State Park Completion Hangs on Water Supply

Virginia County Wins Closed School Case

RICHMOND, Va.—The U. S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals today knocked down a Federal District Court order for the reopening of public schools in Prince Edward County, Va., closed since 1959 to avoid classroom race mixing.

In a 2-1 decision, the court said the trial court could not tell the rural county it had to operate the schools until the Virginia Supreme Court makes an interpretation of state constitutional questions.

The court vacated the reopening order of Judge Oren R. Lewis and told him to keep hands off the case until the Virginia court acts. The state court has set arguments for its October term and a decision is not likely before November. After that the federal trial court may take any further action that it considers necessary.

Thus Prince Edward's 1,500 Negro children of school age face the prospect of a fifth year without facilities for formal education. White children in the county have been attending elementary and high school classes provided by the private Prince Edward Education Foundation. A relatively few Negroes have sought schooling outside the county and recently there have been volunteer teaching programs.

The case of Prince Edward schools—one of the four in the original 1954 decision of the U. S. Supreme Court which struck down public school segregation—has been before the federal courts, in one form or another, for 13 years.

And this time the United States was involved as "a friend of the court" in seeking to get the county's schools reopened on the grounds that the Negro children were not being afforded equal protection under the law because they were denied public schooling while all other areas in Virginia offered such schooling.

Three To Attend School of Banking

A banker and two bank directors from Greene County have enrolled for the 1963 Pennsylvania School of Banking and the eighth annual Directors' Seminar at Bucknell University, Lewisburg. Both are conducted by the Pennsylvania Bankers Association. The School of Banking will run from August 18 to 23. The Directors' Seminar is on August 21-22.

More than 200 bank personnel will attend the week-long school and 100 directors will attend the two-day seminar.

The Greene County banker who will attend the school is Russell McKee, Rices Landing National Bank, Mt. Morris Office.

The bank directors attending the seminar from Greene County are: William H. Hartley and LeRoy Ross, Rices Landing National Bank.

The School of Banking will consist of 30 hours of lectures and case studies on the Uniform Commercial Code, auditing, operations, economic issues, public relations, financial statements, mortgage loans, and installment lending. The schedule also includes evening seminars with faculty members.

The special two-day seminar for bank directors will include sessions on business development, public relations, auditing, trusts and economic issues.

Japan's Exports Rise

TOKYO — Japan's export in July totaled $503,545,000, topping the half-billion-dollar mark for the first time in the history of this trading nation, the International Trade and Industry Ministry reports. The United States, Japan's chief customer, imported $149,290,000, a postwar high exceeding the previous record of $144,000,000 set last May.

Further construction of Rye-son Station State Park in Richhill Township has been held up due to lack of water to operate sanitary facilities.

Three deep wells were drilled last fall, but they failed to produce enough water. For this reason the time schedule which called for complete use of the park by 1963, has been broken.

Joseph Blatt, head of the Department of Forests and Waters, stated Friday, it might be possible to take bids late this year.

The park consists of 1,500 acres located between Wind Ridge and Bristoria. A concrete dam and spillway 515 feet long, were completed in 1960, at a cost of $500,000. The north fork of Wheeling Creek was closed in to form a 70-acre lake.

Henry Asel, a Department of Forests and Waters ranger, has been stationed at the park for the past few years.

Cost of the proposed construction had been estimated at $424,000, but this included $100,000 for sewers and a sewage treatment plant. It also includes money to build a bathing beach and bath houses for swimmers, boating facilities for craft without motors, parking space for 450 automobiles, picnic areas, a camp site to accommodate 50 campers, and roads through the park.

Money to finance the construction by the General State Authority would come from the sale of bonds.

Altman and Altman, Uniontown architects, have been instructed to prepare other plans and revise the cost schedule, since the State Department of Health has indicated it would be satisfied with open pit sanitary facilities.

This revised cost schedule may be considered by the General State Authority on September 11. If it is approved, final plans would yet have to be approved by the Department of Health.

An Editorial

Security versus Freedom

Within our nation today, there is a struggle being waged which will determine what sort of country the United States of America will be in the years ahead.

This is a struggle between those patriotic Americans who believe in the principles and concepts of freedom upon which this nation was founded and those who would usher in a paternalistic state, offering "security" for our citizens from the cradle to the grave.

The outcome of the efforts by the planners to bring about complete statism in our nation hinges upon a decision by the people as to what they want the function of their central government to be.

Should the central government seek to be all things to all people? Or should it return to the limited functions envisioned by the framers of our Constitution?

Recently the President sought to have money appropriated by Congress for construction of new medical schools. It is true we will need more doctors in future years, but is government incubation the way to provide them?

We have heard arguments advanced for expanded social security, socialized medicare, federal aid to education, subsidies for various segments of industry, and numerous housing and public works projects.

Are these the proper functions of the central government?

It seems that every responsibility shirked at the local or state level is hurriedly grabbed at the national level and used by the planners to enlarge government power in Washington.

Abraham Lincoln defined the role of the federal government when he said, "The function of government is to do for the individual all those things which he cannot do at all or which he cannot do so well for himself; but in all those things where the community or the individual can take care of his own affairs, the federal government ought not to interfere." Although this wise constitutional concept is being ignored in our time, it is still valid.

