No Tax Increase In Borough '63 Levy

School Bible Reading Back In High Court

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Supreme Court will hear next week arguments on the constitutionality of Pennsylvania's law permitting the reading of the Bible in the public schools.

The case will probably be reached on Tuesday. The court has allotted two hours to it, and additional time to a somewhat similar case arising in Maryland.

The Pennsylvania Bible-reading law has been before the Supreme Court before, but the court did not pass on its constitutionality at that time because the State Legislature made plain it intended radical amendments of the statute immediately.

The challengers of the state law, before and after amendments, are Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Schempff of Abington Township in Montgomery County, members of the Germantown Unitarian Church. They are the parents of three children who are or have been students of the Abington High School.

The Schempffs say they do not believe in the divinity of Christ, the Immaculate Conception, the concept of anthropomorphic God, or the Trinity. Yet all these concepts are read to their children during the Bible-reading sessions.

The Schempffs brought their first case against the old state law, passed in 1913 and amended in 1949, which made Bible reading mandatory and which threatened with discharge any teacher who failed to conduct the reading when charged with doing so. A Federal district court held this law unconstitutional in 1959 in the first case brought by the Schempffs.

The Legislature amended the law before the Supreme Court could hear the appeal, so the Supreme Court sent the case back for retrial on the basis of the amended law.

The new law deletes the part about teacher discharge, and provides any child may be excused from attendance during the reading on written request from his parents. The new law was intended to be permissive, not mandatory.

But the Schempffs were not satisfied, and in 1962, another Federal district court held the amended law unconstitutional, saying it "constitutes an obligatory religious observance." From this ruling the School Board of Abington Township, and state school officials, have again appealed.

200,000 More Get Surplus Food

WASHINGTON — About 6,200,000 needy persons in family units are receiving foods donated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture through its Direct Distribution Program.

This is an increase of about 200,000 over a year earlier.

Waynesburg Borough Council Tuesday night adopted the annual budget, which is based on a 17-mill real estate tax levy, the same as of the previous year.

Anticipated revenues are estimated at $149,090, and expenditures at $157,995. The cash balance on hand as of January first was $20,465, which will take care of the deficit, and leave $11,560 unappropriated.

Elmer Everett, chairman of the budget, provides salary increases for regular borough employees, and $5,000 for the volunteer Fire Company to aid them in finishing the new fire hall. This amount is over and above the one-mill fire tax. He also stated the budget provides for a larger expenditure for materials for street improvements without curtailment of any borough services.

Fourteen mills of the tax levy is put in the general fund, two mills into the sinking fund, and one into the fire protection fund.

A breakdown of general fund expenditures calls for $24,330 for general government; $46,440 for protection to persons and property; $18,325 for health and sanitation; $48,600 for streets; $2,200 for recreation; $12,500 for miscellaneous expenditures and $5,550 for capital expenditures.

In the sinking fund, $12,000 will go for a payment on the bonded indebtedness when the sewage treatment plant was expanded.

Mrs. Patricia Loy, borough secretary, reported several applications for borough manager, have been received. However, no action will be taken until the position is advertised.

Action on collection of delinquent taxes was postponed until the next meeting.

Army Puts Out Dixie Fireballs

HOUSTON, Tex. — It took nearly a century but the United States finally got about 250 cannon balls which Confederate soldiers hid in a bog from Federal troops.

The Army said 129 of them were live.

"Just because a cannon ball is 100 years old doesn't make it any less lethal than it was in the 1860s," said Army Captain Hammond J. F. Harrison.

When the Federals approached Houston about 100 years ago, Confederates dumped the balls into Buffalo bayou.

A four-man Army team from Fort Sam Houston, Texas, dug up many of the cannon balls this month during a campaign to dispose of dangerous war souvenirs.

Duds were returned to the owners. The others will be exploded in a demolition area at Fort Sam Houston.

West Penn to Lower Rates for House Heating

Lower costs for electric house heating customers served by West Penn Power Company are proposed in a new rate filed with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission.

"A reduction of 22½ percent is planned in the low block of our all-electric rate," West Penn Jefferson district manager, R. G. Lindquist announced, "which would cut the bills of our nearly 2,000 customers who heat their homes electrically by an average of $50 a year. This would be the third reduction in the electric utility's house heating rate since 1959.

