Mr. McClure is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McClure of Waynesburg, and is a member of Washington Street Methodist Church. He married the former Mary Jane Brown. They are the parents of three children, Pamela Ann, five years old, Michael Ray, four; and Todd Gordon, seven months.

Legion Elects Minnesota Commander

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — The American Legion Friday chose Daniel F. (Dan) Foley, 41-year-old Wabasha, Minn., lawyer, as National commander for 1964.

Foley defeated Joe L. Matthews of Fort Worth, Tex., in a vigorous battle at the closing session of the annual convention. The vote was 2,251 to 709. Matthews' group had charged national Legion officers with being "kingmakers" and said they controlled the election through selection of delegates.

Outgoing Commander James E. Powers of Macon, Ga., denied the accusation.

As national commander, Foley will be charged with carrying out the Legion's broad platform on national and international affairs, hammered into shape at the 1963 convention last week.

The post pays $22,500 a year and expenses and will carry Foley to the far corners of the globe on official Legion business.

Mrs. Luther D. Johnson of Valley, Neb., was elected national president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

She succeeds Mrs. O. L. Koger of Kansas City.

Dr. Rich to Speak At S. A. R. Dinner

Fort Jackson Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, will meet at six o'clock Thursday in the Fort Jackson Hotel dining room, for their Constitutional Day dinner.

Dr. Bennett Rich, president of Waynesburg College, will speak.

Those wishing to make reservations may call 627-5567 before noon Thursday.

New Penn State Campus To Open

UNIVERSITY PARK — Pennsylvania State University will open its 14th Commonwealth campus next Sunday at Mont Alto in Franklin County.

The campus formerly served as the site of the freshman forestry school at Penn State.

A total of 240 students will begin classes Sept. 30 at the 39-acre campus. Enrollment is expected to climb to 500 by 1970.

Groundbreaking ceremonies to start construction of the North-South highway in Greene County, will be held by Waynesburg Chamber of Commerce Friday, October 4, at 11 o'clock.

Secretary of Highways Harral, accompanied by Owen Beckley, assistant chief engineer of design, will be present. Also, James H. Miffelen of Uniontown, district engineer, will accompany the group.

Special invitations have been sent to members of the Erie-Pittsburgh-West Virginia Turnpike Association and to West Virginia officials prominent in developing their North-South highway plans, as well as to other persons who have played prominent roles in promoting the highway.

The section of highway involved is designated as Section 5 of Interstate Route 79. It includes 2.22 miles of highway, south from Ruff Creek to a point just north of Route 188, east of Waynesburg.

The Bertocci Construction Company, Perryopolis, R. D. 1, has the $2,116,799 contract to build the section of road. His crews last week began clearing ground.

The groundbreaking ceremonies were scheduled at the earliest possible date which suited the schedule of Secretary Harral and other officials.

State to Examine All Auto Drivers With Faulty Eyes

If the state discovers you wear glasses, be prepared to take another eye examination, if you want to drive a car.

This applies to anyone who doesn't already have the notation "Must Wear Corrective Lenses" stamped on his license.

The eye exams have been ordered by the State Bureau of Traffic Safety without fanfare or public notice.

The notices tell them to submit certificates of "visual efficiency" within 30 days of being notified or their operating privileges will be suspended.

Orders for these tests have nothing to do with the physical examination.

Drivers who noted on license renewal applications that they wear glasses are those being called up for tests, provided their cards have not been stamped "Must Wear Corrective Lenses."

So are drivers who have been found through other means to be wearing glasses without having their cards stamped.

Notations that they wear glasses were made on their license renewal applications by some drivers after they had learned the Department of Revenue . . . had advised them to do so in answering the question on the application, "Do you have any physical defects?"

Many of those being called up now for the tests are men and women in upper age brackets who obtained their licenses years ago.

Miss Marjorie Norman, supervisor of the Classified Operators Section, Bureau of Traffic Safety, Harrisburg, said the tests are to enable the Bureau to determine if a driver's license should bear the stamp: "Must Wear Corrective Lenses."

A driver's own report that he is wearing glasses is not accepted as sufficient proof to warrant putting the stamp on his card.

An Editorial

Farming a Troubled Industry

In 1880, the United States had a population of 31.4 million. Its seven million farmers represented 21 per cent of the population.

Since then, the nation has prospered and the productivity of the farmer has increased. In 1960, the 5.7 million farm workers in this country represented only 3.3 per cent of the population.

Though there are fewer farmers than before, agriculture is our largest industry. It employs twelve times the number of people who work in the steel industry; nine times the number in the automobile industry, and twice the number in the transportation and public utility fields.

Agriculture is a major consumer of products of industry. For example, it uses more steel in a year than is used for a year's output of passenger cars; more petroleum products than any other industry in the country; and more rubber than is required to produce tires for six million automobiles. Its inventory of machinery exceeds the assets of the steel industry and is five times that of the automobile industry.

The American farmer has been able to produce better than farmers in any other country. In Soviet Russia, under the Marxist theory of collective farming, it takes five times as large a percentage of the work force to produce a pitiful flow of food which is low in quality, narrow in choice and high in price.

The record of the American farmer has been established because he has produced under a system of personal enterprise.

A further example of the success of farming under the personal enterprise system: Soviet Russia has found that in the very few instances where farmers are given a private plot of land—totaling only three per cent of all sown acres—they are capable of producing 46 per cent of Russia's meat, 49 per cent of her milk, 50 per cent of her green vegetables, 60 per cent of her potatoes, and 80 per cent of her eggs. The balance of the food and fibre is produced on the other 97 per cent of the collectivized farms.

Both here and abroad, it should be unmistakably clear that the answer to agricultural success lies in the freedom of the producers.

The American farmer has traditionally been self-sufficient and responsible. He has more than maintained his role of supplying abundantly the food and fibre for the nation and for export.

His independence, however, has been invaded by federal planners. In the last several years, he has been lured, coaxed and even forced into accepting governmental controls labeled as aid and supports which cost six billion federal tax dollars a year. Though there may be some necessary items in this large expenditure, there is too much "federal benevolence"; it hinders, rather than helps, the agricultural situation.

The gratuities come to the farmer in the name of price supports, easy loans, marketing services, marketing development, acreage allotments, marketing quotas, rural renewal and rural housing programs.

One tax-supported corporation of the federal planners "engages in buying, selling, lending, and other activities with respect to agricultural commodities, their products, food, feeds and fibres. Its purposes include stabilizing, supporting and protecting farm income and prices; assisting in the maintenance (Turn to Page Four)

Equity Claim Is Filed In Refuse Argument

E. Bryan Jacobs Named to Board

E. Bryan Jacobs of Waynesburg was elected to the board of directors for a 3-year term of the Pennsylvania Petroleum Association at its annual meeting at Pocono Manor, September 17.

