New Appointments for Highway Department

Petty Thieves Busy In The County In Past Week

A rash of petty thieving broke out in the County Office Building on East High street during the past week and also in the Central and Borough Elementary Schools in Carmichaels.

On Thursday night $265 in cash, some checks and a notary's seal were taken when thieves broke into the law offices of Scott and Hook on the third floor of the County Office Building.

The same night $21 was taken from the dental office of Dr. W. C. Brown on the second floor.

The Red Cross office on the second floor was also entered, but nothing was taken.

On Friday night an unsuccessful attempt was made to enter the offices of District Attorney Glenn R. Toothman and County Detective Charles P. Meighen.

The janitor of the building found a broken nail file near the door.

Over the week end Central and Borough Elementary Schools were entered. They were the fifth and sixth schools to be robbed in the past two weeks. Only $2 was taken.

Police found finger prints.

The sheriff's office, state and borough police are investigating the entries.

Shriver Again Heads C of C Here

H. Leslie Shriver of Waynesburg, was reelected president of Waynesburg Chamber of Commerce last week at a meeting in Myrtle's Town House.

Other officers named were, John A. Stoup, first vice president; Herman F. Hirsch, second vice president; Riley White, treasurer.

Mrs. Muriel Lemley, of Waynesburg, was engaged as executive secretary, to start May first. She has been working as chief clerk for the Central Greene School District.

Mrs. Lemley will succeed John A. Cowan of Waynesburg, who has held the post on a part-time basis.

Mrs. Lemley will be the chamber's first full-time executive secretary in a number of years.

It was announced that the chamber's new office on North Washington street will be ready for occupancy on or about May first.

Five men elected to the board of directors were, William Bracey, Jay H. Payne, Paul Puglia, Riley White and Harry A. Mertz.

Brown Named Head of JayCeEs

James Brown was elected president of the Waynesburg Junior Chamber of Commerce for 1963-64 at a meeting Tuesday evening at Rohanna's Restaurant.

He succeeds Loren Matthias, who was named a state director and a member of the board of directors of the local club.

Other officers elected were Thomas Martin, first vice president; Dan Zabo, second vice president; Thomas Bennett, secretary; Charles Brewer, treasurer; and Wayne Headlee and William Bracey, directors.

The club went on record as favoring the idea of establishing a State railroad museum in this area, a project which currently is being pushed by the Washington-Greene County Tourist Promotion Agency.

June Draft Call Is Reduction

WASHINGTON — The June draft quota for the Army was set Tuesday at 4,000 men, the lowest since last February.

The Pentagon estimates this quota, together with volunteers who have had no prior military service, will meet a requirement of 17,000 in June.

Tuesday's call brings the total of draftees since 1950 to 2,814,450.

J. Russell Morris of Holbrook, and Edward L. Rice of Waynesburg, have been named assistant superintendents of highways, E. Bryan Jacobs, Republican county chairman, has announced.

Their salaries are $5,252 per year.

Allen K. Milliken of Waynesburg, was appointed superintendent of highways in Greene County several weeks ago.

Mr. Morris' appointment fills a vacancy and Mr. Rice will replace Charles E. Plasko of Nemacolin.

Mr. Morris had been employed by the state highway department for 26 years, prior to 1955 when the Leader administration came into power. Since that time he has operated a dairy farm.

Mr. Rice had been employed by the L. H. and D. Construction Company of Waynesburg, until eight years ago, he and his brother, Thomas operated the Rice Lime Plant at Sycamore.

Lester Burlein, deputy secretary of highways, has approved the appointment of 14 foremen.

One of the 14, James Mooney of Sycamore, R. D. 1, has been working for the department under the Lawrence administration. He was sponsored by the county Republican organization.

The 13 new appointees are Lawrence McClure of Mt. Morris; Ralph LaRue of Greensboro, R. D. 1; A. M. Jones of New Freeport; Perry L. Riffle of New Freeport, R. D. 1; Ray C. Whipple of Wind Ridge, R. D. 1; Lloyd J. Addleman of Clarksville, R. D. 1; Ted Crouse of Holbrook, R. D. 1; Blaine E. Hager of Dilliner, R. D. 1; J. H. Moore of New Freeport; Willis G. Blaker of Mt. Morris; Carl R. Burns of Graysville; James L. Parry of Holbrook, R. D. 1 and Charles J. Raber of Spraggs, R. D. 1.

Four other employees who are now working have also been approved to continue in their positions.

Three of them work out of Highway Department District 12 headquarters at Uniontown. They are Charles L. Reed, a construction engineer; Richard G. Lively, a construction inspector, and Clarence S. Dole, a member of the survey corps. All are residents of Waynesburg.

Carolyn M. Taylor of Waynesburg, who is employed in the Highway Department office at Waynesburg, will also be retained.

One new appointment in District 12 headquarters has been approved for Greene County. He is William E. Neal of Crucible, a construction inspector.

Pennsylvanians Take New Look At Commonwealth's Constitution

Pennsylvanians are once more being asked if they wish to draw up a new state constitution.

Gov. William W. Scranton has sent to the Legislature a bill authorizing a referendum in the November elections on whether or not to hold a constitutional convention to give the Keystone State a new frame of government by 1965.