It was the belief of the Founders of our Republic that government should provide the framework within which an individual might exercise freedom. This premise survives today through every citizen's right and responsibility to express his opinions by voting in local, state and national elections. This is the way an individual citizen has a part in directing the affairs of his nation.

Under our Constitution, we have developed the personal enterprise system whereby the individual is limited only by his own ability.

Most of us realize that we are not destined to become millionaires. But it is important that we have the right to try for any success we can honorably attain. No other system guarantees the right even to make such an effort.

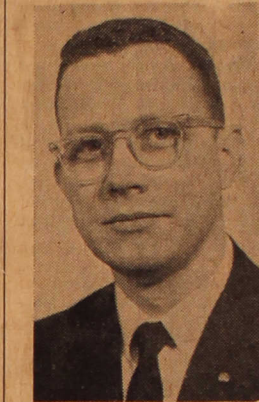

It was also the belief of those who wrote the Constitution that central government should be a framework allowing the states, local governments and individual citizens to exercise their rights and powers with minimum control from the federal government.

Their theory, not yet disproved, was that most functions of government can be best accomplished by authority at local levels.

Freedoms vouchsafed us by our Constitution include freedom of the press, freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, and freedom of religion. We must be constantly alert to prevent persons in authority from infringing on these rights in the name of "security." (Turn to Page 4)

State Police Get 5-Day Week

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania State Police will go on a five-day work week schedule, except in cases of emergency, starting Oct. 1, Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy said Thursday.

Troop commanders have been directed to review their manpower needs and allotments to determine what duties can be merged or abolished without affecting services.

Cool fair weather brought a good crowd to the Greene County Fair Wednesday.

On Thursday, designated as "Kids' Day", four running races are scheduled including a pony race.

The grandstand show will include variety horse acts and trick riding.

At four o'clock the livestock parade will take place and at six o'clock there will be light weight horse pulling contests. The variety horse acts will be seen again at eight o'clock.

Sheep judging will take place Thursday morning.

Friday morning there will be 4-H and F. F. A. judging contests.

Four running races are again scheduled including a pony race. Little Jimmie Dickens' Western Show with Red Sovine, the Duke of Puddich and many others will be the grandstand attraction at 2:30 and again at 8:30 o'clock.

At six o'clock the heavy weight horse pulling contests will get under way.

On Saturday 15 first aid teams from mines in four counties will compete in the annual Southwestern Pennsylvania Safety Association first aid contest.

Also for the first time at the fair 15 Boy Scout teams from Greene County will hold a contest.

This is the 11th year the Mine Safety first aid contest has been held at the fair.

At 11 o'clock Saturday morning there will be a tractor driving contest for 4-H and F. F. A. members, age 14-21.

In the evening Stoney Roberts' Auto and Motorcycle Thrill Show will perform.

The fair will close with a giant display of fireworks at 11:20 o'clock.

The exhibit halls are well filled and displays are of the finest.

Attracting much attention are the colorful Greene County Grange exhibits.

Judging of the grange exhibits was very close.

In the "Large Grange" competition, the top award of $75 and a blue ribbon went to Carmichaels Grange 1389. The heart of the exhibit is a series of oil paintings by Clyde Muller of Carmichaels, R. D. 1, a school teacher and veteran Granger. They depict the farm as "The Keystone" of the community — the hub around which are centered recreational facilities, schools, timbering, churches and the Grange.

Within one point of the Carmichaels exhibit in judging was the display of East Franklin Grange 1709, which took second place and $55. Theme of the booth, featuring the Grange emblem, was "The Service Keys—Faith, Charity, Hope and Fidelity."

Harvey's Grange at Graysville took third place and $35, with its exhibit showing the balanced program offered by the Grange.

In "Small Grange" competition—where identical awards of $75, $55 and $35 were given, first place went to Dunkard Township Grange 2045. The exhibit, featuring a child walking through an open door, has as its theme, "The Grange Opens the Door of Opportunity for Service."

Hoovers Run Grange 482, at Kuhnstown, placed second with an exhibit showing the part of the Grange plays in the community life, spiritual life and home life of its members.

"Beautiful, Beautiful Greene County," a display telling of the many natural assets of the county, took third place for the Aleppo Township Grange.

In juvenile Grange competition first place and $20 was won by the Dunkard Township Juvenile Grange. Its exhibit was designed to show that members "Keep on the Right Track" by boarding the "Juvenile Grange Express."

Second place and $15 was won by the East Franklin Grange whose exhibit showed the way in which the Grange program develops the abilities and leaders of the community.

Feeder Calf Sale To Be Moved To West Waynesburg

The Southwestern Penn. Association will hold its 23rd annual feeder calf sale Wednesday, October 2, at Pennsylvania Livestock Auction Yard in West Waynesburg. The sale will begin at one o'clock.

In prior years it had been held at the Greene County Fairground.

Consignments are now being accepted by Mrs. Flora Haight Burge, 214 County Office Building, Waynesburg, and no calves may be consigned after Saturday, September 7.

Calves to be sold must have been born after January 1, 1963, and must weigh from 325 to 700 pounds. Animals will be graded fancy, choice, good, or medium and will be sold in uniform lots by the pound. Animals grading poor will be rejected.