At the same time, C. A. Mauer, Jr., Butler Oil Corporation of Philadelphia, was elected president; Osmond Skinner, Van Dyne Oil Company of Troy, 1st. vice president; George H. Schiller, Quality Service Station of Northampton, 2nd. vice president, and Jay E. Oberman, Keystone Oil Products of Camp Hill, secretary-treasurer.

This organization, representing primarily the jobbers of petroleum products in Pennsylvania, organized some 17 years ago, is recognized as one of the more active trade associations in the country.

Gives Collection Of Fossils

Dr. James Clovis, a 1959 graduate of Waynesburg College, has recently returned from Munich, Bavaria, and has presented the college with a series of fossils of Solenhofen limestone, known for many years to printers as lithographic limestone.

It is not only the most famous limestone in the world, used in producing pictures known as lithographs, but it is also famous to geologists as the rock which reproduces the clearest images of ancient fossils; animal, fish, crustaceans, reptiles, and occasionally even the very earliest birds.

Several alumni, while they were serving in World War II, brought home such fossils. The Clovis collection has made such a welcome addition that the college can now claim to have one of the best Solenhofen collections in the United States.

Solenhofen limestone is of Jurassic age, about 150 million years old, and is of extremely fine texture.

Dr. Clovis graduated from Waynesburg summa cum laude, receiving his degree in organic chemistry. He was awarded his Ph. D. in chemistry at California Institute of Technology in 1962.

For the past year he has been doing postdoctoral research on a scholarship from the National Science Foundation under one of the outstanding European organic chemists, Professor Rolf Huisgen. While in Europe, Dr. Clovis traveled in France, Germany, Switzerland, Holland, Denmark, and Sweden.

Dr. Clovis has begun his work in the laboratories of Rohm and Hass, Philadelphia. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Clovis of Huffman street. Mrs. Clovis is the college librarian.

25 FISH DONATED

QUEBEC—The Quebec aquarium has received 25 Japanese fish, mostly carp and goldfish, as gifts of Prince Akihito of Japan. Last year the aquarium presented Emperor Hirohito's son 12 catfish.

The dispute over awarding of the contract for collection of refuse in Waynesburg, seems to be headed for court action.

Recently the exclusive right was awarded to the National Sanitation Company.

Walter Bruce, who had collected refuse in the borough for 37 years, lost the bid, and at Tuesday night's council meeting was refused application under the ordinance to make collection.

Under National's proposal householders will pay $2.15 a month if paid on a monthly basis or $1.92 a month if paid quarterly. Under his first proposal this will mean an annual payment of $25.80 and under his second of $23.00 a year.

Bruce proposed to charge $3 a month during the two-a-week collection period, or $2.40 a month if paid on a monthly basis. His annual charge, therefore, would come to either $29 or $28.80.

Bruce's counsel J. B. F. Rinehart, contended that the ordinance did not limit the number of collectors and that Bruce was ready and able to comply with all refuse regulations. Mr. Rinehart stated that a suit in equity will be filed in court immediately.

He also contended that he would be able to furnish the service at a lower price than the National Sanitation Company.

Council pointed out that the contract was awarded on a competitive bid basis.

Bruce presented a petition signed by an estimated 1,000 customers, to show that his business had been satisfactory.

James Farrell Post Officers Are Installed

Officers of James Farrell Post 330, American Legion, Waynesburg, were installed last Friday night by District 25 Commander Michael Cvetan and his staff.

Bosworth, sergeant at arms; Glenn Brewer, chaplain; Lon E. McClelland, historian, and Gene Patterson, service officer.

Leonard Katchmark, John Stewart, Glancy Smith, William S. Brewer, and Apphus Strosnider were named to the Executive Committee.

It was announced that the Legion Post and Waynesburg Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4793 will have a joint massed color guard and float in the Waynesburg Firemen's Parade October 12.

Lloyd Gardner, chef de gare of Greene County Vulture 1020, Forty and Eight, said the boxcar would also participate in the parade.

Attending the meeting were John G. Dinsmore of Naples, Florida, the first post commander; Charles I. Faddis, the second post commander, and John J. Stoup, the only member of James Farrell Post to serve as 25th District commander.

Exiles Warn Ships to Cuba

MIAMI, Fla.—Anti-Castro exiles intensified their campaign by land and air last week to topple the Cuban Communist regime and warned free world shipping to halt trade with Cuba by October 1—"or else."

The "or else" exile spokesman Orlando Bosch said, means free world ships, specifically Greek shipping, will be attacked by air or sea if found in Cuban waters after that date.

Exile sources, including the usually reliable "Sentinels of Liberty" movement, reported continuing bloody land clashes in Cuba between guerrillas and Castro militia with heavy casualties on both sides. Site of the action was pinpointed near the Sierra de Escambray.

Local Democrats To Attend School In Johnstown

All Democrat candidates in Greene County for countywide, city, borough, township and school director offices, will attend a Democratic Election school, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Democratic State committee, in Johnstown on Friday, September 20.

Democratic State Chairman Otis B. Morse and Vice-Chairman Louise M. John, in a joint announcement, said that Mrs. Pauline Kiger, 153 West Franklin Street, Greene County Clerk of Courts, will serve on the general arrangements committee for the school. Chairman Morse and Mrs. John stressed, however, that the schools were open to all Democratic men and women candidates.

The school, one of nine being held across Pennsylvania, will feature special workshops for the candidates and will be attended by Democratic candidates for similar offices from other counties. It will be held at the Young Men's Democratic Club, 411 Main Street, Johnstown.

Buterbaugh Sentenced for Manslaughter

He allegedly ran down and crushed his wife, Mary Jane Craig, 21, against a guard rail as she was walking along the road to his parents' home.

Buterbaugh admitted he had been drinking. They had been married four years and were expecting their first child.

Attorney James Hook represented the defendant.

Where do you go from here? The retirement years should represent years of happy leisure, but often they're accompanied by boredom and restlessness. Sometimes they are years fraught with fear, or loneliness.

Yet they can become wonderfully fulfilling and golden when faith abides. Your church or synagogue not only offers spiritual nourishment that is needed by healthy people of all ages. It also can offer stimulating companionship, and a sense of real purpose.

Strength, courage, happiness are the gifts of deep religious faith. Worship together this week at your church or synagogue.

States Fear Mon Cleanup 'Boondoggle'

PHILADELPHIA—The Federal Government and the states of Pennsylvania and West Virginia will clash headon here in what probably will become known as the Battle of the Mon.

At stake in the developing power struggle will be control over the millions of dollars that will be spent upon water pollution control and conservation measures during the next few years.

Facing each other in the Battle of the Mon will be the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission.

