuesday night.

The Raiders made only 16 out of 26 charity shots, while the Jeffs hit 26 out of 33.

In the last half three Waynesburg men were sent to the bench for fouls.

West Greene came from behind in the last two minutes to defeat East Washington 67-66.

Rick Sonneborn was all over the floor in a wild tangle and it was his shot that won for the Pioneers, although he was out-scored for the first time this season.

Taylor for Washington hit the hoop for 14 and five charity throws for 33.

Sonneborn shot 11 baskets and seven free throws for 29.

Jacket Wrestlers Lose to Bloomsburg

Waynesburg College lost all the way around Saturday when Bloomsburg wrestlers downed them 18-11, here.

Bloomsburg, winners of the Wilkes tournament took two bouts by decision and two by falls. One match was a draw. Waynesburg took three of eight bouts.

Waynesburg won decisions in 130, 137, and 157. The draw was in 167 where Gene Arrigoni drew with State Conference champ and NAIA winner, Bob Hall 2-2.

Results:
Bloomsburg 18—Waynesburg, 11
123—Hughes, B, pinned Hecht, 1:48.

130—Gusic, W, dec. Robb, 3-1.

137—Simon, W, dec. Taylor, 2-1.

147—Scorese, B, dec. Thomas, 6-3.

157—Zrimm, W, dec. Paule, 4-3.

167—Arrigoni, W, drew with Hall, 2-2.

177—Owen, B, pinned Shidley, 8:30.

Unlimited—Garson, B, dec. Staney, 2-0.

Coach Pete Mazzaferro will have his Waynesburg College cagers primed for an upset when the Yellow Jackets host Grove City in a West Penn Conference game at eight o'clock, Thursday night.

Waynesburg will travel to Pittsburgh for a Saturday night date with Carnegie Tech.

Next week the hoopsters will be at Frostburg State February 11, host Geneva February 13, and visit Wheeling, February 16.

Waynesburg, currently riding a five-game losing streak, is 2-10 for the campaign. Last year the Orange and Black dropped a pair to Grove City, 61-57 and 76-64.

Grove City claimed a 78-53 verdict over Waynesburg in the season's first test January 9, at Grove City.

Grove City has a 7-7 record with wins over Bethany (56-45), Mt. Union (54-47), Clarion State (73-50), St. Vincent (81-75), Waynesburg (78-53), Thiel (80-59), and Carnegie Tech (78-72).

The losses came from Geneva (83-58), Westminster (69-55), St. Francis (104-64), Wooster (64-63), Steubenville (71-61), Geneva (77-59), and St. Francis (83-71).

The Grovers have won five of their last six and many of their losses have been to some of the finest small-college quintets in the country.

The Crimson will be undermanned in the Waynesburg tilt with co-captain Curt Carsen hobbled with a hair-line ankle fracture. He is pacing the team in points (156), average (12), and field goal shooting percentage (.45).

Much of the resurgence of the Grovers can be traced to the re-discovery of Bob Patrick, 6-8 center, who has seen limited action in his three previous years. He won a starting berth after the holidays and has been scoring at a 14.2 clip as well as grabbing 10 rebounds a game.

Leading scorer for Waynesburg is junior Ernie Chadderton with 120 points for 10.9 points-per-game.

T. R. A. Color Film To Be Shown Sunday

James F. Edwards, president of Waterford Park, has announced that the Thoroughbred Racing Association's color film of 1962 Champions will be shown nationally on the C. B. S. - T V Sports Spectacular program at 2:30 p. m. on Sunday, February 10. The second segment of the film will follow over the same network at 3:30 p. m.

This is certainly one of the highlights of the year for sports and race-minded folk, as every top-flight thoroughbred will be seen in action in nearly every major stakes event run during 1962.

Showing of this film to such a vast audience is certainly a fine tribute to America's number one spectator sport. Far greater numbers of fans attend racing than any other sport in the country, each year.