"The proposal for this reduction has resulted from our actual experience in supplying electricity for house heating. From the start we have conducted extensive studies of the way electric heating equipment operates in customers' homes, day and night.

"The results encourage us and the other operating units of the Allegheny Power System to make this modern electrical service available at an even lower cost," he added.

The specific change in the new West Penn rate for complete house heating, as filed with the P. U. C., reduces the charge in the low block from the present 1.55 cents per kilowatt-hour to 1.2 cents. This same low kilowatt-hour price has been proposed by Monongahela Power Company and The Potomac Edison Company, the two other operating units in the Allegheny Power System.

In summarizing the effect of successive reductions in house heating costs, the West Penn executive pointed out that the low block was 2 cents a kilowatt-hour as recently as February 1959.

"This means the proposed rate of 1.2 cents would make a 40 percent total reduction in just over four years. We are able to propose this substantial benefit to electric house heating customers despite the upward cost spiral of so many other commodities and services," he further explained.

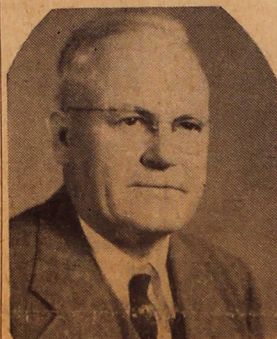

The new rate, as filed with the Commission, carries an effective date of April 20, 1963. It favorably acted on by the P. U. C., the reduction will be applied to West Penn house heating customers' bills beginning with the first full month of service thereafter.

Mount Vernon Winter Recalls Rugged Valley Forge Days

All those who have daily contact with Mount Vernon, from the bus driver quoted above to the curator and guards of the estate, feel a special affection for "the General," as they call him, and his Potomac home.

By preserving the Mount Vernon mansion in the simple style which the first President liked, "we hope visitors will take away a subjective experience in knowing a man, who is otherwise too remote, through appreciation of

Vending Machines Gross $3 Billion

WASHINGTON — The automatic vending machine, which started out as a penny gum-dispenser about 70 years ago, has become an agent for almost three billion dollars in annual sales in the United States, and its potential is growing, the Department of Commerce reported.

The chief target of the vending machine manufacturer today is the "in-plant" or "institutional feeding market," according to the report, which points to the vast potential of this field. It quotes a Department of Agriculture survey showing that about 6,000 plants in this country spend approximately $260 million annually for employ food services, with about four plants out of 10 serving food only through vending machines.

Vending machine production in the United States is running at a rate of more than 125 million dollars annually, and is contained largely in the Northwest and north central sections of the country. Exports have been growing and in 1961 neared six million dollars.

"Music reflects both culture and spirit and provides, in our lives, sources of inspiration, relaxation and entertainment."

Certainly the site meant much to Washington, who wrote to a friend in 1790: "I can truly say I had rather be at Mount Vernon with a friend or two about me, than to be attended at the seat of government by the officers of State and the representatives of every power in Europe."

The mansion and its "dependencies," including two museums, the servants quarters, a horticultural department, and a stable, cannot begin to house all that remains in 1963 of Washington memorabilia.

Among prized items on the estate, however, are four diary volumes of "the General." Only one of them is original. The other originals went astray, apparently because their inheritor, Bushrod Washington, enjoyed

Chain Letter Bond Scheme Starts Again

WASHINGTON — Postal officials say the old savings bond chain letter scheme has cropped up again, this time from coast to coast.

It's still illegal, they added. A Post Office Department spokesman said Friday the chain letter operations, using U. S. savings bonds as the lure, has been reported in California, Colorado, Texas and Virginia.

Similar to a scheme investigated 22 months ago in Puerto Rico, the chain letter operation involves the transfer of a list of names. The recipient is supposed to send a savings bond to the person whose name tops the list, strike that name from the list, add his own to the bottom, make two copies and pass these along to new participants, who are supposed to do the same.

In theory, the person at the top of the list should be flooded with savings bonds from those who joined the scheme after him.

But in practice, postal officials said, the chain breaks down and many participants are victimized.

They said use of the mails to further the scheme is a violation of mail fraud and lottery statutes.

