Adult Welfare Worker Appointed For County

DANIEL E. ZABO

Greene County Commissioners on Tuesday, appointed Daniel E. Zabo of Rices Landing, a trained welfare worker, to the newly created position of county adult welfare worker.

Mr. Zabo has been employed by the Department of Public Assistance in the county for two years. He will begin his work in his new position on August first.

His salary will be $4,800 of which the state has made a grant of 75 per cent.

The position was established as part of the county's expanding program to provide more adequate care for elderly persons—a program which includes enlargement and modernization of the Curry Memorial Home and establishment of a nursing care program in a special wing at Greene County Memorial Hospital.

The percentage of older persons residing in the county is increasing. In the 1960 census the number over 65 years of age was 4,830.

Mr. Zabo will be responsible for setting up programs to keep elderly persons out of institutions, and will also be concerned with policies of admission and discharge of persons in the Curry Home and the home nursing care in the hospital wing which will open the first of the week. Mr. Zabo will also assist elderly persons in maintaining independent or semi-independent living in the community. This will include foster home care, house keeper-home making services, leisure time activities and rehabilitation.

As relief work project supervisor, Mr. Zabo has been instrumental in re-establishing the work relief program in the county and has initiated five projects in which persons drawing public assistance are working on public jobs.

He also helped initiate the food stamp program in Fayette County. From January through April of this year Mr. Zabo was one of six caseworkers from southwestern Pennsylvania assigned to a special review team set up by the federal government to spot check public assistance recipients.

Mr. Zabo graduated from Jefferson-Morgan High School in 1953, is a veteran of the Korean conflict with four years of service in the Navy, and graduated in 1960, from West Virginia University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in welfare administration. He is working toward his master's degree in the same field at West Virginia University.

Surviving are his parents; three brothers, Chester Stanley of York; Charles Edward of Cleveland, Ohio, and Joseph LeRoy of Waynesburg. Also surviving are several aunts and uncles.

Funeral services were held Wednesday conducted by Rev. Elmer McCormick. Interment in Oakmont Cemetery.

King was a son of John W. and Irene Walkosak Burgess, and was born April 13, 1944, in Washington. He had spent most of his life in Waynesburg, but recently had been employed in Cleveland. He was spending the holiday at home. The youth was a member of the Waynesburg Church of the Nazarene.

Our Children's Heritage

'Who's Minding The Store?'

The West Penn Power printed a four-column advertisement in The Republican last week, entitled, "Will Childhood be the Only Freedom They Will Know?"

Continuing, the advertisement stated: "Personal freedom can slip away a little at a time, as quietly as children grow. It can be destroyed by forces from within our borders. Subtle forces—like the steady expansion of the federal government in business, and the effect it has upon our daily lives.

"Already our federal government owns many thousand businesses, from bakeries to sawmills. In the field of electricity alone the output of federally owned plants has risen from less than 1% of the industry's total in 1935 to more than 15% today. And advocates of government-in-business press constantly for more.

"They advocate a dangerous course. When any government owns business, it can control both goods and jobs. It adds economic powers to its vast political powers. When it does that, it can tell you where to work, where to live, even what to do or say. Then freedom has slipped quietly away.

"More government-in-business could rob our children of the self-reliance they have just begun to learn. And it could rob them of the freedom which they still enjoy."

A good example of "Government gone haywire" is exemplified in a recent contract award to a Rural Electrification Administration Cooperative which will supply electric power to a radar installation at Eglin Air Force base in Florida.

The base is already served by a private enterprise power company, but the co-op will string its power lines parallel to the existing lines. The private company lost out in the contract bidding by a fraction of a cent per electric power unit.

From this point on, the story sounds like a night-mare of bungling bureaucracy.

The government will lend the co-op more than two million dollars at 2% interest, but to do so it will have to borrow money at 4% interest. The co-op will not pay income taxes, but the private power company will, at a 52% clip. Its taxes will go into the Treasury of the United States which lends money to the Rural Electrification Administration which in turn makes loans to co-ops.

Private enterprise has made this nation what it is—a bulwark of freedom for all. Our forefathers, while watching the store of freedom, thought they had set up ample safeguards for the protection of American freedoms.

Considering the case-gone-haywire of the private power company and the co-op, one might wonder about freedom, and ask, "Who's Minding The Store?" In this case the bureaucrats definitely are. Our founding fathers' idea of representative government did not include paytriotic government-by-bureaucracy.

