Sayers, King & Keener In New Colonial Home

FLOYD A. KING ALBERT A. SAYERS ROBERT M. KEENER

The law firm of Sayers, King and Keener has moved from the second floor of the Allison Building on East High street, to 77 South Washington street.

The building, owned by the Sayers family has been remodeled in colonial style, and greatly enhances the appearance of the business block from the Fort Jackson Hotel to Greene street.

The offices and library are on the first floor with records occupying the second floor.

Mr. Sayers, the senior partner, is the fourth generation of his family to practice law in Greene County. He was admitted to the bar in October 15, 1938, after graduating from the University of Pittsburgh Law School. Mr. Sayers became associated with his father, the late Judge A. H. Sayers, who was again practicing after serving a 10-year term as president judge of the Greene County Court.

In 1943, Mr. Sayers enlisted in the Navy and served in the South Pacific during World War II until December 24, 1945. He was a lieutenant in radar direction fighter intelligence. While Mr. Sayers was in service, his father died.

Colonel James Hawkins, who had been prominent in the Pennsylvania National Guard, and who served in the European Theater, also arrived home on Christmas Eve 1945. He had practiced law here for several years before the war.

One month later Mr. Sayers and Colonel Hawkins entered into partnership and continued until September 1957, when Mr. Hawkins died suddenly.

In the meantime, Floyd A. King, a son of Mrs. A. E. King of Waynesburg, and the late Dr. King, a prominent Waynesburg dentist, had been admitted to the bar in April 17, 1950, and some time later was taken into the law firm as a partner. Mr. King graduated from West Virginia University Law School. He entered Navy service in 1943, and served as a lieutenant in the carrier forces.

The firm continued as Sayers, Hawkins and King until 1961,

Sounds Made by Fish . . . and

Montana's Governor

The wise expenditure of tax money each year is an exhausting job, and fortunately there are dedicated Congressmen who regard it seriously. Often, through their alertness we learn of some strange spending of tax money.

For instance, a request was made for some expensive "mail trucks" for the United States Senate. They included five convertibles at almost $7,000 each.

The American taxpayer also has a big interest in the printing business. The strange and exciting how-to-do-it booklets published at the Government Printing Office are interesting. For instance, a pamphlet entitled "Sending Gift Packages to Tunisia" may be helpful. As a gift suggestion one might purchase G. P. O. booklet, "Problems of Present Day Poetry in Rumania," or the booklet which explains sounds made by fish in the Black Sea.

Money appropriations, like styles, appear to have trends. Recently, there has been a nautical motif in expenditures. After our government outfitted a floating tub (or yacht) for Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, at a cost of three million dollars, Congress decided to build new swimming pools for itself. Then Congress turned to the fish and set aside 10 million dollars for an aquarium in Washington, D. C.

But to really get to the bottom of the matter, tax money was used in 1962 to complete a government study, at a cost of 300 man-hours, which revealed that a man's posterior covers over 179 square inches and exerts an average pressure of almost one pound per square inch.

Turning to another aspect of government, many state and local governments send non-elected "representatives" to the Capital to urge the creation of federal projects within their political and geographical boundaries. The eagerness of local governments to accept federal projects is at least one cause of the centralization of federal government and of increased federal expenditures.

In the light of so much willingness to accept federal help, it is refreshing to note the feeling of Montana Governor Babcock, who was called before a subcommittee in Washington during a hearing on a proposal to build a dam on the Flathead River.

He could have said that the dam would be a great asset for his state; that it would create jobs; that it would make the desert bloom, and so on. He said nothing so politically proper.

Instead, he explained that the proposed dam would displace more than 1,200 people, flood three towns and thousands of acres of irrigated land, and upset the state's forest products industry. He said the dam would "cost the people of this country 259 million dollars they do not need to spend." He added:

"Perhaps it is necessary for a state or governor to focus attention on our national need to reverse unnecessary federal spending. If such is the case, then Montana is proud to be that state and I am proud to be that governor."

Montana's Governor occupies a rather lonely pew, but he was recently nudged to move over to make room for another occupant.

The Passport Office of the State Department has proved itself outstanding for efficiency, economy and ability to adapt to changing demands. The Passport Office in fiscal 1962 operated on a budget of 2½ million dollars, sending back to the Treasury Department more than 6½ million dollars of its appropriation.

Certainly, the public servant who safeguards tax money, is a rarity today, and deserves the encouragement of every true American citizen.

Bermuda 'Orders' American Money

HAMILTON, Bermuda—On the island of Bermuda, the British Crown Colony, American money changes hands as constantly as the local money.

Recently, the Bermuda Drug Company ran out of American pennies, tried the local banks, and found they were out of them, too. So they telephoned a New York bank which sped 10,000 cents to Bermuda aboard BOAC's flight the same day.

With packing, the 100 dollars worth of cents weighed 100 pounds.

Frank F. Sutton Dies; Well Known Public Official

Frank Foster Sutton, 90 years, well known public official, died Friday, July 12, 1963, in his home on Second avenue. He had been ill a long time.

Mr. Sutton was a son of William H. and Mary Turner Sutton, and was born November 20, 1872, in a log house in Washington Township, which his father had built. His family moved to Morris Township when he was a small boy and a few years later to Waynesburg.

Mr. Sutton worked three years for his father who was elected Register and Recorder of Greene County in 1887. He then engaged in farming on Hopewell Ridge, Center Township. Four years later Mr. Sutton was again employed in the Greene County Courthouse, first as a clerk in the Sheriff's Office, then again in the office of the Register and Recorder, and later in the County Treasurer's Office. He also acted as a bookkeeper for the Democrat Messenger.

Mr. Sutton was also employed for a few years as local agent for the Railway Express Company, when its offices were located in a room in the old Messenger Building on North Washington street. During World War I he was chief clerk for the Greene County draft board, headed by Sheriff George M. Weimer.

Mr. Sutton was elected to the Waynesburg school board in 1910, and was named secretary in 1913. After serving 12 years as a board member he continued as non-member secretary until he retired in 1959.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Pearl Barnette Sutton, whom he married in 1906; one daughter, Louise, wife of Charles L. Watson, of New Kensington, and several nieces and nephews.

Two brothers and one sister are deceased.

Funeral services were held Monday in the Garrison Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. H. A. Young. Interment in Green Mount Cemetery.

