County Candidates Declare for Offices

JOSEPH D. HART

Bank Executive On National Group

Joseph D. Hart, executive vice president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Waynesburg, has been appointed to the management committee of the United State Savings and Loan League.

The appointment was announced by Frank B. Yielding of Birmingham, Ala., president of the League, which is the nationwide trade organization of the Savings and Loan business and represents more than 4,900 savings associations and cooperative banks.

The management committee studies methods which will improve management procedures and association operating routines.

U. S. Crime Up 7 Percent in 1962

WASHINGTON — The crime rate in the United States increased seven per cent during 1962, J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced Monday.

Hoover said the increase over 1961 was consistent in all American cities when grouped by population size.

Cities with a 10,000 to 25,000 population showed a 9 per cent rise, the largest for any population group. Rural counties closed the calendar year with a 1 per cent overall increase.

The figures are contained in a preliminary report gathered from data submitted from police agencies throughout the United States.

Here is how major cities stacked up in certain crime divisions in 1962.

Robbery: Chicago, 18,579; New York, 6,634; Los Angeles, 6,111; Philadelphia, 3,852.

Larceny: New York, 59,297; Chicago, 25,638; Los Angeles, 21,509; Philadelphia, 4,012.

Auto theft: Chicago, 30,515; New York, 22,737; Los Angeles, 16,092; Philadelphia, 4,666.

The figures for Chicago were said to be represented by a new police department reporting system there.

Hoover pointed out that property crimes led the large upsurge, with auto theft up 9 per cent. The FBI enters auto cases when the stolen vehicles are taken across state lines.

The director called attention to the fact that while there was no change in the volume of adult arrest, the number of teen-agers under 18 arrested "rose an alarming 9 per cent." He said all areas contributed to this upward trend in juvenile crime.

U. S. Seeks to Place Africans Who Fleed

WASHINGTON — The State Department Sunday announced a further step in the effort to see if some of the African students who fled Bulgaria because of alleged mistreatment could be accommodated in colleges in the United States. It said it has enlisted the aid of the Institute of International Education in matching the qualifications of African students against available public and private scholarship offers available in the United States.

Republicans who have announced for nomination for County commissioner are:

E. Bryan Jacobs of Waynesburg; Charles W. Van Druff of Waynesburg; William Parry of Holbrook, R. D. 1, Aleppo Township; Edward Albert of Waynesburg, R. D. 4; Roy E. Hartley of Waynesburg, and Michael B. Lucas of Carmichaels.

Six Democrats have announced for the same office: Herman Gugliotta of Dilliner, present incumbent; Emil Fox of Waynesburg, former sheriff; Le Roy Titus of Carmichaels, incumbent county treasurer who can not succeed himself in office; Carter Andrew of Nineveh, R. D. 1, prominent agriculturist; William H. Webster, Waynesburg, R. D. 3, State Highways Department.

Other candidates who have announced their candidacy since our last edition, are:

John L. Bradley of Washington Township, Democrat candidate for clerk of courts.

George D. Black of Waynesburg, Democrat candidate for register and recorder.

Levi A. Fuller of Waynesburg, Democrat, for county auditor.

W. D. Goodwin of Carmichaels, Democrat, for county auditor.

Joseph A. Nestro of Clarksville, Democrat, for County Auditor.

James Hook of Waynesburg, Democrat, is the only candidate, so far to announce for District Attorney.

Al Darney of Carmichaels, Democrat, for Clerk of Courts.

Mrs. Edna Moredock Long of Carmichaels, Republican, for county auditor.

Virginia McCoy of Whiteley Township, Republican, for county treasurer.

Wilma Sayers Milliken of Waynesburg, Republican, for clerk of courts.

Grand Jury Indicts Five

The March grand jury returned indictments in four of five cases presented by District Attorney Glenn R. Toothman, Monday.

One case was ignored and two pleaded guilty.

Five bills were found against the following:

Robert Sollars of Bobtown, and Robert Hinerman of Mt. Morris, aggravated assault and battery, Dewey H. Bryan, prosecutor.

John Chambers of Waynesburg, burglary and larceny; Waynesburg Borough Police, prosecutors.

Glenn Alfred Newman of Wind Ridge, R. D. 1, larceny; Deputy Sheriff Harold A. Russell, prosecutor.

Carl Hayes of Waynesburg, R. D. 3, burglary and larceny; Deputy Sheriff Harold A. Russell, prosecutor.

The case which was ignored involved a charge of fraudulent conversion of property brought against John L. Fox, Jr., of Carmichaels, by William E. Neel, prosecutor.

Consideration of the five cases completed the work of the grand jury for the March term of court.

Ralph Cunningham, of New Freeport, R. D. 1, pleaded guilty to a paternity charge. He was ordered to pay hospital and doctor expenses and $30 a month toward the support of the child.

Charles E. Riggs, of Waynesburg, R. D. 3, pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while his license was suspended. Sentence was deferred by Judge J. I. Hook until April 22.

'Tide With Us,' G.O.P. Chief Says

WASHINGTON — Republican National Chairman William E. Miller said Saturday the 1964 G. O. P. election outlook has improved because Kennedy Administration policies are in shambles.

"The tide is moving our way," he told Republican state chairmen at the final session of a two-day workshop meeting.

Mr. Miller and Ohio GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss, who presided, addressed a closed session, but the GOP National Committee released remarks for both.

'Voice of Democracy'

Miss Jeanne Cox of Waynesburg High School, was the winner in the Veterans of Foreign Wars contest on "The Voice of Democracy." The following essay could cause a lot of co-called Americans to hide their heads in shame. It is refreshing and heart-warming to know our coming generation takes its heritage seriously. Following is her essay:

What Freedom Means to Me

My priceless heritage of freedom was dearly bought. How can I do less than cherish it with my whole heart and jealously guard it from all enemies? Even I, a teen-ager, am responsible for keeping freedom alive. How true are the words of Carl Sandburg: "Freedom is everybody's job!"

To me, freedom means many things. It is the fresh air against my face—the stained glass windows of my church—the carefree laughter of a child. Under freedom, I have security from want and fear. Freedom offers me dignity and worth as an individual. Freedom affords me economic, social, and spiritual choice. Freedom does not mean absence of law; on the contrary, laws wisely-made protect my freedom.