Thoughtful citizens know we are in the throes of indifference today from municipalities, counties, states and federal government. Our nation today is spending nearly 100 billion dollars a year with requests for more and more each year. Our government has more than 2,500,000 employees on the payroll, with an added 40,000 requested.

The United States has been described as having been "rocked in the cradle of freedom; vaccinated with the brand of individualism, and nourished on the personal enterprise system."

Abraham Lincoln said, "In all those things where the community or the individual can take care of his own affairs, the federal government ought not to interfere."

Is Breakfast Key To Auto Crashes?

FARGO, N. D.—The greatest number of auto accidents happen between 11 a. m. and noon, says the North Dakota State University College of Agriculture.

It attributes this mostly to inadequate breakfasts, which tend to create fatigue and irritation.

Greene County Volunteer Firemen's Association will hold its 11th annual Firemen's Training and Civil Defense School next week at Carmichaels.

Sessions will be held each evening from 6:30 to 10 o'clock.

They will include structural fires, ladders and hose evolution, pumping, salvage and overhaul, and protective masks.

A special radiation course will be given to three six-member teams from each company. Men, working with Civil Defense personnel, will be instructed in the measurement of fallout and other matters dealing with radiation.

Officers of the various fire companies will hear lectures and receive instruction on fire prevention, laws pertaining to firemen, electrical fires, investigation of arson, and the fundamentals of fire fighting.

Members of any fire company may enroll in the school, along with Civil Defense personnel and representatives of industry.

Jefferson Fire Chief Thomas Robson and Greensboro Fire Chief Herman Boone are chairmen for the fire school, with all fire chiefs in the county assisting in arrangements.

Attend the Church of Your Choice Regularly

Bedtime FOR YOUNG AMERICA...

Now I lay me down to sleep
I pray the Lord my soul to keep;
And if I die before I wake
I pray the Lord my soul to take.

That our sons may be as plants grown up in their youth; that our daughters be as corner stones - Psalms 144:12

Every night when darkness falls over the land, hundreds of thousands of young Americans conduct their own vesper services with this little prayer.

Does this happen in your home? "Oh," you might say, "There will be plenty of time for church when they grow up. Why should they bother with evening prayers now?" Perhaps . . . But why bother with school, either? Knowledge comes easier later on. Why not send them to school then? The plain fact of the matter is—you can't!

To live a full, useful life in America today requires thorough preparation. If a child is ever to fulfill the dreams of his parents, his schooling must begin early. If he is to have the spiritual assurance upon which he must build his life, he must build the foundation early.

That foundation is laid with prayer—in his home, and in his Sunday School. Ruskin said that when you give just a little love to a child, a great deal more comes back. That holds good for prayers.

. . . God's love always comes back . . .

The Romans Had a Way With Water

Did you know that more than two thousand years ago the Romans were noted for the elaborate hot running water systems in their town houses and country villas?

Water was piped in through terra cotta tubes to a stone holding basin in the floor, beneath which slaves kept great fires burning. From the basin, heated water flowed through stone troughs to the baths and sometimes to the kitchens. Obviously, only the very wealthy could afford the slaves and the vast quantities of fuel.

The most modern way to heat water, and one that's within easy, economical reach of every family, is with an automatic electric water heater. Water should be 150 degrees hot for truly effective laundering and sanitary dishwashing. This your electric water heater provides automatically without flame, fumes, soot, or smoke. It's the cleanest, quietest, coolest, most trouble-free way.

The electric water heater adapts easily to any location—in the kitchen near the sink, by the bathroom tub or shower, near the washer in laundry or utility room—even hidden away behind closed doors in a closet!

And this spells both convenience and economy. Needing no flue or vent, the automatic electric water heater can save you dollars at installation time by eliminating long, heat-wasting pipe runs. With no moving parts to wear out, it operates quietly, at peak efficiency for just pennies a day!

Full insulation from top to bottom keeps the outside always cool to the touch. All the heat goes into the water where it's needed, not into the surrounding area. You get full value out of every water-heating dollar.

See your plumber or appliance dealer about a flameless electric water heater. And be sure to ask about the 40-gallon quick recovery electric heater that you can buy for only $195 a month under a convenient time-payment plan.

GETTYSBURG ADDRESS

The crowd at Gettysburg Cemetery listened closely as the distinguished speaker from Massachusetts addressed them.