The outbreak of the conflict that has been smoldering for months was signaled last week when the United States Public Health Service announced a two-day conference here December 17-18 to consider the problem of water pollution in the Monongahela River valley.

Federal involvement in the Mon problem, Orsanco's executive board declared, was "not necessary... and will only create confusion."

The board went on to say that: "Important progress toward pollution abatement in the Monongahela Valley has already been made. Intervention by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare would not be conducive to promotion of State and local action and would be inconsistent with the declared policy of Congress."

The reasons for Government intervention on the Mon are expected to be outlined in a report slated for release by the Public Health Service within the next few days.

It is expected to disclose that while industrial compliance with anti-pollution practices is good, sewage disposal problems in West Virginia are largely ignored.

This committee is made up of coal industry representatives from the eight Orsanco states—Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, New York and Virginia—and is headed by Larry Cook of Columbus, Ohio, executive director of the Ohio Reclamation Association.

This report sets up recommended practices to be followed by coal mine operators to reduce or eliminate mine acid discharge into streams.

Support for and compliance with the recommended practices is expected to be sought by the coal industry advisory committee at a meeting September 23 in the Hilton Hotel here.

Sewage and industrial waste problems, according to Orsanco, have been largely corrected.

Human Relations Civil Service Examinations

HARRISBURG — The State Civil Service Commission has scheduled an examination to select qualified persons for job openings with the Human Relations Commission. The test for human relations representatives will be held October 19, with applications due by September 25.

John E. James, State Civil Service Commission executive director, said four immediate openings exist, with eleven additional vacancies anticipated if program expansion is approved. Human relations representatives perform regulatory, educational and investigative work relating to fair practices in employment, housing, education and public accommodations. They are assigned to one of the regional offices located at Harrisburg, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Salaries range from $5,529 to $7,407.

Applicants for human relations representative must have two years of paid professional experience in working for the improvement of individual or intergroup relationships in addition to four years' college training. Applicants without college training need four years' professional experience in responsible public contact work with diverse groups such as employers, employees, community organizations, social or government agencies.

Applications and additional information may be obtained from regional offices of the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission at Harrisburg, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh; local offices of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service; and State Civil Service Commission, Harrisburg.

Churchills Mark 55th Anniversary

WESTERHAM, England—Sir Winston Churchill and his "darling Clementine" quietly celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary last week.

Britain's 88-year-old elder statesman, who announced his retirement from active politics earlier this year, spent the day at his country home 30 miles from London reading congratulatory telegrams from all over the world.

He and Lady Churchill, 78, have been out very rarely since Churchill broke a thigh bone in Monte Carlo last summer.

MILLION ITALIANS STRIKE

ROME—More than a million Italian workers were called out last Thursday on a 48-hour strike by Communist and non-Communist unions. Reports said the walk-out was almost total in every Italian province, virtually stopping building activity throughout the country.

Flameless Electric Dryer Means 'Time Out' For You

How long does it take to dry your clothes? If you use a completely automatic electric clothes dryer, you will be able to answer that question immediately—and accurately.

The time saving for the average family is about three hours weekly. Every homemaker can use a "time dividend" to accomplish those extra chores around the house. While the family laundry is automatically dried in a flameless electric dryer, mother can get an extra bit of gardening done—or run up a new dress for Susie or Jane.

People who dry clothes "by hand" find that it takes 28 times as long to handle an eight-pound load of clothes as it does to transfer them from the washer to a flameless electric dryer. In addition, time is always lost because of that unpredictable element, the weather.

Electric clothes drying can be done in a stated number of minutes—day or night—any season of the year. The time it takes to dry clothes can also affect other aspects of home life. For instance, if it takes too long to dry clothes, you need a greater number and assortment of household linens and clothing, in your electric dryer—in other words—greater load.

The Joy of Total Electric Living...

“Our flameless ELECTRIC DRYER lets me waltz through washday”

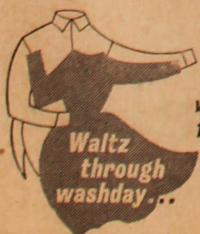

Mrs. Ray Hartley, Carmichaels, Pa.

With three active daughters and a new baby girl, Mrs. Hartley just naturally has a lot of laundry. "I do a load of baby clothes every day in addition to all of the other clothing, household linens and bedding," she explains. "Even with this hard use, my electric dryer has never required any service," Mrs. Hartley says. "I just couldn't get along without it!"

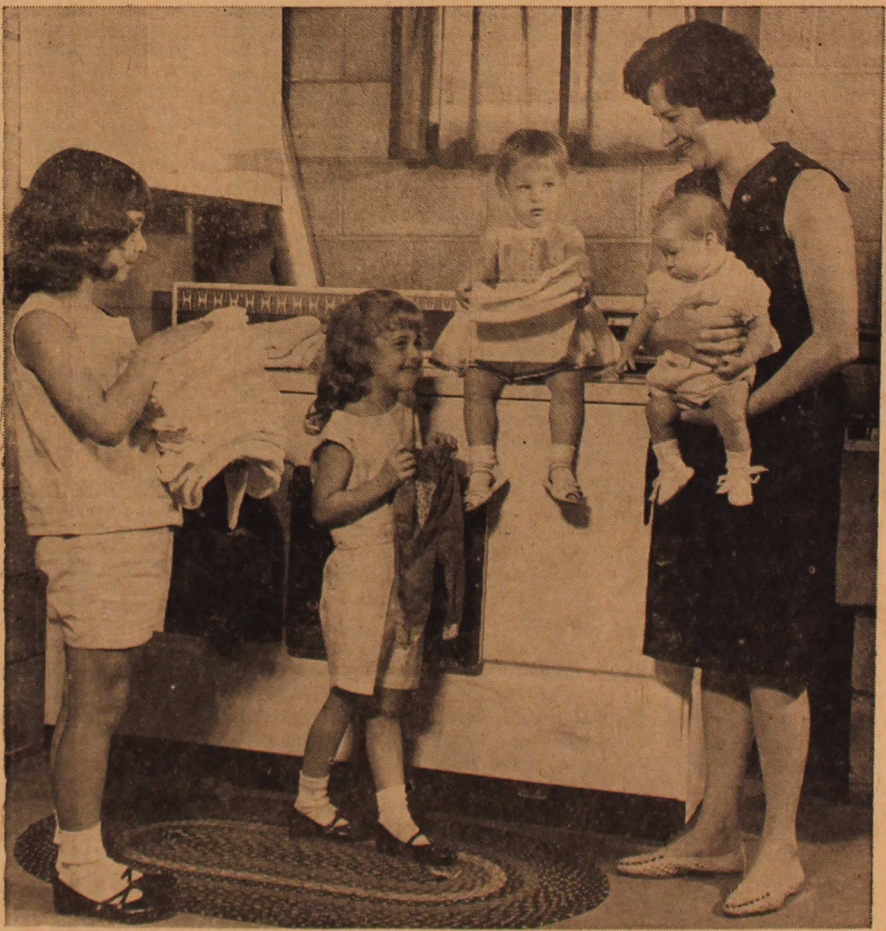

Since an electric dryer operates without flame, there are no fumes. Clothes always come out soft, fresh, and odorless. "Many of the children's playclothes need no ironing at all," Mrs. Hartley told us. She especially appreciates this convenience because it gives her time to bake for her family and keep up with her music. She's director of her church choir, and also directed the music for a local minstrel this past spring.