Greensboro Soldier Dies In Morocco

James M. Wilson, 23 years, of Greensboro, died Saturday, July 13, in Morocco, North Africa, from injuries sustained while working as a carpenter with an engineering battalion. He was trapped under falling timbers of an old building.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Wilson of Greensboro, R. D. 1, and was born September 17, 1939, in the Greensboro and Dilliner community. Young Wilson graduated from Mapletown High School. A few months ago he married Priscilla Jo West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray West of Point Marion.

Surviving are his wife and parents; two sisters, Shirley and Linda; one brother, Charles; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ida Wilson of Greensboro, R. D. 1; and his maternal grandfather, Ira Keener.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Senators Offer Bills to Legalize School Prayers

WASHINGTON—Several Senators from both parties have introduced proposed constitutional amendments to permit Bible reading and prayer in public schools.

Among the sponsors was possible G. O. P. presidential candidate Barry Goldwater of Arizona. He signed a proposal offered by Senator John J. Williams (Republican, Delaware) which would override the recent Supreme Court decision which outlawed devotional prayers or Bible reading in public schools.

A similar amendment was offered by Senator Olin D. Johnston (Democrat, South Carolina), who called on teachers to "defy" the court decision.

The Williams proposal would—subject to approval by Congress and ratification by three-fourths of the States—add a new article to the Constitution. It would state that:

"Nothing contained in this Constitution shall be construed to prohibit the authority administering any school, school system or educational institution supported in whole or in part from any public funds from providing for the participation by the students thereof in any periods of Bible reading or non-sectarian prayer if such participation is voluntary."

Williams said the court ruling "leaves the impression that we who had prided ourselves upon being a Christian nation are now renouncing our dependence upon our God."

Senators J. Glenn Beall (Democrat, Maryland), Frank Carlson (Republican, Kansas), and Wallace F. Bennett (Republican, Utah) also signed the Williams resolution.

Johnston said his proposal would go beyond overturning the court decision and "preserve references to belief in or reliance upon God and any invocation of aid from God in governmental or public document, proceeding, ceremony, and upon any coinage, currency or obligation of the United States."

"Despite the Supreme Court" Johnston said, "I am urging school teachers and schools to continue the reading of Bible and to continue praying in classrooms."

Similar amendments offered last year failed to win approval in either the House or Senate.

U. S. Spotlights Water Pollution

ERIE, Pa. — States had better solve their water pollution problems or the federal government will.

That was the stern warning Friday from James Quigley, Assistant Secretary of the United States Health, Education, and Welfare Department.

Waynesburg Borough Council on Tuesday night, voted to enter into an agreement with the new West Franklin Sewer Authority similar to the one now in force with the Bonar Sewer District.

Franklin Township users would pay a pro-rata share of the cost of operation and maintenance of the borough sewage treatment plant. Cost would be based on the amount of water consumption.

Ewing B. Pollock, attorney for West Franklin Sewer Authority, states the contract must be signed by July 31, in order to obtain a $67,000 grant from the Community Facilities Administration to construct the project.

Establishment of a separate sewer department to keep accurate records of maintenance at the treatment plant was discussed.

Council exonerated the borough tax collector from responsibility for 1961 per capita taxes she has not been able to collect. It was brought out that some 40 persons are still carried on the tax rolls although they are dead, while another 50 or so no longer reside in the borough.

But there are about 200 who do reside in the borough and have not paid the 1961 per capita taxes. In these cases, the records will be given to the Greene County Credit Bureau, which will act as the borough's delinquent tax collector.

George Stennett, new borough manager, was present at the meeting. He stated that the Pennsylvania Highway Department has approved contracts for improvement of a few streets. This will allow council to receive $13,974 from the state for this project.

M. A. Milinovich, borough treasurer, reported the borough has $33,000 in the treasury at the end of the first six months of this year.

A petition from property owners to pave Blackberry alley between Strawberry and Franklin street was put off until next year since funds for this year's improvements had been allocated. The project is a half block long and property owners would pay two-thirds of the cost.

Named Hospital's 'Doctor of Year'

Dr. Robert L. Bentz of Lorain, Ohio, formerly of Waynesburg, was voted "Doctor of the Year" at Bayview Hospital.

He is a graduate of Waynesburg College and the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy.

Dr. Bentz married Martha Strossner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Strossner of South Morgan street.

Dr. Raymond J. Hickey, president of the hospital staff made the award at the hospital's annual dinner. He said in part:

"Each year Dr. Bentz has added some special training in his chosen field to keep pace with modern medical advances. As chairman of the osteopathic profession at the Lorain Community Hospital he has worked to secure a combined professional staff and has also demonstrated leadership in his field.

"His leadership qualities have been recognized in his work with the Ohio Osteopathic Association and in the Bayview Hospital dedication."

8-Sided Building Gave Town Start

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex. — The first public building built in this country of German settlers in 1846 was the "Verelins Kerin," an eight-sided structure resembling an old fashioned coffee mill, and affectionally called the "Kaffeemuehle."

The settlers later built their famous "Siday Houses," and several still stand. Unlike the modern lake cottage or country retreat, these sturdy stone houses were used by pioneer rural families when they came to town for church or for stays necessitated by business or illness.

"And on the seventh day..."

"... God ended His work which He had made; and He rested on the seventh day from all His work which He had made.

"And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it He had rested from all His work which God created and made."

Worship together this week at your church or synagogue.

Town Begg U. S. Not to Build P. O.

KINGFISHER, Okla. — In a show of independence, residents of this western Oklahoma town want the Federal Government not to build them a new post office.

Civic leaders here are circulating petitions asking the Government to "just save the money, or perhaps apply it to some of the public indebtedness" instead of replacing the town's present facilities.

The Government already has acquired an option on a half block of land just off the town's main street as a potential site for construction of the new post office.

Good Hot Water Speeds Household Chores

An electric water heater is completely safe and automatic. There are no exposed hot surfaces and the water heater is so well insulated that it always remains cool-to-the-touch. Once an electric water heater is installed, you can set it and then forget it. There's no adjusting or regulating ever. Another advantage of the electric water heater is its long tank life. Due to the diffused heat source, water may be heated and held at a higher temperature without precipitating minerals or corroding the tank.

Convenience is a hallmark of electric water heating. Because it needs no flue or chimney connections, the electric water heater can be located anywhere—in kitchen, unused corner, pantry, basement, bathroom, hall closet, attic, or under stairs. Shelves or cabinets may be built above it and thus it becomes a space over. In the kitchen, for instance, the heater can be installed under the countertop, alongside base cabinets.