The true worth of freedom lies in its inherent characteristics. The unshakable stand taken by our government in the Cuban crisis, is an example of freedom's strength. Its gentleness is shown by moral and material support of unfortunate people in other countries. Free people want other people to be free. When asked, "Am I my brother's keeper?" the individual who treasures his own freedom unselfishly answers, "Yes!" Freedom is just. It offers its blessings to all citizens without discrimination. Freedom lives, breathes, and grows with those who enjoy it. In short, freedom is a way of life.

Freedom specifically means to me the guaranteed rights of this democracy. Under these declared freedoms are many privileges which I take for granted. I can go into a book store and openly buy a book as controversial as Doctor Zhivago was in Russia. I can stop at a record shop and buy the recording of "The First Family" for my family to enjoy. Yes, I have freedom of the mind and soul, as well as of the body. I can dream—and I can try my best to make my dreams come true.

However, freedom is a two-way street. Side by side with my precious liberties go equally great responsibilities. The right to vote is a democratic freedom; but each voter has the solemn responsibility of keeping informed in order to vote wisely. All other democratic freedoms have their counterparts in responsibilities. For, what good are unused rights? How can I be really proud of the freedom of religion if I do (Continued on Page Four)

Name Captains For '63 Easter Seal Campaign

Twenty-two men and women have been named captains to lead the 1963 Easter Seal campaign in the Jefferson-Morgan area, according to Oliver S. Robson of Mather.

Mr. Robson, who is serving as major for the area, said they will spearhead the campaign for crippled children sponsored by the Greene County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, March 7 to April 14.

Area captains:

Jefferson—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bucher, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Sabo, Mrs. Ruth McDowell.

Clarksville—Mrs. John Hackney and Mrs. Violet Arnold.

Rices Landing—Dan Zabo.

Mather — Mrs. Dorothy McMannes, Mrs. Maude McMannes, Mrs. Mamie Cable, Mrs. Hazel Shimo, Mrs. Mildred Puskey, Mrs. Frances Webb, Mrs. Jean Broadwater, Mrs. Kathryn McMannes, Mrs. Julia Cole, Mrs. Kate Robel, Mrs. Anna Mae Reareck, Mrs. Helen Santelli and Mrs. Hazel Speicher.

Greene County's society is one of 1,375 Easter Seal affiliates of the National Society that will conduct annual Easter Seal campaigns to finance rehabilitation services for the physically handicapped.

Rhonda Kay Tanner, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tanner of Greensboro, R. D. 1, born with cerebral palsy, which affected her heels, has been chosen as the county's Easter Seal Child.

There are 39 crippled children in Greene County, who receive treatment from the physical therapist, Mrs. Thomas Meglen.

Ernest L. Warrick is president of the Greene County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

G. O. P. to Celebrate Date of Founding

RIPON, Wis.—The founding of the Republican Party will be commemorated at its birthplace here March 23.

The Grand Old Party was formed at a little white school house March 20, 1854. State Republican leaders will take part in the birthplace celebration.

'Step Up and Meet My 246 Relatives

FARGO, N. D.—Mrs. Octavie Reult says her living descendants include 10 children, 56 grandchildren, 137 great-grandchildren and 43 great-great-grandchildren.

Paging Mr. Jackson

Not 'Nuttty' Idea To These Squirrels

Out in Longview, Washington, City council has authorized construction of the "Nuttty Narrows" bridge. It will carry hungry squirrels from City Park to a feeding station in an office building courtyard.

Several squirrels have been killed while attempting to cross the street, so a local contractor offered to build a four-inch wide bridge at no cost to the city.

And, Mr. Hoge, when your squirrels were crossing Washington Street on power cables—upside down—you superciliously turned up your nose in presumed indignation when asked if you were feeding them "Georgia Corn."

Either it was "corn," running about five gallons to the acre, or those squirrels from the Great Northwest, just have no intestinal fortitude!

How about it, Homer?

Medics Plan Meet In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH—An estimated 3,500 surgeons and nurses from throughout the nation will attend the American College of Surgeons sectional meeting here March 11 to 14.

The meeting, held in the Penn-Sheraton and Hilton Hotels, will include research reports, lectures, panel discussions, and medical films.

Surgeons will be up-dated on techniques in plastic surgery, neurosurgery, obstetrics and gynecology, and surgery of the throat, eyes and chest.

This will be the group's first meeting here since 1950. Pittsburgh is also one of the cities where the meetings were inaugurated in 1920.

Featured will be five daily "how I do it" clinics — instructional demonstrations by surgeons.

Shelter Improved At White House

WASHINGTON — The White House bomb shelter is being modernized. The cost is estimated at about $500,000.

Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant press secretary, confirmed that the work of modernizing the bomb shelter to include a modern communications system is well under way.

The underground shelter was first built during World War II when Franklin D. Roosevelt was President.

Equitable Gas To Slash Bills Of Frigid Period

Gas bills for the coldest February since 1925 will be slashed by Equitable Gas Company, according to plans submitted Monday to the Public Utility Commission.

A spokesman said that refund credits will total $4,041,870 and will cut current bills for residential heating customers on the average of about 40 per cent. The action comes as a result of a wholesale rate settlement reached earlier this winter with the Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, one of Equitable's major suppliers.

The credits will amount to $10.17 for each residential heating customer and $5.06 for each residential non-heating customer. Credits to residential customers will be made during the billing cycle beginning March 4.

Equitable customers have now received six refunds totaling more than $5 million since May, 1960.

The Tennessee rate settlement which made the current refund possible climaxed five years of litigation in which Pittsburgh's three gas companies, the city of Pittsburgh and the Pennsylvania PUC opposed three bids for higher rates by Tennessee.

The Equitable spokesman pointed to the current refund credit as further evidence that the cost of natural gas is not rising on a constant upward trend.

Equitable serves about 240,000 customers in Allegheny, Armstrong, Greene, Washington, and Westmoreland counties, including 964 customers in Greene County.

Vote of Democracy Contest Winners

The Voice of Democracy Contest, which took place on February 8, at Waynesburg High School, was sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post Number 4793, of Waynesburg.

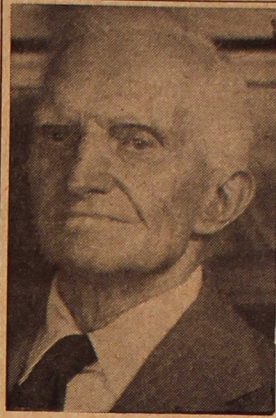

Out of several entries, first place winner was Jeanne Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Wayne Cox, R. D. 4, Waynesburg. Second and third place winners were Jane Cordray and Jack Carlson, respectively.