Association directors decided upon the change of sale location because the feeder calf sale, always the largest in the state, has outgrown the fairground facilities.

The location has been cleared by both state and federal veterinarians.

College Loan Bill Signed By Scranton

HARRISBURG—Governor William W. Scranton has signed legislation to create a State revolving loan fund for deserving college students.

The measure carries a $425,000 appropriation, but final approval is up to the voters in a November referendum, because the proposal is in the form of a State Constitutional amendment.

Loans would be limited to $1,000 for each academic year up to a total of $5,000 over the college career of any single student.

The bill would establish the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency to administer the loan fund.

Loans would become payable six months after graduation, with repayment periods ranging up to five years.

Church To Welcome Its New Pastor

The congregation of the First Christian Church of Waynesburg will welcome their new pastor, Rev. John K. Jones, and family at a reception Thursday evening in the church.

A covered dish dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock by the Loyal Partners Class. Meat, rolls and beverage will be furnished by the church.

The Men's Bible Class, Friendship Class and Progressive Class will also assist.

Waynesburg Artist Exhibits Paintings

An exhibit of oil paintings by Mrs. Martha M. Patterson of Waynesburg, is displayed in a window of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Mrs. Patterson is affiliated with the local chapter of the Pennsylvania Guild of Artists and Craftsmen, which is sponsoring a series of the exhibits.

Mrs. Patterson established the Art Department at Waynesburg College and later was a public school art supervisor. She has studied at Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas; the Art Institute of Chicago; the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, and the Pittsburgh Art Institute. She has also studied with a number of outstanding artists.

Doctors Free of Accident Liability

HARRISBURG—Governor William W. Scranton Thursday signed into law a measure exempting doctors from civil liability when they render emergency care in accident cases.

The legislation, known as the "good samaritan" bill, becomes effective 60 days from Thursday.

Scranton also signed these measures into law:

• Authorization of first class townships to establish traffic court. Township commissioners designate a justice of the peace to serve as the officer of the court for a period not to exceed one month.

• Prohibition of operating radios on school buses except those used for intercommunication or civil defense purposes.

Bible Reading Will Continue In County Schools

Daily Bible reading at the opening of classes in public schools will probably be continued despite the Supreme Court ruling on religious exercises. This will not be compulsory, however.

Indications are that in most cases, daily classes will still open with a reading of 10 verses from the Bible and recitation of the Lord's Prayer — without comment.

Dr. Charles H. Boehm, state superintendent of schools, who has recommended a period of silent meditation for opening exercises, followed by a planned presentation of music, art and literature.

Greene County Superintendent of Schools William H. Hartley has taken no stand on the issue.

He pointed out that the only information he has received to date has been of an interpretive nature, and that he has not had an opportunity to study the court decision.

Zip Code for Santa First New Stamp To Honor Yule

WASHINGTON — Postmaster General J. Edward Day unveiled this year's Christmas stamp Friday and revealed that even Santa Claus has a ZIP code number.

It was one of the last official acts of the 48-year-old postmaster general who stepped down to return to the private practice of law.

The new five-cent stamp is a three-color reproduction of a painting of the lighted national Christmas tree behind the White House.

In answer to a letter from Maureen Harris and Mike Blake of Grass Valley, Cal., Day disclosed Santa's ZIP code: 9701. ZIP stands for the department's new Zone Improvement Plan, aimed at more efficient distribution of mail throughout the country.

Also unveiled was the 1963 Christmas Seal of the National Tuberculosis Association, featuring a snowman and snow house.

Get That Supply of Ample Hot Water

Is the water in your home hot enough? Do you have all the hot water you need—when you need it?

Goodness only knows, hot water is the one thing we need plenty of in the home. Most of the time we don't even realize how often we use it—for dishes, laundry, baths, housecleaning. In fact, experts figure there are at least 150 different uses for hot water in the average home.

If you want to be sure of keeping your family in hot water, the answer is a 40-gallon quick recovery electric water heater. You'll always have plenty of hot water and nothing to worry about. And because it's electric, it's flameless. Therefore, no flue or vent is needed. All of the heat stays inside the tank and no heat escapes up a flue. It's the most dependable method of heating water today.

The 40-gallon quick recovery electric water heater is also insulated completely. The tank is hot on the inside, but cool on the outside. That's one reason homemakers with young children prefer electric water heating. They never worry about little fingers getting burned.

Once the 40-gallon quick recovery electric water heater is installed, it can be forgotten. There's no dirt, no fuss—just years and years of long life ahead. At the turn of the faucet, you always get sparkling-clear hot water.

Heating water electrically is completely automatic. There's nothing to set—nothing to watch. Automatic thermostats control water temperature so that you have a constant supply of hot water—always the same. No other type of heater is so dependable and so completely automatic.

So, why worry? Join the thousands of families who are living better electrically with a 40-gallon quick recovery electric water heater.

SECURITY AND FREEDOM

Freedom and self-reliance led this country to greatness. But what would happen if a welfare state would become a reality? What would be the result if the planners were to win?

They claim their state would provide every citizen with security throughout life. They state they could insure jobs, offer medical care, education, and other services.