West Penn Station At Monongahela To Operate Soon

The giant new turbine generator soon to begin operations at West Penn Power Company's Mitchell station, near Monongahela, incorporates a significant "first" in the electric utility industry—a technical advance which will contribute to improved reliability and lower costs.

Turbine generators are equipped with an exciter—a small generator which provides direct current to the large dynamo so that large quantities of power can be generated. Most of the exciters now in service are of a conventional type which employs carbon brushes riding on a commutator

'Wild' Plane Lassoed

AARHUS, Denmark — An airport staff members used a lasso to catch a runaway pilotless sports plane at a landing field here Sunday after the pilot gave too much gas on the throttle while preparing to start and the plane moved off without him as soon as he swung the propeller.

to obtain the required direct current.

Two years ago, West Penn, in cooperation with Westinghouse Electric Corporation, installed a new exciter pilot installation on a generating unit at Springdale power station as part of a program to discover a better way to obtain the necessary exciter direct current.

This new system uses rotating rectifiers to obtain the direct current without the need for brushes riding on a commutator. The elimination of the commutator and brushes eliminates wearing parts and permits the production equipment to operate for longer periods of time without the need to interrupt production for costly maintenance. The Springfield installation was particularly successful.

As a result, West Penn's new unit at Mitchell is equipped with the first commercially available exciter using this new principle.

Haying, Grazing Request for State Is Disapproved

Howard R. Porter, Chairman of the United State Department of Agriculture, State Disaster Committee, has announced that the National Disaster Committee disapproved a request from the State that farmers in 16 drought stricken counties be permitted to graze and cut hay off land retired under the conservation reserve, feed grain and wheat stabilization diverted acres during 1963.

The request to permit haying and grazing of diverted acres was recently submitted by the United State Department of Agriculture State Disaster Committee, after reviewing proposals submitted by United States Department of Agriculture County Disaster Committees of 16 counties, where they felt conditions warranted consideration for approval of emergency livestock feeding. These counties were:

Armstrong, Blair, Bradford, Butler, Fayette, Franklin, Greene, Huntingdon, Indiana, Juniata, Lackawanna, Lancaster, Mifflin, Monroe, Somerset and Susquehanna.

Had authority been granted, farmers in affected counties, under a provision of the conservation reserve, feed grain, and wheat stabilization programs, would have been allowed to graze and cut hay on diverted acres, with a downward adjustment in payments.

Mr. Porter also pointed out that the entire feed supply situation is under continuous review and U. S. Department of Agriculture officials in Washington have assured the United State Department of Agriculture State Disaster Committee should conditions grow any worse, they would be willing to review the situation further.

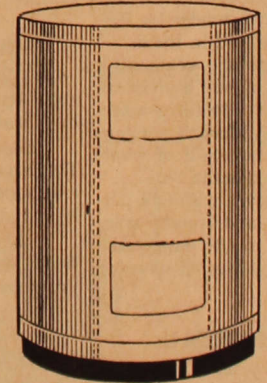

7 GOOD REASONS

why Mrs. Walter Watson praises her flameless, quick recovery electric water heater

Yes, with seven (count 'em!) active youngsters, the Watsons need lots of hot water! "And no matter how much we use, we always have plenty of really hot water from our 40-gallon quick recovery electric water heater," Mrs. Watson of Waynesburg explains. "We like it, too, because it's flameless. There are no fumes, soot or dirt—and it's so safe. Actually the children play around it and we never give it a thought."

All of the appliances—including the heating—in the Watsons' nine-room split-level home are electric. Mrs. Watson especially appreciates the flexibility of electric baseboard heating. "With individual room thermostats, I can keep the younger children's bedrooms warmer than the others. The whole house is comfortably warm in winter and there are no drafts anywhere," she adds.

Mr. Watson, who built the house himself, is well satisfied with the cost of total electric living. "Last year we paid an average monthly bill of only $34.83 for all uses of electricity," he says. With West Penn's latest rate reduction for electric house heating customers, the Watsons will save about $55 a year.

See your plumber or dealer about a flameless quick recovery electric water heater. Ask him about the $1.95 a month installment purchase plan.

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

We must guard against the tendency to lose so many of our freedoms while we look the other way.

If we take the trouble to look, we can see that year after year, there are fewer areas that remain untouched by Federal Government regulations.

Government bureaus regulate farming, jobs, communications, relations between employers and employees, and broad areas of business operation.

Excessively heavy taxes make it more and more difficult for an American to accumulate sufficient savings.

All these things have been done one at a time. Each advance along the road that leads away from freedom probably seems a small, hardly noticeable movement. More often than not, each step away from freedom was made possible by a promise of something for nothing. A far-reaching system of grants, subsidies, rewards and penalties has been established to finance the flight from freedom.

And the end is not in sight. Every year, additions to the regulatory system are proposed, and every year some of them are adopted. Each of these offers something to somebody or some group.

Every regulatory proposal demands the surrender of a little more freedom of the individual. At the same time, it requires the transfer of more power from the citizen to the federal government.

Those who give up their right to decide their own affairs may find it temporarily profitable. Those who protest or rebel find it costly. In the final analysis, both suffer great harm. The reason is simple:

Once freedom is lost, it is difficult (and sometimes impossible) to regain.

We can do something more than wring our hands over this state of affairs.

First, we can make a clear and conscious choice in favor of freedom. We can make our choice, and then we can actively seek out others who also choose freedom.

This is a time for patriotism in America. This is a time for the citizen to be proud he is a patriot, and let his fellow Americans know that he stands up for freedom.

BRING OUT LATENT ABILITY

It is important that Americans strive to obtain knowledge about what is wrong with our national life.

The patriot's duty does not stop there. He must not sit in judgment; he must put forth his best efforts to help right the wrongs of our society.

In addition, the patriot should uncover his hidden capabilities for leadership. He should give practical support to leaders who are working for the cause of freedom. It is important to remind leaders in America, diplomatically and in a spirit of helpfulness, of the great service they can render by living up to the great trust placed in them.

The communist conspiracy constantly tries to subvert the work of our leaders so that their activities will fit into the master plan of the communists. Most American leaders will be as zealous on behalf of what is moral as we will permit them to be.

Let us make sure we never withhold our encouragement from men and women who wish to lead us away from the dangerous path unrolled before us by the communist conspiracy.

