State Policy of Hiring Laid To Teacher Loss

UNIVERSITY PARK—Hiring procedures used by many Pennsylvania school boards are driving teachers into other states, according to the director of teacher placement at Pennsylvania State University.

Raymond H. Amalong also blamed lower starting salaries than paid in surrounding states for the loss of teacher talent.

Only 56 per cent of the 1962-63 Penn State teacher graduates who know what they are going to do this fall will teach in Pennsylvania, Mr. Amalong said.

Another 16 per cent will teach in New Jersey, 6 per cent in New York and 9 per cent in other states.

The remaining 13 per cent will enter the service, enroll in graduate school or accept non-teaching jobs.

When all the figures are in, Mr. Amalong expects the non-teaching percentage to increase from 13 to 20 among the 900 graduates.

"The majority of school administrators seeking teachers are still required to have the potential teachers interviewed by committees of their school boards before any commitments can be made," he said.

"This may mean a teacher must wait for weeks or months before he is finally employed, or rejected, and many in the meantime accept other offers.

"Many of the administrators from other states have been granted the authority to employ outstanding candidates on the spot . . . and they do. Their school boards later confirm their decisions," Mr. Amalong said.

Starting salaries offered to Penn State teacher graduates this year range from $4,000 to $5,400 a year in Pennsylvania, $4,500 to $5,500 in New Jersey and $4,700 to $6,000 in New York.

The demand for teachers is much stronger than in 1962, Mr. Amalong said, and reluctance of graduates to teach in rural areas has created severe employment problems there, he said.

Elks to Remodel Property for Home

Waynesburg Elks Lodge 757 will begin remodeling and expansion of the former W. T. Moore residence, corner of East Greene and Porter streets, on July 10.

The property was purchased for a lodge home several months ago.

An auditorium-ballroom, 35 by 85 feet is to be added at the north of the home, and a lounge 30 by 30 feet to the east side.

The project will cost $85,000. Russell Raymond of Waynesburg, is the contractor.

Members of the building committee are W. L. Stewart, Kenneth Milliken, Harold Varner and Ray McClure.

State Stiffens Penalties for Flagrant Speedsters; Eases Lesser Offenses

A new schedule of driver's license suspensions which reduces penalties in the lower range of speeding violations, but increases them sharply in the higher ranges, went into effect Monday in this state.

Harry H. Brainerd, Traffic Safety Commissioner, announced the schedule.

For speeding, a first offense for driving up to 10 miles over the limit calls for a letter of warning instead of a 30-day suspension as was previously prescribed for speeds in excess of 10 miles over the limit.

At speeds above 21 miles over the limit, the penalties were increased to range up to a full year for the fourth offense.

Brainerd also said he would ask the Legislature to increase the speeding fine from $10 to $25 as a further deterrent.

Heretofore, the Class B violations have not been applied to driver's record of Class A violations (the more serious ones, such as speeding). But henceforth, Brainerd said, such offenses will be treated on the

Parking Meter Ordinance May Be Revised

Waynesburg Borough council is considering revising the borough parking meter ordinance to collect 50 cents rather than 25 cents if parking tickets are paid within a half hour.

The purchase of six parking ticket collection boxes to be placed in strategic locations, is also being considered. Motorists who receive tickets could then deposit money in the boxes instead of going to the police station.

Also under consideration is the purchase of 51 new parking meters to replace some which are worn out and to make some changes from two-hour meters in the business area to one-hour ones.

Bids for operation of the sanitary landfill will probably be advertised by the middle of this month.

Council will also consider the advisability of adding disability protection to the pension and insurance plan now covering five regular members of the police force. Council was told it would cost about $685 a year to provide the additional protection, with the money coming out of the Death and Disability Fund made up of Foreign Casualty Insurance Tax money which comes from the State.

Derelict Books Sent Overseas

WASHINGTON—The Post Office Department is cooperating with the United States Information Agency in making available books accumulating in the Nation's dead parcel centers for world-wide distribution to book-starved nations outside the Iron Curtain.

A joint announcement by Postmaster General J. Edward Day and U. S. I. A. Director Edward R. Murrow said an estimated 60,000 volumes annually will be forwarded from the department's 15 dead parcel centers to a U. S. I. A. warehouse in Brooklyn, where they will be screened and shipped overseas.

The books, ranging from reference and textbooks to current fiction, will be distributed to schools, libraries, research centers, institutions, and individuals. In the past such books were auctioned off for nominal sums at varying intervals, depending on the number on hand.