The contestants were to write on "What Freedom Means To Me."

Judges for the contest were Miss Jane Anderson, Mrs. Ruth Fuller and Miss Anna Meighen.

Jeanne received a $25.00 government bond presented to her by the Gallatin National Bank of Waynesburg.

Production At Gateway To Resume April First

ELI G. BAILY

Eli G. Baily Marks 98th Anniversary

Eli G. Baily, widely known Carmichaels resident, celebrated his 98th anniversary Sunday, in his home on the Waynesburg road.

Mr. Baily, who engaged in farming for many years, enjoys good health. He received many cards and gifts.

Council Considers Borough Dump

At the meeting of Waynesburg Borough Council Monday night, the borough solicitor, Attorney Robert Keener, announced that garbage disposal ordinance will be ready for first reading at the next meeting. This ordinance has to do with the landfill to replace the borough dump, and collection of refuse.

Council also authorized a $20,000 anticipation loan until revenues begin to come in.

The 1954 sewer tap ordinance was amended to increase the sewer tap fee. The charge for connecting a four-inch sanitary sewer into the borough system was increased from $75 to $100, with the charge for a six-inch tap being hiked from $100 to $125.

The borough's "pole tax" dates back to 1887, when a levy of 50 cents was imposed on utility companies for each pole they had in the borough. In 1934 the levy was reduced to 25 cents a year, the amount currently in effect.

Council, when informed that only the West Penn Power Company has been paying the annual fee, instructed the borough clerk to inform other companies involved of their obligation and work for enforcement of the ordinance.

Daffodil Expert Ships to World

PACIFIC, Mo.—An 84-year-old farmer stopped raising cattle some years ago and turned to daffodils.

"Daffodils just seemed pretty to me and I guess that's why," said John Howe, who has been living in the same two-story farmhouse "since day before Thanksgiving 1894."

Now Howe makes his living with the daffodils. Visitors from all over the world can pick and choose from hundreds of the plants bulbs from one cent to a dollar.

He depends on customers to spread his daffodils' fame and they haven't let him down. A few of his customers stopped by 40 years ago and have been coming back ever since.

Howe's farm is about a mile long and is a kind of backwoods botanical garden where 300 varieties of daffodils are shaded by rare evergreens from China and Japan and magnolias.

"I remember I started with Sir Watkins—that's one of the early yellows—and unusually hardy. I sold a few and then I began looking around for other varieties. Pretty soon I was in business," Howe said.

Howe knows all the Latin names of nearly all the flora on his farm—not bad for a man who didn't make it past McGuffey's Fourth Grade reader.

Production at the Gateway Coal Mine, formerly Emerald Mine, will begin April first, according to E. R. Cooper, general manager of Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, owners.

The Gateway operations, purchased from Hillman Coal and Coke Company, included three major stockholders — J. and L. Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh Steel and Shenango Inc.

The mine formerly was operated by Hillman as Emerald Coal and Coke Company.

The new operation involves a $7.5 million improvement program. The mine, which formerly produced some 700,000 tons of coal a year, will produce 3.1 million tons annually under the new program.

The operation involves a two-phase switchover which will reduce operations at Vesta 5 mine near Vestaburg by some 50 per cent by April 1.

Approximately 100 production men will be recalled to work from the Hillman plant on April 1 for work at Gateway mine, Cooper said. Another 150 men will be recalled on July first when the mine is expected to be in full production.

G.O.P. Critics Say Budget Too Fat By $10 Billion

WASHINGTON — Republicans mounted their biggest economy drive in a decade Monday, claiming to know where $10 billion to $15 billion can be cut from President Kennedy's new appropriations without any harm to the country.

"We believed that if such reductions are not achieved, the chances of congressional approval of a tax cut at this session will be almost nil," their spokesman, Representative Frank T. Bow of Ohio, said in a statement.

Reminded that past congressional savings attempts rarely have come to much, the GOP lawmakers said they are in dead earnest this time. They contended many Democrats feel the same way, and that the voters also are "deeply alarmed" at continued deficit spending in a time of high national output.

The Republicans declined to say at once exactly where they would cut, or whether — for instance — they were proposing to throw a roadblock into Mr. Kennedy's urgent plans to put a man on the moon.

This prompted Speaker John W. McCormack to demand they "submit a bill of particulars." They said they would—in their own time. Meantime they said there was room for saving across the board, not excluding either space or national defense.

Bow and other task force members—Senior Republicans on the appropriations committee—stated a line-by-line budget study had turned up ways to cut appropriation by $10 billion to $15 billion that should be reflected in a spending cut of from $4 billion to $6 billion in the new fiscal year.

Meantime they projected savings of up to $3 billion in national defense, said the space budget also included some fat, and that substantial economy was possible in foreign aid. They proposed among other steps:

- Holding down Federal payrolls which they said have swollen by 215,000 persons since 1960.
- Absorption by each agency of pay raises already approved by Congress and to take effect next January 1, even if it requires leaving some jobs unfilled.
- Postponement of some new construction projects, both civil and military, and a slowdown on others—even including, if necessary, projects in their own congressional districts.
- A moratorium on new Federal programs except those essential to the national welfare or security.
- A reappraisal of existing programs, with an eye to reducing or at least leveling off those of least urgency.

Dead End. Everyone has felt lost or trapped at one time or another. Today's world rushes along at such a rapid pace that it's easy to lose your footing and just be swept blindly along. And the first thing you know, you aren't leading your life, it's leading you!

BASIC SYSTEMS OF ELECTRIC HOUSE HEATING

Wall panel heaters have heating coils behind a decorative grill. Small fans may be used with this thermostatically controlled unit.

Ceiling cable heat is invisible. Wires less than 1/8" thick are fastened to ceilings before plastering. Each room can have a thermostat.

Heat pump heats home in winter, cools it in summer. It's automatically reversible and maintains any desired year-round temperature.

Baseboard units heat by both radiation and convection. All surfaces are warmed evenly, and control is by individual room thermostat.

Electric furnaces provide compact central heating systems which can be combined with central air conditioning for year-round use.

Californians Declare War On Digit Dial
WASHINGTON—The nation's biggest offensive against all-number dialing is under way in California with formal hearings before the Public Utility Commission March 20-22.