PUBLIC DEBT BUREAU

It only seems natural to have a Bureau of Public Debt to handle a debt of 300 billion dollars.

The proposed budget for the Bureau of the Public Debt is 48.6 million dollars. More than 15 million dollars of that amount is the annual payroll for the bureau's 2,700 employees.

It takes a lot of tax dollars to own and operate a debt of 300 billion dollars which no one in government circles has taken any step to reduce.

1963 NEEDS SOME 1787 LOGIC

In the year 1787, delegates from the independent states gathered in Philadelphia and for 85 days debated the form and substance of our constitutional government, taking care that their work would not only be expedient to the needs of the people for the time but that the formula for the preservation of that form of government would endure against the assaults of special interests and tyranny for all time to come.

The delegates were men of high classical education who knew of the historical significance of every government which had ruled in the world.

They debated the reasons why and how some of these governments had enslaved the people and, in failing to serve the best interests of the people, had decayed from within and crossed the horizon into oblivion.

They knew that freedom under God was the highest attainment of man's struggle, and that their duty was, with the help of God, to set up a form of government in which freedom would remain. They knew well the tortuous road of man's struggle for freedom.

Our generation should also study each step in man's struggle for freedom so that we might be equally as dedicated.

The story of the American heritage must be instilled in the hearts of each generation to come. This must be done in the homes, the churches and the schools. This is our duty and this is the price of a united America, loyal to every cause of freedom.

THE AMERICAN'S CREED

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

ADVERTISING FOR FREEDOM

The personal enterprise system is the foundation of individual freedom and freedom in government. Businessmen in America have the responsibility to perpetuate this foundation.

It is incumbent upon American business to give its support to organizations which disseminate the truth about our personal enterprise system.

Business should take the lead in avoiding the kind of misguided thinking which looks upon patriotism as controversial. The success of the personal enterprise system is an inspiring story of human happiness and satisfaction. American business, with an overall advertising budget this year of 2½ billion dollars, could tell this story well, and make a great contribution toward the preservation of freedom in America.

WE MUST FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

Most Americans take their freedom for granted. They assume that freedom comes naturally, and that once it is obtained it becomes permanent.

The assumption is wrong, of course. There are people who honestly believe that freedom is not good for man, and they are dedicated to taking it from him.

In addition, there are Americans who endanger freedom by being inactive. Lack of action grows out of misinformation, complacency and apathy. That is why active patriots must constantly strive to stir others to effective action in behalf of freedom.

WHAT IS BUREAUCRACY?

A California Congressman had a word about bureaucracy when he spoke to a group in Wheaton, Illinois. He said:

"Here is the ultimate in bureaucracy: There used to be a room in one of the Federal buildings in Washington which had this legend stenciled on the door:

"4156 — General Services Administration, Region 3; Public Service, Building Improvement Division, utility room, custodial."

DOCTRINE OF DICTATORS

There are those who claim that emergency conditions require emergency measures even if such run contrary to the principles of the Constitution. But this is simply another way of saying the end justifies the means—a doctrine that is the argument of dictators and the creed of slaves.

Ask where to buy products advertised by patriots with patriotism.

Saturday's Eclipse Can Damage Eyes, Physicians Warn

Pennsylvanians will get a rare chance to view a partial eclipse of the sun this Saturday—and a dangerous chance of suffering permanent eye damage unless proper precautions are taken, the Pennsylvania Medical Society warned.

Eye damage can occur even though sunglasses, smoked glass or photographic negatives are used by the viewers. "There is no safe method of looking directly into the eclipse without risking an incurable, painless burn of the retina of the eye from the infrared rays of the sun," warned Dr. Raymond Grandon, chairman of the State Society's Council on Scientific Advancement.

He suggested that the only safe way to view the eclipse is to view a projected image of the sun, such as on television or with a sunscope. Directions which any school child in a few minutes can make a simple sunscope accompany this article.

Three years ago, there was a partial eclipse of the sun visible in the Western United States. In Washington, an estimated 75 persons suffered retinal burns. In Utah, there were 31 definite cases of permanent eye damage. The eclipse also was visible in Australia, where 170 persons suffered severe retinal burns.

The retina—the eye's "photographic film"—is not sensitive to pain and thus can be damaged without the viewer being immediately aware of the damage. "Normally, the sun is much too bright for a person to view comfortably," Dr. Grandon said. "But during an eclipse, enough visible light is blocked out to permit easy observation."

This easy observation, however, allows the eye to focus the infrared rays of the sun on the retina, much as a magnifying glass can focus the sun's rays and burn a hole in a piece of paper. This is the danger, all the more dangerous because the burning of the retina is painless.

The sunscope works like a pinhole camera. The viewer stands with his back to the eclipse and views the projected image of the sun. The image of the sun also can be projected through a telescope or binoculars onto a white screen or white piece of cardboard and viewed, indirectly, on the screen.

The moon will cover more than 80 per cent of the surface of the sun, as viewed from Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania Medical Society suggests that the eclipse is not a sight to miss. Just be careful so that you don't end up missing your sight. Don't view the eclipse directly.

DIRECTIONS FOR BUILDING A SUNSCOPE

STEP 1—Take one large oblong carton (about 1' wide x 2' deep x 3' long, such as that in which facial tissue is shipped) and cover the inside of one of the small ends with plain white paper. The longer the box, the larger will be the projected image of the sun.

STEP 2—Cut a small hole (about 1" square) in the opposite end of the carton and close to one of the long sides. Cover this hole with aluminum foil. Make a pinhole in the center of the aluminum foil.

STEP 3—Cut a hole slightly larger than your head (so the carton slips over your head easily and allows ample air space for breathing) in the other long side 14" or more from the white paper.

STEP 4—Cover all four sides of the carton and tape together to shut out light. To make the box darker, seal all light leaks with black tape or black paper.