"During the current year," said Murrow, "we are moving abroad over eight million books, but even this effort cannot meet the demand. We very much welcome any assistance we can get to increase the flow of reading material to foreign lands.

same level as any other offense.

Other high points of the new penalty schedule are:

The new listing will be effective July 1 no matter when the offense was committed. Thus, if a driver was apprehended at 12 miles above the legal speed in April, and his case is not reviewed by the Traffic Safety Bureau until after July 1, he will receive a warning. Under the old schedule, he would have lost his license for 30 days. The same is true where penalties are increased under the new schedule.

Extenuating circumstances will be considered in all cases, although the need for an automobile will not be classified as such a circumstance.

Revocation of licenses will continue to be mandatory for motorists convicted of drunken driving, use of an automobile in commission of a felony, driving while under the influence of narcotics or while unlawfully in possession of narcotics, falling to stop and assist at the scene of an accident and related violations.

Spirit of '76

Benjamin Franklin remarked on July 4, 1776:

"We must all hang together, or assuredly we will hang separately."

These words were no truer then than they are today, one hundred and eighty-five years later.

Our Founding Fathers said in the Declaration of Independence on July 4th, 1776, that "... all men are created equal, that they are endowed with certain inalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed . . ."

The dictionary gives this definition of freedom: "Freedom is liberation from slavery, imprisonment, restraint, and exemption from control."

All these freedoms guaranteed by our Founding Fathers, are slowly but surely being taken away from us by the bureaucracy ruling in Washington today. Unless we send Patriots of the 1776 variety—instead of pork-barrel politicians—to represent us in the Nation's capital, we will "hang" on the double-cross now being meted out to every loyal American citizen.

Dr. Stewart Named 'Man of the Year'

Waynesburg Junior Chamber of Commerce named Dr. Paul R. Stewart, president emeritus of Waynesburg College as their "man of the year" at their meeting Thursday.

Dr. Stewart is in Colorado, but Mrs. Stewart accepted the honor for her husband.

Awards for the JayCees standing in the state community development contest were presented.

The club received a plaque and a check from Wylie S. Rittenhouse, state representative of the Chamber of Commerce. Matching sums were given by West Penn Power, Gallatin National Bank, First Federal Savings and Loan Association and First National Bank and Trust Company.

The money will be used to complete sanitary facilities at the JayCee Park now under construction east of Waynesburg, near the Central Swimming Pool.

Dr. J. E. Victor Carlson of Waynesburg College, was the main speaker.

State Dog Law Officer Appointed

Charles F. Adams of R. D. 5, Waynesburg, has been appointed dog law officer for Greene County.

Mr. Adams advises that anyone suffering damages caused by dogs to livestock and poultry should contact him immediately. His telephone number is 627-9138.

All dogs six months of age or older must be licensed and a tag affixed to a substantial collar and worn at all times.

Mr. Adams stated that anyone found owning or harboring an unlicensed dog will be prosecuted without an exception. Dog owners are cautioned to keep their dogs confined to their own property or under proper control with respect to the rights and property of others.

Planning Consultant Visits Here Monday

Mrs. James Westover of Pittsburgh, State Planning Consultant for Community Welfare for the Aging, was in Waynesburg Monday consulting with William Hopper, secretary of the local Economy League.

Her husband "Jim" Westover of KDKA Radio in Pittsburgh, has been the subject of "Just Thinking" many times.

Bill to Purchase Hughes Homestead Passes Senate

A measure by which the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission would purchase the Thomas Hughes house at Jefferson, passed the State Senate Thursday, and now goes to the House.

The Hughes house was built in 1814 of stone quarried by slaves. The measure appropriates $20,000 for the house and four acres of ground and to restore the property to its original state.

After restoration, the house would be turned over to the Greene County Historical Society. The society, would then lease the property to the American Legion Post at Jefferson, which would operate the house as a historical inn, on a non-profit basis, and would assume all expense involved in its maintenance and operation.

Cabot Lodge, Jr. To Become Envoy

President Kennedy announced Friday he plans to nominate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., the 1960 Republican candidate for vice president, as an ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Lodge, who lost to Kennedy in the Massachusetts U. S. Senate race in 1952, will succeed Frederick Nolting at the Saigon post. He is expected to assume the new job in the fall.

Morrisville Man Killed in Crash

Joseph R. Staggars, 31 years, of Morrisville, Waynesburg, R. D. 2, was instantly killed Monday morning about 5:30 o'clock, when his automobile crashed head-on with a truck on Route 68, near Harmony.