But they neglect to point out that each new "service" includes more government forms to be prepared, more rules, tighter regulations—and higher taxes.

Public apathy provides the environment in which misguided planners and power seekers can chip away at our personal freedoms. Your voice and your vote must join a mighty chorus with others who cherish freedom if it is to endure.

TEST BAN TREATY

In initiating the recent test ban agreement, the United States may have been guilty of another classic misunderstanding of the Soviet mind.

We say may intentionally. It is to be hoped that this was not another mistake of the grand design exhibited at Cairo, Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam. Each of those high-level conferences caused an adverse effect of astounding proportions on the security of the United States.

The handling of this new agreement by the United States appears to have been based on the conjecture that Soviet Russia is "mellowing." After all, the de-Stalinization of the mother Communist nation has brought greater "freedom" to that country.

During Stalin's days, the Georgian peasant dictator said quite assuredly:

"Words have no relation to actions—otherwise what kind of diplomacy is it? Words are one thing, actions another. Good words are a mask for concealment of bad deeds...."

It is difficult to believe that Soviet ideology has drifted from this basic communistic by-law. Premier Khrushchev has since pointed out that "if anybody thinks we shall forget about Marx, Engels and Lenin, he is mistaken."

Considering Soviet Russia's inability to keep its word as far back as 1917, should we place much hope in a treaty banning nuclear testing in the atmosphere, outer space or underwater?

The architects of the test ban were admittedly cautious. Averell Harriman, the chief negotiator for the United States, said he saw no reason to believe that Khrushchev's cynical aims had been diverted, or that communism had become more peace-loving. He pointed out, however, that the United States and Soviet Russia have one thing in common—a sincere desire to avoid nuclear war.

Others said that formulation of the treaty was a step toward insuring man's physical existence on earth, while faced with the awesome prospect of nuclear destruction. It was called a memorable step in the history of mankind.

As Americans waited for Senate action on the treaty, many were, and still are, reminded of approximately 53 agreements made by Soviet leaders. At least 50 have been broken with cynical disregard for all except the attainment of Soviet goals.

Dr. Edward Teller, "Father of the H-bomb," pointed out that "Soviet Russia is ahead in missile defense, while ours is 'unsatisfactory.'" This eminent scientist concluded that a test ban would deter if not preclude improvement of "clean, cheap" nuclear explosives needed for battlefield and missile defense. The counterclaim was that new weapons might preclude the need for an anti-missile system.

In short, the danger was in giving Soviet Russia another period of relaxation in which to gain military advantage and to revitalize its already announced eternal struggle with "decadent capitalism."

Does Soviet Russia need a period of relaxed tensions? American policy-makers answered with a resounding yes.

Neither did Soviet planners have the interests of the United States in mind when in 1961 they broke a three-and-a-half-year test moratorium because United States "statesmen...are resorting to threats to take to arms and unleash war as a countermeasure to the conclusion of a peace treaty with East Germany." This seems as if the Russians were employing any excuse available in order to test their weapons and gain nuclear advantage.

Here is some of the evidence to be considered in evaluating the virtues of Russian treaties:

Starting over 43 years ago the Soviet regime pledged no interference in Georgia's internal affairs; however one year later Soviet troops absorbed Georgia into the U. S. S. R. Republic.

In 1928 the Soviet Union signed the Kellogg-Briand pact for renunciation of war. In 1939, Poland, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, Rumania and Finland were invaded.

On September 15, 1934, U. S. S. R. enters League of Nations, pledging thereby "the maintenance of justice and a scrupulous respect for all treaty obligations in the dealings of organized peoples with one another."

On August 23, 1939, U. S. S. R., makes treaty with Nazi Germany, termed "a joint conspiracy" to deprive Poland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Finland and Rumania of their independence and territorial integrity.

On September 24, 1941: Soviet Union pledges adherence to Atlantic Charter, which provides that agreeing countries seek no aggrandizement, that the countries desire no territorial changes not made in accord with freely expressed wishes of the people concerned, and that they respect the right of all peoples to choose their own form of government. Against these promises stands the Soviet Union's record of occupation and domination of Rumania, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Czechoslovakia, Tannu Tuva, Afghanistan territory, Hungary, East Germany, Albania, Bulgaria, Poland, North Korea and Mongolia.

January 29, 1942—Soviet Union, with Iran and Britain, signs treaty of alliance, providing for military use of Iranian territory only until end of military operations against Germany, but the Soviet Union refused to withdraw its troops from Iran at the end of World War II.

February 4-11, 1945—At Yalta Conference, U. S. S. R. agrees on various postwar measures, including adoption of a resolution that the liberated peoples of Europe should have the opportunity to solve their economic problems by democratic means. In violation of this agreement stands the Soviet record of domination in Bulgaria, Rumania, Poland, East Germany, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, and other countries which were forced into postwar roles as satellites of the Soviets.

June 14-18, 1945—President Truman and Premier Stalin agree, in an exchange of letters, to "free access by air, road, and rail, from Frankfurt and Bremen, to Berlin for United States forces."