Scientists Hunting Key To Mystery of Weather

NEW YORK—On some forgotten dawn many thousands of years ago, a caveman perhaps looked upon a howling blizzard. He shivered. He concluded it was a lousy day to hunt game, and went back to sleep.

And he did not try to explain the weather.

All that came later, human minds invented sun gods, rain gods, storm gods. Some danced or offered incantations to bring rain.

So it went, with supernatural explanations of weather the easiest answers for unusual winters or summers or the advance or retreat of glaciers.

In World War I, the smoke from cannons was blamed for the rain falling on battlefields in France. After World War II, the explosive shocks and fallout from atomic tests was blamed for peculiarities of weather.

Today, we might blame any strange weather on space rockets "poking holes" through the earth's atmosphere, thereby letting the cold from space swoop down on earth. Weather men say this sort of thinking is nonsense.

But some time back, some humans began foretelling weather a bit by observing clouds and winds. They began measuring seasons by the higher or lower path of the sun in the sky.

And some 25 years ago the science of weather—meteorology—really began to grow with measurements of air pressures, temperatures, the effects of wind motions over land and sea, speedy jet streams at high altitudes and reports of more and more weather stations on land and ships at sea, and weather balloons aloft.

Now, weather satellites orbiting the earth and mathematical models and analyses of weather and computers are increasing the understanding of the great and small forces involved in weather and climate.

Today's weather men can forecast fairly accurately and explain general causes of the current extraordinarily cold weather over much of the United States.

They still don't know all the reasons for weather, but are patiently on the trail through old and new institutions, such as the National Center for Atmospheric Research at Boulder, Colorado.

At the national center, one project is to pin down possible

Interest Is Keen For Waterford's Early Opening

Interest in the upcoming spring meeting at Waterford Park is growing rapidly as stall applications pour in daily from every sector of the United States and Canada.

General Manager Harry R. Bell states that allotments of stalls will not be made until Racing Secretary Francis "Pug" Wilson returns to his desk sometime this month. In the meantime, all horsemen wishing to race at Waterford Park are requested to return their applications at their earliest convenience so that stalls may be allotted as quickly as possible.

Despite the heavy snowfall that has covered the grounds with a ten-inch blanket of the white crystals, Track Superintendent Howard Conner stated that everything will be in complete readiness for the early opening of the 1963 meeting on Saturday, March 16.

Most of the physical improvements to the racing plant have already been completed and the remainder of the work is being rushed to meet the deadline in plenty of time for the opening bugle.

Post time has been set at one p. m. daily until July 3, when it will be moved back one hour to 2:00 p. m. daily until Labor Day. For the first time in several years Waterford Park will dispense with twilight racing thereby allowing fans to return to their homes in time for dinner.

small triggers of great effects on weather, such as the interaction of wind and ocean water, forest growth, the dust from meteors, and changes in the intensity of radiation from the sun and the very high thin atmosphere.

The weather studies now are combining the skills of chemists, physicists, meteorologists, astronomers, mathematicians, oceanographers and biologists.

In time, scientists may have the answers to all the whys of weather, from droughts to hurricanes and long range changes in climate.

Far more accurate forecasts are expected, and even some knowledge as to how man could control the kind of weather he wants.

Ol' Casey Jones Failed First Test

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Casey Jones of ballad fame was born John Luther Jones at Jordan, Ky., in 1864.

At 17 he got a railroad job at Cayce, Ky., and later always boasted he would get his train through on time.

His final and fatal test came April 30, 1900, when he drove Old 382, the Cannon Ball, through a thick fog near Vaughn, Miss., and collided with a freight train.

Casey ordered his fireman to jump and stuck to his throttle, saving the passengers and losing his own life.

The presentation of trophies and other awards and the election of officers for 1963 highlighted a Greene County Track Club awards program Thursday night at the Waynesburg VFW Post Home.