The San Francisco Anti-Digit Dial League, with Hiram Johnson III as president and trial lawyer Melvin Belli as spokesman, has lined up an array of mathematicians, memory experts and psychologists to testify on whether it is necessary and desirable to abandon letters.

The California Public Utilities Commission says it is open-minded. In separate action, it's taking a look at Pacific Telephone Co. rates.

THE TOTAL ELECTRIC HOME that proudly displays this Gold Medallion is equipped with flameless electric heating and appliances. Full Housepower Wiring and light for living. And tomorrow it will still be as modern as it is today.

The factory-finished surface, requiring no further treatment, is resistant to scuffs and stain, and most smudges wipe right off with a damp cloth or sponge. H-2

Highways Dept. to Fire 1,060; Which Will Trim $5,000,000

HARRISBURG—The Scranton Administration's austerity program spread to the Highways Department.

Acting Highways Secretary W. C. Webb announced a 10 per cent cutback in maintenance personnel and other economies designed to trim annual costs by $5 million.

Webb said the retrenchment fitted into the Scranton economy program in general terms. He of New York City, has been ill, but after hospital treatment is able to resume work.

Mrs. C. C. Conway who is making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Willis John and Mr. John of Orville, Ohio, were overnight Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Dulaney.

added it was necessitated also by the "liberal" spending policies of the preceding Democratic administration.

Webb said it would be up to each highway district to implement its own economy program. In addition to dropping 1,060 maintenance workers statewide from the force of 10,609. Such workers are paid at hourly rates.

District offices were told to hold down work on the 100 per cent state-financed construction program, as well as on use of outside equipment and materials.

Also, several hundred "on call" maintenance workers were notified that their standby services for emergency calls were no longer required. Webb said this was done so such persons could seek other employment.

Ship Riggers Sought For Perry's Brig

HARRISBURG—Ahoy, ye ship riggers! The commonwealth seeks hands to outfit the brig Niagara with cordage and sail. It will pay up to $80,000 for the job, but no grog.

The General State Authority called for bids March 13 for rigging and repairs to the brig, flagship of Commodore Matthew Perry in the battle of Lake Erie, September 13, 1813.

The ship currently is located on the Erie city waterfront.

In addition to hull repairs and sail rigging, the project calls for equipping the main deck with cannon and other naval fittings.

It was from the deck of the Niagara that Perry sent his famous message: "We have met the enemy and they are ours; two ships, two brigs, one schooner and one sloop."

Race Slated On Ohio River

CINCINNATI—The "good old days" on the Ohio River are returning.

Mrs. Letha Greene, president of Greene Line steamers, accepted a challenge Friday for a riverboat race between the Greene Lines' Delta Queen and the Belle of Louisville.

The Belle of Louisville is owned by Jefferson County, Kentucky, and is based at Louisville. The challenge for the race came from Jefferson County Judge Marlow Cook.

The race will be held April 30 and will be run from near downtown Louisville to an island about 12 miles upstream. It will be part of Louisville's Derby Week activities.

The last packet boat race in the Cincinnati area was held in 1930. Earlier, however, packet boat races were common on the Ohio.

What Freedom Means to Me

not worship God in the church of my choice? Or of freedom of speech and of the press, if I do not get as much education as my native ability and my ambition permit me to acquire?

In a free society, each member enjoys freedom of action so long as he does not infringe upon the rights of others. Every citizen has the grave responsibility of working for the common good. In his inaugural address, President Kennedy said, "Think not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country."

To me, freedom means challenges. Can a free people survive in this unstable world? The answer is up to us. However, I believe we have great reason for confidence because free people recognize God and pray for His guidance. In Berlin, the Communists have built a wall to keep people from freedom. Yet every day men, women, and children escape to freedom. Is this the Communism of which Nikita Khrushchev boasts so proudly?

Improvement offers another challenge. We should consider it a sacred trust to pass on to our descendants a brighter and more secure freedom. Freedom is not license to do as I please with my life. It is an inspiration to live each day to the best of my ability.

All the precious things that freedom means to me may be summed up in one word—opportunity. My free country is truly the land where dreams come true. The Statue of Liberty, a symbol of freedom to all, silently offers these beautiful words of invitation and promise:

"Give me your tired, your poor,
"Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free.
"The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.
"Send these, the homeless, tempest tossed to me,
"I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

Dizziness in the elderly is the most common type of dizziness.

Among the elderly, two types of dizziness are especially to be considered.

Orthostatic hypotension is a type experienced on rising suddenly.

There is a lowered blood pressure when the person changes from a lying on the back position to an erect position.

This kind of dizziness is also called neurocirculatory asthenia, associated with breathlessness, giddiness a sense of fatigue, pain in the chest and palpitation.

Such a dizziness may or may not have a background of deficiency in muscular tissue of the heart.

Persons with orthostatic hypotension should be advised to move slowly and carefully instead of suddenly.

A second special type of dizziness is attributable to degenerative changes in the equilibrium labyrinth of the ear.

Among other conditions believed to contribute to recurring dizziness is an intermittent deficiency in vascular blood flow. Often the deficiency theory is impossible to prove, and the diagnosis then is episodic vertigo, cause unknown.

Ordinarily the causes of dizziness are trifling unless there is a major complaint, and even then some minor condition may be at the bottom of the trouble.

Impacted wax in the ears, for instance, is frequently found to be the cause.

Many patients complaining of dizziness are indefinite concerning the nature of their symptoms, so the important first thing to be done by the physician is the taking of a detailed history along with a complete physical examination.

FAMOUS AMERICAN TAVERNS

Old Tavern in Arrow Rock, Missouri

Refreshed Travelers on Old Santa Fe Trail

In 1821 William Becknell crossed the Missouri River at what became Santa Fe Crossing, on the first successful trading expedition to Santa Fe. Not many years later—in 1834—Judge Joseph Huston built Old Tavern in the neighborhood to provide refreshing food and ale for notable but weary travelers over the trail. Since then the tavern has been one of Missouri's most celebrated hosteries, offering food and fuel to man, beast and motor.

Long before the building of Old Tavern, the ancient site was noted by explorers and travelers. The Frenchman D'Anville marked Pierre a Fleche (French for Arrow Rock) on his map of the Missouri River in 1755; Lewis and Clark noted the location in 1804. S. H. Long of the Yellowstone expedition in 1819 said that it got its name from the Indians using the outcropping flint to point their arrows. A blockhouse, which also served as an Indian trading post, was built on the site in 1814. Fifteen years later, the place was laid out as New Philadelphia, but the attraction of the arrow sharpening legend persisted, and the name soon returned to Arrow Rock.