State police reported visibility was about only 70 feet as Mr. Staggars attempted to pass a truck carrying tar which was operated by Bruce R. Magnus, Jr., 39 years, of Zellenople. He was returning to his work at the Pittsburgh Pipe Cleaning Company after spending the week end at his home.

Mr. Staggars was a son of Harry and Mary McCracken Staggars of Graysville, R. D. 1, and was born October 30, 1931, in Richhill Township. He had resided most of his life in the Wind Ridge area, having moved to Morrisville two years ago. He graduated from Richhill Township High School in 1950, and served in the Army during the Korean conflict.

On November 12, 1952, Mr. Staggars married Lena Clutter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Clutter, of West Finley, R. D. 1.

Surviving are his parents; his wife; two children, Douglas James, eight, and Sue Ellen, five; four sisters Imogene, wife of Willis Fletcher of Ravenna, Ohio; Bertha, wife of Thomas Scherich of Dunns Station, R. D. 1; Doris, wife of Jerry Grim of Graysville, and Evelyn Staggars of Graysville.

Funeral services were held Wednesday in the Lantz Funeral Home, Rogersville, conducted by Rev. Donald Wilson. Interment in Fairview Cemetery.

Curry Home Repairs Begin On Wednesday

Central Greene District Hires Seven Teachers

Central Greene School District a few days ago employed the following new teachers: Mrs. Anna D. Snyder of Waynesburg, Bonnie Fay Olsen of Indiana, Sandra Lee Kovach of Greensboro, William Allen Nelson of Conneville, David R. Sloan and Mrs. Nancy Johnson Sloan of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Patricia Harker of Wadestown, W. Va.

They were employed to fill the vacancies caused by the resignations of Mrs. Carolyn Cecil, teacher in North Ward School; Mrs. Deborah Paul, teacher in the East Ward School; Mrs. Marlene Dobosh Wynne, teacher in the East Franklin School; and Mrs. Elizabeth Carter, high school home economics teacher; and because of the death of Mrs. Margaret Taylor, teacher in the East Ward School.

A special education class will be started in the South Ward School.

A special education class will be started in the South Ward building and Mrs. Snyder will be the teacher. She has taught in the Jefferson District for a number of years.

Miss Olsen, who graduated this year from Indiana State College, will be the teacher in the new kindergarten class which will be established to supplement the kindergarten new operating in Waynesburg. Miss Olsen will teach a morning and afternoon session—one of which will be held in the old elementary building at Mt. Morris and the other somewhere in the East Franklin area.

Four of the new teachers were hired to teach in the elementary grades, although they have not as yet been assigned to any particular school.

Sandra Lee Kovach will instruct in the primary grades. She graduated from Waynesburg College this spring.

William Allen Nelson, who will complete his work at Waynesburg College this summer, will teach in the elementary grades.

Mr. and Mrs. Sloan, both of whom are graduates of California State College and who are now both teaching in the Baldwin-Whitehall District also will teach in the elementary grades.

Mrs. Harker was hired as home economics teacher in Waynesburg High School. She is a graduate of West Virginia University, and has taught home economics at West Greene High School since 1958.

Old Carpenters' Hall in Philadelphia Is Unique Among Our Many Shrines

No longer overshadowed by for the First Continental Congress in the fall of 1774 marked a significant victory for the radical element. Speaker Joseph Galloway of the Provincial Assembly, who hoped to patch up the quarrel with Britain, invited the delegates to meet in the State House. Grumphy, he noted his defeat in his diary on Sept. 5, 1774:

"The Congress this day met at Carpenters' Hall, notwithstanding the offer of the Assembly Room, a much more Proper Place."

The Congress, to Galloway's dismay, adopted a Declaration of Rights which became a cornerstone of American political faith:

"Life, liberty and property . . . a right in the people to participate in their legislative council . . . the great and inestimable privilege of being tried by their peers . . . a right peaceably to assemble, to consider of their grievances and petition . . ."

Bold men, conscious of the quality."

Its choice as the meeting place

A ground breaking ceremony will be held Friday at 1:30 for remodeling of Curry Memorial Home, work will start on Wednesday.

Greene County Commissioners on Friday received notice that the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency has approved a grant of $537,339 which is one-third of the total reimbursable cost of the project.

The grant includes $157,339 which was added to the original allocation of $400,000 to bring the Federal Government's share to the full one-third. The additional allocation was available because Pennsylvania's share of Hill-Burton funds for the 1962-63 fiscal year was not exhausted.

Total cost of the project is estimated at $1,771,126, of which $1,612,017 is eligible for federal aid. The government will not participate in the cost of laying a water line to the home, which will cost an estimated $79,200. Other costs involve the purchase of equipment and furnishings.