Deposit to my Account

Five hundred years ago, no one would have understood the meaning of the phrase, "Deposit to my account. . ."

Now, in banks all over the world, these words are repeated thousands of times a day. There's no mystery about them at all.

They mean simply that a person is depositing a share of his earnings in a bank, knowing that at any time afterwards he can withdraw any amount that he puts in—with interest.

"Deposit to my account"—four words that are a part of our modern life today.

Joining a church is something like this: we

But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. Mat. 6:33 are depositing our faith and our trust in God.

All of that faith, all of that trust comes back to us. But there's this difference. The interest rate cannot be calculated—because God does not measure the benefits. He gives us in terms of percentage. To the small amount of time we give to God and His church, He adds countless hours of love and devotion to our lives.

"Deposit to my account. . ."

In banking, that means security through savings. But in our religious life, it stands for enriching happiness for us all.

'Pennsylvania And the Ice Age'

"Pennsylvania and the Ice Age" is the title of a newly published booklet announced today by Secretary of Internal Affairs Genevieve Blatt. She said the publication was the sixth in a series on "popular geology" issued by the Department of Internal Affairs.

Produced by the Department's Bureau of Topographic and Geologic Survey, the new booklet was written by Dr. Vincent C. Shepps of the Bureau staff. "The entire and little known story of glaciation is told in this booklet," Secretary Blatt said. "Pennsylvania is the first state to issue a popular account of a state's glacial history. The effect of the glaciers on Pennsylvania's topography was significant. Every citizen should enjoy reading this account of the ice age in Pennsylvania."

Maps, photographs and drawings illustrating the text of the 32-page booklet show how extensive glaciation was in Pennsylvania and the appearance of glacial land forms. Pen and ink sketches are by Albert Van Olden.

The booklet is available in limited quantity without charge upon request to the Bureau of Topographic and Geologic Survey, Department of Internal Affairs, Harrisburg, Pa.

Property Tax Slashed 2 Mills In Zelenople

Zelenople, in Butler County, reduced its real estate tax from eight to six mills last week after winding up 1962 with a $90,000 surplus from $400,000 receipts.

The real estate tax is the only one levied by the borough of 3,384 population, and its reduction will mean savings of seven dollars a year to the average property owner.

Already saving the residents money is an increase in the discount for prompt payment of bills to the borough's electric plant. The discount of five per cent was doubled February 1 with estimated average savings of $12 a year.

In lieu of raises for employes, the borough is providing for the first time a retirement-life insurance program for 15 of them at a cost of $3,600. Four policemen already have such protection.

"Since we have a total of 19 employes and a payroll of $75,000, you can see no one's starving," remarked Borough Clerk John E. Rinesmith.

It's expected that 1963 receipts again will be about $400,000, "but we expect to spend only about $385,000" Rinesmith said.

This year's budget is $388,000, in comparison with about $384,000 last year. Included are $44,000 for street work and $42,000 for police and fire protection.

Rinesmith estimated the average tax bite in Zelenople this year will be less than half of that in other municipalities of the area.

Purebred Breeders Elect Officers

Greene County Purebred Breeders Association Friday night elected officers and directors.

Officers elected were Bradley Eisminger of Waynesburg, R. D. 3, president; Ernest Lemley of Mt. Morris Star Route, Waynesburg, vice president; Donald C. Minor of Waynesburg, secretary; and H. Leonard Frye of Waynesburg, R. D. 1, treasurer. Other directors elected were Dorsey Woodruff and William Johnson, both of Canonsburg, and George Gopen of Dilliner, R. D. 1.

The association discussed the eighth annual spring sale of purebred Hereford cattle, which will be held Saturday, April 6, at the Greene County Fairgrounds. There will be 33 bulls and 32 females sold, both polled and horned Herefords. The show will be held at 10 a. m. and the sale at one p. m.

It was announced that the annual sale of purebred sheep will be held September 7, and the annual fall Hereford sale October 12. Both will be at the fair-ground.

Gas heats your home for less than anything except***

It's been some winter. Hardly has one cold wave moved out . . . when another blast comes whipping in.

As a result, natural gas has been called upon to do the biggest heating job in history in this area. Not only has there been an unusual number of sub-zero days . . . but more people than ever before are depending on natural gas for warmth in their homes.