If a new constitution does result, it will be too late to affect Mr. Scranton's governorship tenure.

Under the Constitution of 1873, the Governor is not permitted to succeed himself and Governor Scranton will leave office in January, 1967. This is two years away from a senatorial contest, and this period out of public office often slows down a politician's momentum.

In Mr. Scranton's case, this could be critical, because he is frequently mentioned as a possible presidential candidate.

Governor Scranton, who took office in January, has criticized Pennsylvania's 90-year-old constitution severely, but he has not yet, and probably won't ask for any changes which would permit governors to be reelected.

The Republican Governor, one of the biggest vote-getters in Pennsylvania history, would have a chance to a second term if the voters back in 1961 had approved a referendum to permit governors

Shown above are Mrs. Charles Huffman, president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Greene County Medical Society, presenting a check for $400 to Eugene L. Strosser, Greene County Memorial Hospital administration. This check brings the total amount to $900 the Medical Auxiliary has given the hospital in the past two years for new equipment.

Ike Talks Tough About Soft Parents

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has some tough comment for parents who "coddle their children with soft living."

Mr. Eisenhower, speaking in Indio, Calif., recalled the days when he sold milk door-to-door for five cents a quart.

"Today's leaders sold newspapers and did other chores to help their parents," he said, but today's youths grow up "in apartments or fine homes and are not called on to do even such minor chores as mowing lawns."

Speaking at a Boy Scout lunch, Mr. Eisenhower called for development or "leadership qualities" and said the Boy Scouts "gives the greatest promise of doing the job."

Mr. Eisenhower is honorary vice president of the National Council of Boy Scouts of America.

School Aid OK'd For Costa Rica

WASHINGTON — Improvement of public education in Costa Rica under the Alliance for Progress is the goal of two agreements announced by the Agency for International Development.

Fred J. Funari, director of personnel for West Penn, accepted the award on behalf of the company from Robert Gearinger, representing the institute. West Penn has been widely recognized in the electric utility industry for its management development program, and the benefits of West Penn experience have been passed along to other companies and industry organizations.

West Penn Given National Award

West Penn Power Company has received a national Edison Electric Institute award for commercial sales promotion during 1962, it was announced at the annual sales conference in Chicago.

Presented to West Penn manager of commercial sales Henry R. Jones at the conference, the award cited West Penn "... in recognition of its outstanding program promoting increased use of electricity in the commercial field."

In the category that includes the nation's larger electric utility companies, the award was West Penn's seventh in the past six years in commercial and industrial sales promotion made by the national trade association, the most won during this period by any electric company in the country.

West Penn has also been presented an award by the Research Institute of America, world's largest private industry - supported business advisory organization, in recognition of the utility's contributions in the field of management development.

The two programs will help the Government of Costa Rica increase primary and secondary school enrollments, add to the number of qualified teachers and improve the quality of instruction at the University of Costa Rica.

Carmichaels Girl In WAC Training

SUSAN I. BLASKO

Pvt. Susan I. Blasko, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Blasko, of Carmichaels, recently completed eight weeks of basic military training at The Women's Army Corps Center, Fort McClelland, Ala. Private Blasko received instruction in subjects such as Army history and traditions, administrative and supply procedures and first aid. She is a 1962 graduate of Father Kolb Memorial High School, Mason town.

Dr. Drummond To Head State Student Group

Dr. Robert J. Drummond, chairman of the Psychology and Education Department, will become the president of the Pennsylvania Association for Student Teachers at the convention being held on the Waynesburg College campus on April 19 and 20.

"Coordinating Teacher Education Programs with the Cooperating Schools" will be the theme for the tenth annual meeting of the P. A. S. T.

The program for the first day begins with registration at 1 o'clock.

A business meeting and dinner will be held in the Stardust Room of the Mansion House. The speaker at dinner will be Dr. Roy Edelfelt, Associate Secretary, National Education Association, and his topic will be "The National Education in Teacher Education."

The lamplighters will present a short recital after dinner at the Mansion House.

The activity for Saturday will begin with a central meeting with Adeline E. Kreinherder presiding. The speaker for this meeting will be Dr. George Myers, coordinator of secondary student teachers, Michigan State University. Dr. Myers' topic will be "Coordinating the Program of Teacher Education Institutions and Various Cooperating Schools."

A panel discussion, with Clair Cogan, assistant superintendent of Pittsburgh City Schools, presiding, will begin at 10:30. Under discussion will be "Coordinating Programs of Cooperating Schools for Teacher Education Institutions."

The panel will be composed of Dr. Floy Penn, Director of Instruction, Mt. Lebanon Public Schools; Dr. Warren Shipley, Assistant Superintendent, Baldwin-Whitehall Schools; and Dr. Eugene S. Spence, director of Secondary Instruction, Bethel Park Senior High School.

The Pennsylvania Association of Student Teaching consists of directors of student teaching, college supervisors of student teachers, cooperating teachers.

West Virginia Centennial Schedule, 100 Years of Statehood Stand Proud

This is a year of gala events in West Virginia, celebrating a century of statehood. It was born in the anguish and disruption of the Civil War, but for its hundredth anniversary there will be only rejoicing.