The construction contracts total $1,468,426.

Baker and Coombs, Inc., of Morgantown, W. Va., will receive a $1,047,700 contract for general construction; Millcreek Electric Construction Company, Erie, one of $123,786 for electrical work, and Chapman Plumbing and Heating, Washington, a contract of $173,970 for heating and ventilating work and one of $123,970 for plumbing work.

Two wings will be added to the present building, increasing the bed capacity from 34 to 102.

Bed patients in the Curry Home will be moved to the county nursing home wing in Greene County Memorial Hospital the first of the week.

Driving Ideal Yet July 4 Toll Can Be 50,000

NEW YORK—A national survey of 1,500,000 U. S. drivers shows 80 per cent of car accidents on the long July 4 holiday probably will take place in ideal driving conditions near home and between the hours of four and seven p. m.

The survey, conducted by a large insurance company, also shows that most accidents will occur on local roads rather than superhighways.

The survey predicts 50,000 highway casualties from Wednesday evening, July 3, through Sunday, July 7, 550 of which will be fatal.

Of these, 35,000 will result from cars colliding. Non-colliding single cars will account for 8,000 and auto-pedestrian encounters, 3,500.

Cars striking fixed objects will account for 2,500 and the remaining will result from cars hitting moving objects.

"MY COUNTRY 'TIS OF THEE SWEET LAND OF LIBERTY"

Of Thee I Sing

These words of a familiar anthem stand for many things. They stand for mighty cities rising out of the mists of the morning . . . a rain-washed turn of the road in the Smokies . . . wheat rippling in the Kansas winds . . . the moonlit crest of breakers on the Great Lakes . . . the sagebrush and silence of Southwestern plains. They stand for simple things: Monday's wash flapping merrily on the backyard line . . . church bells on Sunday morning . . . the handclasp of a trusted friend.

They stand for America—the land where freedom rings . . .
The churches of this community—themselves

" . . . And they sang praises with gladness, and they bowed their heads and worshipped."

great testimonials to freedom of religion—know that a priceless guarantee of our freedom is founded upon the Bible belief in a man's right to possess and develop his own soul. As that soul develops, so does the man. Aiding in that development is perhaps the most important task of the church today.

We cannot afford to take either our freedom or our churches lightly. We must do our part to make certain that both continue to flourish. Sharing in the life of your church is your best guarantee that Americans shall continue to achieve their own destiny in the land where freedom rings.

Wheeling Downs Becomes Park

WHEELING, W. Va.—James F. Edwards, owner of Wheeling Downs, has authorized the redevelopment of his racetrack into an amusement park, apparently marking the end of horse racing at the facility.

The redevelopment includes two golf courses, go-kart racing facilities, as well as various rides and amusements. A roller skating rink already is in operation.

Wheeling Downs' grandstand and stables were damaged by three fires since last winter.

A change in plans to turn the Downs into an amusement park came after it was revealed that reconstruction of the track was threatened by a dispute over insurance money.

Walker Dick, who is in charge of the redevelopment project, said "negotiations are being made daily with promoters of any legitimate amusement." He also noted that a Huntington promoter has expressed interest in staging wrestling shows.

WILL CHILDHOOD BE THE ONLY FREEDOM THEY WILL KNOW?

Personal freedom can slip away a little at a time, as quietly as children grow. It can be destroyed by forces from within, our borders. Subtle forces—like the steady expansion of the federal government in business, and the effect it has upon our daily lives.

Already our federal government owns many thousand businesses, from bakeries to sawmills. In the field of electricity alone the output of federally owned plants has risen from less than 1% of the industry's total in 1935 to more than 15% today. And advocates of government-in-business press constantly for more.

They advocate a dangerous course. When any government owns business, it can control both goods and jobs. It adds economic powers to its vast political powers. When it does that, it can tell you where to work, where to live, even what to do or say. Then freedom has slipped quietly away.

More government-in-business could rob our children of the self-reliance they have just begun to learn. And it could rob them of the freedom which they still enjoy.

A REPUBLIC'S ENDURANCE

Many years ago, James Russell Lowell, the American poet, was in Paris talking to Guizot, the French statesman and noted historian.

In their discussion of the rise and fall of great empires, kingdoms, and dynasties, Guizot turned to Lowell and asked, "How long do you expect that Republic of yours to last?"

After a moment's thought, Lowell replied, "Our Republic will last as long as the ideals of the Founders are observed."