And natural gas is delivering that home comfort here at a cost lower than any other energy source. Less than oil. Less than coal. And a great deal less than electricity.

* (Exception: If you have a lot of free time, own a nice fat forest and are a compulsive wood-chopper . . . you can heat your home for less than gas.)

Murdock's Yellow Jacket Mat Men Win Over Muskingum in 2nd Dual Match

Stall Allotments At Waterford Park Nearing Capacity

General Manager Harry R. Bell, heading the stall committee at Waterford Park, states that applications for stalls have been pouring in from all sectors of racing during the past two weeks, and the committee has made allotments of stalls for 750 thoroughbreds to date, with many more to be screened during the next week.

Response from Canada has been very pleasing, according to Bell, and interest in the area regarding Waterford Park racing has grown very keenly since it was announced that the season would run for 138 consecutive days with the early opening of March 16.

Some of the better Canadian outfits that have been allotted stalls are those trained by Jack Wilson, Alex Fabrizio, George Kilgore, W. E. Herman, T. M. Patton and others.

Two extensive strings, numbering 30 each, have been assigned stall space for the upcoming meeting. They are trained by Jack Wilson of Malton, Ontario and Walter Fugat of Chicamauga, Georgia. Both have advised Bell that they will be at Waterford Park well ahead of the opening date.

Racing Secretary Francis "Pug" Wilson, now on an extended tour of race tracks and training centers in the south, sent word that several major American stables are sending a division of their strings to Waterford Park for the early meeting. Included in this group is a contingent belonging to the prominent Chicago horsewoman, Ada L. Rice, owner of one of the better stables in the nation for several years.

One of the main attractions of the early spring meeting is the inauguration of two-year-old races at one quarter mile, over a straightaway course. The horses will start in the chute at the head of the stretch and finish in front of the stand. Horsemen, having heard of the baby races, have been high in their praises of the management on their foresight in including races for these juveniles in the first condition book.

Post time has been set at one p. m., Eastern Standard Time, through April 27, then two p. m., Daylight Saving Time until September 2. The fall meeting, opening November 2 and running through December 14 will have a one p. m. post through the meeting.

Jackets Meet St. Vincent March 4

The Waynesburg College-St. Vincent basketball game, which was postponed on February 4 because of a fire at the Bearcat school, has been rescheduled for March 4 at the Latrobe court.

"Bucky" Murdock's Waynesburg College wrestlers got back on the winners' trail Saturday afternoon at New Concord, Ohio, when they defeated Muskingum, 18-6.

The season's dual match record is now 6-3. The only matmen dropping their bouts were freshman Charles Hecht, 123, and sophomore Don Shidderly, 177.

Waynesburg had met Muskingum earlier this year in a pre-season quadrangular meeting in Columbus, Ohio, and one of the bouts staged in that earlier meeting was repeated Saturday. In it, Waynesburg's Joe Simon, 137, defeated Fred Newton 4-1, capping the 3-0 verdict he won in the first outing.

Sophomore Mike Zrim of Avella, who is leading the Jackets in the win and lost column, boosted his individual record for the season to 9-1 by edging John Sanders.

Heavyweight Paul Stanek won his first bout of the year after two defeats with a 2-1 victory over Dave Budinger, who in the pre-season tournament lost to Gene Arrigoni.

Waynesburg, 18—Muskingum, 6
123—Diven, M, decided Hecht, 10-3.

130—Gusic, W, decided Keirn 10-0.

137—Simon, W, decided Newton, 4-1

147—Thomas, W, decided Henderson, 5-0.

157—Zrim, W, decided Sanders, 3-2.

167—Arrigoni, W, decided Ray, 6-3.

177—Dorosky, M, decided Shidderly, 7-4.

Hvy.—Stanek, W, decided Budinger, 2-1.

Optimists Sponsor Junior Wrestling

The Waynesburg Optimist Club will sponsor a Junior Olympic Wrestling Tournament Friday and Saturday, March 29 and 30, at Waynesburg High School.

The tournament for youngsters is being conducted under auspices of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U. There will be two age divisions. Youngsters 10 years of age and under will compete at 55, 65 and 75 pounds and as heavyweights. Boys from 11 to 14 will be bracketed from 77 pounds through 135 pounds, which will be the heavyweight class.