Kentucky Wins Road Sign Bonus

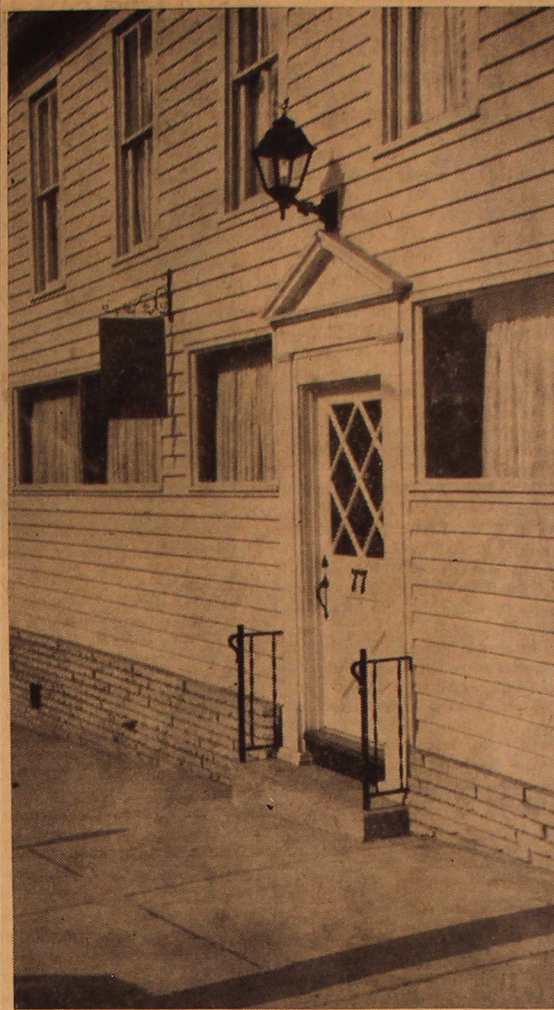

WASHINGTON — Kentucky is the first state to receive a bonus payment for restricting advertising along the interstate highway system.

Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges on Monday presented a $65,488 check to Kentucky Governor Burt T. Combs.

The bonus payment was offered as an incentive to States "to keep the interstate highways free of unnecessary and often hazardous signs," the department noted.

Nineteen other States have agreed to control advertising and will become eligible for bonus payments after they comply with standards set up by the Commerce Department, a spokesman said.

Exterior View of Law Firm's New Offices

Above is the front of the law offices of Sayers, King and Keener at 77 South Washington street. The building was completely remodeled in colonial style.

Stand with your back to the sun and place the carton over your head so that you are looking at the white paper on surface. Direct the pinhole (above and behind your head) toward the sun. The sun's image enters the box through the pinhole and appears on the white paper in front of you. Never look at the sun through the pinhole. This only intensifies the rays of the sun and the danger of damaging your vision.

HARRISBURG — The State Civil Service Commission has scheduled examinations for sanitary engineers and part-time State Liquor Store clerks.

Tests for three classifications of sanitary engineer in the Health Department will be given in Pittsburgh and other cities, the first on August 17.

Civil Service Director John E. James said vacancies exist in Class I at Pittsburgh. Salary scales range from $5,529 to $9,923.

Tests are scheduled for August 17, October 19 and December 14, Mr. James said.

Applicants must have a college degree with majors in sanitary and public health, or chemical or civil engineering. Applications for the August test are due July 24.

Mr. James said lists from a test set for September 7 will be used to make temporary appointments at the liquor stores. Applicants must be men over 21 with high school diplomas. Application deadline is August 14.

A Father Gets His Just Due

BECKLEY, W. Va.—A certain father here took note of the fact that one of his three daughters was receiving seven letters each week from the same boy. One afternoon, when he was alone at home, he spotted one of the notes on a table.

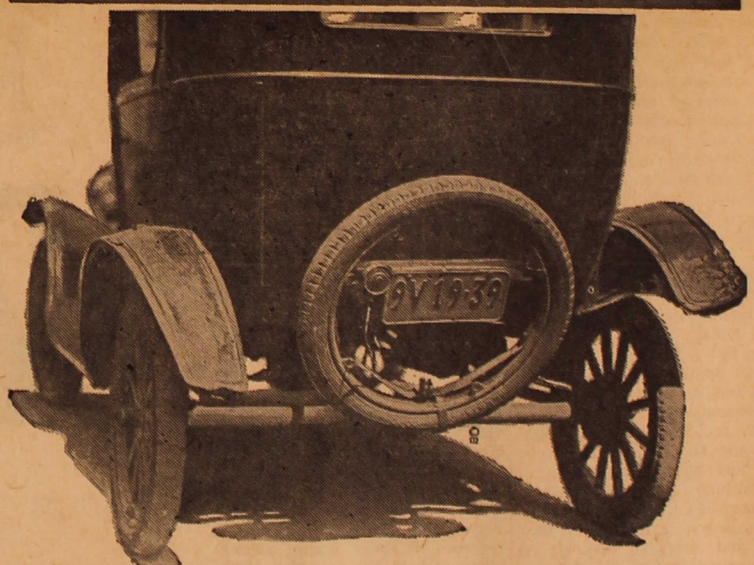

"Now what do you suppose these kids find to write about so much?" he thought, and, yielding to temptation, he opened the letter and began to read.

"I'd come to see you more often," the boy had written, "but your nosy old father is always snooping around spying on us."

Desert Favor Meteorites

Though meteorites fall anywhere, it is much easier to see them in flat, desert areas, where other rocks are rare. The arid climate and slow erosion rate also favors meteorite survival.

Interesting Social Notes

The Polly Wayne Garden Club met Friday in the social rooms of the First Methodist Church with Mrs. Theresa Hunnell and Mrs. Don Scott as hostesses. The chaplain, Miss Lena Hawkins, conducted devotions. The program leader, Mrs. W. K. Edgar, assisted by Mrs. S. G. Minor, presented a program, "It's for the Birds." They presented a skit on "What to do While Waiting for Mother Nature." Mrs. Edgar talked on nature's feeding and shelter for birds pointing out that the major source of food for birds is insects which are destructive to grain, fruit and much of man's food supply.

Bird houses should be built for different kinds of birds and placed where they like to nest. Mrs. Minor stated that Christopher Columbus, found 1,000 kinds of birds in America, and said that today more and more people are becoming interested in them. Kinds of foods were discussed and types and placing of feeders. Bird baths both for drinking and bathing are important, she stated. Refreshments were served.

There were three guests, Mrs. William Minor of Ruff Creek, Miss Reba Edgar and Mrs. Emma Porter, both of Bentleyville.

World's Records Broken At Meadows; Arden Downs Stake $12,000 Friday

Green to Ride At Waterford Park During Summer

According to jockeys' room custodian Ronald Fisher most of the riders who competed at the Wheeling Downs spring meeting at Waterford Park remained for the regular summer meeting which opened recently for 53 days of thoroughbred racing.