The Old Tavern is now maintained as museum as well as a caravansary. Former President Harry Truman is a trustee of the "Friends of Arrow Rock, Inc." The historical atmosphere of the tavern is carefully preserved as well as its reputation for home-cooked meals and old-fashioned hospitality tendered by a charming hostess, Mrs. Alta Kahn. The hostess also maintains over-night accommodations in her own home, one block from Old Tavern.

MEMORY LANE

Winter Artistry

Remember what fun you had on cold frosty mornings—B-r-r-r—printing your name and drawing pictures with your finger on the steam covered windows? Why, it was as good as a blackboard! You entertained yourself this way while mother hovered over the wood stove, frying buckwheats and sausage for breakfast. Remember?

Small tribute conducted with the dignity and reverence that need not be expensive.

Cleopatra, Ancients Plagued By Aching Feet

AKRON, Ohio—The history of man's efforts to be well shod can be summed up with: "My feet are killing me."

That's the opinion of the Good-year Women's Service Bureau, which has done an extensive research on footwear over the ages.

Shortly after shoes were invented, the bureau said, fashion entered the picture and comfort—the original goal—was sacrificed.

Cleopatra may have been one of history's most beautiful queens but chances are her feet were killing her all the way to the orgy.

The lady of Egyptian fashion paddled around the palace all day in thick, shapeless, heavy clogs anchored to her feet with rough leather straps.

The ancient Turks devised a torturous shoe consisting of a wooden slab suspended a foot off the ground by four wooden spikes—sort of a four-way spike heel. This made the Turks taller and, hence, more chic. Also more miserable.

In ancient Greece and Rome, about the only people who had reasonably comfortable feet were the peasant who wrapped their tootsies in soft animal hides or cloth—or went barefoot.

The upper crust of these civilizations wore the flat thongs made from rough leather or rushes woven together in a rather painful pattern. But they put the members of the Caesar set head and shoulders above the peasants, so what mattered if their feet were killing them.

In 14th century England, the fashionable wore shoes with extremely long toes that had to be tied to the knees with chains.

A century later, brave Venetian ladies wore shoes with 13-inch stiletts. This fad spread and, in the 16th century, nobility all over Europe turned out at big soires in you-can-be-taller-than-she shoes.

Men who today scoff about a lady's ultra-high heels were hobbling about in very similar heels in the days of Louis XIV. They soon gave up the ghost but the Lois XIV heel still is popular with the women.

At the turn of this century, shoes took on a semblance of ease. But it wasn't until about 1920 that fitting techniques were refined enough for shoes to be comfortable. Then the flapper wanted jewel-bedecked contraptions. And we were off again.

Of course, all this doesn't mean comfortable shoes are extinct. The Goodyear women's group said most men's shoes are practical and some women's shoes—casual flats and low-heeled pumps—meet the required specifications.

But, pointing to the current creations that raise the heaviest part of the foot about four or five inches off the ground and support it with a spike less than a half-inch in diameter, the Bureau predicted it will be many, many moons, if ever, before fashion's grip is relaxed and women are able to go out on the town in footy comfort.

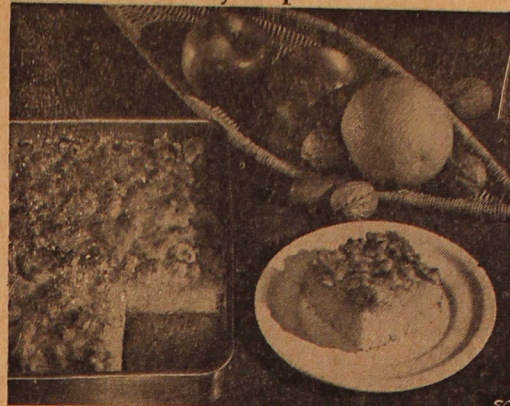

AIKEN APPOINTED

WASHINGTON — The appointment of Sen. George D. Aiken (R) of Vermont to fill a vacancy on the National Forestry Reserve Commission was announced to the Senate by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

TRAIN SERVICE

MEXICO CITY—Daily direct train passenger service between Mexico City and Merida, in the Yucatan peninsula, will be started March 18, the National Railways says.

Crunchy-Top Treat

A rich, crunchy topping turns corn bread into a delectable coffee cake. Buttery, sugary nuts are sparked with orange rind and sprinkled atop corn bread batter made with your favorite corn muffin mix. This corn bread is perfect in flavor and texture time after time, for it's made with a reliable mix. Try the treat soon with a cup of steaming coffee!

ORANGE-NUT CORN BREAD

Makes one 8-inch square
Topping:
1/4 cup chopped nuts
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1-1/2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Corn Bread:
One 12-oz. pkg. (2 cups) Flako Corn Muffin Mix
1 egg
2/3 cup milk
Heat oven to hot (400° F.). For topping, combine all ingredients until crumbly.
For corn bread, empty corn muffin mix into bowl; add egg and milk. Blend only until dry ingredients are thoroughly moistened. (Batter should be slightly lumpy.)
Pour into greased 8-inch square pan. Sprinkle topping over batter. Bake in preheated oven (400° F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Serve warm.

Oregon Man Gives Seedling Trees For Planting

"I've found my work is the best this side of heaven," says Charles C. Hoover of Medford, Oregon.

There are many people in the United States who have never owned a tree. But Charles Hoover has given away enough trees to children in just four years to make a giant forest. He also shows them how to plant and care for them. In four years, he estimates, he has given away 200,000 seedling trees, and hopes to have the total up to 300,000 by the end of 1963.

Mr. Hoover is a former rancher, and grandson of the state's first nurseryman. When he retired he started the tree-planting program. He buys tiny seedlings from the government and from private nurseries. In the last year 70,000 have been packaged at his home; the younger ones opening papers and older ones wrapping the tiny trees in compost.

Mr. Hoover has given away 47 varieties of trees and is now experimenting with redwood seedlings he has been growing on a piece of land he once reclaimed from the desert by developing several lakes.

The trees are given to children of kindergarten age through the lower grades in four Southern Oregon counties and the nearby California bay area. Last September, remembering his childhood home, Mr. Hoover and his wife distributed 16,000 seedlings to Greenwood County, Kansas.