Edward Albert, past president of the Optimist Club, is serving as general chairman. Plans for the event were outlined at a regular meeting of the club last week at Albert's Restaurant.

The program feature was a movie, "Spread of Communism," shown by Joseph Watson, field representative for the West Penn Power Company.

BUSINESS FAILURES DOWN

NEW YORK — Business failures in 1962 totaled 15,782, a decline of 8 percent from the 28-year record set in 1961, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reports.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day Family on Horseback

Robert P. Strub, who this year takes over as the 11th President of Thoroughbred Racing Associations, a national organization of race tracks, is equally at home in the saddle or at the Board room table. Bob Strub is President of Santa Anita Park, one of the country's major race tracks and while his father, the late Charles H. Strub, founded Santa Anita, his presidency is not inherited, but well-earned. Starting with seasonal employment in various departments during his college years, Bob Strub learned the multiple phases of race track operation. Pausing for four years during which he was a Captain in the U.S. Army Signal Corps during World War II, he returned to Santa Anita as manager of attendance operations. A few years later he was assistant general manager and in 1960 he was elected President. A good portion of the Strub family's recreation time is spent on horse back. Mrs. Strub and their seven children are active in horse activities at the Flintridge Riding Club, while Bob Strub is a member of Los Borrachos camp of Los Rancheros Visitadores, a trail riding group, which takes off into the Santa Barbara Hills of California for 7-day rides complete with pack-roll and chuck wagon.

Your Health Pennsylvania Medical Society

In the Soviet Union a lot of people have never seen a male physician, and in this country a good many people have never seen a woman doctor.

In the Soviet Union 75 per cent of physicians are women, while in the United States only 6 per cent of physicians are women.

Six per cent seems disproportionately low, according to Marion Fay, Ph.D., president and dean of the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia.

Dr. Fay is concerned about the small number of women in this country who are studying medicine.

Over a period of 38 years, Dr. Fay explains, the percentage of women students in our medical schools has varied from a low in 1910 of 4 to a high of 9 1/2 in 1948.

Is this due to lack of opportunity for women, prejudice against admitting female students, or absence of interest among women themselves, asks Dr. Fay.

Apparently there is little prejudice among admission committees as borne out by the fact that in 1960-61, better than 1 in 2 women applicants were accepted by medical schools.

Dr. Fay thinks high school age is the best time for planning professional courses, and that the field of medicine should be attractively presented along with other possible careers.

If a girl is accepted for medical school, Dr. Fay says, she must realize her responsibility to enlist for the duration.

The medical school also has responsibilities which include financial aid, advice, counseling and help on personal problems.

The woman student must be shown that it is possible to combine matrimony and medicine sensibly and realistically.

Do You Know?

Cotton Mather, American theologian and writer who died in 1728, had 15 children, only two of whom survived him, which illustrates the tragically high death rate of children in those pioneer days.

Tables Turned On Robin Hood

NOTTINGHAM, ENGLAND—Robin Hood, legendary outlaw who robbed the rich to help the poor, is to get police protection, it was announced.

Too many vandals have been stealing the bow and arrow from his bronze statue beside the wall of Nottingham Castle.

The arrow, which costs $70 to replace, has vanished at least a dozen times.

City authorities of Nottingham, "hometown" of Robin Hood and the Sherwood Forest men, have asked police to intensify their watch on the statue.

Jacket Cagers Top Wheeling; Chadderton Leads

Waynesburg College basketball team won from Wheeling College, 61-59, at Wheeling, Saturday night. This was not a West Penn Conference game.

The Yellow Jackets, led by Ernie Chadderton with 20 points, were never behind and led 33-29 at the half.

Wheeling pulled into a 53-53 tie late in the second half, but the visitors quickly scored five points and the Cardinals never caught up.

Earlier in the season Waynesburg defeated Wheeling, 67-53, on the Orange and Black court.

The Yellow Jackets now stand 3-14 for the season, while Wheeling's record is 2-15.

Cage Tourney At West Greene

The Greene County Undergraduate Basketball Tournament will be held Wednesday and Thursday, February 27 and 28, at West Greene High School.