Heading the list is perennial leader Floyd Green, who wound up as the leading rider here for the fourth straight season. The veteran saddlesmith finished on top in each of the two meetings at Waterford in 1962, and came back to take high honors in the early spring meeting of this year with 47 victories to beat out his close rival Linwood Weakley with 46.

Green took the lead early in the second half of the spring meeting and was never headed, bringing in 47 winners for the 26 day session. His nearest competitor was Raymond Cooper with 29 for the same period.

Floyd started riding in 1953, but it was not until 1955, that he started to show marked ability as a rider, accounting for 142 races and averaging better than 121 wins per year ever since. His best year came in 1960, when he came down in front 187 times. Last year he accounted for 147 races, most of them at Waterford Park.

Another unusual feat accomplished by Green is that he has entered the winner's circle over 600 times at Wheeling Downs and Waterford Park during his career.

Post time for the entire summer meeting has been set at 3:45 p. m., Mondays through Fridays, and at 2:00 p. m. on Saturdays.

Highlights of the season are the fourth renewal of the West Virginia Derby and the second running of the Waterford Park Silver Plate Mile. The former is scheduled for July 27, and the latter on August 24.

Appreciation Day is set for

The Meadows, Western Pennsylvania's new harness track, settled back to a more normal routine this week following a record-breaking—in more ways than one—week end.

Pro Hanover, a son of Bill Galton, and Worth Seelin', a daughter of Worthy Boy, both cracked the world record of 1:59 4/5 when they hit the wire in almost a dead heat in the third leg of the Harness Tracks of America trot Saturday night.

The two were clocked in 1:59 3/5 over the Tartan surface. They were so close that it took an enlargement of the photo of the finish to show that Pro Hanover's nose hit the wire an inch, or less ahead of Worth Seelin'.

The previous world record for a four-year-old trotter, 1:59 4/5, was set by Merrie Duke, a gelding who was driven by John Patterson at Scioto Downs in 1961.

The world record for a four-year-old trotting colt was 2:00 1/5, set by Duke Rodney with Bill Houghton driving, and the record for a four-year-old filly was 2:01, set by Pigeon Hanover with Joe Marsh Jr., in the sulky—both last year at Sportsman's Park, Chicago.

So actually, Pro Hanover and Worth Seelin' smashed three world records.

The Arden Downs Stake No. 6 for three-year-old pacing fillies, worth $12,000, will be the week's big event, on Friday.

The crowd at The Meadows

Saturday night was 9,728, and the mutuel handle was $279,376, both records for the 14 nights of racing at the new plant.

The nine-race program gets under way at 8:20 nightly.

Portrait Sells for $1

The current face of the United States dollar bill, with its portrait of George Washington, was adopted in 1928.

August 23, when a Cadillac Coupe DeVille will be given away free to some lucky patron during the running of the ten-race card.

—OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day— Misplaced Scepticism

A few years ago when a horse named Velran won the first race ever run at Sunland Park, his owner, Walter M. Cluer, Phoenix, Arizona businessman and president of Turf Paradise, had neglected to bet on his horse. He wanted a $2 ticket to frame with the picture of the winners' circle ceremony so he hid himself to the $2 cashier's window and offered to buy an uncashed ticket from those waiting in line. Velran had paid $5.90 and Cluer offered to pay $10 for a ticket. His offer inspired only glares and some skeptical remarks, but he finally convinced one man and came away with his ticket. With a winning ticket in hand, the fan is suspicious of anyone trying to obtain the ticket even at double its face value. Before a race, however, many fans go to the opposite extreme and are gullible enough to make touting a major nuisance of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau which has sometimes had to throw the same tuff out the track every other day of a meeting. Touts range from the one with a rub-rag hanging from his hip pocket and a bucket on his arm, masquerading as a groom, to the smooth-talking, well-dressed "trainer". The amount they ask the "pigeon" to bet for them on a promised "sure thing" ranges from $2 to hundreds. Their victims are legion.

Survey Shows Failure of U. S. Eagle Nestings

With less than 1,000 pairs of bald eagles left in the United States, Pennsylvania Game Commission field officers are keeping a close check on America's national symbol. Only four nesting pairs apparently remain in Pennsylvania, all of them in the north-western section of the state.

Raymond M. Sickles, the Commission's Waterfowl Management Agent, reported today that three pairs of nesting eagles were observed this spring in the Pymatuning area of Crawford County. Two nests in the Pymatuning marsh failed to produce eggs. A third nest was located at the Conneaut marsh where the female did lay eggs, only to have the nest destroyed when a spring storm blew over the nest tree. This pair attempted to re-nest in an old nest nearby but failed to produce any more eggs. A fourth pair of bald eagles built a nest this spring on the shores of Lake Erie west of Presque Isle.

A recent aerial check by game protector Ralph Flaugh showed the nest contained no eggs nor young.

Faithful Collie Rescues Child

A faithful collie saved her three-year-old mistress from drowning in a well. Sharon Dawson slipped into a muddy four-foot well while playing near her home in Matsqui, in British Columbia's Fraser Valley.

Sharon's mother heard her daughter screaming. She looked from her kitchen and saw their six-month-old collie, Heather, holding Sharon's head and shoulders above the water.

Sharon didn't understand, and struggled to get free.

"Heath," she shouted, "let go!" But faithful Heather clung desperately until Mrs. Dawson got there to help drag Sharon from the water.

Two Tracks Give State $791,962

HARRISBURG—Taxes on two harness racing tracks have netted the State $791,962.98 to date, the Revenue Department has announced.

Philadelphia's Liberty Bell Park returned $724,063.26 in 26 days of racing. The Meadows, a Washington County track, has paid the State $67,889.72 in eight days of racing.

Highway Taxes Go For Diverse Projects

NEW YORK — Nearly 40 percent of the $25.8 billion collected in federal highway user taxes since mid-1956 has been spent for non-highway purposes, according to Oil Facts.

Waterford Park Bowling League Shows Activity

The Waterford Park Bowling League got under way at the new Terrace Lanes on Highway 30, east of Chester, Friday with eight teams scheduled to play in the tournament.

General manager Harry R. Bell stated that several trophies and prizes will be given the winning team and their players at the end of the session on Tuesday, August 20.

Teams comprising the league are Management, American Tote, Mutuels, Admissions, Trainers, Jockeys, Jocks' Agents and Jockeys' Wives.