The Hartley's home is totally electric. It is heated electrically and equipped with an electric range, refrigerator-freezer, freezer, water heater and pump, washer, and dryer. "We have lived in houses heated by gas and oil—neither system can compare with clean, comfortable electric heating," says Mrs. Hartley. "Our bill for all uses of electricity averaged only $40.49 a month last year," Mr. Hartley says. Next year, the Hartleys will save over $70 under West Penn Power's new, low all-electric rate.

You, too, can enjoy total electric living at surprisingly low cost. Start now by buying a flameless electric dryer. See your dealer soon.

nance of balance and adequate supplies of such commodities; and facilitating their orderly distribution. The corporation also makes available materials and facilities required in connection with the production and marketing of such commodities." This is just one example of the kind of controls that have been advancing into the life of the American farmer.

Seeing the apparent increase of ever-tightening controls, farmers earlier this year cast a decisive vote showing that they felt that controls had gone far enough. In the wheat referendum, they were given a choice between regimentation and freedom.

Placing principle above personal gain, they cast their vote against government price support. Their choice was not merely between $1 or $2 for a bushel of wheat, as was suggested by one federal planner. They also voted against government crop and marketing controls; government dictates of what they could plant and how much they could sell.

Though the heritage of freedom is still with us, there are many who lack the courage, stamina and moral strength of the American farmer and who would exchange their freedom for security financed by other taxpaying Americans. This is the reason patriotic Americans who want to preserve our heritage of individuality and freedom should look with askance at all handouts from our Paytrotic President and his planners of ilk.

CRIMES OF KHRUSHCHEV

Khrushchev compared to Josef Stalin: "I think the best way to characterize the distinction is that his (Khrushchev's) is a more of less silk-glove terrorism whereas Stalin's was a raw-knuckle terrorism."

This eloquent, revealing assessment was given before the House Committee on Un-American Activities four years ago this month as part of a horror story that would make any apologist for the Soviets cringe with embarrassment.

The House Committee was holding sessions on "The Crimes of Khrushchev." The witness was Dr. Lev E. Dobriensky, Professor in Soviet Economics at Georgetown University.

Dr. Dobriensky's testimony dealt primarily with Khrushchev's crimes in the Ukraine. He said:

"First, . . . Khrushchev played a very significant role in the man-made famine in Ukraine in the period of 1930-33. On the basis of performance in that famine he was promoted in 1934 as a full-fledged member of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union.

"Second, he was engaged in extensive purges in Ukraine actually to make way for himself to become eventually the first secretary of the Communist Party in Ukraine.

"In these purges he directly engaged in the murder of people like Kossior (a member of the Central Committee of the Ukrainian Communist Party) and others. Countless others met death as a result of Khrushchev's perpetration of these extensive purges. Yet, quite cynically, in 1956 at the 20th Party Congress, he posthumously rehabilitated the very people whom he had directly or indirectly murdered. The purges continued during the period of the thirties to wipe out well over 400,000 Ukrainians.

"Third, as the first secretary of the Communist Party of Ukraine, he was involved in the heinous massacre of about 9,500 Ukrainians in Vinnitso.

"Fourth, during the war, as a security general in the NKVD, he exploited the Communist partisans primarily to provoke German occupying forces into augmenting their repressions and persecutions of the Ukrainian populace. Much of the populace was in favor, for a time, of German liberation. Seeing one alien totalitarianism supplanting another, they soon fought against both Berlin and Moscow.

"Fifth, in 1944-46, Khrushchev was responsible for the liquidation of the Ukrainian Catholic Church and continued the suppression of the Ukrainian Orthodox Autocephalic Church. He has continued to keep both institutions in extinction—no posthumous rehabilitation on this score.

"Sixth, during the war and after, when he was dispatched again by Stalin to take control and wipe out the "bourgeois" nationalist forces in Ukraine, Khrushchev was heavily engaged in the liquidation of many individuals and groups connected with the Ukrainian Insurgent Army. He also inflicted damages, physical and personal, upon the populace which supported contingents of this army.

"Seventh, in 1954-55, with his so-called virgin land policy, he precipitated a forcible resettlement of countless Ukrainian youth, male and female, to Kazakhstan. This, too, was really an act of genocide, a nation-destroying type of deportation.

"Eighth, he was also, in 1954-55, responsible for the barbarous suppression of strikes on the part of Ukrainian political prisoners at Vorkuta, Mordavia, and Karaganda. In Kingir, in 1954, he was responsible, by way of command, for the decimation of 500 Ukrainian women who protested conditions in that camp."

Dr. Dobriensky, also the National Chairman of the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America, pointed out that Khrushchev had earned his titles of "Hangman of Ukraine," and "Butcher of Hungary," and that the danger to the rest of the world should be apparent.

" . . . Khrushchev . . . is the head of an apparatus the tentacles of which extend to all corners of the earth and inevitably affect millions of individuals, including us . . ."

Dr. Dobriensky's testimony, as well as that of many others, is proof that Soviet Russia, under Krushchev, has not mellowed. It has merely put on a mask.

HISTORICAL FACTS

The battle-hardened veterans of the Revolution were going home.

The small knots of men, in groups of three, five and ten, trudged in all directions. Wherever they went, the countryside gratefully opened its homes to these returning warriors and gave them food and warmth.

In these hospitable shelters, the furloughed soldiers talked of April 19, 1783, as a day to go down in history. Hostilities formally ended that day, and General Washington had granted furloughs to most of his army the next day. Many of the soldiers guessed correctly that the furlough was in reality a full discharge, because the army would soon be disbanded.

As they relived the skirmishes of Lexington and Concord, and the battles of Monmouth, Saratoga, Yorktown and Breed's Hill (why was it being called the Battle of Bunker Hill when they had actually fought on Breed's Hill? It was a curious thing), they were warmed by the hearths of the houses which had been opened to them. But the hearths provoked a question of anguish for many: would their homes be patches of fire-blackened land and burned timber when they returned?

