Mrs. W. M. Hudson Of Carlinville, Ill., Dies In Florida

Mrs. Florence Barclay Hudson, 84 years, wife of Dr. William Mestrezat Hudson of Carlinville, Ill., a former president of Waynesburg College, died Friday, April 19, 1963, in Lakeland, Florida, where she had spent the winter. She had been in failing health several years.

Mrs. Hudson was born in Russellville, Kentucky, October 22, 1878. She graduated from Logan College in Russellville, majoring in piano and voice. Later, she studied voice in New York. Mrs. Hudson possessed a fine contralto voice and was a soloist for many years.

On June 27, 1905, she was united in marriage with William M. Hudson, in the First Methodist Church in Louisville, Kentucky. Following a short residence in Clarksburg, West Virginia, where Dr. Hudson was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Dr. and Mrs. Hudson moved to Waynesburg, where he became president of Waynesburg College. In 1912, they went to Carlinville, Illinois, where they have continued to maintain a home. For thirty years while Dr. Hudson was president of Blackburn College, Mrs. Hudson was known as "Mother Hudson" to hundreds of students. Besides being counselor and friend to the college family, she formed and directed the college choir and instituted many ceremonies of the college year that have become traditional at Blackburn.

The last time Mrs. Hudson visited in Waynesburg was in October 1950, during Pennsylvania Week on the occasion of Dr. Hudson being named a Pennsylvania Ambassador by the State Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Hudson was a member of the Federated Presbyterian Church of Carlinville and the P. E. O. Sisterhood.

Surviving are her husband; three daughters, Leslie, wife of A. W. Meyer of Upper Montclair, N. J.; Florence, wife of J. B. Callaway of Laguna Beach, Calif.; and Dr. Harriet D. Hudson, dean of Randolph-Macon College, Lynchburg, Va.; eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Thursday in Carlinville and interment made there.

Federal Files . . . In 1800 . . . Consisted of

Two Wagon Loads

In 1800 the United States government picked up and moved from the city of Philadelphia to the new capital, Washington, D. C.

It was not a difficult chore. The entire files of the Federal government filled only 50 packing cases and were easily transported in two wagons.

We have gone a long way since then, and not always in the right direction.

We talk about big government, but do we really know how big?

It is:

Big enough that the annual federal budget is now almost one hundred billion dollars;

Shortsighted enough that the national debt is more than three hundred billion dollars;

And sprawling enough that more than two million, three hundred thousand employees are on the civilian payroll!

During the last thirty years the Federal government has gone deeper into an area called social welfare.

The government entered quietly at first, but increased its role to such an extent that our social welfare expenditures during the current fiscal year will total approximately thirty-seven billion dollars! The money will be spent for such purposes as social insurance, public aid, health services and research, labor, housing, transportation, education, and veterans' benefits.

When we consider the size of government in the United States, we should also take a look at the federal subsidy programs. They affect minimum wages, taxes, housing programs, lending programs, war contracts, research, natural resources and regional development programs, banks and surplus property disposal.

Our government subsidy to agriculture headed the list last year at almost five billion dollars; subsidies to business cost us another one and one-half billion dollars, and the subsidies to labor reached 337 million dollars.

The cost to the taxpayer for merely handling the storage of surplus commodities totals around 38 million dollars a year, and the cost of transporting surplus commodities totals 85 million dollars a year. In all, this program costs us one and one-half million dollars a day.

The list goes on. As of 1960, the time of the last census, the Federal government:

Owned more than three quarters of a billion acres of land (767,766,000 acres), about one-third of the total land area of the United States.

Owned 405,443 buildings.

Owned 224,270 vehicles (exclusive of military vehicles) which traveled more than two billion miles a year.

Owned and operated 54 major electrical projects with approximately one-fourth the capacity of all electric utilities in the nation.

These figures indicate how much the government owns. You must remember that you must pay for every bit of it. You are the source of Big Government. The root of Big Government's power is money, and every cent of it is your money.

During 1962, the Federal government dipped into our pockets for 93 billion dollars. More than half of this, about 49 billion, 300 million dollars, came from individual income taxes. Another 27 billion dollars came from corporate income taxes. That averages out at $1,550 for every taxpayer in the country.

Is this what we want?

We think not. (Turn to Page Four)

Warns Against Burning Trash

The Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters has issued an urgent appeal to all individuals, organizations and businesses to exercise extreme caution with any form of fire in or near forested areas of the State.