Alaskan Minister Visits Methodist Churches in March

REV. GORDON GOULD

The Rev. Gordon Gould, native Alaskan official of the Methodist Division of National Missions, will spend five days visiting Washington District Methodist churches, March 17-21.

The Rev. William T. Garland of California, Washington District secretary of Missions, in announcing the schedule, stated that Dr. Gould is Alaska's first native son to become an ordained minister in the Methodist Church. He was born in Unga, in the Shumagin Islands, and spent the early years of his life in the Methodist Jesse Lee Home at Unalaska.

In 1954, Dr. Gould was elected an associate secretary of the Division of National Missions, in charge of Methodist work in Alaska. In 1955, he was appointed a director in the mission board, devoting his entire time to promotion of the new Alaska Methodist University.

Sunday, March 17, Dr. Gould will be at Mt. Calvary Church, Garards Fort, at 9:45 a. m.; Fairall Church, 11 a. m.; at a county-wide meeting of all Greene County churches at First Methodist Church, Waynesburg, at 3:00 p. m.; and at Jefferson Methodist Church in the evening.

Monday, March 18, he will speak in various district high schools in the morning; at a 6:00 p. m. covered dish dinner for Charleroi Sub-district parsonage families at First Methodist Church, Charleroi; and at a Mission Night gathering in the church at 8:00 p. m. for interested officials of the sub-district's churches.

Other engagements will include: Tuesday, March 19—Luncheon Roscoe Church 1:00 p. m.; Rotary Club, California, 6:00 p. m.

Wednesday, March 20—Phillipsburgh Elementary School, California, 1:30 p. m., and mid-week evening service at the Alpenort Church.

Thursday, March 21—Washington Sub-district Ministers Breakfast, 8:30 a. m., afternoon at the Claysville Methodist Church, and evening at the Bentleyville Methodist Church.

BRIDGES CONNECT KEYS

The Florida Keys, a crescent-shaped chain of coral islands, are connected by a series of bridges that form a 150-mile highway from Miami to Key West.

Time Deflates Lancaster Trip

BOSTON—When the Nation's first hard-surfaced road opened in 1796 between Philadelphia and Lancaster, Pa., the trip by stage coach took 12 hours and the fare was $3.50.

Today, the American Automobile Association reports, buses making several stops complete the trip in 2 hours and 10 minutes and the fare is $2.30.

Yellow Jackets Lose to St. Vincent Monday Night

St. Vincent handed the Waynesburg College Yellow Jackets a 64-56 defeat in Latrobe Tuesday night to give the visitors their worst season in the history of the game at the Greene County school. The contest was tied at the half 25-25.

Waynesburg was without the services of two starters in the second half when Chuck Kelly and Alan Leshor both sprained ankles in the first half. They were the only two accidents in the free-wheeling game which saw a total of 66 fouls called.

'Endless Mountains'

In the northeastern section of Pennsylvania is the Land of the Endless Mountains, just northwest of the Poconos. It includes the counties of Bradford, Sullivan, Susquehanna and Wyoming. It was the Indians who called one of the Pennsylvania mountain ranges Kittatinny... an Indian word for "endless mountains." Other beautiful Indian names originating in the Endless Mountains area are Susquehanna, Wyoming, Towanda, Lackawanna and Tioga.

Mike Zrimm Top Wrestler For Yellow Jackets

Once - beaten Mike Zrimm, sophomore from Avella, paced the Waynesburg College mat team in dual competition in wins (10), winning percentage (.909), and pins (4) this winter.

The 18-year-old history major, who doubles as a fine performer in football, wrestled at 157-167-177.

Two Yellow Jackets were unbeaten. They were junior Bill Coulter of Conneaut Lake, and sophomore Terry Wilson of Waynesburg. Coulter was 4-0 at 157 and Wilson was 3-0 at 117 and 123.

Both saw limited duty. Coulter was out of action with a knee injury while Wilson ran into book trouble.

Two men tied for the runnerup shot in total wins with eight. They are senior co-captain Joe Simon (8-1-1) of McClellandtown and sophomore Tony Gusic (8-3-1) of Waynesburg.

Coulter, Simon, and Gusic shared the second spot in pins with three each.

Six men in all — including Zrimm and Simon—enjoyed one-beaten status.

They included junior Gene Arrigoni (7-1-4) of Canonsburg, sophomore Bob Gary (5-1) of McClellandtown, senior co-captain Bill Snodgrass (3-1) of Waynesburg, and freshman Ron Salmek (1-1) of Jefferson.

Coach Raymond (Bucky) Murdock directed his charges to 61 wins, 27 losses, seven draws, and 23 pins during the season to compile a 7-3 record.

Murdock Men Win 120th Bout; Enter 4-I Meet

Waynesburg College wrestlers gave Coach Raymond Murdock the 120th win of his 15-year-career Thursday night, in Greensburg, when they defeated St. Vincent, 34-0, in the last dual match of the season.

Murdock has resigned his position effective at the end of the season.

The win over St. Vincent gave him a record of 120-21-2.

The coach and four wrestlers will leave Thursday for the 4-I Tournament at Case Institute of Technology, Cleveland.

Those entering the tournament will be senior Joe Simon, with an 8-1-1 record for the season; sophomore Tony Gusic, with an 8-3-1 record; sophomore Mike Zrimm, with a 10-1 record, and junior Gene Arrigoni, with a 7-1-4 record.

The Yellow Jackets put together five pins and three decisions in defeating St. Vincent, leaving them with a team record for the year of 7-3. Their only losses came at the hands of Shippensburg State (15-14), Bloomsburg State (18-11) and Lock Haven (23-7).

Summary: 123—Hecht decisioned Fernan, 5-0. 130—Gusic pinned Skoloda, 4:17. 137—Simon pinned Fulcher, 3:33. 147—Thomas pinned McCormick, 6:40. 157—Bernardin decisioned Stoveken, 6-0. 167—Zrimm pinned Abt, 3:23. 177—Arrigoni pinned Davie, 4:07. Hvy—Stanek decisioned Thomas, 4-1.

Shah Promises Women Will Vote

TEHRAN — Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi promised yesterday that women will vote for the first time in Iran's history in the next parliamentary election.

The shah said his decision to grant women the vote is in full accord with the Iranian constitution and does not contradict Islamic law. Suffrage rights have been given to women in other Moslem countries, he added.