Dick Gooderham, president of the Greene County Coaches Association, sponsors of the event, has announced.

Games for both evenings will begin at 7 p. m. with the second game to follow immediately afterward.

In previous years, qualifying rounds were played the evening before and the consolation and championship games played the following afternoon. This has been changed this year, according to Gooderham.

While making the announcement of the tourney, Gooderham said that the coaches will pick for playing berths on Monday, before the event gets underway.

A special halftime presentation will be featured during the championship game as the selections of the all-county squad will be announced.

"Boys' Clubs Fight Crime and Communism" by J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director

Day after day reports come to my attention which spell out in increasingly tragic detail the disastrous course taken in the lives of our young people as they fall into the quagmire of crime.

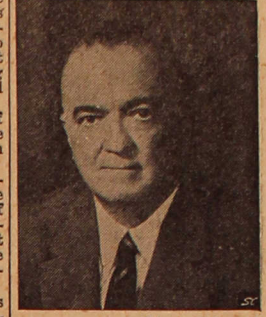

I am, however, also aware that since 1860, the Boys' Clubs of America has devoted countless hours and untold energy to the cause of a clean and decent youth—many times succeeding where family, church and school have failed.

It is, therefore, a source of great personal satisfaction to be associated with so splendid an organization.

The boundless enthusiasm, curiosity and desire to achieve which are so characteristic of youth must be properly channeled to bear fruit. Without good guidance, our young people are easy prey to the twin seductions of crime and communism.

We hear many justifiable pleas for the conservation of our country's natural resources. What greater resource has this Nation than its priceless youth?

For its magnificent record of over a century of outstanding ©Autry, Hollywood performance in behalf of our youth, I commend to your wholehearted support the Boys' Clubs of America.

Harlem Magicians Here, March 6

Bang the drums! Sound the brasses! These colorful touring world famous Harlem Magicians, starting their tenth season, are heading this way for their visit to Waynesburg College at 8 o'clock p. m., March 6, to oppose a strong campus All-Star team.

Sponsoring the appearance of the Magicians here is the Waynesburg College Letterman's Club. Proceeds from the event will go to the club's fund for a new scoreboard for the college gym, according to president Bill Snodgrass.

The Harlem Magicians have another outstanding combination which will certainly bring laughter to all. That comical star Sam "Boom" Wheeler, who shuffles and deals his laugh-provoking antics with basketball ability, will be on hand. Sam will receive tremendous support from Marques Haynes, world's greatest dribbler, Josh Grider, Paul Martin, Sid Dawson and Jim "Shooba Dooba" Dow.

Last season saw these young courtsters achieve their greatest success recognition from basketball's major professional league—the National Basketball Association.

They will display the antics and sensational ball handling that has certainly labeled them basketball's greatest touring box office attraction. Clowning is a serious business with this galaxy of basketball cut-ups.

Waynesburg fans will be assured of seeing the same show as witnessed in large arenas.

College Schedules Ohio State Wrestlers

Ohio State's visit to Waynesburg College for a wrestling match next season has been moved from December 13 to December 20, according to Yellow Jacket athletic director Pete Mazzaferro.

It is Waynesburg's first match with a Big Ten opponent in several years.

handing them out as souvenirs of his uncle's thoughts and adventures.

A 1785 clay bust done by Jean A. Houdon at the height of Washington's vigor, Mrs. Fede points out, is on display in a museum on the grounds and recently served as the model for a five-cent stamp.

"We think it's the finest likeness of Washington there is," she adds. "The stamp artists didn't do justice to it, but they were in a hurry."

There is a constant repair problem in keeping the mansion intact and presentable to visitors, she says. In 1957 a new set of cyprus shingles, chemically treated to resist weathering and hand-cut in North Carolina, were put on the roofs of all estate buildings. Three or four years ago the entire mansion was repaired.

Also in recent years a blue-gray wallpaper which may date to the 1750s and was found on a 1793 "Fish Account" book (which records the sales of shad and herring from the local fishery), was put up in the Nelly Custis bedroom.

Six yellow cushions, stitched by Martha Washington and recently given to Mount Vernon, are being put on display in one of the estate museums.

Winter is the quiet season on the estate. On a February day the snow against the white, stucco-like mansion exterior somehow suggests Washington's rugged winter days at Valley Forge.