The regular annual festivals throughout the year have been planned around centennial themes, but many of the most important observances are timed for the spring and summer vacation months.

The state Legislature will hold a special session honoring the centennial on April 20, in the first capital, Wheeling; and on April 27 there will be a coronation ball for the centennial queen, in the present capital, Charleston.

Also at Wheeling, a commemorative stamp and medallion will be issued, for first day of sale on Statehood Day, June 20.

Statehood Day ceremonies will be held also in Charleston, highlighted by a parade. On June 20 West Virginia Week and the 10th annual Rhododendron Festival will be held.

A feature of the year-long celebration will be launching of a Centennial Showboat; and a Centennial Special Exposition Train will tour the state with displays of the state's agriculture, natural resources, arts, crafts, and folklore. A traveling "spectacular" will present West Virginia's first 100 years in drama, song, and dance.

There will be a centennial performance of the historical drama "Honey in the Rock," in Grandview State Park; a centennial water festival at Bluestone Dam; house and garden tours in various towns, and a wildflower pilgrimage to Blackwater Falls State Park, plus exhibitions of West Virginia products and Civil War exhibits in many different places, and festivals of every kind all over the state.

Dates and details of this outstanding array of festivals may be obtained from the West Vir-

Large Barn Burns At Nineveh Loss Of $17,000

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a large barn owned by John B. Carter, Jr., of Nineveh, Thursday afternoon about two o'clock.

Damage was estimated at $17,000.

Mr. Carter discovered the fire and was able to drive a tractor and small farm trailer out of the burning building.

Both Morris Township and Waynesburg Volunteer Fire Companies fought the blaze.

Firemen, who had to pump water from a nearby stream, were hampered by strong wind. However, they were able to save two small sheds which were nearby.

Mr. Carter stated the fire apparently started in the hay loft where 500 bales of hay were stored. Also lost in the fire were several farm tools including some 12 to 14 various types of forks, a two-wheel flat bed trailer and a manure spreader. The nearby hillside caught on fire, but was quickly put out.

Annual Meeting Of Red Cross Here Tuesday

Greene County Chapter, American Red Cross, will hold its annual meeting Tuesday, April 23, in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post Home on East Lincoln street, Waynesburg, at eight o'clock.

The public is urged to attend this meeting.

The program consists of: Centenary Celebration; tribute to the late Elva Scott, R. N.; and recognition of volunteers.

A speaker from the national society will be present. Refreshments will be served.

County Fairs Are Scheduled

The annual Jacktown Fair at Wind Ridge will open August 7 and continue through the tenth, and the Greene County Fair in Waynesburg, will be August 12 through 17, State Secretary of Agriculture Leland H. Bull, has announced.

Eighty-eight county and community fairs have been listed in the state for the 1963 season. The fairs will divide a special state appropriation of $55,000 that is distributed by the Department of Agriculture. Top reimbursement to an individual fair is limited by statute of $1,000.

These fairs have gained wide attention as tourist attractions and each year draw an increasing number of out of state visitors.

A tentative agreement with Franklin Township supervisors to operate a joint landfill dump was presented to Waynesburg Borough Council, Tuesday night, by the borough solicitor, Robert Keener.

Council also heard an ordinance to create the joint landfill and another creating the power to operate the landfill.

The Sanitation Committee, of which Harry Thomas is chairman, Attorney Keener and Borough Engineer Frank Church, were instructed to study the West Street sewage plan to find out if federal aid might be applicable for the project.

An ordinance setting the yearly salary of the mayor was also read. Money received is to be based on population of the borough as of the last U. S. census, or two and a half times the last voters registration figures. The ordinance states that the basis shall rest on whichever is larger.

The salary cannot exceed $2,000 per year for a municipality under 10,000. The borough's population is slightly more than 5,000.

Council approved payment of an insurance premium of $203.06 on a boiler for the new fire hall on East Greene street. The insurance is over a period of three years.

Daylight time was adopted to begin Sunday April 27, and end October 27.

Approval was given for the Street Department, under the direction of Glenn Zollars, to recondition and set up playground equipment at the Waynesburg Playground, East End.

It was brought out at the meeting that part of the $400 borough allotment to the playground could be used to recondition some of the equipment.

The $400 was set aside in the 1963 budget when the allotment of the Waynesburg Borough School District was cut off following the merger of the district with the Central Greene School District.

Patricia Loy, borough secretary, reported there have been four applications for borough manager. They were referred to a committee composed of Russell McKee, William Stephan, Elmer Everett and Leroy Cummings.

Mr. Everett reported on the meeting with the county commissioners and a representative of the Public Housing Administration on Thursday, April 12. Councilman Leroy Cummings and Harry Thomas were also present at the meeting.

The planning committee, Leslie Conkle, John Rush, Ray Ingham and Elmer Everett were instructed to look further into a public housing project for Waynesburg.

Council also voted approval of repair of a 37-foot section of curb on South Washington street.