The abnormally long Spring dry spell, now entering its third week, has created a tinder box of the fields and forests all across Pennsylvania. Since the last week in March almost 600 forest fires have been reported in the State. The occurrence of fires thus far during 1963 is running ahead of the same periods in 1962, which was the worst fire year since 1946.

Secretary Maurice K. Goddard stated that until ample soaking rains occur to eliminate the danger the following rules should be observed by all citizens:

No trash, debris or other burning should be done at any time in or near forest or grass areas.

No smoking should be done in the open in or near forested areas. Motorists when smoking should use car ashtrays. Smoking material should not be thrown from vehicle windows under any circumstances.

No camp fires or cooking fires should be lighted in wooded areas, except in approved camping areas, with suitable fire places. Such fires should be thoroughly extinguished before the site is abandoned.

Anyone who must use fire for any reason in or near forested areas should contact their nearest State Forest Officer or Forest District Office before starting.

Chief Forest Fire Warden Samuel S. Cobb pointed out that anyone responsible for causing a forest fire is responsible to the State for the cost of extinguishing the fire and to the landowner whose property is destroyed.

Judge Roy Carson To Conduct Court

Judge Roy I. Carson of Washington County, has been assigned to hold court in Greene County by Chief Justice John C. Bell, during the illness of Judge J. I. Hook.

Reports Livestock Feed Program

Howard R. Porter, Chairman of Pennsylvania Disaster Committee, reminds all eligible farmers under the Livestock Feed Program to submit their applications for assistance prior to May 31.

This is the final date that farmers in the 51 disaster counties in Pennsylvania will be able to receive C.C.C.-owned feed grain for the preservation and maintenance of foundation herds of cattle including population dairy cattle, sheep and goats, at not less than 75 per cent of the feed grain support prices and for other eligible livestock 100 percent of the support prices.

All interested farmers should contact their County Agricultural Service Office immediately and explore the possibility of receiving such assistance.

U. S. Department of Agriculture assistance given to Greene County as one of the 51 disaster counties in the state last fall was 25 carloads of corn, 50,000 bushels.

Local Man Charged With Recent Thefts

John P. Chambers, 33 of Waynesburg, has been charged with alleged burglary and larceny in connection with breaking into offices in the Greene County Office Building.

He is charged with taking $262 in cash and $20 in checks from the office of Attorneys John and James Hook and with stealing $21 from the office of Dr. William C. Brown.

The charges were filed Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Harold A. Russell. A hearing before Justice of the Peace John L. Daily is scheduled for Tuesday, April 30.

pray...

Simple words punctuate the greatness of America.

- "All men are created equal."
- "... of the people, by the people, for the people..."
- "God, who gave us life, gave us Liberty."
- "We have nothing to fear—but fear itself."
- "Let us pray..."

In the simple words of prayer, in the respected ritual of worship, in the wise counsel of the man who leads each congregation there is some private, personal meaning for each person who listens.

On these words you can build your Faith—a Faith that can be as deep and strong and satisfying as you will work to make it.

Faith can offer new strength to everyone—especially to you alone.

Paintings Show History's Heroes

"Taxation without representation is tyranny" was the cry in Boston Harbor on the night in December 1773 as the angry colonists—disguised as Indians and armed with hatchets—threw 342 chests of English tea into the icy water.

The budding United States was making a bid for freedom on that cold night in Boston. In less than three years she was fighting for it. The fight for freedom is still being fought and won.

Freedom has many faces. In a unique exhibition of paintings and treasures of Americana on exhibit through June 16 at Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, Mich., "Faces of Freedom; a view of the American scene" portrays freedom as lived in history and legend.

Oils and water colors such as Harold Von Schmidt's "Boston Tea Party" shown above are displayed with treasures from the Henry Ford Museum's world famous collection of Americana. A tea-tax stamp and copy of the stamp act illustrate this painting. With "Benjamin Franklin" is an early Franklin stove, with "George Washington" is his camping equipment, and with "Abraham Lincoln" is the chair in which he was assassinated.

Sponsored by the American Heritage Foundation, this exhibit of 75 paintings travels throughout the United States. Nowhere before, however, has it been displayed with the actual historic mementoes of yesteryear.

More than a million visitors each year tour the 260-acre Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, where American history comes to life. The Museum and Village were founded by Henry Ford, born in Dearborn 100 years ago this July.