A major portion of the estate's more than one million annual visitors do not appear until the last 10 days of April according to Mr. Wall. While it is not practical to offer them guided tours, they are not hurriedly "pushed through" the mansion, he says, and guards stand ready to answer any of their questions. Visitors rarely complain.

Of the educational value of a trip to Mount Vernon, Mrs. Fede says, "of course to the little ones, it's a romp—they treat it like one great big ball."

"The older ones generally get more out of it. For many, going through the grounds and the house becomes a very personal experience. Some have said, and you know it means a great deal to them, 'You mean that's really the desk where he wrote his letters and the bed he slept in?'"

"One of the things which I find genuinely thrilling," the curator says, "is to watch the government ships go by on the river, hear their bells too, and see the sailors stand at attention as they pass the mansion."

Although the general tempo and panorama is today much the same as it was 200 years ago, the view which Washington had across the Potomac may be in for a change before long.

The Ladies Association, the organization which has restored and maintained the estate, has done much to preserve the "overlook" by buying up, with the help of the Accokeek Foundation, private property on the shoreline as it was put up for sale.

But the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission plans to establish a sewage plant directly across the river at Mockley Point.

Although Congress has authorized the Department of the Interior to preserve the open and wooded character of the area and the major share of appropriations for the view preservations are in President Kennedy's recently announced budget, Mr. Wall does not feel reassured.

He expects an attempt will be made in the House to knock the preservation appropriations out of the governmental budget.

Mr. Wall considers the scenery around Mount Vernon part of what makes it inspirational and worth visiting.

Scranton Sends School Program To Legislators

HARRISBURG — Governor William W. Scranton sent to the State Senate on Tuesday his plan for school-district reorganization, providing exemptions for those districts which can prove they provide "equality" education.

The bill was designed to supersede controversial Act 561, passed by the General Assembly two years ago. The administration measure would cut the number of school districts from approximately 2100 to about 500 by 1966.

The new measure is intended to satisfy a campaign last fall, mainly among rural legislators, for outright repeal. It also is intended to fulfill the Governor's campaign pledges to revise the controversial law.

The new measure retains Act 561's compulsory features. But it sets back for one year all the timetables for consolidating the school districts into larger and, presumably, more efficient units.

The measure also permits those counties which submitted reorganization plans under the present act to withdraw them and start over. It fixes a new final target date of July 1966.

The new measure follows the framework of the present bill, but includes additional exemptions for districts which offer "the comprehensive quality program."

The minimum goal is retained at 4000 pupils in a reorganized district, but provision is made for districts with as few as 2500 pupils, because of such factors as topography, community characteristics, pupil transportation facilities, utilization of existing schools and potential population growth.

The minimum figure is not spelled out for "quality districts," which will be determined by a rating agency approved by the State Council of Basic Education.

New features, which follow the lines recommended by the Governor's Committee of 100 for Better Education, include:

Choice of election of school directors, either at large or by district.

Assumption of assets and liabilities by the consolidated districts.

Guaranteed salaries for district superintendents during the consolidation process.

Continuance of consolidation bonuses of $800 per teaching unit.

Republicans Offer Rival Medicare

and Republican liberals over whether older persons should be allowed the option of receiving health care benefits through private insurance programs.

The Republican bill contains such an option. The administration bill may provide some options, but only to a limited degree.

Co-sponsors of the Republican bill were Senators Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth E. Keating, New York; John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky; Thomas B. Kuchel, California; and Clifford P. Case, New Jersey.

They patterned their bill after a bipartisan compromise defeated in the Senate last summer by a vote of 52-48. They had joined Democrats in working out the proposed compromise.

The administration's original medical-care bill, known as the King-Anderson bill would have blanketed in 2,500,000 other persons, 65 and over, who do not qualify for social security.

In offering their own bill, quite similar to last year's compromise, the five Republicans said they were not closing their minds to other proposals. They promised to co-operate with Democratic leaders "in working for passage of a law which meets the pressing health needs of our aging citizens."