Dr. Paul R. Stewart, president of Waynesburg College, was honored for his contributions to the youth of Greene County. Dr. Stewart presented the trophies, which were named in his honor.

Age-group track trophies were presented to the ten boys and ten girls who compiled the most points in competition during the past season.

Those for the boys went to John Buchanan, Dennis Dulaney, Tom Cochran, Barry Harwick, Dave Johnson, Mike Buckley, Eric Dukate, Bobby Harwick, Jeff Tewell and Mike Dulaney.

Girls receiving trophies were Barbara Tennant, Lillian Buckley, Beth Harwick, Prissie Tennant, Renee Kerr, Diane Elza, Sandy Mankey, Ellen Albert, Kim Dukate and Renee Dukate.

Outstanding performer awards for 1962 went to Dick Morris, youth walking; Miss Barbara Kennedy, women's track, and John Harwick, men's track.

Film clips of track club activities and events in 1961 and 1962 were shown, along with films of the national AAU men's championships.

During the business session the club voted to add wrestling and a physical fitness program to its activities. Others are age-group track, women's track, youth walking, men's walking and cross country.

Refreshments were provided by mothers of boys and girls who participate in the age-group track program.

Coast Guard to Begin Iceberg Patrol

WASHINGTON — The half-century-old international ice patrol will resume its lookout for icebergs in the Atlantic late in February, the United States Coast Guard announces.

The Coast Guard began its annual patrol in 1913 shortly after the sinking of the liner Titanic, and the surveillance became an international operation the following year.

March Red Cross Month

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy has proclaimed March as Red Cross month and urged Americans to help strengthen the work of the American national Red Cross.

It was a close shave, but Waynesburg High wrestlers, wrestled their 47th straight victory from Chartiers-Houston, here, Friday night, 24-21.

Waynesburg won only six of the 13 bouts, two by first-period falls and the other four by decisions.

The Bucs won the 138, 145, 154, 165 and 180 pound classes and needed a victory in the unlimited class to fashion the upset of the year in wrestling.

But George beat his opponent with a 3-0 decision.

Remaining undefeated were Waynesburg's Craig McClure, 95; state champion Mickey Boudreau, 112; sectional champion Bob Shriver, 133, and George. All have unblemished records of 9-0 except Boudreau, who has a tie to mar his otherwise perfect mark.

The Raiders are now within one match of equalling a previous winning record of 48.

Summary:

Mail Creates A Vast Supermarket

The United States is fast becoming one giant supermarket, thanks largely to novel mail selling techniques used in business. The number of American consumers who do most of their shopping by mail has consistently increased yearly despite the fact that the population is no longer predominantly rural.

Today's catalogs are no longer filled exclusively with suits, harnesses and kerosene lanterns but offer such items as oil paintings, Norwegian skis, fur coats, titanium cuff-links and vacations in the sun. Business mail has become, as this Christmas clearly indicated, a first-class barometer revealing the rising trend of the economy — helping thousands more to become armchair shoppers. It has boosted sales of goods and services — more than $29 billion last year — and in the process has created a whole category of jobs, from specialty paper manufacturing to lithography.

True National Market
Business mail and mail-order have helped make America a truly national market for goods which were normally regional in character. This is attested to by the increase in sales-by-mail since a year ago, up 25% in some companies who report their best Christmas orders in history. Many of these sales, clinched by direct mail, merely complete the work of advertising these products by newspapers, magazines and radio-tv . . . and the results are there to prove it.

By the end of 1962 mail merchandisers had printed and distributed upwards of 200 million catalogs. Big companies like Montgomery-Ward and Sears, Roebuck whose catalogs list between 125,000 and 140,000 items no longer pre-empt the smaller companies and specialty houses who are now doing well at it themselves.