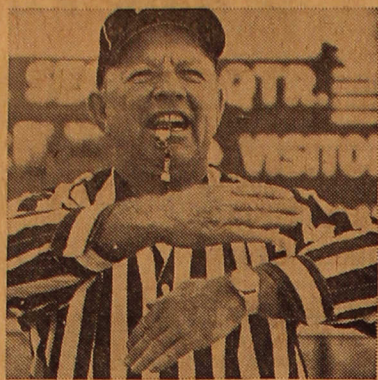

The repair of the curb was requested by Albert Sayers who stated in a letter to Council that he and other property owners of a building fronting on that section would like to rebuild the sidewalk but find it necessary for a new curb in order that the sidewalk would not crumble away into the street.

The curb and walk are in front of a building which is being rebuilt as a result of a fire in December.

Your Health

Pennsylvania Medical Society

It has been said there are no illegitimate infants, only infants of illegitimate parents.

Likewise, it may be said the fact there are juvenile delinquents is because delinquent parents have made them so.

A leading psychiatrist has made an exhaustive study of hundreds of cases of juvenile delinquency to find out why bad boys are bad.

The psychiatrist gathered and studied a vast amount of data on each case—past history, family, home conditions, plus personal interviews.

He concluded that a delinquent breakdown is an escape from an emotional situation which for the particular individual becomes temporarily at least, unbearable.

This intolerable emotional situation, declares the doctor, almost always arises within the child's home and centers around his relationship with his parents.

The psychiatrist has listed five main motives for juvenile crime.

The most frequent is the avoidance-excitement motive in which the boy throws himself into a round of escapades to keep away a poignant anxiety.

The second motive is spite or retaliation, and usually directed against the parents.

The non-cooperative motive is an attempt, often deliberate, to secure removal from home.

Delinquent behavior begins in some cases as a somewhat perverse method of attracting the notice of unaffectionate parents, to test their loyalty.

The final motive listed, found in about one case in five, is the compensating-for-inferiority type.

The problem of delinquency, summarizes the psychiatrist, is in a great measure the problem of the unsatisfactory family.

Not just juvenile delinquency, parental delinquency.

Attend the Church of Your Choice Regularly

Pitch!

And the batter's ready for it. He has a split second to wait. He has to decide. For the count's at three and two.

And then he decides. You see the shoulder muscles tighten under the woolen shirt, the left leg thrust closer towards the plate, the brown hands and long arms suddenly bring the bat around in a swinging shaft of light.

You're on your feet with the rest of the crowd now. For—he's got a hit . . . HE'S ON!

He got that hit through training, observing the rules of the game, and believing that he would meet the right ball when the time came, and meeting it hard and clean and sharp.

Like him, you will have hurried decisions to make in life, and like him, you need faith.

Your church can help with that faith, by first helping you build your faith in God. Your church can help you understand the rules of another game—the game of life—if you will give it the opportunity by attending the Sunday services of the church of your choice.

Your church training will help you make good decisions—good for your fellow men . . .

MEXICO TO PLANT CORN

MEXICO CITY — Mexican farmers will plant a total of 37 million acres this year, the Agriculture Ministry says. Corn will cover the largest area, 16 million acres.

PORT OF ENTRY

LOUISVILLE — In 1799 Congress made "the village of Louisville" a port of entry into the United States, and a customs collector was appointed. New Orleans was in French possession and no American custom house existed between it and Louisville.

PARIS — Newspapers in the French language are published in 71 countries in the world outside France itself. Canada's French Language press is the biggest in the world outside France with some 50 newspapers and journals.

How Many New Electrical Gadgets For Homeowners

How many different electrical appliances are available for home use in America today?

At this month's national sales conference of the electric industry's national trade organization, Edison Electric Institute, 166 different appliances were on display.

West Penn Power sales officials present at the conference noted that among the new and more unusual home uses of electricity represented in the display were electric cradle rocker, scissors, carving knife, and a face padder to remove wrinkles.

The unprecedented total of 166 different appliances symbolizes the rapid progress being made in electric living with growth from 17 available appliances in 1930. It took 60 years to develop the first 56 appliances in the group, but only ten years to develop the next 110.

While eliminating such far-out items as electric back scratchers and heated bird baths, the exhibit documented the complete panorama of the electric living habits today. Electric appliances are chosen for convenience, pleasure, comfort, hobbies or to improve their health or grooming. The show indicated that the number of housekeeping appliances has taken the biggest jump with additions such as waxing and scrubbing machines. A brand new appliance trend is in hygiene and cosmetic type electric appliances such as hair dryers, manicure sets and electric tooth-brushes.

The biggest revival is occurring in stereo and hi-fi equipment. Many major advances have been made, such as those on the electric sewing machine, which, in addition to sewing even fancier stitches, can perform such complicated tasks as monogramming and sewing on buttons. Even the first electric appliance in the home, the electric light bulb, has gained new dimensions by becoming decorative as well as functional.

Electric heating and climate control are the biggest items in the electric appliance field today—and the most revolutionary. Not only do single major appliances heat and cool homes, but they can also filter the air and add or take moisture out of the home atmosphere.