Your Health

Pennsylvania Medical Society

It's spring cleaning time. Any time—and all the time—is a proper time to clean out the family medicine chest.

The medicine cabinet contains elements highly useful, also possibly dangerous.

Every year 500,000 children accidentally swallow potentially poisonous substances, and 500 die.

Household products and medicines should be kept out of reach and sight of children, preferably in a locked cabinet or closet.

These items should be kept in their original containers and never in cups, glasses, or substitute bottles.

All potentially poisonous substances in the home should be in containers properly labeled, and these labels should be read and understood before the substance is used.

Medicine should never be given or taken in the dark.

Ninety per cent of accidental poisonings in children occur to those under five years of age.

Since children tend to imitate grown-ups, adults should take their medicines when the children are not present as interested observers.

Any medicinal tablets should never be referred to as candies, but called by their proper names.

About half of the accidental poisonings of children result from swallowing medicines, chiefly aspirin.

Many adults tend to underestimate the dangers of household substances.

The medicine cabinet should be cleaned out periodically, with old medicines discarded.

Flood Victim Hikes For Help

FRANKFORT, KY. — Hiking was more than a craze during the Eastern Kentucky floods recently, as far as one Hindman resident was concerned.

State Civil Defense officials here said the man walked 21 miles from the isolated community to reach a telephone and call for Civil Defense help.

Grenadier's Sneeze Grazes Guardsman

BISLEY, England — A member of the Grenadier Guards sneezed during a rifle match and accidentally wounded guardsman Ewen Brodie.

OUR PROVEN RESERVES ARE BETTER THAN EVER

As any baseball fan knows, a reserve is a player who is held in readiness for future use. A good man to have around—especially if he's a proven competitor.

The natural gas industry also has reserves—proven reserves. These tremendous reserves are supplies of natural gas known to exist throughout the United States. They have been growing steadily. More gas is being discovered every year than is used.

Proven reserves of natural gas are now at an all-time high. At the end of 1962, they had risen to 273 trillion cubic feet. This is nearly double the amount in 1946.

Natural gas is now being found in new areas and at new depths. And great parts of the United States and other North American countries are still untouched.

These huge reserves are your assurance there will be plentiful supplies of gas for many generations to come.

One Wagon Load

We firmly believe that almost every American wishes his government were smaller and more manageable, and that many Americans feel big government is a threat to personal freedom and an unconscionable drain on their pocketbooks. We also believe that many Americans realize big government is crippling and endangering the personal enterprise system that made this nation great.

But the average citizen does not know how "big" big government is becoming. Will he find out before it's too late? Is it time to demand that a program be initiated to reduce the size of government and the cost of maintaining it?

When we consider heavy federal spending, recurrent deficits and our burdensome taxes, the full meaning of the statement "the power to tax is the power to destroy" is brought home to us.

Excessive taxation and continued deficit financing by government can destroy our economy. But more than that, it can destroy all that has made America great.

What has happened? Who is to blame? One thing is certain, the fault is not in the basic governmental system established by the Constitution of the United States. That system has given the American people more freedom and made possible greater progress than has been known by any other nation. Our failures have been failures of men, not of the constitutional system.

Nor is it the fault of our personal enterprise system. Our industrial system has served us well, and it will continue to serve us unless it is stifled.

The basic cause of excessive taxation and spending and continuing deficits is to be found in the trend of the Federal government to concentrate activities and power in itself. Big government grows bigger on what it feeds upon, and it feeds upon the sustenance of the people.

It is a vicious circle, and the results are correspondingly vicious. As more power is concentrated in the Federal government and the Federal government receives and spends more money, drastic changes are brought about in our system of government and the economy which supports it.

Our economy is not as free as it was a few years ago. Individual freedom has diminished accordingly. Only ten years ago, federal, state and local governments were spending considerably less than half of what they are spending today. They have spent it; the money is gone, our debt is growing, and our freedoms are fading as a centralized government reaches out for ever-increasing power over the lives of all citizens.

This is a bleak picture for the taxpayers of America. Government receives money only from the people. We need to remember the truth that power tends to corrupt and that absolute power tends to corrupt absolutely. When we give government too much money, some honesty and integrity goes out of government.

Never in our nation's history has there been a time when a greater need existed for complete honesty and unshakable integrity in our government.