One West Coast firm which began twelve years ago had 16 1/2 sales of $1 million in 1962, a peak of $10 million in 1962, climaxed by a highly successful Christmas season. Asked for his formula for success, the owner replied, "We sell things you don't need but feel you can't live without". He sells 600 items ranging from silver thumbtacks to fancy birthday candles.

ful Christmas season. Asked for his formula for success, the owner replied, "We sell things you don't need but feel you can't live without". He sells 600 items ranging from silver thumbtacks to fancy birthday candles.

Market Pattern Changes

In changing the marketing pattern of the nation, mail has become big-league business. Foodstuffs, for example, move across the country without regard to distance or deteriorating shelf-life. Maple syrup is ordered from Vermont in the winter, or when you want it; grapefruit from Texas while the snow is on the northern grounds; lobsters live from Maine, and fresh salmon from the Pacific Northwest.

Diversity of products and ideas is the key to this mail supermarket, keeping entrepreneurs alert and constantly searching for things people want — and will buy. An example of diversity is the two-man fiberglass submarine that one house offers by mail — $2,495 for the de-luxe model. Even the horse collar and pot-bellied stoves do well. But oil paintings are also doing better, indicating that there is no set formula to consumer's shopping habits. The only answer is to give them a wide selection, and business mail does its share of bringing people an infinite variety. And if the postman doesn't always ring twice, the mail he brings makes the cash register ring.

Kennedy Gives F. D. R. Jr., Post in Commerce Dept.

WASHINGTON—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the late president, was picked by President Kennedy on Thursday to be undersecretary of commerce, a job that pays $21,000 a year.

Kennedy also chose Dr. Richard H. Holton of Berkeley, Calif., to be assistant secretary of commerce in charge of economic affairs, a $20,000 post.

Both nominations are subject to Senate confirmation.

Roosevelt, now 48, was elected to Congress from New York in 1949, and served two terms. His home is here, where he has had an agency for foreign autos for several years, but the White House listed the appointment as from the state of New York.

He will replace Edward Gude-man, who is returning to private business. Holton will succeed Hickman Price Jr., who has resigned.

Newsmen asked presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger whether there was any understanding that Roosevelt would move up as secretary of commerce if Luther H. Hodges should resign that post. Salinger said he knows of no such understanding.

Hodges issued a statement saying he has known and liked Roosevelt for many years. Hodges said Holton would direct department activities in the field of economic affairs, supervising both the Office of Business Economics and the Census Bureau.

Roosevelt, handsome and a strapping 6 feet 4, has the famed smile of his late father and many of his mannerisms. Known as "Frank" to his friends, he gained a reputation in college as something of a playboy. He had a flair for exciting episodes and often was in the headlines as a result of speeding and auto accidents.

But he had a brilliant war record in the Navy in World War II, rising to the rank of commander. When he entered politics, he worked with typical Roosevelt zest.

Byrd Urges Firing of JFK Budget Chief

WASHINGTON — Senator Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., has called on President Kennedy to fire his new budget director, Kermit Gordon.

Byrd said in a statement that Gordon had been quoted as telling a congressional committee that "a balanced budget would lead to increased unemployment, higher taxes and a general economic decline."

The senator said that "responsible fiscal positions should be filled with sound men. If we do not get crackpot economists out of these positions, the American system will be lost."

Mr. Byrd said that he had previously suggested the firing of two budget directors and that "both were removed."

One, he said, was David E. Bell, Kennedy's first budget director. The President last December switched Bell from the Budget Bureau post to the job of administrator of the foreign aid program. He did not name the other.

Gordon, who had been a member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was chosen by Kennedy to succeed Bell.

Senator Byrd said in his statement that if Gordon had been quoted correctly, "I want to make the suggestion again that a budget director be removed."

"I submit that a man who thinks a balanced budget would be a catastrophe does not have the frame of mind to direct the budget of the United States Government."

Byrd added that "people who talk like Gordon testified before the joint economic committee do not sound like men looking for new frontiers."