Of the more than 166 electric appliances manufactured for home use today, the average family owns about 13 different ones. A decade ago the average home had only seven. The inclusion of many appliances into home use can occur with phenomenal speed. For instance, many millions acquired TV sets, steam irons, and electric shavers in a single decade. Ten years ago the three appliances used in the largest number of homes were refrigerators, radios, and irons; today, refrigerators, radios, and electric washers are in the lead.

People of the Philippines speak 70 or more languages and dialects.

New Wax Bar Ends Grass Clipping Chore

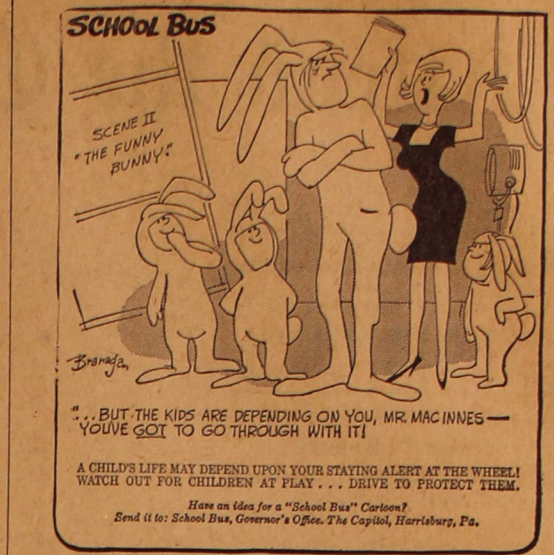

The tedious job of edging the lawn with clippers now promises to be as obsolete as the other back-breaking lawn chores that have been eliminated during the past few years. Power mowers have almost completely taken over from the hand variety. A growing family of chemicals, from pre-emergence crab grass killer to grub eradicator, has practically eliminated most other hand operations.

The latest in this line of chemical lawn tools is a wedge of wax which does away with trimming grass around flower beds and trees and along fences and edges of buildings. This wedge of wax is impregnated with dalapon, a development of The Dow Chemical Company. Dalapon is a coined name for a chemical which controls such grasses as Bermuda, zoysia, fescue and bluegrass.

The wax bar, with gripping handle inserted, is rubbed lightly over the grass to be

WEST VIRGINIA CENTENNIAL GUIDE

West Virginia, celebrating its Centennial during 1963, offers a host of activities throughout the State for everyone. With the advent of spring, these activities move into high gear and keep the pace all year long.

Among the events which will attract visitors from all over the country are the Coronation of the Centennial Queen at Charleston (April 27), opening of the Trout Season, Statewide (April 27-Dec.31), Houses and Garden Tour at Charles Town, Harpers Ferry, Martinsburg and Shepherdstown (April 27-28), Mother's Day Ceremony at Grafton (May 12), Wildflower Pilgrimage at Davis (May 15-17), Sam Snead Golf Festival at The Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs (May 16-19), Oglebay Park Outdoor Entertainment Series at Wheeling (June 1-Sept. 2), "Honey in the Rock" Outdoor Drama at Beckley (June 22-Sept. 2) and the Art and Craft Fair at Ripley (July 2-7).

Also the opening of the new Zoological Gardens at St. Albans near Charleston (May 15), the Trout Festival at Petersburg, one of the biggest fish fries in the country (May 18), Cannelton Coal Tours, at Cannelton, excursions through a working coal mine (June 1-Sept. 2), John Brown Civil War Showcase at Harper's Ferry, featuring the vast collection of Civil War memorabilia (year-round), and Statehood Day Ceremonies at the Capitol in Charleston, where West Virginia's admission into the Union 100 years ago will be celebrated (June 20).

For campers, West Virginia has outfitted its parks and forests with the latest in modern camping services including fireplaces, running water and rest rooms. Nearly all the grounds offer swimming, picnic areas, playground and fishing facilities as well as marked trails and scenic views. Many more have cabins, restaurants, grocery stores, refreshment stands, riding and game courts.

Besides outdoor recreation and entertainment West Virginia offers many historical points of interest as well as industrial sites which have guided tours for the visitor.

Four Generations Attend College

The role that many families have played in the history of Waynesburg College and its continuing progress was emphasized again recently when Attorney John W. Knox, a Waynesburg native, now on the legal staff of Socony Oil Company, in New York, made a special trip "back home" to speak at an Alumni Fund workshop held at the college.

Although he has many professional responsibilities as well as being active in community affairs at his present home of Ocean Side, Long Island, Mr. Knox's loyalty to the college is such that he arranged other affairs to be here when he felt he could help the school.

His family is deeply rooted in Waynesburg and the college. His grandparents Prince Albert Knox and Martha Parker Knox were among the college's early graduates.

His parents, the late Dr. James A. and Lulu Seragant Knox, were classmates in 1899. His father was an esteemed physician and surgeon in Waynesburg and a long-time trustee of the college. His uncle, Federal Judge John Knox, of New York, graduated from Waynesburg in 1902.

Both Mr. Knox and his wife, the former Sara Ely, whose home was also in Waynesburg, graduated from Waynesburg. He was in the class of 1930, and she in the class of 1929.

The fourth generation of the family was represented at

Pennsylvania Longrifle Shooters

S. K. Stevens, director of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission has issued the following letter to the longrifle shooters.

The time has come to right a wrong of history.