Another Ex-Jockey Joins Family At Waterford

CHESTER, W. Va.—Harry R. Bell, general manager at Waterford Park, has announced the appointment of Robert W. Montgomery, one of America's top jockeys up to a decade ago, to the official family for the upcoming meeting that opens on March 16.

Montgomery accepted his first mount in 1929, and rode his first winner at Beulah Park in 1930, launching him upon a lengthy and very successful career in the saddle on some of the best tracks in the country.

Bob started training horses when he hung up his tack in 1952, and met with varied success, better than average, as he puts it.

In 1957, he accepted his first officiating job at Cahokia Downs where he served as patrol judge. The same year he joined the staff at Fairmount Park, in Collinsville, Illinois, and served as patrol judge and clerk of the scales at both tracks for four years.

Last year he moved up to the placing judge's stand at both East St. Louis area plants and has shown such marked ability that he impressed Bell with his work and was offered the opportunity to join the official family at Waterford Park for the coming season.

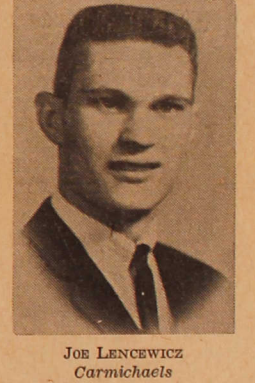

Patriotic Setter Stands and Yodels

PAINESVILLE, Ohio — Bill Scheamer, 48, has a dog that believes in doing some real flag-waving. Rip, an Irish setter, stands at "attention" on his hind legs, and "yodels" and wags his tail when the "Star Spangled Banner" is played.

that I would probably do the same things over again if I were a youngster." He added, "some day I hope to become a steward, and I find that my experiences in all phases of the sport are helping me immensely to attain that goal."

In commenting upon Montgomery's appointment, Harry Bell had this to say, "We are very fortunate to be able to obtain the services of Robert Montgomery as an official. He is another cog in the wheel of long-time racing personalities who are part of our official family at Waterford Park."

Waterford opens the most spectacular meeting in its history on March 16, for a total of 175 days during 1963. The spring-summer session runs through September 2 and the fall meeting opens on November 2 and runs through December 14. Post time has been set throughout the year at 1:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

European Progress Curtails Import, Says May of Christian Science Monitor

By JOHN ALLAN MAY
Christian Science Monitor

LONDON — Can the United States expect now to increase its agricultural trade with Europe?

Well, Europe's import requirements of wheat this year are likely to be "considerably lower" than last year.

Coarse-grain import requirements are expected to be "somewhat lower."

Trade in dairy products is expected to meet "some further difficulties."

A contraction of egg production is likely.

Europe's imports of beef, veal, and pig meat very likely will decrease further.

Production and consumption, and trade in poultry meat, however, continues to expand.

Thus does the secretariat of the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe sum up the market situation in European agriculture and the outlook for short-term trade.

The total 1962 European grain crop excluding that of the Soviet Union is estimated at about 164,000,000 tons, about 8 percent more than in the previous year.

In the U. S. S. R. the crop reached a record level of 147,400,000 tons, about 10,000,000 tons more than in the previous year.

Wheat production in Western Europe is estimated to be 11,000,000 tons higher than in 1961. Relatively large quantities of this are likely to be used for animal feeding.

With regard to coarse grains a reduction of the maize crop has been offset by a big barley crop. "The problems of the butter market remained unsolved in 1962," the ECE reports.

The application of quotas in the London market stabilized prices but left some countries with large unsold stocks. These have increased in spite of an increase in butter consumption in a number of countries.

Trade in cheese and milk powder cannot be expected to absorb much more milk, the ECE adds. An increase in milk production in Western Europe at the same time can be expected to "add further to the difficulties of the market in dairy products."

The two salient features of the European egg market in recent years, the ECE goes on, have been: (1) the familiar phenomenon of overcompensation of supply, in response to price changes and, (2) the decline of West German imports for the third successive year.

Low egg prices during the hatching season this year could lead to a restriction of the number of eggs incubated and to a subsequent contraction of production in the 1962-63 season, it is said.

Consumption of meat has risen in all parts of Europe as a result of rising income, the ECE declares. In line with this tendency meat production has also expanded. Europe's production has been increasing more rapidly than its consumption. Europe has expanded its own meat exports, particularly to the United States.

In Eastern Europe increased numbers of livestock in nearly all countries in 1962 points to a further increase in meat production there too.

Production and consumption of poultry meat both continued to expand in 1962, the ECE concludes. Falling prices have led to increased consumption and thus increased production. Technical improvements have raised productivity, but "a painful readjustment is still ahead for many traditional producers — particularly for those who produce poultry meats as a by-product of egg production."

The big importing market has been West Germany. This dependence on a single market has been "fraught with dangers in the long run" for exporters. Moreover, although German imports may remain high the pattern of the trade "may be influenced by the new regulations of the European Economic Community (the European Common Market)."

Apart from that change—of great significance of course to the United States, which is seeking to expand its exports of agricultural products—the ECE sees no sign that the expansion of production and consumption.

Navy Historian Gets Swiss Prize

ZURICH, Switzerland —America's naval historian of World War II, retired Rear Admiral Samuel Elliot Morison of Boston, Mass., was awarded a Balzan prize of $51,000—225,000 Swiss francs—for his 15-volume naval history.

The Swiss-Italian Balzan Foundation also awarded four other such prizes, including its first Peace Prize to Pope John XXIII.

Churchill Takes Country Outing

LONDON, March 4—Sir Winston Churchill, now in his 89th year, took his first "country" outing Monday since the start of Britain's big winter freeze-up.

Lured by the sudden change to brighter and milder weather, the veteran statesman set out by car from his London home on a drive to Richmond Park, famous beauty spot near the capital.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

Antibiotics and Zinc Help Early Weaned Pigs

Digestive upsets score high in the management problems of weanlings and pigs score high up on the list of livestock subjects to these problems. Many experiments have shown that antibiotics added to the weanling pig ration can be of great help. They counteract the stresses or shocks suffered as the weanling is removed from the dam and the diet drastically changed.

Recent tests at Macdonald College, Quebec, demonstrated that pigs weaned at ages of from 18 to 21 days benefited considerably in live-weight gains, feed efficiency and reduction of scours, when fed zinc bacitracin in their rations. In addition to the antibiotic, the zinc too, seems to be needed in relatively large quantities by pigs, partly in order to avoid the dread skin disease of parakeratosis. The zinc is often supplied by means of trace mineralized salt with high zinc content sufficient to cure and prevent parakeratosis.