"They sound like Rip Van Winkle. We have been on a deficit financing basis for 26 of the last 32 years."

the 60-acre campus and the eight major buildings and five minor buildings; and from an endowment of a precarious $60,000 to the present approximately a million and a quarter. I will continue under any title the board of trustees may give me to help contact foundations and in every way possible to build up a greater endowment and a still more effective campus."

Dr. Stewart continued: "The burden of expanding the resources of the college together with the details of management are too much for any one man. As Waynesburg College continues to serve the young people of America, we must not only look to the past and to our unique heritages, but also to the needs of the future and the challenges of a scientific age. I know the trustees will act wisely as they determine how Waynesburg College will meet the demands of higher education in our time."

Dr. Stewart became acting president of Waynesburg College on June 20, 1921. His inaugural ceremony consisted of a telephone conversation with a college trustee, the late Timothy J. Wisecarver, who was also the college treasurer. The story is that Professor Stewart was hoeing in his garden when called to the phone. The message from Mr. Wisecarver was: "Is that you, Stewart?" "Yes, yes!" "Had a meeting of the trustees. Didn't know of anything else that could be done." "Yes, yes!" "Decided to let you run it (the college) for a while. Come and get the keys."

Prior to his strange inaugural to the presidency, Dr. Stewart served as professor of chemistry and geology from 1910 to 1921. He graduated from Waynesburg College in the class of 1909. He received the Master of Arts degree from Waynesburg in 1910; and also same degree in 1916, from Columbia University. In 1924, his alma mater honored him with the degree of Doctor of Science.

Paul Rich Stewart married his classmate, Dessie Knight Rush, in 1910. They had two children, Ruth Harriet Schenley and Walter Alan Stewart, who is deceased. Dr. Stewart was born at Spraggs, March 16, 1887. He grew up under the shadow of Waynesburg College. His father, Ezra DeGarmo Stewart, graduated from the college in 1884 and taught in the public schools and the college. Dr. Stewart's mother, Lana Waychoff Stewart, attended the college, and his uncle, Professor Andrew J. Waychoff, graduated in the class of 1883.

Dr. Stewart has completed 53 years of service to the college, but he has been a part of it for a lifetime.

In "Who's Who in America," it is noted that Dr. Stewart is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Pennsylvania Academy of Science, Southern Appalachian Botanical Club, American Society of Mammalogists, The Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology, and a number of fraternal organizations. He is a ruling elder in the Presbyterian Church and active in the affairs of that church.

Member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was chosen by Kennedy to succeed Bell.

Senator Byrd said in his statement that if Gordon had been quoted correctly, "I want to make the suggestion again that a budget director be removed."

"I submit that a man who thinks a balanced budget would be a catastrophe does not have the frame of mind to direct the budget of the United States Government."

Byrd added that "people who talk like Gordon testified before the joint economic committee do not sound like men looking for new frontiers."

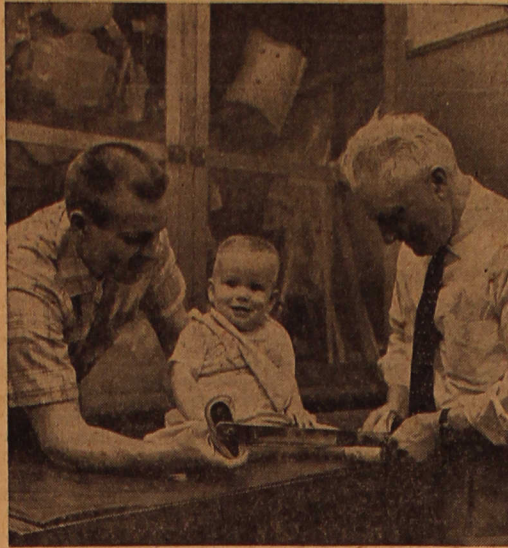

"They sound like Rip Van Winkle. We have been on a deficit financing basis for 26 of the last 32 years."

Charles R. Clark, of Waynesburg, again will be secretary of the Greene County Free Fair.