Plan An Outdoor Living Room

Curved redwood bench tops a retaining wall to give this round patio even greater utility for suburban entertaining. Bench is made by gently bending one by sixes and nailing them to spacing blocks. Retaining wall is also redwood, which is ideal for the purpose because it resists rotting and termite attack. Redwood's natural preservatives do not harm new plantings, as do some chemicals used to impregnate non-durable woods.

You can increase greatly the utility of your yard for dining and entertaining by paving part of it or installing a deck. With a patio or deck, you can enjoy outdoor living earlier in the spring, later in the fall, and sooner after rainfall. It adds living space to your home at a fraction of the cost of a new room.

Your "outdoor living room" can have efficient built-in furniture as well as your family room inside. Combine the railing of your deck with a redwood bench to provide comfortable permanent seating for guests; or, as in the picture above, top a retaining wall with a bench, to seat your guests in one of the most pleasant parts of the garden: near your plantings.

When planning your outdoor living room, consider its "floor" as carefully as you would a new rug for your parlor. You might find redwood decking more comfortable to bare feet and functional than concrete pavement—and more economical; or you might wish to combine decking with concrete, brick, or flagstone paving.

The "walls" of your outdoor living room are also important. There are many ways of adding individuality to the redwood fence which forms a backdrop for all your outdoor activities. For instance, try using a finish grade of lumber instead of the usual lower grades—the handsome difference in appearance will be worth much more than the slight difference in price.

Cooking A Pleasure On An Electric Range

When Benjamin Franklin flew his kite during an electric storm, he never suspected that one of the many outgrowths of his crude experiment would be today's modern electric range. It's doubtful that the author of "Poor Richard's Almanac" even had the thought that this gigantic electrical force would one day be safely harnessed for everyday use by the homemaker in preparing food. It's even more doubtful that the thought ever occurred to him that one day meals should be cooked by automatically controlled heat.

Today's most modern fuel—electricity—is clean, fast, cool, and convenient to use. Kitchens across the country are being up-dated with electric ranges. Many new homes now come equipped with an electric range because builders know that electric cooking is the safest, most efficient method.

We are now aware that fruits and vegetables cooked in lots of water lose their vitamin and mineral content. Before the advent of the modern electric range, there was no choice for the homemaker, but to drown fruits and vegetables in many quarts of water in order to cook them. Then she usually poured the water, chock full of precious nutrients, down the drain.

But today, through the use of a complete selection of cooking heats on the electric range, fruits and vegetables cook in the smallest amounts of water, sealing in vitamins and minerals. There's no denying the reports that "Electricity is your better way to cook." There's a range for every kitchen in pretty colors or traditional white. Today's homemaker knows how to live better than her forebears because she does all her cooking in an all-electric kitchen.

Sandra R. Henderson, Instructor of Business Administration at Waynesburg College, will present the 17th of the Library-Faculty lectures at 8 o'clock, Friday evening in the College Library.

She earned her Master of Arts degree in 1960.

John Maynard Keynes, 1883-1946, an English economist and monetary expert, won world wide fame in 1919, with the publication of his "Economic Consequences of the Peace", in which he presented his views against the Versailles Treaty. His "General Theory of Employment, Interest and Money," 1933, which "somewhat overshadows the reputation" of the first book, resulted from the depressed conditions of the thirties. "It has," states Mrs. Henderson, "established the theoretical foundations for the modern economy."

Under Seven Flags

ST. CROIX, Virgin Islands — This island has been under seven different flags. It was bought from France by the Danes in 1733. The Danes had already colonized St. Thomas and later occupied St. John. Because of the Virgin Islands' strategic position near the Panama Canal, the United States purchased them in 1917 for $25,000,000.

St. Croix is 82.24 square miles or 52,633 acres; hence the United States paid $295 an acre as compared to about 2 cents an acre for Alaska. Today land sells for from $1,500 to $7,000 an acre for a good homestead.

Skillet Supper, Italian Style

Here is a suggestion for giving your favorite skillet supper an Italian accent. It's so easy to do if you use a new Italian corn oil dressing with an intriguing flavor. No need to add extra herbs or to fuss with peeling raw garlic with this recipe.

Beef and Vegetables Italiano

1/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 lbs. round steak, cut in 2-inch pieces
1/2 cup margarine or butter
1 large onion, sliced

1/4 cup Italian corn oil dressing
1 1/4 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 4-oz. can mushrooms
6 carrots, peeled and quartered
6 potatoes, peeled and quartered
1 lb. green beans, ends removed

Mix flour with 1/2 teaspoons of salt and pepper. Dredge meat with seasoned flour. Melt margarine or butter in deep skillet. Add floured steak and brown slowly but well, turning often. Add onion, Italian corn oil dressing, water and 1 teaspoon salt. Bring to boil, cover tightly and simmer slowly 1 hour. Add mushrooms and their liquid. Arrange prepared vegetables over meat. Cover and continue to simmer 30 minutes. Serve with crisp cole slaw for six.