On January 19, 1947, Soviet Union denounces this agreement. On April 1, 1948-May 19, 1949, the Soviet Union imposes the Berlin blockade by severing all land and water routes between Berlin and West Germany. Western Allies supply Berlin by airlift. March, 1962, Soviet Union harasses flights by Allied airplanes between Berlin and West Germany.

July 17-August 2, 1945—At Potsdam Conference, U. S. S. R. agrees that there should be uniform treatment of the German people throughout Germany. However, today East Germany continues to be a rigidly controlled Soviet satellite. Its people have been denied free elections, isolated from the people of West Germany, and victimized by the same kind of regimentation, police rule, and economic restrictions imposed on the peoples of all the Soviet-bloc states in Europe.

May 4 and June 20, 1949—Four-Power Agreements of New York and Paris guarantee United States, British, French and Soviet Union joint control of Berlin, all access routes to and from the city, and freedom of movement within the city.

September 20, 1955, U. S. S. R. unilaterally transfers Soviet control over all access routes to and from Berlin to East German regime, and on August 13, 1961, construction of Berlin wall completely prohibits free passage from the Soviet sector to the Western sector.

October 19, 1956—U. S. S. R.-Japanese Joint Declaration pledges the Soviet Union to refrain from interference in Japan's internal affairs. In 1958, during the weeks preceding Japanese elections of May 22, Soviet radio beams propaganda at Japan violently opposing the re-election of Premier Kishi's government, and in 1959-1960, U. S. S. R. threatens Japan with the possibility of nuclear war if Japan ratifies United States-Japan Security Treaty, signed January 1, 1960.

And we are seriously considering placing the entire world in the hands of the Soviet Union, as a pawn to the ever-doubtful Communists.

Georgian Says Kennedy Trails Goldwater

WASHINGTON — Senator Richard B. Russell (Democrat) of Georgia says the political stock of Senator Barry Goldwater "is selling far above any Republican par that's ever been known in Georgia."

If Mr. Goldwater, a G. O. P. Senator from Arizona, were to meet President Kennedy in a presidential election today, Mr. Russell added, "Goldwater would probably carry Georgia."

Senator Russell also said in a radio-television interview on "Meet the Press" Sunday, that "it would be very difficult for me to actively support" Mr. Kennedy in next year's presidential election campaign.

"I'm a Democrat," Mr. Russell said, "but I have no intention of getting out and knocking myself out to support the Kennedy administration next year."

Senator Russell vehemently opposes the administration's civil rights program and had voted against the President on a substantial amount of other domestic legislation.

Looking ahead, Senator Russell said, "I think it's inevitable that there will be a realignment" of American political parties along conservative and liberal lines.

"I think events are hastening the day," he said, "and I don't know that it would be so bad for the country to clear the air."

Methodists To Hold Lord's Acre Bazaar August 30-31

Greene County Ministries of the Methodist Church will sponsor a large "Lord's Acre Bazaar" at the Greene County Fairgrounds near Waynesburg, August 30-31.

The sale will be the culmination of a "Lord's Acre Program" in which members from 56 Methodist churches in Greene County undertook projects as a special offering, over and above their regular giving to the church.

Floyd Dillie, Lord's Acre chairman of the West Greene Group Ministry, and Robert Kerns, chairman of the East Greene Group Ministry, will be co-directors of the two-day sale. Mr. Dillie is a member of Swart Methodist Church, and Mr. Kerns of Claughton Methodist Chapel.

The sale will include home canned vegetables, jams and jellies; baked goods, including cakes, pies and bread; produce such as corn, potatoes, lima beans and tomatoes.

In addition, there will be needlework, quilts, dollies, rugs and aprons; and handicraft, including ceramics, paintings and plaques. Sale hours will be noon to 9 p. m. on the 30th, and 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. on the 31st. After 3 p. m., all remaining canned goods, produce and baked goods will be sold at auction to the highest bidder.

The Rev. George O. Elgin of Carmichaels, director of the Greene County Group Ministries, called the program "an adventure in stewardship rather than a mere fund-raising device." By giving every member an opportunity to exercise his talents for the church, it involves young and old in a working Christian stewardship," he said.

Mr. Elgin stated that the program had stimulated cooperation and fellowship in Christian work, and had enabled churches to make capital improvements, purchase audio-visual equipment, and increase benevolent giving. "Every church that has actively participated in the Lord's Acre Program has been noticeably strengthened thereby," he concluded.

They Won't Admit They Can't Read

WASHINGTON — The biggest hurdle in combating illiteracy is the unwillingness of the illiterates to admit they cannot read, according to officers of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which has launched a campaign to end illiteracy in 15 states.

To invite illiterates to classes, first they must be identified.

But illiterates are often unwilling to admit their lack of knowledge, sometimes with great shrewdness.

One woman reported having an excellent maid who had worked for her for years. She had never known until recently that she could not read or write, so cleverly had she managed to get around this fact.

Chef Satisfies His Customers

PORTLAND, Ore.—Pat Grimes is a baker, cook and salad man, whose specialties are bear bread and monkey treat.

In his job of preparing food for the animals at the Portland zoo he turns out 1,000 pounds of bear bread a week using his own recipe of raisins, flour, bran, corn meal, skim milk and white flour. The monkey treat is similar but is made sweeter with glucose.