On December 4, 1783, General Washington also thought of home as he boarded a barge at the South Ferry in New York. He would go to Mt. Vernon, but only after trips to Philadelphia to detail his expenses, and to Annapolis to resign his command.

Washington's expenses since the day he had taken command, $64,315, did not wholly reveal his dedication as a patriot. He also refused to accept pay for his personal services, because Robert Morris, a Philadelphia banker, had underwritten Colonel Washington's army expenses.

Before an audience in Annapolis, the General relinquished his command.

Washington hurried to Mt. Vernon, his beautiful home on the Potomac. He was ready for the warmth of home life again, truly believing that he was through with public life. He expressed his yearnings with eloquence when he said:

"I have not only retired from all public employments, but I am retiring within myself, and shall be able to view the solitary walk and tread the paths of private life with heartfelt satisfaction. Envious of none, I am determined to be pleased with all; and this, my dear friend, being the order of my march, I will move gently down the stream of life until I sleep with my fathers."

COMMIES OWE $3 MILLIONS

Soviet Russia and eight satellites owe the United Nations $83,081,575. Soviet Russia alone owes $70, 348,493, of which more than half is her share of the cost of the Congo operation.

Moscow has already announced it will not pay the 70.3 million dollars because some of the assessments are illegal—and topping that list of alleged illegalities is the Congo cost.

The Russian default has been largely financed by the recent 200 million-dollar UN bond issue. The United States picked up half of that issue.

In addition, the United States pays 32% of all United Nation assessments.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

About 100 million years ago, a tremendous, herbivorous dinosaur ate his last meal and died in what is now Alberta, Canada. His was the first fossilized record of dental decay, the world's most widespread disease through the ages.

The early Greeks thought tooth decay was caused by evil spirits or offended deities. The remedy: enlisting the aid of Apollo, who was also known as the Mouse God. Specifically, the remedy was to kill a mouse and apply half the body to the cheek over the offending tooth.

Today we depend on scientific proof for combating tooth decay. Fluoridation, a proven health measure, can cut decay by as much as 60 percent. According to the American Dental Association brushing after every meal, cutting down on sweets and regular visits to the dentist are the most effective means of preserving not just the teeth but all oral tissues.

Clothing Asked For Children

A request for school clothing for needy Greene County children was made Friday as part of a current effort to keep youngsters in school wherever possible.

"We are particularly anxious to obtain clothing for high school girls," Mrs. Floyd H. Miller of Waynesburg, said last week. "But there is a need for clothing for boys and girls of all ages."

The income of many families, she pointed out, is scarcely enough to cover the necessities and does not leave money available for any extras.

Persons having any clothing they wish to donate are asked to call Mrs. Miller, Waynesburg 627-3032.

Mrs. Miller also said there is a need for household furnishings—especially bedding—for an elderly man who is moving from a furnished apartment to an unfurnished apartment.

Chicken 'N Biscuits

Flavorful Chicken à la King tastes even better on a crusty biscuit. Easy-to-make drop biscuits are made with corn muffin mix. You just add egg and milk for a golden biscuit with the crunchy, corn-flavored goodness that does the most for Chicken à la King.

CHICKEN À LA KING ON CRUSTY BISCUITS

- Makes 8 servings
- Crusty Biscuits:
 One 12-oz. pkg. (2 cups) Flako Corn Muffin Mix
 1 egg
 1/3 cup milk
- Chicken à la King:
 1/3 cup butter or margarine
 One 4-oz. can mushroom stems and pieces, drained
 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
 1/3 cup all-purpose flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 Dash pepper
 1-1/3 cups chicken broth
 2 cups cut-up cooked chicken

Heat oven to hot (400°F.). Empty contents of corn muffin mix package into bowl. Add egg and milk. Blend until dry ingredients are thoroughly moistened. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto a greased cookie sheet. Bake in preheated oven (400°F.) about 15 minutes.

While biscuits are baking, prepare Chicken à la King. Melt butter in saucepan. Lightly brown mushrooms and green pepper in butter. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Add broth gradually, stirring constantly until thickened. Add chicken and heat thoroughly. Split biscuits in half horizontally. Spoon on Chicken à la King.

Fall Signals Time for Replanting Of All Flowers for Winter Months

If your house plants have been "working" out under the trees or in some other sheltered spot outdoors this past summer and you live where cool weather and cold nights are just around the corner, now is the time to bring them in for their winter vacation.

They should not have to make an abrupt change from outdoor atmosphere to closed rooms. Let them adjust gradually: If you have a porch, they might sit on it a few days—but out of any wind. Or indoors they might be in open windows, at least during the day.

Take up your plunged pots or plants in pots not plunged, wash off the pots and go over them carefully. You may need to spray the plants with tepid water, to get off dirt and possible little spiders or other outdoor insects.

In general, don't repot them at this time. However, if the roots are trailing out through the bottom hole, they had better go into the next larger-size pot. Geraniums like to be pot-bound and bloom better if crowded. Hanging plants like spider fern may need dividing. Christmas cactus will get along in the same soil for a long time, especially if fed regularly.

If you think any worms may have crawled into the pots during the summer the way to find out is to have the soil damp and knock it out of the pot by tapping the pot all around. Holding the plant upside down without disturbing the root ball, examine the soil for any sign of angle worms or any other difficulty. Then set it back into its pot, or if you find a worm, repot after washing the soil off the roots with tepid water.

If you have carried an azalea over the summer (remembering to water it where it has been vacationing in its plunged pot) bring it back into the house atmosphere gradually but give it a cool spot where it gets plenty of light. It is an acid-loving plant.

If you have carried a cyclamen over and feel you need to repot, use African violet soil and be sure the top third of the bulb, or corm, is exposed. Spring is a better time to repot, but you can do it now if you must. This plant likes it cool, and should be watered from below. After it has adjusted to house conditions, feed it every two weeks and give it sunlight (in the north the winter sun is usually not too warm) to bring it into flower again.

If you have coleus growing in the garden the plants are probably too big to bring into the house. Coleus will root readily in water. You may be able to start new plants from cuttings. You might also try potting up some of your outdoor plants and cutting them back quite drastically. They will put out new leaves and you may be able to keep them within windowsill bounds.

Pothound coleus keep their color better. They also need a good deal of water and good light but not hot sun. Most of the plants you are bringing into the house at this season are entering their rest period. After they have made their adjustment to indoor conditions is the time to increase food and water.

Later you may need to repot some of them. Unless later on you can buy a bushel container of potting soil, now is the time to bring some in from the garden, sifting it well, and enriching it with conditioning elements.

Some people sterilize it, but this is a difficult process and seldom necessary. Plant food and peat—are also good to have on hand against winter planting jobs.