The ideals envisioned for our Republic by the Founding Fathers were lofty and challenging ones indeed, but they were practical and attainable. The Founding Fathers were influenced in their choice of ideals by events of the past. Everyone has marvelled at their wisdom in setting the United States upon a course which is still practical, valid, and expedient today.

Many contemporary observers believe that we are losing hold on some of the ideals which have enabled this country to become the world's leading power. They point out that unless we re-dedicate ourselves to these ideals, this nation is doomed to obscurity along with the other great powers of the past which lost sight of national purpose.

The forefathers dreamed of building a society in America which would be strong, prosperous, free, and devoid of discrimination against the individual. They cherished the heritage of freedom which has been handed down by others.

They were fully acquainted with the Divine Right of Kings which had been the rule in Europe. According to this theory, kings contended that their power to rule came directly from God and that they were answerable only to God.

This theory was not compatible with the dream which our forefathers had for America, so they rejected it.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness."

In the Preamble to the Constitution, our forefathers spelled out the ideal purposes of the government which they were establishing:

"We, the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

Every freedom-loving American is thrilled by words such as liberty, justice, rights and general welfare. These words proclaim the ideals of government which the founders of our nation promoted.

To go along with these lofty words, the founders employed others suggesting action. They planned to do something to make the American dream a reality. Note that the Preamble contains such words as establish, secure, insure, and promote. If our Republic is to continue along the lines envisioned by its founders, there must be maintenance of the ideals and purposes which they so clearly set forth, plus a dedicated program of action on the part of every American.

Here are some suggestions as to how individual Americans can assist in the preservation of the ideals which have enabled us to make steady progress over the years:

(1) We can inform ourselves about the traditional ideals of our nation by thoughtful reading of our basic documents.

(2) We can remember the debt we owe our ancestors. The lives of great men remind us that "We can make our lives sublime, and, departing, leave behind us footprints on the sands of time."

(3) We can assume responsibility. If our ideals are to be realized, we must be willing to share in the thought and work required in any worthy endeavor.

(4) We can speak up against those who thwart our efforts to realize our ideals. If our Constitution is being undermined, we are the ones who must prevent it. If the balance of power in government is being destroyed, we must arouse public opinion to insist upon a return to balance.

How to Make Patio Blocks

Outdoor living has become an American way of life and patios are the order of the day. They're being constructed all over the country in various shapes and sizes and of a wide variety of materials. Patio blocks, made of concrete are popular because they're easy to make, stay in place, do not deteriorate, form a smooth floor and are easy to clean. Millions of patio blocks have been made by the method covered in the following paragraphs.

1. Make patio block forms from 2 x 2 dressed lumber. Notch so that sides fit together, yet come apart easily for re-use. Suggested inside dimension 2' x 2'. You can add interest to your patio with half blocks (1' x 2') which you can make by dividing the form.
2. Grease inside surface of form and set form on tar paper. Pour concrete mix into form. A good material to use for this is Sakrete Concrete Mix. It's available in 90# sacks and requires only the addition of water. It's handy because you can start and stop any time. Level the mix with a straight edged board.

3. Smooth the surface with a wood float. Move float over the surface with light pressure in a half arc motion.
4. Round off edges with an edging tool. Finish patio blocks with steel trowel after concrete has set for about one hour. (Use wood float if rough finish is wanted.) As trowel is moved over surface, hold the leading edge up slightly. For best results, concrete must be moist cured for one week. Forms can be removed in a day or two.

For added enjoyment you can record important family events by making design impressions in concrete patio blocks.

Cut designs from heavy roofing paper. After troweling and when water sheen disappears, place cut-outs on concrete, trowel over to set them flush with surface. Be careful not to get too much concrete over the top. Remove the roofing paper, and you will have a neat impression.

Jewelry—Sally Morris.

Mrs. McCoy read a resolution passed by the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, that the council had approved building of the state executive mansion. At present Pennsylvania is said to be the only state in the union without a governor's mansion.

Mrs. Milliken explained Bill 1064 in regard to state money to be furnished the indigent in hospitals. It is felt that the amount should not be a flat rate. Those in agreement are urged to write their congressman.

Speaking on the bill to unionize nurses in hospitals, Mrs. Baily told the group it created a bad situation and the health of patients would be jeopardized in case of a strike. The school law bill, regarding the redistricting of schools was reviewed by Mrs. McCoy.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. T. Sayers Baily, Washington road, on Friday, July 19.

Legion Auxiliary Elects Officers

Mrs. Raymond Caldwell of Waynesburg, was elected president of the Auxiliary to the James Farrell Post, American Legion, at the recent meeting.