As might be expected in reference to scouring, those pigs that were prevented from scouring showed a higher digestibility of protein, dry matter and gross energy.

The beneficial effect of the zinc bacitracin also was more pronounced in the case of rations that were balanced primarily from vegetable words it helped most those rations that most needed help.

Similar observations were made years ago when antibiotics first were used in livestock management, especially swine management. It even seemed that antibiotics in raising weanling pigs might substitute for good management.

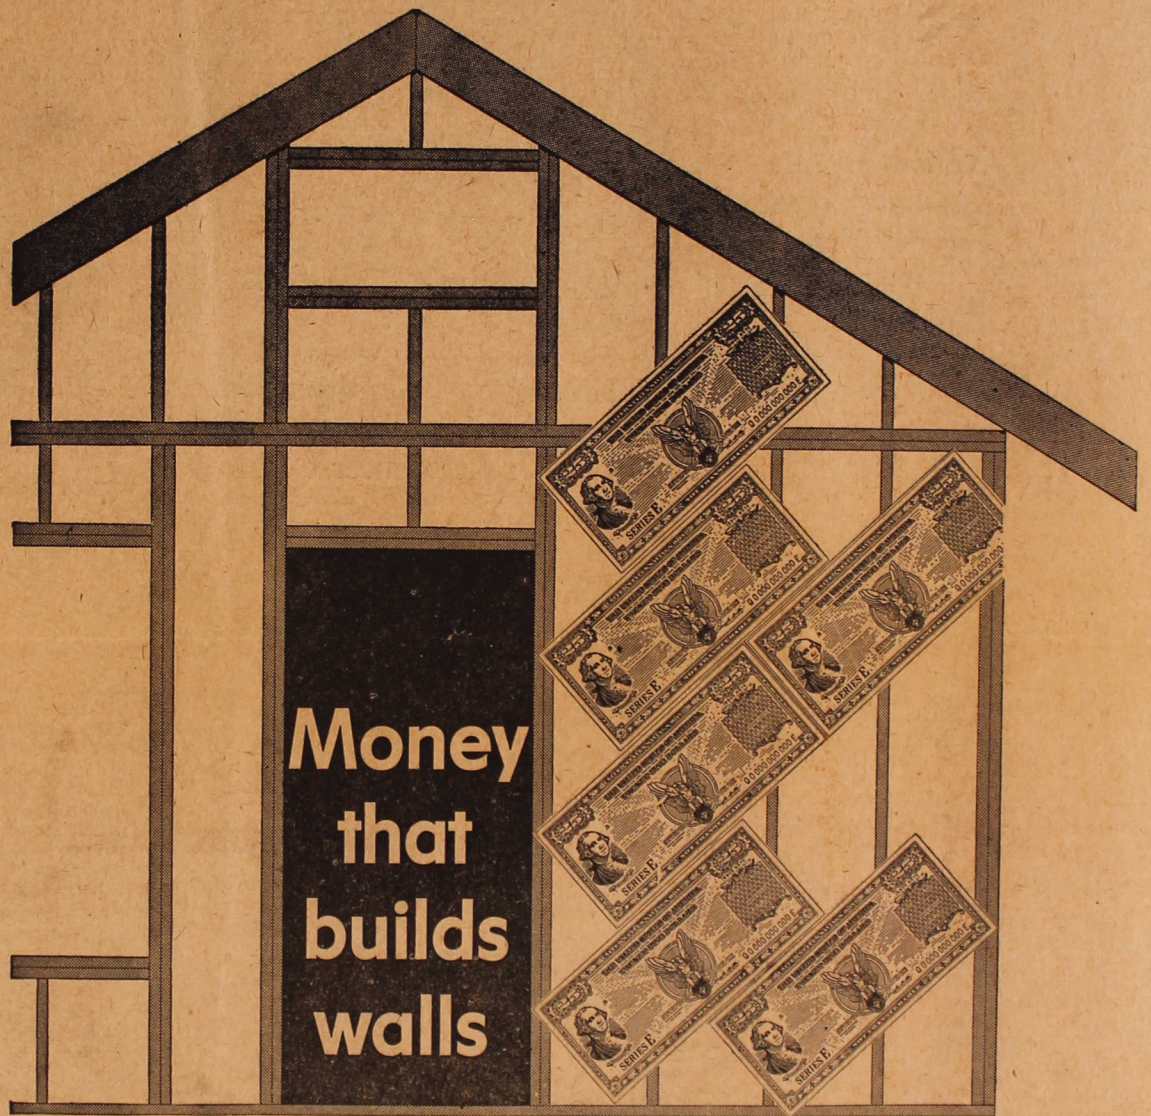

Helpful as the antibiotics are, it was soon seen that they could not substitute for good management, but only add to the results of such management. After all, management includes a whole chain of practices: breeding, feeding, sanitation or disease and parasite control, and the many ins and outs of economics including marketing.

The basic principles continue to demand attention. But keep in mind that the antibiotics can be helpful and that zinc seems to be needed in amounts often greater than the swine rations provide. The high-zinc salt mixtures available can add to production profits by preventing or curing parakeratosis.

Also, whether zinc bacitracin is fed or not, the additional feeding of trace mineral salt high in zinc need cause no concern because while zinc deficiency is dangerous, the animals have a tolerance for several or even many times their ordinary nutritional needs for zinc.

Question: In raising calves, which is better, pail feeding or nipple feeding?

Answer: Where this has been put to a test, calves fed through nipples took about twice as long to consume a given quantity of milk and possibly for that reason had better digestion and made faster and more economical gains.

Money that builds walls

...American style

The money you're putting into U.S. Savings Bonds today will probably some day go into college tuition, or new furniture, or the walls of a new home.

Until you need it, this money is earmarked for a very important job. And you can be sure it isn't building a 27-mile barrier of brick, barbed wire, and concrete.

Every dollar you save with Uncle Sam goes directly into keeping our country strong, with its affairs in good order, so that we can carry on the struggle for freedom—at remote outposts, at conference tables, in outer space.

Quick facts about U. S. Savings Bonds

1. You get $4 back for every $3 when your Bonds mature.
2. Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, or destroyed.
3. You can get your money anytime.
4. You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.

Tens of millions of American families have accumulated $45 billion in E and H Bonds—part of our strength as individuals. And part of the strength of the nation.