Plant windows can be lovely indoor gardens. There are plastic plant shelves to put on window sills, and hanging shelves at halfway heights for displaying more plants. In bowls and other containers coleus, English ivy, and grape ivy, as well as so-called Chinese evergreen and other cuttings, can be grown in water. Movable plant carts and racks of plant shelves are available for African violets, and plant lights using fluorescent tubes can bring "daylight" into dark rooms. So, "design" your indoor garden and enjoy the winter months ahead.

If you could choose the slot where your tax money goes...

you would probably pick defense, or space exploration, or some other job you expect the government to do. It isn't likely that you'd pick a job for which your tax money would be spent needlessly.

Yet some people keep urging the federal government to pour more of your tax dollars into additional federally owned electric power plants and lines.

This is needless spending because the nation's more than 300 investor-owned electric light and power companies can provide all the additional power a growing America will need.

Wouldn't it make sense for the federal government to stop needless spending, and use your tax money only for items that can be justified on the grounds of national interest?

Jefferson-Morgan Hi Victorious Over Maples in Hard Fought Game

Elizabeth Man Horseshoe Winner At Jefferson

Al Zadroga, of Elizabeth, a transportation company dispatcher at Brownsville who sends horseshoes from peg to peg with neatness and dispatch, won the Class A Championship Division of the horseshoe pitching tournament at Jefferson this weekend.

He defeated Oscar Engle of Pittsburgh, in the one-game final round, 53-28, getting 52 ringers out of 78 shoes for a ringer percentage of 66 percent.

A few weeks ago Zadroga was runnerup in the Parkersburg, W. Va., Centennial Tourney to Harold Reno, who was the world's champion pitcher in 1961 and 1962.

Zadroga and Jim Ohler of Scottsdale, were tied in Group I of Class A. In a three-game pitch-off, Ohler won the first game, 51-26, and Zadroga came back strong to win 51-37 and 52-35.

In the third game of the pitch-off, Zadroga had 81.8 percent ringers and Ohler 75.6.

Ohler recently won 15 straight in the state tourney at New Brighton.

In Group II of the Class A race, Engle defeated Herb Pinch of Sharon, 52-16 and 52-34, getting 80 percent ringers the first game and 77 the second. Pinch had 80 and 70 percent.

The tournament had 50 competitors from widely scattered areas including John Klingan of Florida, who is state champion there. He formerly lived at Hopwood.

Jim Solomon of Uniontown, who lost two games in the round-robin tournament to be eliminated, had the high ringer percentage of 75.9 per cent for the entire tourney.

Harold Shriver of Wadestown, W. Va., won the Class B. division and Frank Kilinsky of Canonsburg, was second. Walter Schirosky of Washington, the Class C title; Russell Wade of Wadestown, the Class D crown; and Nick Whoar of Daisytown, the Class E championship.

Jefferson-Morgan took their second victory of the season Friday night when they defeated Mapletown 20-14 on the Maples Field. The Maples have not yet had a victory, although they led at the half.

The Jeffs picked up speed in the second quarter with Jim Gilmer's chasing and Keith Haney's passing.

The Maples scored their second tally in the second quarter when Haney intercepted an aerial and raced 35 yards to the endzone.

However, with less than five minutes to go the Jeff Rockets put on a burst of speed and Gilmer raced away again for the marker, Shimrock kicked the extra point.

The Maples' Brumley had raced 57 yards for a touchdown earlier in the last frame but it wasn't counted because of a clipping penalty.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day The Winners' Circle (?)

Thoroughbred racing, not unlike any specialized sport or business, has a language of its own which would confuse a newcomer. You can spot a man who has been around racing for more than a couple of decades by noting whether he refers to the equine Levittown as the "Stable area" or the "backstretch". In times past, the stables were almost always aligned in neat rows on the backstretch opposite the stands. Today they are more apt to be tucked away behind the stands. The "winners' circle" is another term which persists, while at most tracks it is nonexistent. Oddly, Aqueduct, one of the newest and most modern tracks, still maintains the neatly lined circle on the track itself. They no longer hang the prize money in a purse in the winner's circle, but to this day it is sometimes written that So-and-so "took down a purse at Monmouth Park", meaning that he won a race. Many still refer to the area where the pari-mutuel windows are located as the "betting ring" and another carryover from the days when bookmakers each posted his own odds on a slate, is the term "chalk-player" for one who bet heavily on favorites. In this age of the slide-rule, we no longer measure a horse's height hand over hand, but instead of saying Kelso is 5 feet 5 inches at the withers, we say he's 18 hands one inch.

New Arrivals At Waterford For Current Meet

Many new stables are checking in daily at Waterford Park for the current fall meeting that runs through December 14. These new arrivals include outfits from Ohio, New England, Kentucky, Illinois and other racing sectors.

Owner-trainer Betty Hall has arrived from Ellis Park, Ky. with a contingent of six head as part of her public stable.

Heading the list of Hall thoroughbreds is the consistent six-year-old mare Combat Lady, a recent winner at Cahokia and Ellis Park. Her last three victories came at distances of one mile or over. The remainder of the string are Beauty Gem, Baletta, Bail and Go, and Vingh and Baletta's Brother.

Ronald Fisher, custodian of the jockeys' room, stated that several new riders have checked in with him for the fall meeting now in progress on a six-day per week basis.

The new arrivals include Arthur Sherman, a free-lance jockey from Cleveland, where he has been riding with moderate success; Jack Robertson, who rode here during the early spring meeting; and Roy Cave, a veteran saddlesmith, well known to local area fans, having ridden here for several seasons in the past years.

The rebuilding work on Waterford Park's club house has been progressing rapidly despite the fact that racing is being conducted currently at this one-mile race course.

Workmen have almost completed the demolition phase of the old building and are nearing the stage of starting construction of the new edifice that will feature a multi-level dining terrace with every modern facility included. The entire building will be glass enclosed and heated as well as air conditioned with escalators replacing stairways throughout.

The old dining room will be replaced with a main-line mutual area as well as a new line on the mezzanine floor of the structure to be used as a convenience by guests of the dining terrace.

Racing continues at Waterford Park on a six-day per week basis, Mondays through Saturdays, with a post time of 1:30 daily.

West Penn Movies Available to Schools

"Horizons of Science"—a series of ten scientific color movies—is again available for educational use this school year from West Penn Power Company.

According to Jefferson district manager, R. G. Lindquist, "these dramatic films have been shown to more than 60,000 high school students in our service area, in the past two and a half years."

Each of the Horizons of Science color sound films is devoted to a specific subject, including such topics as "Project Mohole"—the famous ocean project; "Thinking Machines"—dealing with computers; and the "Edge of Space"—featuring the Palomar Observatory in California. The entire series was produced by Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey.

The films are available for booking through West Penn Power Company offices.