Mr. Clark has held the position for a number of years, being responsible for details connected with running the fair.

The 1963 fair will be held the week of August 12.

Senator Says Soviets Still Arming Castro

WASHINGTON—Senator Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., told the Senate Thursday the Soviet Union is pressing a new military buildup in Cuba. He called on the Kennedy administration for the facts.

The Defense Department replied by challenging two specific statements by Keating:

(1) That a Soviet ship arrived in Cuba last Friday and "unloaded a cargo of armaments," and (2) that there is "continuing, absolutely confirmed and undeniable evidence that the Soviets are maintaining" the missile bases that led to last October's crisis.

In a Senate speech Keating said "Cuba is becoming an impregnable fortress just as fast as the Soviets can make it so," and they are building to the point where "it will be impossible to get them out with conventional weapons."

Keating said the arms shipment reached Cuba the day after President Kennedy told his news conference last Thursday that Cuba is being kept under daily surveillance, and that only one ship with possibly military cargo has docked there since October.

Keating declined to name the ship when questioned by newsmen but said it was Soviet.

A Defense Department spokesman said: "Within a few days of the President's press conference last week two large Soviet ships, Kasimov and Baltica, did arrive in Cuba. There is no evidence that either carried offensive weapons."

As to Keating's statement that the Soviets are continuing to maintain the missile sites they agreed to dismantle, the Pentagon spokesman said:

"Concrete launch pads were broken up and other parts of the installations were destroyed. There is no evidence that these sites are usable, that they are being used for any military purpose, or that they are being maintained."

The spokesman said also that after the agreement between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and President Kennedy for removal of offensive weapons it was observed that the missile sites in Cuba were being dismantled.

members of American Institute of Architects, of New Castle, will be the architect for the five-story building which will be bounded on the north by Wayne street, and on the east by Washington street, and on the south by Franklin street.

Construction of the building, is expected to be under way soon. Plans are being made for a cornerstone laying ceremony this spring.

Geology classrooms and laboratories will occupy the second floor with chemistry classrooms and laboratories on the third floor. Waynesburg's noted geology museum will be housed on the first floor.

Building of the new science hall, while having been in the long-range plans for many years, was necessitated by fire which destroyed the "Old Mill Science building in 1958. It occupied the site of the new structure.

Heat for the new building will be supplied by the college's heating plant in the gymnasium which is located across Washington street. An elevator is included in the phase of the building now approved.

Crump, Inc., which is a 41-year-old firm, has constructed the Allegheny Ludlum Research Center, St. Joseph's Hospital, and Fox Chapel High School. It has constructed buildings for West Penn Power Company, Pitt, Bethany College, and Carnegie Tech.

"Missiles, transporters and missile erectors were photographed enroute to and at port area, being loaded aboard ship, and aboard ships en route to the U. S. S. R.," he said.

At the White House, press secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen:

"What the administration knows about the situation in Cuba has been reported to Congress in detail in the last week."

He said this was done by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency. They have appeared at closed committee sessions.

William Bendix tells you,

Every Savings Bond you buy is a share in America and safer than cash!

"In more ways than one, this great country of ours is a government of, by, and for the people. And, because it is, its economic security depends greatly upon the financial security of each individual American family.

"So when you're saving for your own family's security, you're also helping your country. And one of the best ways to do this is by investing regularly in United States Series E Savings Bonds."

These Bonds are one of the safest investments you can make. They're guaranteed safe by your Government. That means 170,000,000 Americans stand solidly behind the value of every Bond you buy.

What's more, if a Bond is lost, stolen or destroyed, the Treasury will replace it for you without charge. That's why people say Bonds are safer than cash.

Bonds pay good interest, too—3 1/4% when held to maturity. And they now mature in only eight years and 11 months.

So you can see there are many good reasons to save for the big things in your life through United States Savings Bonds. Why not start buying your Shares in America today? Buy Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan at work or regularly where you bank.