We count on your ability to face destiny on a Field of Honor. And win.

For 150 years of injustice, our great flintlock wilderness tamer has been called the Kentucky Rifle. Whereas, let it be known this famous weapon was developed by gunsmiths resident of the Great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that most of them were manufactured on Pennsylvania soil during Frontier Days, and that the weapon's acquired misnomer is an unfair, unfortunate and unstable accident of history.

We propose to seek satisfaction at our September Flintlock Shoot at the Daniel Boone Homestead of Reading.

— If these Kentucky myth-makers have the courage to face us!

— If these Kentuckians possess the competitive spirit and sharp target ability of true American marksmen!

May we assure you this proposal has enthusiastic support of the highest representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We would elaborate, but protocol in this Affair of Honor mandates silence until events follow a fitting course. We are bound by tradition and code to await substantial word of willingness to accept delivery of a formal challenge.

Meanwhile, gentlemen, we take confidence in the enthusiasm and accuracy demonstrated by each of you during the past flintlock shoots at the Boone Homestead.

Keep your powder dry and be ready for some preliminary shoot-offs — if we are offered the chance we seek — to select a crack team for September, led by a Gentleman of Honor.

Chief food of beaver is aspen or poplar but they are also fond of the bark of willow, birch, black alder and wild cherry trees.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day Educated Equines

Some horses are sent to school to learn to do things which come naturally to yearling Thoroughbreds and many 2-year-olds. The Thoroughbred, on the other hand, goes to school to learn not to perform similar antics. A Thoroughbred caught doing a capriole, a courbette or a pirouette would immediately be put on the starter's schooling list. The famed white Lepizan of the Haute Ecole, or "high school" of the Imperial Spanish Riding School in Vienna would be considered highly untutored on the race track, but would flunk out in Vienna if he couldn't "rise in the air from a standing position extending his front and hind legs horizontally" (the capriole) or "fold his front legs while rising on his hind legs and hopping forward" (the courbette) or, in the pirouette, "keep his back legs practically stationary while galloping around them with his front legs." The haughty Lepizan may boast a "high school" education, but the Thoroughbred is not without its academic heroes. Lene Picin's, a stakes winner at Longacres a few years back, was literally college-bred, having been bred by the State College of Washington; Hillsdale College in Michigan awarded the horse Hillsdale a letter in track and the Florida-bred Kentucky Derby winner, Needles was awarded similar honors by the University of Florida.

Carmichaels Tops In Section 16 W.P.I.A.L. Baseball

Carmichaels Area High School made it three in a row and top of Section 16 baseball, when they defeated Waynesburg, Monday, 8-3, at College Field.

It was fairly even until the sixth inning, when the Mikes put on a drive that allowed them to score almost at will. Waynesburg never got back in the game. It was their second loss of the season.

Seedlings Shipped By Millions From State Nursery

More than 5,500,000 tree and shrub seedlings are being shipped from the Pennsylvania Game Commission nursery at Howard this month. George Weller, nursery superintendent, said today the shipments started April 1 and should be completed by April 13. They include over two million conifer seedlings, mostly pine and spruce, plus 3,560,000 shrubs of such species as multiflora rose, autumn olive, tartarian honeysuckle, lespedeza, asiatic crab, bitternut, coalberry and silky dogwood.

Seedling production at the Game Commission property in Centre County is geared to providing stock for wildlife habitat improvement programs. Most of the seedlings are planted by the Commission's food and cover crops on state game lands or furnished to farmers enrolled in cooperative farm-game projects.

Any extra seedlings may be made available to conservation organizations for planting on other land open to public hunting. Weller emphasized that the Commission does not ship seedlings to individuals for planting on private land. He also stated that all plantings are subject to future inspection by Commission field officers who determine survival rate, care in planting procedures, and benefit to wildlife.

Baby beavers can swim soon after birth but they can't dive at first because air trapped in their dense fur keeps them afloat. Young beavers stay with their parents through two winters; then they must strike out on their own.

Presidents' Vigor Is Historic; Swam In Clothes

WASHINGTON — Fifty-mile hike, hmph. Teddy Roosevelt, who started the 1963 madness, wrote in 1903 that "I can ride fifty miles on horseback or walk twenty on foot, if I am allowed to choose my own gait."

Then 45, he also confided that he did little boxing "because it seems rather absurd for a president to appear with a black eye or a swollen nose or cut lip."

The presidential prowesses were revealed in an exhibition of manuscripts assembled by the Library of Congress under the title, "The Vigorous Life."

They disclosed that as far back as 1786, President Thomas Jefferson wrote his son-in-law, Thomas Mann Randolph: "The sovereign invigorator of the body is exercise, and of all exercises walking is best. A horse gives but a kind of half exercise, and a carriage is not better than a cradle . . . not less than two hours a day should be devoted to exercise."

Even Abraham Lincoln was a ball player and a wrestler when he was in his 30s, according to the reminiscences of James Gourley.

"Lincoln played town ball — he hopped well," Gourley remembered. He called Lincoln a great wrestler and said his specialty was side holds—"he threw down all men."