This day, November 19, 1863, had been marked well by Edward Everett, former President of Harvard, Secretary of State, and Senator from Massachusetts. The day had been set aside for dedication of the cemetery at Gettysburg. He spoke softly, mindful that the bloody battle of Gettysburg had been fought fewer than five months before.

Mr. Everett hoped, but could not know, that his speech would be gobbled up by the newspapers and given excellent treatment.

Everett spoke for two hours. After he finished, President Lincoln rose from his chair, his face marked with the troubles of a civil war which often had not gone well for the Union.

During his first words—"Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent, a new nation, conceived in Liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."—some reporters took hurried notes, while others tried to remember what the President was saying as they organized their notes on Everett's two-hour oration.

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war. . ."

A photographer stood near the speaker's stand making last minute preparations for photographing the President. The photographer was in no great hurry, the other speech lasted two hours, and it seemed there was plenty of time to arrange his gear for the picture.

" . . . The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. . ."

The photographer was nearly ready. " . . . that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth." The President smiled, turned around and sat down. The photographer gasped. He had missed his picture.

In minutes, President Lincoln had voiced a message that a world would note and long remember. Everett's speech was carried widely in the newspapers. Lincoln's Gettysburg address was immediately recognized as an oratorical masterpiece by many, though it did not receive the extent of newspaper coverage given to Everett.

Everett was an immediate admirer of Lincoln's Gettysburg address, and later wrote him:

"I should be glad if I could flatter myself that I came as near the central idea of the occasion in two hours as you did in two minutes."

WORDS TO REMEMBER

"The spirit of truth and the spirit of freedom—they are the pillars of society."
—HENRIK IBSEN.

FREEDOM COMES FIRST

Freedom can never be put in second place. Unless it is kept in first place, it will be lost altogether. If we put material gain, or personal security, or easy living first, we are acting in a way that will cost us our freedom.

The Mistaken leaders of the Russian Revolution from the beginning placed material gains first, and promised the people that freedom would be added later. The patriotic leaders of the American Revolution put freedom first, and then set about trying to meet their material needs.

Work was always honored in America. It was a price Americans paid for freedom. In order to live in freedom, those first settlers gave up their homelands for the danger and hard labor that faced them in the New World.

The later settlers also put freedom above material gain. The Germans who came here to escape forced military service chose hard work as the price they willingly paid for freedom from tyranny. The Poles and Czechs and the Hungarians who came loved their homelands. But they gave up the green hills and fertile fields of home for the smoke of industrial cities, the dust of the coal mines, and the loneliness of unsettled areas because they put freedom first.

Unless freedom comes first, it does not come at all. In Russia, a dozen years after the communists had seized power, one of the communist leaders admitted there was no individual freedom in that country, but he said: "In a few years, when we have succeeded in overcoming our material difficulties, when there is a decent standard of living in Russia, when we no longer need to be afraid of starvation, liberty will become a reality in Russia, and will no longer be only a word and a dream."

That is what he said, but of course there is still no liberty in Russia or in any other nation ruled by the Mistaken. There can be no liberty in any land where it is placed second.

We can maintain our liberty if we will keep in mind that we must always give first place to the maintenance of freedom. Everything else comes after that.

THE FALL OF AN EMPIRE

In 1788, Edward Gibbon completed his monumental work The Decline And Fall of the Roman Empire, in which he listed these five reasons for that fall:

- (1) The rapid increase of divorce. The undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home—the basis of human society.
 - (2) Higher and higher taxes, and the spending of public money for free bread and circuses for the populace.
 - (3) The mad craze for pleasure.
 - (4) The building of gigantic armaments when the real enemy, the decadence of the people, was within.
 - (5) The decay of religion.
- Are there lessons here for us today?
—LIFE LINE, Washington 1, D. C.