Upper Classmen Dominate Football of Waynesburg Yellow Jackets This Fall

An upperclassmen-dominated group will man the line spots on the Waynesburg College grid team this fall.

Mike Scarry, in his first year as head boss of the Yellow Jackets, will have a light and inexperienced forward wall, with several men in new positions.

Gene Arrigoni, who returns as one of the area's finest centers, will probably be the one senior on the line as a starter.

Here's a position-by-position look at the line prospects:

Ends—Four juniors—all letterwinners—make this the "strongest position on the team" according to Scarry. They are Bob Gary (190) of Edenborn; Rich Milchak (182) of Hastings; Bill Stohl (182) of Mt. Pleasant; and Dave Stone (195) of Gibsonia. Milchak is the lone Yellow Jacket remaining, who made the West Penn Conference All-Star team last season. Stohl will play halfback on defense and Stone will play on offensive tackle.

Reserve strength will come from sophomore Ray Rataiczak (175) of Powhattan Point, and freshman Bill McJunkin (170) of Monroeville.

Tackles—Junior Bob Pekarsky (215) of Rilliton; sophomore Von Brunazzi (213) of Fredericktown; and senior Jim Chilko (215) of Trafford, hold the answer to this spot. Stone will also handle the tackle load.

Pekarsky lettered last season and Brunazzi (ineligible last fall) lettered in 1961. Chilko lettered last season as a guard and must adjust to the new position as must Stone.

Two promising frosh who should strengthen the position later in the campaign are Frank Destefano (202) of Monessen, and Jeff Thompson (250) of Belle Vernon.

Destefano is out with a dislocated elbow he suffered in pre-school drills. Thompson, who reported at 265, is now down to 250.

Guards—This is another green spot that should improve as the season moves on. Senior Rich Galliard (168) of McDonald; junior Mike Zrimm (183) of Avella; and sophomore Larry Rock (196) of Munhall, are leading the pack.

Galliard and Zrimm are both lettermen, but Mike won his "W" last season for playing center.

Reserve help will come from Tom Karpency (164) of Adah; Pat Gallagher (173) of North Braddock; Jerry Simon (160) of McClellandtown, and Bill Ruth (187) of Belle Vernon.

Center—here is a bright spot. Gene Arrigoni has done a fine job the past few seasons—and barring an injury—will give the team strength in the middle.

Zrimm and freshman Howard George (182) of Jeannette will back up Arrigoni.

All-Year Contest For 4-H Members At State Show

HARRISBURG — Educational emphasis on the Pennsylvania (Keystone International) Livestock Exposition, Nov. 11-15 at the State Farm Show Building, Harrisburg, will include a 4-H Club competition that will extend through the ensuing year, Ben Morgan, general superintendent, announced today.

Open to all of the 45,000 4-H'ers in the state, the contest will have as its objective a set of 20 to 25 2" x 2" slides and appropriate narrative that can be used in livestock educational work throughout the state.

Devised by Dwight E. Younk, extension livestock specialist, the Pennsylvania State University, the competition will be sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock and Allied Industries Association. Ted, Black, Reading, a director, has volunteered cash prizes, totaling $400.

The contest will be in four divisions—beef cattle, swine, sheep and horses. Fifty dollars will be paid for first place, $30 for second, and $20 for third in each division. The contest closes Sept. 1, 1964. Winners will be honored at the 1964 exposition. Detailed information may be obtained from Professor Younk or at the offices of county agricultural agents.

Morgan said the November exposition, featuring over 3,000 beef cattle, swine and sheep, will be primarily an educational event, and will be open to the public without charge. The exposition embraces the United States and Canada, and is being sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture jointly with the Livestock association.

New Director of Admissions

William S. Pool has been named director of admissions at Waynesburg College, according to Dr. Bennett M. Rich, president of the college.

Mr. Pool came to Waynesburg College in September, 1961, as admissions counselor. A 1958 graduate of Waynesburg, he was assistant Y. M. C. A. youth director of the Allegheny Branch, Pittsburgh, in 1958-59.

Subsequently, he was a social worker for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, serving in Pittsburgh 1959-60 and Washington County in 1960-61.

He received his A. B. in history from Waynesburg Colleges. While in college he was active in the Student Service Program and helped develop the Community Center in Crucible.

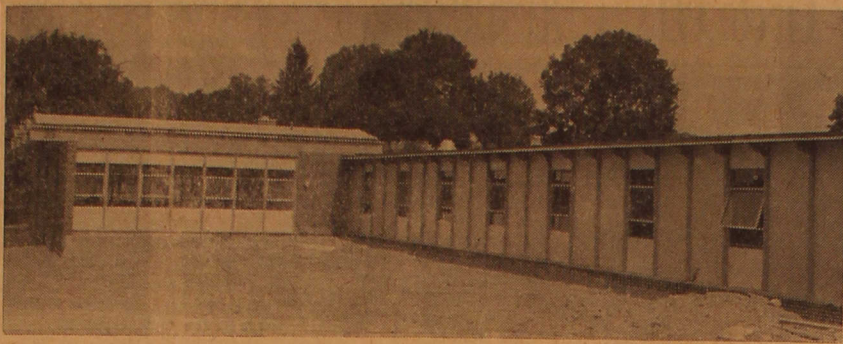

Mr. Pool has taken work in psychology at the University of Pittsburgh and is now working toward his master's degree at West Virginia University.

He graduated from Peabody High School, Pittsburgh, in 1952, after lettering in football and baseball. He also played basketball.

His college work was interrupted by a two-year hitch in the Medical Corps of the U. S. Army in 1954-56.

Mr. Pool, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Pool, Pittsburgh, is married to the former Linda Homer of Burgettstown. They are the parents of a year-old daughter, Susan.

Scranton Might Be Top Darkhorse G. O. P. Candidate

CHICAGO — Despite the big Goldwater boom and the big Chicago eruption of support for him in the National Federation of Republican Women meeting last Wednesday, the Arizona Senator is considered still far from "home."

There are many sober, second-thinkers on the subject that someone else but Barry Goldwater ultimately will wind up with the presidential nomination and also that the "someone else" probably will be Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Washington observers reported that the opinion in the capital is that Mr. Goldwater "can't make it." This despite the greeting given Mr. Goldwater by a predominantly female audience sedately resembling the reactions that Frank Sinatra once got from swooners.

Even as this comparative hysteria was going on in the Conrad Hilton Hotel here and Mr. Goldwater was obviously the man of the hour on that particular spot, experts were bringing up anew the name of Governor William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Scranton is in a near-perfect dark horse position. He's simply sitting in Harrisburg or orbiting within the comparatively safe boundaries of Pennsylvania.