Soda and Spice Make Toothbrushing Nice

A little strategy, when it comes to getting youngsters to form good habits of hygiene, can save you time and arguments. The old gold star routine, for example, still has merit. Try hanging a chart in the bathroom which lists some of the more balked-at jobs such as toothbrushing, finger nail cleaning, washing behind the ears, and bath. The small-fry can make a check at the completion of each job and you in turn can tally the score at the end of the week and paste gold stars after the perfect scores. When the month's over, the one with the most gold stars wins a trip to a ball game with Dad perhaps, or a visit to the zoo with you.

Since toothbrushing is such an important part of personal hygiene you may want to add a second incentive to make sure it's done properly. It can be fun instead of a bothersome chore if you let the small-fry make like a grow-up . . . be time, for example, still has merit. Try hanging a chart in the bathroom which lists some of the more balked-at jobs such as toothbrushing, finger nail cleaning, washing behind the ears, and bath. The small-fry can make a check at the completion of each job and you in turn can tally the score at the end of the week and paste gold stars after the perfect scores. When the month's over, the one with the most gold stars wins a trip to a ball game with Dad perhaps, or a visit to the zoo with you.

A real plus for the soda-spice dentifrice is that it's so inexpensive. For about twenty cents, the cost of two half-pound boxes of soda, the youngsters have three different dentifrices to choose from at each and every brushing.

County's Bond Quota $456,000

A 1963 sales goal for U. S. Savings Bonds amounting to $456 million has been assigned to Pennsylvania, according to Charles S. Krumrine of Philadelphia, state chairman of the bond program. This is a modest increase over actual purchase of $449 million last year.

Greene County's share of the total is $456,000. Robert E. Lind is the county chairman.

Sales promotion activities will be conducted throughout the year highlighted by a vigorous national Freedom Bond Drive from May 1 through July 4.

The 1963 sales theme is "Keep Freedom in Your Future—With U. S. Savings Bonds," and the Treasury's aim will be to sell at least one U. S. Savings Bond to every family in America by July 4.

Almanac Has Eye on Weather

WASHINGTON—A proofreader on The Old Farmer's Almanac overlooked the mischief of a typesetter who for a joke, inserted this forecast for July 13, 1816: Rain, snow and hail. But it did rain, snow and hail—in that order, says the National Geographic Magazine.

Chief Tammany

Famed Indian chief Tamanend, better known as Tammany, is believed to be buried along Neshaunim Creek at Chalfont, Pennsylvania. Repeated attempts have failed to find the grave. A wise and peaceful Indian, Tammany sold land to William Penn in 1683. He lived in what is now Bucks County. The Sons of King Tammany was formed in Philadelphia in 1772, and the Tammany Society of New York in 1786. In the Revolution a group of Pennsylvania troops named Tammany their patron saint.

License Renewal

Thereafter, there were daily mailings scheduled until the passenger vehicle mailing list is completed. Following this, mailings will be made to owners of station wagons, motorcycles and tractors.

$25 SHARES IN THE PEOPLE'S CAPITALISM

A few years ago a representative group of Americans gathered at a university round table to discuss our economy, and named it "people's capitalism."

Reaction from the Communists was instant. They were appalled. They scorned the idea. They called it "impossible as fried ice." They mobilized their professors who wrote papers proving to their complete satisfaction there could be no such thing as "people's capitalism."

The fact is that much of the capital that runs America comes from the millions of people who make up America. It flows into our economy through their savings accounts, pension funds, stock and bond purchases, life insurance premiums.

And through the $45 billion worth of U. S. Savings Bonds held by tens of millions of Americans.

This stake the American people have in their country is evidence of our abiding faith in our way of life and our determination to keep our freedoms intact. And to help mankind all over the world in its fight against slavery and oppression.

Are you in the fight? Show that you are by buying Savings Bonds at your bank or through Payroll Savings where you work. And see if you don't feel pretty good about it.

- How U. S. Savings Bonds help build your own capital
1. You get $4 for every $3 at maturity.
  2. Your Bonds are replaced free if lost.
  3. You can get your money anytime.
  4. You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

In the St. James, Mo., tree town project the tree in foreground was planted in campaign. Project has proven a powerful stimulus in encouraging home-owners to continue with the landscaping and maintenance of their grounds. Few rural Missouri towns today can rival St. James in the enthusiasm with which the residents proceed with their landscape plantings and care. Planting by St. James families is three times greater than national average.