"I like cooking for animals," Grimes declares. "They are easily satisfied and don't talk back."

Valley Methodist Chapel Observes 100th Anniversary

Valley Methodist Chapel near Holbrook, will observe its 100th anniversary Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, with special services.

The regular morning services will be held at 10 and 11:15 o'clock. A covered dish dinner will be served at 12:30.

The church was first known as Johnson's Meeting House and was built in 1863 on land given by Jacob Weaver. After relocation of the highway, a portion of the ground near the church was deeded to the congregation by A. J. Frye. The meeting house was built of logs and was located directly behind the present building.

William R. Grimes, who died in 1929, helped to build the log church when he was a lad of 16.

In 1871, the church was changed in name to the Pleasant Valley Chapel and later to Valley Chapel, the name that has been carried since.

In 1881, the log building was torn down except for the floor which is now used in the present church.

Members of the building committee were N. H. Johnson, William Milliken, David Weaver, Hiram Weaver, John Grove and Barnet Wiley.

G. W. Grimes, brother of William who worked on the log structure, helped to build the present church.

Henry Scott, father of Mrs. A. J. Frye, was also instrumental in assisting in the building of both churches.

When known as the Johnson Meeting House, the first pastor was Rev. C. W. Stillwagon and upon completion of the present "house of worship" Rev. H. W. Gladden was pastor.

Following him to the pulpit was his son, T. M. Gladden and later his grandson, J. W. Gladden.

Some of the more recent ministers have been Rev. Harold I. Zook of Weirton, W. Va.; Rev. C. F. Miller of Bismark, N. D.; Rev. K. G. Coggon of Larimore, N. D.; Rev. E. N. Rumbaugh of Clarks Mills; Rev. W. P. Blackhurst of Charleroi; Rev. R. A. McClintock, who left recently for Tarrs, and the present pastor, Rev. Robert S. Foltz.

The church has a membership of 75. A number of improvements to the building have been made during the past five years.

Pennsylvania - Kentucky Rifle Shoot To Be Held At Reading September 28

FRANKFORT — A squabble between Pennsylvania and Kentucky will be settled in typical Kentucky style this fall when riflemen from the two states shoot it out to determine which one should rightfully claim the frontier long rifle.

The flintlock rifle, Pennsylvanians say, was first made by gunsmiths in that state. Kentuckians reply that the old muzzle-loaders were so powerful they had to be exported to be fired by Kentucky marksmen.

To complicate claims on the famous weapon, Pennsylvanians pointed out recently that Daniel Boone, whose name is closely linked with it, was born in the Quaker state.

Kentuckians retort that it is to Boone's credit that he had the good sense to leave and come to Kentucky.

Idea for the rifle match originated with Pennsylvania Governor William Scranton, a Republican, who dispatched a party of eight Pennsylvanians on horseback to deliver the challenge to Kentucky Governor Bert Combs. The "invaders" reached Frankfort, the state capitol, in 20 days, roughly following the old Wilderness Road opened up by Boone.

At the Capitol Building, Combs, a Democrat, accepted Scranton's challenge and guaranteed the roving Pennsylvanians safe passage, adding the proviso that they must not engage in Republican politics within Kentucky borders. Combs also remarked that "some of that Pennsylvania rye whiskey might make a good rub-down for your sore muscles."

Combs, who pointed out that the Kentucky Constitution forbids him and other state officers to hold office in duels with deadly weapons, hinted that in the hands of Pennsylvanians the Kentucky long rifle would be something less than deadly.

The Governor will accompany the 10-man Kentucky team to the Daniel Boone homestead near Reading, Pa., for the first match September 28. Each member of the Kentucky marksmen will arrive with powder horn and balls, and Kentucky-made long rifle.

Kentucky will host the return shoot sometime in October.

Colonel George Chinn, a noted firearms expert from Harrodsburg, Ky.—a town which grew up in Daniel Boone's day—has thrown himself into the fray, too. Chinn met the Pennsylvania riders as they entered Kentucky at Cumberland Gap, and promptly described them as "the claimiest bunch of people I ever met . . . they even told me a Kentucky cardinal is a Pennsylvania sparrow suffering from high blood pressure."

Later in Frankfort, Colonel Chinn showed the Pennsylvanians the grave of Boone, on a bluff overlooking the Kentucky capitol.

The retired Marine Corps officer has written several volumes on firearms and he is the last man to have fired the Daniel Boone rifle. The ancient muzzle-loader, standing almost five feet tall and inscribed "D. Boon," takes a place of honor at the Kentucky Historical Society in Frankfort where Chinn is director.

A replica of the rifle, presented by Kentucky, will ride aboard the new Polaris atomic submarine, Daniel Boone, when it is commissioned by the U. S. Navy late this year.

In front of the old state capitol, which now houses the Historical Society, Chinn pointed out the spot where Governor William Goebel, a Pennsylvanian by birth, distinguished himself by becoming the only Kentucky governor to be assassinated. Chinn's grandfather witnessed the shooting in 1900.

The long rifle dispute has triggered recollections of other long-forgotten ties between the two states. Historians claim that Lancaster, Ky., is the namesake of Lancaster, Pa., while Covington, Ky., pre-dates Covington, Pa., so named by Pennsylvanians who had visited the Northern Kentucky town.