Among recent Presidents, Dwight D. Eisenhower got his exercise by playing golf; Harry S. Truman walked; John F. Kennedy, restricted by an old back injury, swam.

But Teddy Roosevelt's papers are a gold mine of information on living vigorously.

He even went swimming with his clothes on—a feat associated in the New Frontier with the backyard swimming pool of Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy.

About 59 years ago, in July of 1904, Roosevelt wrote from Oyster Bay, N. Y., that he took six boys with him on a point-to-point hike.

He wrote a friend: "We swam the mill pond (which proved to be very broad and covered with duck-weed) in great shape, with our clothes on; executed an equally long but easier swim in the bay, with our clothes on, and between times had gone in a straight line through the woods, through the marshes and up and down the bluffs . . . I did not look exactly presidential when I got back from the walk!"

W.P.I.A.L. Makes Several Changes In Basketball Districts In Area

Revisions have been made in district basketball sections, according to the 1964 schedule announced by the W.P.I.A.L. basketball committee, headed by Henry Pharoah, Jeannette superintendent of schools, formerly of Waynesburg.

Burgettstown and Waynesburg, competitors in Class B for the past several years, will move into Section 4-A with Baldwin shifting to Section 7.

Fort Cherry, one of the most successful Class B teams in recent seasons, will compete in Class A next year; joining Section 12, composed mostly of Pittsburgh suburban schools.

Snowden will be a new member of Section 15 next season and there will be no replacement for Waynesburg in Section 18, which becomes a six-team circuit.

Sections 5 and 10 remain intact with Uniontown, Monessen, Charleroi, Donora, Bellmar, Rostraver, Monongahela and California in Section 5 and Beth-Center, Brownsville, North Union, South Union, German, Redstone, Fairchance, Georges and Albert Galatin in Section 10.

W.P.I.A.L. officials said the changes were necessary because of enrollment growth and opening of several new high schools next fall.

In addition to Mr. Pharoah, the cage committee includes George Dresmich, South Fayette; Donald Kratzert, Hopewell; Dr. Jack Roush, Fox Chapel; Andrew Sukel, Donora, and James Shaver, Elizabeth.

What's the plural of geese? Wildlife authorities call a group of geese on the water a "gaggle." If they are in the air, the proper term is "skein."

Beavers are the largest rodent in North America, weighing up to 60 pounds with an average weight of about 40 pounds.

Alignment of revised sections with district teams is as follows:
Section 4 — Burgettstown, Canon - McMillan, Chartiers Valley, Dormont, Mt. Lebanon, Trinity, Washington and Waynesburg.

Section 12 — Fort Cherry, Bethel, Brentwood, Carnegie, McKees Rocks, Stowe, Thomas Jefferson and West Allegheny.

Section 15 — Avella, Chartiers-Houston, McGuffey, ePters Township, Snowden, South Fayette, South Side.

Section 18 — Bentleyville-Ellsworth Carmichaels, East Washington, Jefferson-Morgan, Mapleton and West Greene.

HOW TO BUILD A PLANTER BOX

- There are few do-it-yourself ideas that add quite so much beauty to the entrance way, patio or garden as a planter box. Common brick, stone or concrete brick planters are easy to construct in spare time hours. Here are the directions for construction using 4 x 4 x 8 concrete brick. This material is uniform, easy to handle and builds rapidly.
1. Layout the planter area to determine size and location of foundation. Put in line and level stakes.
  2. In clay or compact soil, dig trench for foundation 6" wide and 5" below ground level. Put 2" of gravel in bottom of trench for drainage and level. Finish by placing 3" of Sakrete Concrete Mix on top of gravel. (This pre-mixed material is available at most lumber, building material and hardware stores.)
  3. Stretch lines to mark position and level of initial course.
  4. After base sets, put down a 3/4" bed of Sakrete Mortar Mix long enough for 3 or 4 bricks, furrow mortar and lay first course. Use level and straight edge frequently.
  5. Butter the end of each brick before laying. Squeeze buttered end against the previous brick so that mortar oozes and a 3/8" joint results.
  6. As each brick is laid, use trowel handle to tap brick into proper position. Use level and straight edge frequently.
  7. Both horizontal and vertical mortar course should be about 3/8" thick, and as you build, check each course with level, both across the bricks and along their length.
  8. Cut off excess mortar with upward sweep of trowel. Check vertical alignment.
  9. When mortar begins to set, tool joints with jointing tool. One week after completion, scrub bricks with 10% muriatic acid solution to remove spots of mortar on brick.

Pennsylvanians Take New Look At Commonwealth's Constitution

Referendum attempts to get a new constitution have been defeated five times, including as late as 1953.

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court during the depression turned down the Democratic Earle administration's graduated income tax plan by referring to the constitution, which states: "All taxes shall be uniform, upon the same class of subjects."

But 14 states with the exact same wording in their constitutions have graduated income taxes.

Pennsylvania has had constitutions drawn up in 1776, 1790, 1838, and 1873. Most of the constitutions were directed at limiting the powers of the executive and legislature.

The 1776 constitution authorized in the place of a governor a 12-man administrative council with a weak "president" as chairman. This is why Benjamin Franklin and John Dickinson, among others, have been known as "presidents" of Pennsylvania.