Other officers are, Mrs. Leslie Conkle, first vice president; Mrs. Raymond Filbey, second vice president; Miss Grace Marchio, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles Montgomery, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mary Garrison, chaplain; Mrs. Clarence Taylor, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Elizabeth Wise, parliamentarian.

Miss Bonnie Robbins, West Penn Power Company home economics representative, talked on outdoor lighting.

Mrs. Charles I. Faddis presented a jeweled pin to the outgoing president, Mrs. Wise.

Color System Aids Reading Instruction

SAN QUENTIN, Calif.—Many San Quentin prisoners may learn to read by use of colors.

Charles Rhinehart, Sonoma State College teacher, and Stanford University professors developed a system using colors to represent vowel sounds.

Mr. Rhinehart said the system enabled a nonreader to identify a sound with a color and the confusion of several sounds for the same letter was avoided.

Of San Quentin's 4,500 prisoners, about 900 are below fifth-grade ability in reading.

Dental Health Success Story

Hartford, Conn., has closed one of its three dental clinics for pre-school children, because of lack of customers. City started putting fluorides into drinking water in 1960. Until then, clinic had been treating from 300 to 400 children with bad teeth. Shutdown saves city $5,000 to $6,000 a year.

Haiti's 1960 Exports
In 1960 coffee accounted for 74 percent of Haiti's exports, sisal 13 percent, and sugar 2 percent.

Practice Proves Perfection at 80

CARLSBAD, N. M. — This city's oldest bowler, Mrs. Ida Battiste, was surprised on her 80th birthday with a new ball from the alley where she bowls and gifts from the three leagues in which she is a member.

Mrs. Battiste, who moved here from Italy, in 1939, soon became interested in bowling in public but was too timid to bowl in public. So, at first, she used a homemade ball and practiced in her home.

1500 Licenses for Greene County 1963 Antlerless Deer Season

A total of 204,450 antlerless deer licenses have been allocated on a county basis for the 1963 antlerless deer season in Pennsylvania. The two-day season has been set for Monday, December 16 and Tuesday, December 17, by the Pennsylvania Game Commission. In addition, Saturday, December 14, has been established for antlerless deer hunting on the area within the chain link fence at Letterkenny Army Depot, Franklin County. The number of antlerless deer licenses allocated for the statewide season this year represents an increase of 2,500 over the 201,950 licenses allocated for a one-day season last December 17. As in the past, all licenses will be issued through county treasurer's offices according to law. Applications for the licenses will be available about mid-August from any license issuing agent or from Game Commission offices. Licenses will go on sale early in October. Fifteen hundred licenses have been allocated to Greene County.

In announcing the antlerless deer license allocation for the 1963 season, M. J. Golden, Game Commission Executive Director said, "Every year more deer are produced in Pennsylvania than are necessary to maintain a stable breeding herd. Normally the over-wintering herd adds about 30 percent to its size with each fawn crop. Because seasons restricted exclusively to buck hunting take only about 12 percent of the annual license, the controlled removal of a pre-determined number of antlerless deer is biologically sound."

Wolf Keeps Alive Roman Legend

ROME — A live wolf is kept caged on the hillslope below Rome's City Hall in token of the legendary wolf which suckled Romulus and Remus, the city's founders.

But a new wolf has to be caught up in the Abruzzi hills every two or three years to replace the old one. They don't survive well in Rome's blistering summer heat.

Elimination Shoot-offs to Select State's Flintlock Rifle Team

HARRISBURG — The first elimination shoot-off to pick Pennsylvania's flintlock rifle team for a duel with Kentucky has been held and two more will be held July 22 and August 25, at the Daniel Boone homestead, near Reading.

Range firing is scheduled to get under way at 1:00 p. m. The Boone homestead is on Route 422, 12 miles from Reading.

According to rules set up by the Pennsylvania Frontier Day Committee, there will be three elimination matches held during the summer months. Any rifleman wishing to try for a place on the official state team must qualify as an expert marksman in at least one of the elimination matches.

Thus, the committee pointed out, any shooter has at least three chances to qualify this summer.

The committee said the 15 highest scorers of each elimination match will vie against each other again on September 8, for final selection of the Pennsylvania team.

Kentucky is using a similar system to pick its team. The two states will meet on fields of honor twice this fall, once in Pennsylvania and once on the soil of Kentucky. A two-state committee will convene later this summer to firm up final dates and rules for the duel.

At issue in the fight is the proper name of the famous frontier long rifle developed by Pennsylvania gunsmiths. The weapon became known as the Kentucky Rifle, an unfair misnomer according to Pennsylvania's historians. "We made it and they take the credit," the Keystone scholars charge.