PRIDE IN PATRIOTISM

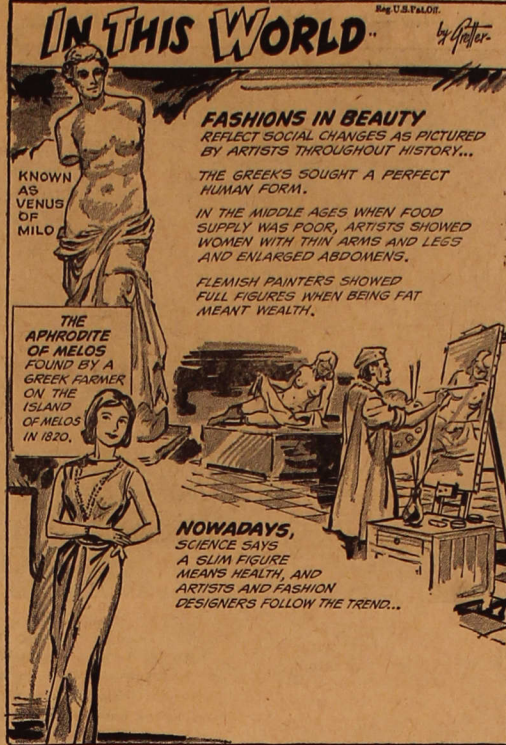

It is a proud and noble thing to be a Patriot in America today.

That the idea that government must be a servant of the people is the highest contribution any nation has made to mankind.

That, because of this incomparable contribution, every American may look upon his nation as one that is unique in the world.

That the principles of our Declaration of Independence will live and shine long after other political theories are discarded and forgotten.

These are reasons for patriotic pride. These are reasons why patriots must resist the efforts of the Mistaken to drive the United States of America to suicide by drowning in the murky pond of internationalism.

A sprained ankle is often slower to heal than a broken ankle.

No joint in the human body is more liable to sprain than the ankle.

Sprains of the ankle occur at all ages and are due to twisting the ankle on rough ground or twisting the body while the foot and ankle are held motionless.

The immediate symptom of a sprained ankle is pain. Examination of the foot shows swelling, and likely bruising and stiffness.

The characteristic sign is tenderness over the ligaments rather than the bone.

Because it is sometimes difficult to distinguish between a sprain and a fracture, an x-ray is important.

With no fracture but with much bruising and pain, there is usually extensive soft-tissue injury.

A plaster cast is applied from knee to toes, leaving the toes free, with a rocker to permit walking.

With such a plaster, in most cases walking is comfortable and the patient can soon return to normal activities.

The plaster is removed in about two weeks and a short period of ankle exercise usually restores function.

Active use and exercise are needed to bring back a feeling of security and stability.

In some instances, a person who has suffered a sprained ankle remains nervous and apprehensive for a long time, in regard to resuming free use and movement of the ankle.

Many Fringes For Congressmen

WASHINGTON — In this age of soaring rockets and prices, Congress members are enjoying some remarkably old-fashioned fringe benefits.

To name a few: cuspidors, 75-cent hair cuts, meals at cost, a free comb and hairbrush every two years and a trunk or footlocker every year.

Representative Otis G. Pike, Democrat, New York, compiled this list because, he said, the taxpayers should know what incidentals they make available to each legislator in addition to the $22,500 a year salary and various expenses.

In a tongue-in-cheek letter to constituents, Pike said the cuspidors make nice flowerpots "for us effete youngsters who don't chew."

Of the combs and hairbrushes distributed at the start of each congress, Pike said:

"Such are the glorious traditions of our Republic that this presentation is made without regard to the question of whether the member (of Congress) possesses any hair."

Extra Session Gets Partial OK From Scranton

Much talk about a special session has gone around the legislative halls since then.

Mother's Travels Yield High Grades

Mrs. Nancy K. Gibson drove 80 miles a day for 2½ years to get her degree from Kentucky Wesleyan College.

But it was worth it. The 41-year-old mother compiled the top academic average in the class of 73 seniors. She had a 2.893 out of a possible 3.0 grade average and was graduated magna cum laude. She also was valedictorian.

Turnpike Travel Insurance

Take to the turnpikes on your vacation this summer — they're three times safer than ordinary highways, according to National Safety Council. One reason for this "travel insurance" is steel median guard rail which eliminates deadly head-on crashes by preventing cars from crossing over into opposite lanes. New Jersey Turnpike, nation's busiest highway, has not had a single cross-over fatality since it installed guard rail down the center of most of its 118-mile length. Pennsylvania Turnpike is another bustling highway being modernized by installation of this steel lifesaver.

Barbecue Makes Entertaining Easy

For a change of pace in summer entertaining, serve "outdoor" fare indoors—the easy way! A barbecue-fried chicken can be a cinch without transporting half the kitchen to the back yard; simply coat the chicken with crushed barbecue snack wafers and fry the way you always do. Your guests will marvel at the zesty hickory flavor that's supplied by the crackers, a new source for the wonderful taste accent of outdoor cookery.