Governor Scranton did step beyond his State's borders Friday into the national spotlight with a pronouncement that he favors continued support of the Diem government in South Vietnam and said he considered it a cold war "must" for the United States.

Whether justifiably or not, Senator Goldwater is making a series of impressions on persons that are not favorable. People who hear him talk for the first time say he "soft" on the question of civil rights. They say a lot of things.

But what can one say about Mr. Scranton except that he seems to be improving Pennsylvania's financial position and is being a good governor. He is there, ready to be swept up as a refreshing, and unofficially of course, dark horse. There's plenty of time for the public to become rather weary of Mr. Goldwater and Mr. Rockefeller.

Strom Thurmond Changes His Mind

WASHINGTON — A temporary swap of senatorial desks by Senators Strom Thurmond, Democrat, South Carolina, and A. Willis Robertson, Democrat, Virginia, failed to come off Tuesday.

Senator Thurmond, who has a desk on the back row, asked Senator Robertson if it would be all right to move up to Robertson's desk to make a speech opposing the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

Under the Senate's rules, a Senator is required to stand by his own desk when speaking, but apparently Thurmond thought he could be heard better from Robertson's second row desk.

Robertson said he would be glad to ask unanimous consent to let Thurmond speak from his desk. He remarked that his desk was the one former President Harry S. Truman had while a Senator.

"Well, I believe I'll stay where I am," Thurmond said.

Napoleon Swan To Float Again

LONDON — A Silver swan which Napoleon presented to Josephine will soon be back in a tiny pool of rippling water where it can pick up silver fish and preen its graceful feathers.

Its journey home to the Bowes Museum in the market town of Barmard's Castle in the north is approaching.

When the large-size swan more than 200 years old, was brought here for repairs, it was found that much of the oil that once smoothed its clocklike mechanism had solidified. The oil was so hard that it had to be chipped from between cogs in the wheels.

Its mechanism now perfected, the swan will be remounted on the pedestal at Bowes Museum where it stood once before.

It has been several decades since the swan has been able to go through its lively clockwork motions.

The swan was made in London about 1750, by Richard Weekes, clockmaker. It sits on a boat-shape case and appears to float on rippling water—an illusion created by some 180 revolving rods of fluted glass.

Silver fish swim about in front of the swan. When wound up, the swan can move its neck and pick a fish from the water. After a few motions with its beak, the swan appears to swallow the fish.

The swan can turn its head and neck and preen its wing feathers. And during all these movements a carillon, hidden from view, plays a set of tunes.

About 30 pounds of silver were used in the making of Napoleon's swan. There are 116 pieces of laminated silver in the neck alone. Fifty-five graceful silver leaves form a surrounding for the pool on which the swan rests.

Next World's Fair Held in New York To Be Colossal

NEW YORK — On 646 acres of reclaimed marshland within sight of Manhattan's skyscrapers the billion dollar 1964-65 New York World's Fair is fast taking form. It is in some ways a big city cousin to the familiar county fair—minus, pigs, sheep and the like. Its scale is colossal, its extravagance unrivaled and some of its features unprecedented.

One exhibit alone, housing General Motors Corporation's futuristic, will rise 10 stories, occupy 230,000 square feet of ground space and reportedly cost close to 50 million dollars.

There will be 200 other exhibits. One fair official estimates it will take 100 hours to walk through them all.

Progress of fair financing and construction was surveyed in a recent issue of Investor's Reader, published by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Inc.

Many lavish and ingenious displays being prepared chiefly by industrial firms, will dramatize wonders of science and what they portend. Others will accent cultural, commercial, entertainment, religious, historical, musical and sports appeal.

In the Vatican pavilion, visitors will be able to view Michelangelo's famed sculpture, "Pieta". Life size figures of dinosaurs and contemporary beasts will feature another exhibit.

Attendance in the first of two six-month seasons, starting April 22, is expected to reach 40 million, or four times the draw of the 1962 Seattle World's Fair, officials say.

An international theme, "Peace Through Understanding," has been chosen. Its symbol is the unisphere, a 120-foot diameter globe of stainless steel bearing a relief map of the world.

Goldwater Hits President's Plan On 'Test Ban'

WASHINGTON — Senator Barry Goldwater, Republican, Arizona protested last week that the White House as well as leaders of both parties are asking the Senate's consent, but not its advice, on the nuclear test ban treaty.

"Again, again and again we have only verbal assurances," Goldwater told the Senate. The idea of any changes in the treaty, he added, "have been derided as mischief or precluded as unnecessary because of more and more verbal assurances."

The G. O. P. Presidential contender defended his proposal to hold up the effect date of the treaty until Russia withdraws its troops and weapons from Cuba. A formal Senate vote on the treaty is expected this week.

The Arizona Republican insisted his suggested reservation would be a pertinent and timely test of Soviet intentions. He said it "would at least salvage something from the Senate's decision to accept this treaty regardless of doubt, dangers and duplicity."

Even if the Senate adopted his reservation, Goldwater said, the pact would not be any more acceptable because it imperils U. S. security throughout the world and he would still oppose it.

Goldwater denied emphatically his was a partisan move. "Is conscience partisan?" he asked. "Are the voices we hear in opposition to the treaty or in support of safeguards and changes, voices on both sides of the aisle, merely partisan?"

"No," he replied. "There is in this consideration only the partisanship of each member's own soul-searching decision, the partisanship of principle, the partisanship of duty and responsibility."

1963 marks 100 years of American Commercial banking ... and 22 years that banks have served the nation in the sale of U.S. Savings Bonds. On this important Anniversary the President of the American Bankers Association states:

"U. S. Savings Bonds have helped the American people to become a nation of savers."

"In their contribution to America's economic and military strength, Savings Bonds have had an important part in preserving a way of life which rewards individual initiative and makes possible the kind of progress typified in our own observance of this Centennial year."

"But in addition to this role in the national economy, Savings Bonds have made it easy for tens of millions of Americans to save for the important things in their lives. And Savings Bonds have helped the American people to become strong through savings in all forms."

"These are the reasons why bankers everywhere are proud of their part in the Savings Bonds Program and why the American Bankers Association pledges its continued support."

Boating Tips...

The boater's most common use for line is tying up to a dock. To do the job like a real "salt", learn these two simple hitches, suggest Mercury outboard authorities: use the upper knot in the illustration to tie up to a cleat. Pass the line around the cleat under both horns, then diagonally across the top of the cleat and under the first horn. Tuck the loose end under the line where it passes across the top. The more pull by the boat, the greater the holding power of the hitch—yet it can be loosened easily by tugging at the free end. Use the other knot, the suggest Mercury outboard authorities: use the upper knot in the illustration to tie up to a cleat. Don't use this hitch for permanent fastening, since it may eventually slip.