Pennsylvania-born troubadour Stephen Collins Foster penned the song "My Old Kentucky Home" after a visit to the Federal Hill estate at Bardstown. The estate has been preserved as My Old Kentucky Home State Park and a musical drama, "The Stephen Foster Story," is presented there each summer.

Pennsylvanians maintain a shrine in Foster's honor, too, located at his burial place in Pittsburgh.

Commission's Division of Law Enforcement, reminded sportsmen that dogs may be trained on any wild game found in Pennsylvania except elk, deer, bears and wild turkeys but they must be accompanied and kept under control by the owner or handler. He said under control means within call, except when the dog is actually on the trail or track of legal game. Bell also reminded dog trainers that no injury can be inflicted on game birds or animals and it is unlawful to carry a shotgun or rifle while training dogs. Dogs being trained on protected game birds and animals can be worked from sunrise to 9 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

It's Time for Hunters To Train Gun Dogs

Summertime "dog days" may not be entirely a thing of the past but Pennsylvania sportsmen who own hunting dogs are hoping for a cool August.

Pennsylvania Game Commission spokesmen said thousands of dog owners are already afield especially in early morning and late afternoon and evening working their canine companions in preparation for the 1963 hunting seasons. Dog trainers need cool weather with enough dampness on the ground to give ideal scenting conditions.

Deafness is the number one physical impairment.

An estimated six million persons in the United States have some degree of hearing loss.

One out of five cases of deafness is due to otosclerosis, the formation of spongy bone in the capsule of the labyrinth of the ear.

When this spongy bone immobilizes the stapes or stirrup and limits its motion, a loss of hearing results.

Fifty years ago, otologists devised surgical techniques for bypassing the fixed stapes with a window made in the horizontal semicircular canal for the conduction of sound to the inner ear.

This operation was known as fenestration from the Latin fenestratus, furnished with windows.

More than one stage was required to complete the operation, and the fenestra or opening had a tendency to close.

Just ten years ago, an operation which had been earlier abandoned when the fenestration technic became popular, was revived and has since achieved wide success.

Known as the stapes mobilization, the procedure is involved with mobilizing or removing the fixed stapes.

The advantage of the stapes operation is that it requires only one or two days of hospitalization, little post-operative care, and the patient can return to regular daily activities when he leaves the hospital.

Patients as old as 75 years have successfully undergone the stapes mobilization operation for deafness.

There is no age limit and the experience is rendered painless by local anesthesia.

Three Big Days Ahead For Waterford Park

Three important days are on tap for patrons at Waterford Park during the remainder of the current meeting that ends on Labor Day, September 2.

On Saturday, August 17, the Waterford Park Silver Plate Mile will have its second running and features some of the finest thoroughbreds in the area vying for the $3,500 added purse.

The stakes affair is for three-year-olds and upward, going one mile under handicap conditions and is expected to attract a classy field that is certain to make an assault on the track record of 1:36 3/5, held by Solid Jive since June 7, 1958.

Appreciation Day is scheduled for Friday, August 22, at which time a new Cadillac Coupe DeVille will be given away to some lucky person in attendance that day. The grandstand gates will be thrown open to the public with no admission charge and plenty of free coupons will be available to everyone to fill out and drop into containers for the Cadillac drawing.

The car will be completely guaranteed and serviced by Mike Turk, Inc., of East Liverpool, Ohio.

Labor Day, September 2, closing program for the summer meeting, 12 races are on tap, featuring the Au Revoir Handicap as well as two Allowance affairs as co-features. Post time for the extended program will be two p. m. with the 12 races run right through the afternoon in order to allow patrons to get away from Waterford Park at approximately 6:35 p. m.

Post time remains at 3:45 on week days and 2:00 p. m. on Saturdays and Holidays for the remainder of the current meeting.

Now On Sale by County Treasurer Hunting Licenses for 1963 Season

Pennsylvania sportsmen may soon purchase their 1963 hunting and trapping licenses from any of the 2,100 issuing agents across the state. But for the first time since 1949, they will have to pay higher fees.

R. S. Lichtenberger, Chief of the Pennsylvania Game Commission's Division of Administration, has announced the new licenses are being rushed from the printer to county treasurers, sporting goods stores and other issuing agents. He said shipments will be completed before September 1. The new licenses become effective September 1, and are valid until August 31, 1964.

Under amendments to the Pennsylvania Game Law enacted by the recent session of the state legislature and signed into law by the Governor on August 7, the fee for the 1963 resident hunting license will be $5.20, an increase of $2.05 over last year. The only exception is that resident youngsters between the ages of 12 and 16 years, inclusive, will pay a $3.20 fee. Game Commission spokesmen emphasized that youngsters making application for the $3.20 license must write their date of birth on the application blank in addition to giving other required information. They said that even though every application must show the hunter's age in a blank provided for this purpose, the 12-16 year old applicants must also write in their date of birth. Non-residents of Pennsylvania will pay a fee of $25.35 for the privilege of hunting in the Keystone State this year, an increase of $5.35 over last year.