Zesty Cole Slaw

Put in a large bowl (in order given) 4 cups finely-shredded cabbage, 2 teaspoons grated onion, 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper, 1/2 teaspoon sugar, dash of salt, 1/2 cup real mayonnaise and 1 tablespoon Italian corn oil dressing. Mix well, cover and chill. Serve in 4 to 6 individual bowls with sliced radish or other garnish.

MAKE OR MEND

Soil preparation is all-important whether you make or mend your lawn. Here the final seedbed for a new lawn is being leveled with a rake. Previously the area had been dug or tilled, large clods of soil broken, smaller pieces reduced in size.

Before sowing seed, matching that in lawn, in a bare spot, area is prepared by scarifying soil with a sharp edging knife.

William M. Hogan, College Football Star, And Brother Killed In Auto Crash

Two brothers, Thomas P. Hogan, Jr., 28 years, and William M. Hogan, 21 years, both of Charleroi, were killed Friday evening about 6:25 o'clock, when their automobile skidded on the wet highway, Route 70S, and plowed into a truck.

William Hogan, a sophomore football star at Waynesburg College, had been elected a co-captain for the 1963 team.

Thomas Hogan was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident, and William Hogan was dead on arrival at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Police said the Hogan car, a 1963 model, skidded on the rain-slicked highway, crossed the medial strip and rammed the truck, which was driven by Terry J. Resh of Jennerstown, Somerset County. The Hogans were traveling east, while the truck was going west.

Sharon Adel Barton, 19, of Monessen, a passenger in the car, was in fair condition at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital with multiple lacerations and contusions.

Miss Barton is a sophomore business administration major at Waynesburg. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clark Barton of Monessen.

The accident occurred about half a mile north of Bentleyville, at the Ginger Hill interchange, near the Bentleyville water works.

The tractor-trailer overturned on the highway.

The brothers were returning to Charleroi from Waynesburg, where Thomas had driven to bring William home for the week end.

William, a guard and line-backer on Waynesburg's football team, was named to the all-West Penn Conference team last year. A pre-medical student at Waynesburg, he previously attended the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Both played football at Charleroi High School, as did a younger brother, Gary, who is a quarterback at Purdue University.

Thomas was employed at the Allenport plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co., where their father, Thomas Hogan is a supervisor.

The brothers, sons of Thomas and Edith Zandrelli Hogan, were born at North Charleroi, Thomas on November 5, 1934, and William on April 22, 1941.

They were members of St. Jerome Catholic Church.

Surviving are their parents; two brothers; Gary and John, both at home; and a sister, Marlene C. Hogan, who is a staff pharmacist at St. Vincent Charity Hospital in Cleveland, and a part-time faculty member of the hospital's school of nursing.

The paddle-shaped tail of the beaver is used in swimming, both as a rudder and a paddle. It is also used as a warning device, a resounding slap of the tail on the water serving to warn other members of the beaver colony that danger is near. Contrary to popular opinion, the tail is not used as a trowel or to carry materials for the beaver's house or dam.

Waynesburg Loses To W. V. U., 9-1 In Morgantown

West Virginia University twirlers trampled Waynesburg, 9-1, Saturday in Morgantown.

West Virginia had only four singles, but the Yellow Jackets made six errors, allowed walks and made two wild pitches, allowing the Mountaineers to take a heavy victory.

Wins In National Junior Olympics

Carl Johnson of Uniontown, won fourth place in the 1962 National A. A. U. Junior Olympic Finals in the 50-yard dash of the Junior Division with a time of 6.1.

Howard Bissell Jr., chairman of the National A. A. U. Junior Olympic Committee, made the announcement. Johnson was the only athlete to place from the Allegheny Mountain Association.