The long standing controversy reached the shooting stage with delivery of a formal challenge from Governor Scranton to Kentucky's Governor Combs.

The weapon of competition will be restricted to the flintlock long rifle. And furthermore, the Frontier Day Committee decreed, all shooters must dress in frontier garb. Interested riflemen may gain additional information by writing to the Frontier Day Committee, State Museum, Harrisburg.

Summer Meeting Opens At Waterford Park

Waterford Park's regular summer meeting got under way Wednesday, for a 53 day run, through Labor Day, September 2.

Highlight of the summer meeting is in the fifth running of the West Virginia Derby. It was moved from Wheeling Downs to Waterford because of the full mile racing strip that will undoubtedly attract more of the better horses for its renewal on July 27.

Another important stakes race is the Waterford Park Silver Plate Mile that will have its renewal on Saturday, August 24.

Arrangements have been made with Mike Turk Motors, Inc., in East Liverpool, Ohio, for a new Cadillac Coupe DeVille to be given away on Appreciation Day, Friday, August 23. Free coupons will appear in the program, daily throughout the meeting, for patrons to fill out and drop into barrels placed at strategic points throughout the plant. These will then be emptied into a large revolving container and the winning number will be drawn during the running of the Appreciation Day card.

The barns are rapidly filling with some of the finest thoroughbreds in this part of the country, and with a minimum purse of $1,000, better racing lies in store for the many patrons who make Waterford Park their gathering place during the summer.

Post time for the entire meeting has been set at 3:45 p. m. on weekdays, and at 2:00 p. m. on Saturdays and holidays.

Polio Strikes Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG—Thirteen cases of polio were reported in the past two weeks in Central Pennsylvania.

The communicable disease center in Atlanta, Georgia, said Saturday there were only four other cases reported in the United States last week.

A second mass immunization program is planned for this weekend in the Cumberland and Perry County (Pa.) areas, the state Health Department reported.

The Georgia center said the number of polio cases reported last week was the greatest in any single week this year. The center said four states—Alabama, Tennessee, Arkansas and Illinois—each reported one case during the week ending June 22.

Reported cases in the entire nation so far this year continue to run well below previous years, the center said.

Prizes Offered In Community Development

A wonderful opportunity presents itself to the communities of Carmichaels and Waynesburg for their participation in the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce Community Development Contest for 1963.

As in the past, financial institutions of Greene County have matched awards won by the community in which they are located. The First National Bank of Carmichaels has agreed to match any award won by the Carmichaels entry for 1963. The following institutions will match the Waynesburg entry award: First National Bank & Trust Company of Waynesburg, The First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Waynesburg, and The Waynesburg Branch of the Gallatin National Bank.

J. I. Hook, Joseph D. Hart, Paul Malone and Richard L. Baily, executives of these institutions, agree that these awards are being offered to add incentive to this worthwhile project that is stimulating community improvement throughout Pennsylvania.

Waynesburg has the possibility of winning a total of $7,500 and Carmichaels a total of $4,500. This includes the state's first place award of $1,500 and each institution's matching award of $1,500 plus the West Penn Power Company's matching award of $1,500.

Greene County communities have received outstanding recognition for their community development accomplishment in the past.

Waynesburg in Class C (five to 10,000 population) has placed second in 1960 and 1961, and seventh in 1962. Waynesburg has won a total of $8,500. The winnings have been used to further construction of the Jaycees main project, a community park.

In Class D (2,000 to 2,500 population) Carmichaels area efforts were rewarded in 1960, by placing second in their class and winning a total of $3,000.

Jefferson entry Class E (2,000 population and under) was successful in 1960, in capturing third place in their class and receiving $2,000, and again in 1962, placing fifth and collecting $900. Jefferson has used their winnings to develop their community park.

College Offers New English Course

A new course in English composition is being offered to students who will be enrolled for the first time this fall at Waynesburg College, according to Donald E. Shamble, director of admissions. The course will meet from 8-11:30 a. m. five days a week, July 15-August 16.

Purpose of the course is to give new students the opportunity to get a head start toward college success. A person's ability to use the English language is directly related to his success in a liberal arts college.

Dr. Elizabeth Johnston, professor of English, will be the instructor. She has taught in the English Department of Waynesburg since 1958, and has more than eleven years' experience teaching at the college level.

Dr. Johnston was awarded her doctorate in the field of English literature at the University of Pittsburgh. As a Fulbright professor, Miss Johnston established a coordinated writing program at Pierce College, Athens, Greece in 1955-57. Dr. Johnston has also received advanced training in the teaching of reading.