Game Commission spokesmen pointed out that the resident or non-resident license permits the owner to hunt any wild bird or animal which is unprotected or upon which there is an open hunting season. The only additional licenses issued for Pennsylvania hunting are the antlerless deer license and the archery license. Fees on these two licenses have not been increased, remaining at $1.15 for the antlerless deer license and $2.15 for the archery license. Non-residents hunting on regulated shooting grounds can also purchase a 3-day license for a fee of $3.15.

Scranton Plans Fight For Change In Constitution

HARRISBURG—Governor William W. Scranton mapped plans Monday to wage an all-out fight for approval at the November 5 election of a statewide referendum authorizing a constitutional convention next year to completely overhaul Pennsylvania's 89-year-old basic law.

At the same time, Scranton planned to clear his desk this week of bills passed by the Legislature and submitted to him for approval or veto.

So far, Scranton has approved 386 bills—342 general and 44 appropriation—and still has 227 before him for action.

If the Governor acts on the balance of the legislative measures by the end of this week he plans to take off for a 10-day or two-week vacation.

Part of his vacation will be spent at Marworth, his home in Dalton, Lackawanna county.

The convention referendum proposal to be on the ballot will have no connection with the three amendment proposals.

Slated to be named co-chairmen of the Statewide committee to wage an active campaign for the convention referendum are Lieutenant Governor Raymond P. Shafer, a Republican, and Secretary of Internal Affairs Genevieve Blatt, a Democrat.

Although the size and personnel of the committee has not yet been decided upon, it may include 100 of the State's leading citizens.

The three constitutional amendments on the fall ballot, which have cleared two sessions of the Legislature, provide for:

A $70 million bond issue to carry out "project 70", a comprehensive program to expand the State program, was initiated during the last year of the administration of former Democratic Governor David L. Lawrence.

A State scholarship loan and grant plan for college students residing in the Commonwealth.

A governmental continuity plan for the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the State and its political subdivisions and temporary seats of government in the event of an attack.

Meanwhile Scranton prepared a televised report to Pennsylvanians, beginning next week, on the Administration's accomplishments during the 1963 session of the Legislature.

The Governor plans to tape his "report to the people" on Tuesday and then distribute it to TV stations in the State for use next week.

Cleveland Child Last Born In White House

Mrs. Esther Cleveland Bosanquet of Redcar, England, is the last child to have been born within the walls of the White House.

Mrs. Bosanquet was born in the White House on September 9, 1893, during her father's second term. She came to Britain during the First World War and met an army officer, William Bosanquet, who became her husband.

Now she and her husband, a retired steel executive, live a quiet country life at their home, the Old Hall Kirkdeatham, in Yorkshire's north riding district.

Mrs. Bosanquet said her father and mother were quite worried when they learned she would be born in the White House, but she spent 3 1/2 happy years there.

She remembers the big staircase in the White House and how she once put her fingers into the President's ink well and smudged his blotter.

"My father took me on his knee and laughed," she recalled.

Mrs. Bosanquet remembers leaving the White House in 1897 after her father's defeat. Their horse-drawn carriage heading toward Princeton, N. J., rumbled over "terrible ruts" as they traveled into retirement, she said.

The terms of sale shall be as announced at the sale of any property shall be made unless a bid equal to the final upset price is received. The final upset price is hereinafter set out after the description of each property and includes all taxes and interest as recorded in the Tax Claim Bureau with the delinquent taxes and interest prorated. The final upset price will be announced at the time of sale.

The purchaser of any property shall, as soon as the property is struck down, pay the entire purchase money to the bureau. In case said amount is not paid, the sale shall be void and the property put up again for sale.

Any taxing districts having municipal claims against any property herein advertised, shall certify the amount thereof to the Tax Claim Bureau before the date of sale to include the same in the final upset price.

The sale of any property herein advertised may, at the option of the Tax Claim Bureau, be sold to the owner thereof, or any lien holder of the owner, before the date of sale, enters into an agreement with the Tax Claim Bureau to pay the taxes in installments, in the manner provided by the Act of assembly, and the agreement entered into.

The Real Estate Tax Sale Law provides that there shall be no period of redemption after such sale and the sale shall be deemed to pass a good and valid title to the purchaser, free from any liens and encumbrances whatsoever, except such liens as are hereafter specifically saved and in all respects as valid and effective as if acquired by Sheriff's deed. . . . Every such sale shall discharge the lien of every obligation, claim, lien or estate which shall have been recorded before such sale property may have or shall become charged or for which it may become liable, except no such sale shall discharge the lien of any ground rent or mortgage which shall have been recorded before such sale taxes became liens, and which shall be prior to all other liens, except other mortgages and ground rents.

It is strongly urged that prospective purchasers have examinations made of the title to any tracts in which they may be interested. Every reasonable effort has been made to keep these proceedings free from error. However, in every case, the property is offered for sale by the Tax Claim Bureau without any guarantee, either as to existence, correctness of ownership, size, boundaries, location, structures, or other matters, or as to the validity of the title or the correctness of the taxes thereon.

hereinafter set out by Township or taxing district and the name first appearing in each item is that of the owner or reputed owner in whose name the property was assessed. The 1963 Accrued Taxes will be included in the upset price on the day of the sale, if a record of such tax is furnished to the Bureau by the Tax Claim Bureau.