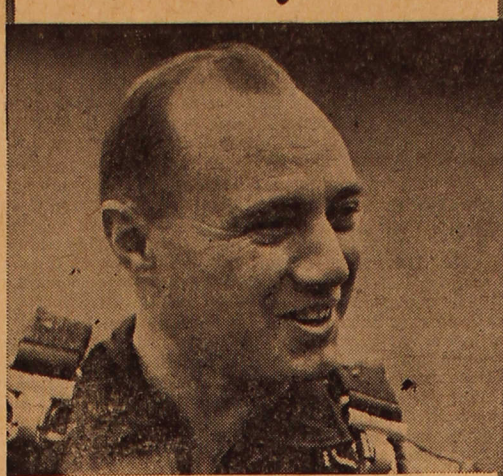

More than 200 boys and girls participated in the A.A.U.'s first Junior Olympics last August 4, at College Field in Waynesburg. Waynesburg Lions Club sponsored the event.

There was competition for boys and girls in four divisions: Midget (age 10-11), Junior (12-13), Intermediate (14-15), and Senior (16-17).

Johnson was a double-winner in the Junior Division as he paced Uniontown to the championship of that division. He won the 50-yard dash (6.1) and the 100-yard dash (11.8).

Beavers were once so close to extinction in Pennsylvania that the 1903 Legislature enacted a law prohibiting the capture or killing of these valuable fur-bearers. The penalty was set at $100.

Instant Strikes In Angels Camp

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

They Went Thataway!

Unlike England where race courses come in all shapes and sizes, the American race track is more or less standardized in shape if not in size. The 40 tracks listed in the Thoroughbred Racing Association's 1963 Directory are all oval in shape but range from four furlongs, or one-half mile, to king-sized Belmont Park, which is 12 furlongs or a mile and a half around. This makes it easy on the spectator. A stranger to some English and French courses needs a "roadmap" to keep track of the route of a race. Newmarket, for example is shaped roughly like a boomerang, 2 1/4 miles long, has 29 different starting points and four different finish poles. The course goes downhill at the start and slopes upward toward the finishing points. The majority of American tracks are 1-mile ovals and the homestretch, scene of much of the race's dramatic action, ranges from 990 feet to the 1,320 feet at the Historic Fair Grounds in New Orleans. Oddly enough, Belmont Park's homestretch is but 60 yards longer than the 1,087 foot homestretch at Bel Air, a Maryland track exactly half as far around as Belmont. The only variation in the classic American racing oval is Santa Anita Park's turf course which, instead of being in the infield, starts outside the main course at an angle from the backstretch, crosses the main course at the head of the homestretch and finishes in the infield.

Housing Aid For Senior Citizens In Rural Areas

At a meeting of the Greene County Rural Areas Development Technical Action Panel, Robert J. Meneely said, "Senior Citizens over 62 years of age constitute the fastest growing segment of the nation's population. They now number more than 21,000,000 individuals. By 1980, this statistic is expected to stand at 30,000,000."

"While the general population of the country increased 19 percent between 1950 and 1960, senior citizen population increased 35 percent, and the age group 85 years or older increased an astonishing 61 percent. New life expectancy tabulations indicate the many senior citizens will live twenty or more years beyond retirement age.

"More than one-third of this senior citizen population lives in rural areas."

Mr. Meneely said, "Surveys indicate that the senior citizens in rural areas are usually in low income brackets. About half have incomes of less than $2,000 annually, and many have incomes of less than $1,000 a year. They have unique social, economic, and health problems. Studies indicate that 80 percent of these elderly people live in homes 30 years old, and half of them live in homes 50 or more years old.

"Under the Senior Citizens Housing Act, persons 62 years of age and over have three special advantages in obtaining loans: First, they may now buy previously occupied existing housing as well as build or improve their homes. Second, they can use a loan to finance the cost of the building site as well as the dwelling; younger families must own the land on which to build a home before they can obtain a loan. Third, when senior citizens do not have enough repayment ability, they may use co-signers to assume loan payments. The loans bear interest at the rate of four percent and may be paid back over a period not to exceed 33 years.

"Loans are not made under this amended legislation to applicants who can obtain the needed credit from other sources. "The senior citizens housing program will make an important and direct contribution to rural areas development. Construction will provide jobs for carpenters, electricians, bricklayers, plumbers, and others in the building trades. Local businessmen will benefit from increased sales of building materials, appliances, and accessories.

State Ups Plans To Cut Relief Rolls

HARRISBURG — The State has announced it is stepping up its campaign to get people off relief rolls and onto payrolls.

Secretary of Public Welfare Arlin M. Adams and Secretary of Labor and Industry William P. Young jointly reported the assignment of 23 experienced vocational rehabilitation counselors to work fulltime with various county relief boards.