Only six teams competed in the opening night's games that were played to establish handicaps and the results obviously show that the team to reckon with is the Trainers. The conditions won all three games from Admissions for a total of 2304 pins to 2079. Mutuels defeated Management two games to one, the totals giving Mutuels a two pin advantage for the three games, 1940 to 1938. American Tote took two out of three from the Jockeys' Agents for a total number of 1781 pins to 1771.

In the finals, all ties will be played off and a special series put on between the high-scorers of each team to determine the individual champion as well as the winning team.

Tournament play started Tuesday night and will continue each Tuesday night until August 20, for a total of six games for the season.

Streams Stocked With Elvers

More than 1,300,000 elvers have been distributed in waters of the Commonwealth by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

The young eels, which averaged four inches in length, were obtained through the cooperation of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission.

The migration of the elvers this year took place more than six weeks later than normal. This resulted in their attaining a larger-than-normal size by the time they reached the Conowingo Dam.

As a result, the elvers were in excellent condition on arrival at the various streams and an unusually high survival rate is expected, according to Albert M. Day, executive director of the commission.

The following streams were each stocked with 90,000 elvers:

- Chillisquaque Creek, Montour County; Mahoning Creek, Montour County; Penns Creek, Snyder County; Bald Eagle Creek, Centre County; Kettle Creek, Clinton County; Bald Eagle Creek, Clinton County—all tributaries to the West Branch of the Susquehanna River; Potato Creek, McKean County—tributaries to the Allegheny River; Allegheny River, McKean County—tributary to the Ohio River and Middle Creek Lake, Snyder County—tributary to Penns Creek.

Pennsylvania Given $400,000 For Wildlife

Pennsylvania's preliminary allotment of funds for Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration projects will be $411,814.61.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall has notified the Pennsylvania Game Commission that the allotment became available for expenditure on approved wildlife research and land management projects during the Federal fiscal year which started July 1.

The preliminary allotment is $27,746.55 more than the original allotment made for the 1962-63 fiscal year.

The Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration Fund is administered by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

It was started in 1938, following enactment of the Pittman-Robertson Act and is derived from a federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition. Distribution of the funds to the various states is based on the number of paid license holders and the land area of each state.

A total of $8,898,750 was made available to the states in the preliminary allotment this year.

Pennsylvania's allotment was fourth highest in the nation, exceeded by Texas, Alaska and California. A supplemental allotment is usually made to the states in October.

Dentists Puts Teeth In Dog

RICHMOND, Va.—Rocky, a hard-charging German Shepherd dog in the city police K-9 Corps, is sporting two chrome front teeth. And it's all because he likes rocks.

The shiny teeth glisten in the light of the street lamps, presenting a fearful appearance as he and his handler patrol their beat.

The 95-pound black and white animal, a five-year-old police dog, likes to play with rocks.

Eventually, rocks wore his teeth down to the stubs. The city veterinarian and a local dentist did with Rocky what happens to many humans—he got new teeth. Rocky's are actually caps atop the stubs.

Sergeant H. M. Schwartz, chief of the K-9 Corps, says the toothless Rocky was "like a policeman without a gun."

State Schedules Bird Season

HARRISBURG — The State Game Commission has set September 2 to November 9 as hunting seasons for doves, rails and gallinules.

Wilson's snipe season will be September 15 to October 30 and woodcock October 12 to November 30.

Three Greene County American Legion baseball players made the district 24 all-star roster as announced Friday by district commissioner Herman Welsh.

The district 24 team will meet the district 25 all-stars at 5:15 p. m. Thursday, at Point Marion.

Stanley Shimek and Bob Stephenson, both of the Jefferson squad, and Glenn Ellsworth of the Carmichaels team, were named to the district 24 all stars. Shimek will play third base and Stephenson and Ellsworth were named to the outfield.

Stan Ferek of Carmichaels was named to assist head coach Wayne Stewart of the League leading Point Marion squad. Sam Franks of Republic, completes the coaching staff.

Welsh stated that several major league scouts will attend the annual classic.

The opposing district 25 all star squad will be composed of players from Moose Club of California and Charleroi, Washington, Monongahela, California, and Monessen American Legion teams.

Racing Profitable In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—Horse racing did its biggest business in West Virginia last year from the standpoint of tax receipts, the State Racing Commission said.

Direct revenues from racing at the four tracks in the Mountain State totaled more than $5.5 million. This was nearly $80,000 more than the state collected in 1961.

Shenandoah Downs, a night track at Charles Town, led in revenues with $1.9 million in 115 racing programs. The daytime Charles Town course, the state's first track, produced $1.8 million from 95 days of racing.

Waterford Park, the state's only mile-long oval, accounted for $1.2 million from 92 days of racing and Wheeling Downs produced $489,850 from 63 programs of thoroughbred racing and $52,017 from 17 programs of harness racing.

Purses paid in 1962 were $3.9 million—$416,000 over the previous year.

Senator Scott Sees Big Field Of Candidates

WASHINGTON — Senator Hugh Scott, Republican, Pennsylvania, said Friday "no one is qualified at this point to say who is the strongest presidential candidate the Republicans can offer in 1964."

But he went on to intimate he doubts the ultimate triumph of either Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York, or Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

"The field of candidates is growing," he pointed out. "It now includes among others, Governor Romney of Michigan, Senator Goldwater, Governor Rockefeller, Senator Thurston Morton of Kentucky, Governor Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, General Lauris Norstad, and General Lucius Clay."

The Senator considers former President Eisenhower the real political head of the party, and regrets Eisenhower was not so "political" when he was President as he has since become.

"The candidate who does get the nomination," Senator Scott said, "will find it to be desirable, perhaps even necessary, to have Eisenhower's support."

Of Senator Goldwater, Scott said, "he has considerable support among Republicans around the country. But whether this type of support will represent a large vote at the convention will depend on the outcome of the primary elections. I would not expect to see any real crystallization of sentiment behind any candidate so far mentioned until after the New Hampshire primary next March and those following. I believe there will be a considerably different picture developing once such personalities as Romney and Morton and others appear as contestants along with Goldwater in the upcoming primaries."

Scott rather brushed off Rockefeller with, "as to Governor Rockefeller, we will await his further decisions."

Public opinion is now "in suspension" with regard to Rockefeller, Scott thinks. "He is still a most important entry. I believe a clearer picture of his standing with the voters will emerge around October."