U. S. Steel Announces Appointments In Frick District Effective July First

FRANCIS R. BOYLE

CHARLES HARPER

The appointments of Francis R. (Rudy) Boyle as chief mine inspector, Frick District U. S. Steel's Coal Division, and Charles Harper as superintendent—Robena maintenance and service for the Colvin area, have been announced by Ralph C. Beerbower, Jr., general superintendent of the Frick District. The changes were effective July first.

A native of Mt. Pleasant, Mr. Boyle attended schools in McClellandtown and, following World War II service in the U. S. Navy, graduated from the University of West Virginia with a degree in geology.

Mr. Boyle joined U. S. Steel in 1947, while still in college and, following graduation, was made an industrial engineering trainee in the Uniontown office. He was transferred to the Gary District of the Corporation's Coal Division in 1951 as an industrial engineer. He successfully became assistant mine superintendent, mine superintendent, and senior industrial engineer there before returning to the Frick District this May as mine inspector.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyle, the former Jean Durfee of Masontown, and their four children reside in Gary, W. Va., but will be moving to the Uniontown area shortly. A resident of Monongahela, Mr. Harper attended schools in Uniontown before joining U. S. Steel at the old Colonial No. 1 Mine in 1929. He saw service in a variety of capacities at the Dearth, Gates, Bridgeport and Karen Mines prior to his appointment as general maintenance foreman at the latter named facility in 1957. Mr. Harper was moved to Maple Creek Mine two years later, in the same position, and remained there until early this year when he assumed the responsibilities of senior maintenance engineer at Robena No. 1 Mine.

dangers they faced, aired their grievances bluntly, prepared addresses to the King and the people of England, warmly praised Massachusetts for its resistance to the Crown and urged a general embargo on British goods.

They set up committees of "safety and inspection" to carry out their policies, which eventually prevailed through the years of open rebellion and war. Solomon Drowne, a young medical student from Providence, loitered outside Carpenters' Hall to watch the delegates assemble and wrote home of the exciting news:

"My Blood thrilled thro' my Veins at the agreeable, Pleasant View of so many noble and sage Patriots, met in the Great Cause of Liberty."

In Carpenters' Hall, just a few weeks before the Declaration of Independence, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas McKean and others seized the initiative from the conservative Assembly and, meeting as the Provincial Convention, pledged Pennsylvania to follow the other colonies in seceding from England.

The British set up a hospital in the hall and when they evacuated Philadelphia the Continental Army used it as a storehouse. After the war it served as the first Department of War, the first quarters for the Bank of the United States and later the Bank of Pennsylvania.

The latter was the victim of America's first great bank robbery, which netted the thieves $160,000. One of them was Isaac Davis, a member of the Carpenters' Company who foolishly drew suspicion by depositing large sums of money in the bank he robbed. Company records list these tenants in later years:

The Library Company, with its collection of books and scientific apparatus; the American Philosophical Society; U. S. Customs; the Second Bank of the United States, the Franklin Institute and the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy.

One tenant was the Hibernian Society, founded in 1792 to protect Irish immigrants "from the cruel tyrannical conduct of masters of vessels employed in the passenger trade." Another was the Magdalen Society, founded in 1880 to "aid in restoring to the paths of virtue those unhappy females who have been robbed of their innocence and are desirous of returning to a life of rectitude."

The old hall scraped bottom between 1838 and 1857 when historian Benson L. Lossing, making a tour of historic shrines, found it in the hands of C. J. Wolbert & Co., auctioneers, who sold everything from real estate to second hand harness.

"What a desecration!" he stormed. "Covering the facade of the very Temple of Freedom with placards of groveling Mammon! . . . to find it filled with every species of merchandise, and the halls which once echoed the eloquent words of Henry, Lee and the Adamses reverberating with the clatter of the auctioneer's voice and hammer."

Eight years after Lossing's visit, the Carpenters' Company decided to rescue the building. Since 1857 the owners have maintained it as a historic shrine, in shining repair.

The Company retains ownership of the Hall but under a cooperative agreement with the U. S. Department of the Interior it is included within Independence National Historic Park.

At present, the Company lists 55 members who to qualify must have served an apprenticeship as carpenters, must own part of their own business and must have been active in the field for five years. Graduate architects and engineers are also eligible.

R. E. Shoemaker, president; Frank G. English, 3rd vice president, and A. Raymond Raff, Jr., treasurer, are all builders. John F. Harbeson secretary, is an architect.—PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER.