That indoors company dinner is a good time, too, to show off a new set of dinnerware. It is available at moderate cost in hundreds of exciting patterns. An orange-and-gold fruit pattern is used here with avocado green linens and an easily assembled summer centerpiece of fresh fruit to complement the design on the plates.

Next time you entertain, serve this delicious chicken on colorful melamine ware for a meal that's as pretty as it's tasty. There'll be happy guests, no leftovers, and very easy clean-up chores afterward for the hostess!

Barbecue-fried Chicken
2 broiler-fryer chickens, about 2 pounds each, disjointed
30 barbecue snack wafers, 1/3 of 10½-ounce package
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon marjoram
1 egg, beaten
¼ cup milk
¼ cup shortening

Clean, wash and dry chicken. Roll barbecue crackers between two sheets of waxed paper into fine crumbs. Combine crumbs with salt and marjoram. Place in shallow pan. Roll pieces of chicken in crumbs until well coated. Then dip chicken in mixture of beaten egg and milk. Roll again in remaining crumbs until well coated. Brown chicken, a few pieces at a time, in hot fat; cover and cook over low heat until tender, about 30 minutes. Makes six servings.

298 Students In Summer School

Registration figures for the first term of summer school at Waynesburg College show a total of 298 students, according to Donald E. Shamble, director of summer school.

The first term last summer had a registration of 276 students.

The current term runs from June 10 until July 12, with the second term from July 15 through August 16.

Donkey Gives Him The Hee-Haw

Brave Independent Softball team played donkey ball Saturday night on their home field.

Dana Filer, star second baseman cajoled his mount and managed to hit the ball several times, but his smiling friend dumped him on the way to first base. Ha, ha; hee haw!

Nine Brothers On One Ball Team; Two On Bench

LANCASTER, Pa.—Lancaster County has a baseball rarity—a team composed entirely of brothers.

There is little likelihood that the general public will ever get to see them play, however.

They're all Amish. The Fisher boys, as they call themselves, fielded a starting lineup of brothers ranging in age from 12 to 23 the other night.

Not only that, they also had two substitutes on the bench.

The team of brothers reflects the increasing popularity of baseball among Amish youth and is rare, even among the Amish, who traditionally have large families.

Other traditions of the Amish have also pervaded the manner in which they play baseball. The Amish are taught to avoid controversy with their fellow man; to live in peace with him. And a man should be as good as his word.

Their efforts to do so are shown in the way they play the game and it would warm the heart of many an umpire.

The other night the Fisher boys were trailing 2-0 when Pitcher Johnny Fisher rounded third and headed for home.

The play at the plate was close. Catcher Abner Petersheim reached out to make the tag when Fisher slid in and the ump, hovering over the play, didn't signal safe or out.

Instead he asked the catcher, "Did you tag him, Abner?"

"No," said the catcher. "Yes, well, then he's safe," said the umpire.

Everyone accepted the decision without a dissenting voice.

Later in the game opposing Pitcher Amos Lapp threw one close to another batter.

"Did it hit you?" asked the ump.

"Yes," said the batter. "Take your base."

And when shoeless Levi Lapp in left misjudged a fly ball with two on, nobody criticized him, either.

"Too bad, Lappy," said a consoling teammate.

Lapp adjusted the suspenders holding up his baggy gray work pants, shook his head sadly and silently, determined to get the next one.

Amish baseball is picturesque and intensely played. It is also somewhat clandestine because some parents don't approve of such carryings on.

The Fisher boys played against another team identified as the all-Amish.

The all-brother team lost, 4-3, in 11 innings. If Pitcher Johnny Fisher weakened somewhat in the 11th, it was understandable. He had put in a full day's work on the family farm in 90-degree heat before taking the mound.

He struck out 13. Amos Lapp also went the distance. He struck out 12.

You Can't Win 'em All!

The old adage has it that the prophet is without honor in his home town and, while Jockey Bill Shoemaker is not without honor in his home area he is without a winner. In fourteen years of race-riding Shoemaker has won more than 4,500 races, but he can't get to the winners' circle at Sunland Park, New Mexico, which is just six miles from his birthplace in El Paso, Texas. He first visited Sunland Park for the Inaugural meeting in 1959. It was his first trip home since the Shoemaker family had moved to California. Doug Atkins,