The object is to train handicapped people now on relief and get them into productive work for private concerns.

Four of the counselors are being assigned to the Allegheny County Board of Assistance.

The new effort is one phase of "Project Independence," started by the Department of Public Welfare in co-operation with other departments and agencies of government.

York Reported Slightly Better

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Sergeant Alvin C. York, one of the nation's greatest war heroes, remained in critical condition with both heart and lung trouble Monday but hospital officials reported he was "a little better."

It had been feared the old soldier had suffered new heart damage but officials said there was "no evidence of a new coronary." A spokesman said York was resting "much better and having less pain."

Most Rural State

Mississippi was the most solidly rural state in 1940, with 80.2 percent of its population living in what are considered rural conditions.

Dogs Have Allies In Postal War

CHARLESTON, S. C. — It's not the dogs that are giving local mail carriers trouble these days, Postmaster Roland Wooten reports. Unexpected attacks by other animals have been creating problems recently.

A rural carrier was so startled when a squirrel jumped in beside him as he was driving his route that his automobile left the road. A veteran postman was painfully injured by a clawing cat.

A pony attempted to enter the courier sedan driven by a postal delivery man. Even a rooster pulled a sneak attack on a mailman.

Yes, But Where Would Water Go

CHICAGO — If all the ice in Antarctica melted, the land would slowly rise to compensate for the reduced load and Antarctica would be seen as a vast continent with towering mountain ranges whose peaks rise more than 16,000 feet above sea level, the Chicago Museum of Natural History said.

Pipelines Stressed For Carrying Solids May Carry Grain

DALLAS — The conference of the American Petroleum Institute's Division of Transportation was told today pipelines are being given greater attention than ever as a means of transporting a wide range of solid materials from ores to food grains.

Cost is the major hurdle solids pipelines have to overcome, engineers of Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc., a New York engineering firm, declared. They said in a growing number of cases pipelines are more economical than other modes of transport.

The engineers, Robert F. McNamara and Walter J. Habeck, noted that pipelines have been used to carry a variety of ores, concentrates and plant tailings, including gilsonite, limestone and borax, all in slurry form. Slurry is a suspension of solid particles in water.

They said pipelines are now being considered for sulphur, wood pulp, brine, sand and gravel and wheat and rice.

For successful movement through a pipeline, they said, the solids must not be affected by being mixed with or separated from the liquid, or by the trip through the line itself. Particle size must not be too large.

Demands also must be great enough to keep the pipeline in regular operation, the engineers reported.

"If a material meets all these conditions, and many materials do," they said, "then there is no technical reason why it cannot be transported in a pipeline."

Major costs are incurred in crushing, slurry preparation, and solids preparation, they said, "but a significant portion of these costs must be incurred whether the material is transported in slurry form or not." They cited the case of copper, where concentrates are crushed to recover mineral values rather than for transportation purposes only.

The previous record was held by William Gladstone, 19th century statesman, who died in 1898 at the age of 88 years and 141 days. Sir Winston today is 88 years and 142 days old. He is on a vacation at Monte Carlo.

every litter bit hurts

DON'T BE A LITTERBUG! Be a bug about litter . . . specially careful to keep the picnic spot spotless. In parks, on streets and highways, too, make sure to put litter in the basket or the car litterbag. ■ Careless littering—bit by bit—soon adds up to a pile. The clean-up costs plenty in taxes. And littering could cost you money in court! That's right! It's against the law in all 50 states. So always stick your litter in the basket—then you won't get stuck with a fine! And you will help to KEEP AMERICA BEAUTIFUL!

Construction Committee

SEOUL, KOREA. — Every movable, salvagable, usable scrap of lumber is utilized, in Korea, for projects sponsored by the joint efforts of The American-Korean Foundation and the Armed Forces Assistance to Korea programs.

The "committee" above, including military, civilian, and canine personnel, are shown inspecting a recently assembled lot of salvaged lumber donated by AFAC to The American Korean Foundation to be used for 4-H Club structures, including improved hog pens and shelters.

For the farm youth of Korea, the 4-H Club program is a way of life, and today much of Korea's food comes from stock and seed, as well as technical training given young Koreans under programs initiated and sponsored by the Foundation. Just as American G.I.'s in Korea have always helped Korean orphans, they have also rendered voluntary and invaluable service to the Foundation in its 4-H Club activities.