And of Governor Scranton, Senator Scott said, "It is my opinion he prefers to limit his activities to a favorite son status so the Pennsylvania delegation may remain fluid until satisfied a candidate can be found who can convince the delegation he could win against Kennedy."

Scott said Scranton will head the delegation unless he becomes an active candidate, in which case Scott will be the delegation leader.

U. S. Gives India Radio Station

WASHINGTON —The U. S. Information Agency has announced an agreement to give India a $2 million radio station in return for five years of free broadcasts of Voice of America programs.

The radio station is to be based at Calcutta. Its million-watt transmitter will beam Voice of America broadcasts to Southeast Asia in the Burmese, Thai, Laotian and Malayan languages.

Consolidation and Standard Oil Company have worked together on the project 12 years but the department says if the companies continue alone it will be 10 years before the process can be developed for commercial use. With Federal aid, this can be cut to three years, the department added.

The department has 1.3 million available for the project and President Kennedy asked Congress earlier this year to approve an additional $2 million.

Plan Set up To Turn Coal Into Gasoline

WASHINGTON —The Interior Department may soon embark on what it terms an imaginative but practical project—the manufacture of gasoline from coal to help rejuvenate some of the nation's down-trodden coal mining areas.

A contract for a pilot gasoline plant has been negotiated by the department with Consolidated Coal Company. The contract is being reviewed by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and is still unsigned.

The Office of Coal Research is optimistic about the project although one spokesman said actual ground-breaking for the pilot plant is a year or more away.

It will cost the Government $10 million to find out whether the process and equipment for turning coal into gasoline will work on a large scale and to obtain information on the design and construction of a commercial coal-consuming gasoline plant.

An engineering firm hired by the department said gasoline could be manufactured from coal for 13.6 cents a gallon compared to the 13-cent-per-gallon refining price for gasoline during 1962 in the West Virginia Panhandle.

The department said this cost must be verified in the pilot plant operation which might produce added efficiencies and a still lower cost.

Pennsylvanians in Congress are still hopeful the pilot plant might be located at Library, Pa., but a department spokesman said Cresap, W. Va., is the likely site.

It will cost $8 million to test coal in the Pittsburgh No. 8 seam running from southwestern Pennsylvania through West Virginia and into Ohio. The additional $2 million will be used to test coal elsewhere in an attempt to apply the techniques nationwide.

Governor 'Greases' Patronage Machine

Governor William W. Scranton work rules recently after discovering 16 employees on a golf course who should have been ordered a crackdown on State working.

"The Governor was teed off," a Scranton aide said. "He hopes this will have a salutary effect and that his 'day's-work-for-a-day's-pay' order of March 28 will be obeyed."

Scranton did not comment on his crackdown but did acknowledge that he had told his cabinet and personnel directors that patronage wasn't "moving" rapidly enough.

"I talked to them about patronage and indicated it was not moving quickly enough," the Governor said. "The excuse I have heard most often is that it was the fault of the office of the process, developed in Germany, involves dissolving coal, filtering it and converting the liquid into an oil similar to natural petroleum which can be transformed by conventional methods into gasoline."

Consolidation and Standard Oil Company have worked together on the project 12 years but the department says if the companies continue alone it will be 10 years before the process can be developed for commercial use. With Federal aid, this can be cut to three years, the department added.

The department has 1.3 million available for the project and President Kennedy asked Congress earlier this year to approve an additional $2 million.

The proposed construction will begin in the Village of Morrisburg at the intersection with Traffic Route 188, extend in an easterly direction passing the Fairgrounds of the Greene County Airport on the south side, continue toward the east, and end on the eastern slope of Love's Hill.

All interested persons are advised that the construction of Legislative Route 112 Parallel, Traffic Route 21, in Franklin and Jefferson Townships, Greene County, is being planned by the Pennsylvania State Highway Department.

1,575 Miles Of Interstate Roads In State

HARRISBURG —Pennsylvania has 1,575 miles of new interstate highways, all but 32 miles of them now either designed or under construction at a cost of $464,323,000.

The remaining 32 miles, State Highways Secretary Henry D. Harral reported, is near Waynesburg and will go to the designers this year.

In the Interstate Highway System, authorized by Congress in 1956, the Federal Government pays 90 per cent of the cost and the state 10 per cent. In those seven years, 908 miles have been completed in Pennsylvania, including the 360 miles of the East-West Turnpike. An additional $50 million in contracts is expected to be let during the remainder of 1963.

In 1964, Harral said, contracts for 135 miles are planned, much of it on the Keystone Shortway, the Erie-West Virginia Freeway and the Anthracite Freeway.

The Interstate System requires at least four lanes of roadway with wide medial strips, frequent interchanges and protected access to the roadways. The cost in some areas is about one million dollars a mile, but in others, Philadelphia for one, the cost will be as high as 33 million a mile.

Wool Incentive Payment 30%

Shorn wool payments for the 1962 marketing year will amount to 30 percent of the dollar returns each producer received from the sale of shorn wool during the year, D. Richard Wenner, State Executive Director, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office, has reminded growers. The rate of payment was determined recently by the Department of Agriculture as the percentage necessary to bring the year's average wool price of 47.7 cents per pound up to the previously announced incentive level of 62 cents per pound under the national wool program.

Producers thus will receive an incentive payment of $30 for every $100 received from the sale of shorn wool during the marketing year ended March 31, 1963. This compares with a payment of $44.50 per $100 of marketings for the 1961 marketing year.

The payment rate on sales of unshorn live lambs to compensate for the wool on them will be 57 cents per hundredweight. This is based on the shorn wool payment and is designed to discourage unusual shearing of lambs before marketing. The payment must be made with 76 cents per hundredweight for the 1961 marketing year.

The State Executive Director said that payments on mohair will be made for the first time this year. In previous years, the average prices received by mohair producers were above the established support prices. The payment rate will be 3.6 percent of the dollar returns each producer received from the sale of mohair during the 1963 marketing year. This payment to producers—$3.60 for every $100 received from the sale of mohair—will bring the average mohair price of 71.4 cents per pound up to the previously announced support level of 74 cents per pound.

According to Mr. Wenner, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, County Offices will begin making payments very shortly. Applications for payment had to be filed not later than April 30, 1963. The payments will be made on shorn wool, unshorn lambs, and mohair marketed from April 1, 1962, through March 31, 1963.

Through April 1, 1963, payments under the National Wool Act for the 1961 marketing year totaled $1,460,954.00 in Pennsylvania.