The current constitution, as seen by some historians, was part of a reform movement against the powerful Simon Cameron Republican machine and the coal, steel and railroad interests which controlled the state in the post-Civil War era. The 1873 constitutional convention met 180 days and gave Pennsylvania a conservative constitution.

Pennsylvanians liked their limitation of state debt to $1,000,000 and their provision that would permit a governor and a lieutenant governor to be of different parties. The vote was 2 to 1 for constitution.

In this century there have been about 90 proposed amendments to it, and 62 have passed. A revision commission five years ago proposed 123 more amendments, of which it called 60 urgent.

Constitutions of Pennsylvania, including the present one, have been amazingly successful in helping to cut short the ambitions of politicians.

There has been only one native-born Pennsylvanian in the White House, James Buchanan, and only one vice-president, George Dallas in the Polk administration. Neither was a governor. No Pennsylvanian ever has run on a major party ticket for either office and lost.

Of the 22 governors who have served under the current constitution, only two, Robert E. Pattison and Gifford Pinchot, have had two unsuccessful terms. Only two, Edward Martin and James H. Duff, have gone on to the Senate. Leader lost in his Senate bid in 1953.

Only a few Pennsylvanians have served in presidential cabinets in this century. Many officials in Harrisburg cite the financial limitations of the constitution as its greatest handicap.

Just this month (April) the Legislature passed, unanimously in both Houses, a proposed constitutional amendment which would allow the Commonwealth to make scholarship loans or grants. The old constitution does not permit it.

Under the constitution, the state cannot lend to local governments, either, and these governments, in turn, cannot go into debt beyond 7 per cent of their assessed value of taxable property.

The state's debt limit has brought about four high authorities, including the General State Authority, which now have a debt of about $3.1 billion combined. Local governments are estimated to have created 1,500 local authorities to bypass their debt limitations.

If the Legislature approves a referendum for a constitutional convention, the cost of government has been estimated as high as $800,000.

Mop Handle Deflects Bullet

DENVER — A holdup man fired his gun pointblank at 17-year-old Kris Sutton in a neighborhood grocery, but she wasn't hit. The bullet struck the wooden handle of a mop she was holding, splintered it and ricocheted into a milk dispenser. The man ran.

NOTICE IN THE MATTER OF "THE WAYNESBURG OPTIMIST CLUB"
Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to the Common Pleas Court of Greene County, Pennsylvania, on April 27, 1963, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of obtaining a charter for a proposed nonprofit corporation to be organized under the Nonprofit Corporation Law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania approved May 5, 1933, as amended. The name of the proposed corporation is "THE WAYNESBURG OPTIMIST CLUB".

College Announces Fall Opening

Registrar M. K. Talpas announced the dates for the coming fall term at Waynesburg College.

Fall classes will begin September 4, two days after Labor Day, he said.

Fall classes will begin September after each student's last final. The last final is scheduled for December 20.

The Christmas vacation will last nearly three weeks and include four weekends.

Because many students live in distant states and a short (three or four day) vacation does not offer them much time at home after traveling, Thanksgiving vacation will be only one day.

This is the practice in many colleges at the present time. The time taken from the Thanksgiving holiday will be used to lengthen the semester break and Easter vacation.

One Terrible Turn Deserves Another

LONDON — A driver who parked his car in front of a driveway, returned to find this note pinned to his windshield: "You are parked in front of my driveway. I look forward to being of service to you soon." The note was written on a funeral parlor's letterhead.

The purpose for which it is to be organized are to own and to operate a park for the welfare of the youth of this general community; to provide a proper field for baseball and other athletics; to hold matches and games between various competing groups of youth of this community, such as Little League baseball; to encourage and educate the children and the youth to be derived from competitive athletics; to sponsor and encourage social functions to the end that the youth of the community may be developed along lines of better citizens.

The Articles of Incorporation have been filed in the Office of the Prothonotary of Greene County, Pennsylvania.

| 1/2 cup All-Bran (whole bran cereal) | 3 teaspoons baking powder             |
| 1/2 cup milk                         | 1/2 teaspoon salt                     |
| 1 1/2 cups sifted flour              | 1/4 cup shortening                    |
|                                      | 1 cup ground, cooked ham              |
| 1/2 cup butter or chicken fat        | 1 cup chicken stock                   |
| 1/2 cup flour                        | 1 cup milk                            |
| 1 teaspoon salt                      | 1/2 cup light cream                   |
| 1 teaspoon pepper                    | 3 cups diced, cooked chicken          |
| 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg                  | 2 tablespoons pimiento, cut in strips |
| 1/2 teaspoon celery salt             |                                       |

Combine All-Bran and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Stir in ham. Add All-Bran mixture, stirring only until combined. Spread mixture in greased 8 x 8-inch pan. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) about 30 minutes. Cut into pieces approximately 4 x 2 1/2 inches. Melt butter. Stir in flour, salt, pepper, nutmeg and celery salt; blend well. Add chicken stock, milk and cream gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Stir in chicken and pimiento; heat thoroughly. To serve, split shortcakes, place spoonful of chicken sauce on bottom halves. Cover with tops and remaining chicken sauce. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings.
