Secretary of Highways To Attend Ceremony

D. W. Hampson Dies in Florida; Ill for Some Time

Donald Wiley Hampson, 70 years, one of the partners in the Blair and Hampson Hardware Store in Waynesburg for many years, died Tuesday, September 24, 1963, in Bradenton, Florida. He had undergone two recent operations.

Mr. Hampson was a son of John C., former member of the State Assembly, and Frances Ankrom Hoffman Hampson, and was born May 7, 1893, near Holbrook. The family moved to Waynesburg when Mr. Hampson was a youth.

He was employed at the former Waynesburg tin mill. Later Mr. Hampson was in the trucking business for a short time and afterward he was associated with Lee Blair in the Blair and Hampson Hardware store. The store became one of Waynesburg's most successful business enterprises with Mr. Hampson having an active role in its rapid and steady growth for more than 30 years.

Through his business and civic activities he was widely known throughout the country. After moving to Florida some years ago in partial retirement, he became interested in the home development business.

In Waynesburg, Mr. Hampson was a member of Washington Street Methodist Church and of various community organizations. He was a member of Trinity Methodist Church at Bradenton.

He is survived by his wife, Frances Huffman Hampson; one daughter, Vera Lee, wife of Professor Jay Luvas, a member of the Allegheny College faculty at Meadville; one son, Dr. John L. Hampson, a physician in Seattle, Washington; one brother, Dr. Frank L. Hampson, a retired dentist at Claysville; two sisters, Nellie, wife of Ralph Spragg of Akron, Ohio, and Mrs. Mary H. Hoffman of Oklahoma City, Okla., and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday in the Garrison Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. Dr. H. M. Eagleson. Interment in Greene County Memorial Cemetery.

Equitable Gas Reduces Rate

Equitable Gas Company consumers in five Western Pennsylvania counties will get a rate reduction October 6.

Equitable filed a $79,000 annual rate reduction Friday with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, following a slight reduction in the rates charged to Equitable by Tennessee Gas and Transmission, a major supplier.

Approximately 240,000 customers in Allegheny, Armstrong, Greene, Washington and Westmoreland counties will benefit.

Peoples Natural Gas Company, which also is supplied by Tennessee Gas, said the reduction in supplier rates by Tennessee already has been reflected in a drop in consumer rates.

Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, also supplied by Tennessee, said the reduction by Tennessee in its case was so small that it would have no impact on consumers.

College To Hold Inauguration

Bennett M. Rich will be inaugurated as Waynesburg College's 14th president at 10:30 o'clock Saturday, October 12, in the college gymnasium.

Dr. Rich returned to Waynesburg in July, where he had received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1930, after 17 years at Rutgers, the state university of New Jersey. He had been a professor of political science.

Dr. Rich succeeds Dr. Paul R. Stewart, who will be installed as the college's first chancellor at the same time. He served as president 42 years.

Henry D. Harral, Pennsylvania Secretary of Highways, will be at the groundbreaking here Friday morning in celebration of construction of the North-South Highway in Greene County.

The ceremony will be held at 11 o'clock just off Porter street extension. Signs will be posted by Waynesburg Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring the event.

Luncheon and a speaking program will follow in Rohanna's Restaurant on Route 21, east of Waynesburg.

Several invitations have been mailed to more than 200 persons, but both parts of the program are open to the public. Luncheon tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce office on North Washington Street.

The section of highway is already under construction by the Bertocci Construction Company, Perryopolis, R. D. 1. It is designated as Section 5 of Interstate Route 79 and includes 2.22 miles of highway, south from Ruff Creek to a point just north of Route 188, east of Waynesburg.

County Teachers' Institute to be Held October 16 to 18

Greene County Teachers Institute, held annually, will be Thursday and Friday, October 16-18, in Jefferson-Morgan High School.

The opening session is scheduled for 8 p. m. Wednesday, with additional programs at 9:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. Thursday and 9:30 a. m. Friday.

Richard Corson, of New York City, one of the country's foremost authorities on theatrical makeup, will present a series of "Theater Portraits" to highlight the Wednesday evening program. Thursday morning will be devoted to in-service meetings, with groups of teachers from the same field meeting together.

Dr. Beryl D. Orris, a leading authority on human relations, and Dr. James M. Hepburn are on the program for Thursday afternoon.

The closing program Friday morning will feature a second address by Dr. Orris and an address by Dr. A. N. Adleman, assistant superintendent of Allegheny County Schools.

Greene County Superintendent of Schools William H. Hartley, who is in charge of arranging the program, said further details will be announced.

August March Cost $261,028

WASHINGTON—The August 28 march on Washington cost taxpayers $261,028.

Of this amount, $50,655 was spent to bring in troops and equipment from more distant camps—just in case. The rest was spent for wages, food and expenses of the District of Columbia National Guardsmen who had been federalized; for Washington police, firemen, health and sanitation employees' overtime and extra expenses.

There are still no cost reports from the Justice Department where Attorney General Robert Kennedy named a command post complete with a military communication system.

Government Acreage In Alaska Mammoth

NEW YORK—The U. S. Government owns so much land in Alaska that 1.3 million acres (the size of Delaware) could be taken away every day from January 1 to October 15.

The Government would still have some left over, the Tax Foundations says.

LINCOLN ALL OVER

WASHINGTON—The Lincoln Counties in Georgia, Kentucky, Missouri, North Carolina and Tennessee are not named for Abraham Lincoln but for the Revolutionary War General Benjamin Lincoln.

An Editorial

Despotism at Its Worst

This is still a free country, the City of Waynesburg notwithstanding. We still have our freedom of action, freedom of speech, and freedom of the press, by Constitutional authority. And as long as the writer is able to breathe the aroma of printers' ink (which he has done for the past 61 years) instead of garbage disposed of so arbitrarily by the powers that be in our municipality, the God-given right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness will be fought for, regardless of race, color, or religion—and let the chips fall where they may!

We are not rabble-rousers, neither are we milquetoasts. We are, however, crusaders against eye-winking at laws, regardless of its origin. We know our rights as an American citizen and a heavy taxpayer, and we are standing firmly upon those rights—and, only in defense of those rights is this editorial written.

Physically, the writer is not able to go out and enjoy mother nature at her best; neither is he able to haul our garbage to the dump personally.

There has been much in the papers about the "low" and successful bidder for the disposal of garbage.

We are at 63 South Washington Street 24 hours a day, but to date the successful "low" garbage bidder has made no effort to contact us; he is not listed in the telephone directory, and being physically unable to go "looking" for the exclusive and elusive garbage man, we had but one recourse.

Tuesday we called Walter Bruce, with whom we have had a contract for a number of years, to remove trash from the Republican office and garbage from our apartment, which is located above the mechanical department.

He was closely followed by two policemen who told him he was under arrest (due to despotic orders emanating from city hall). They also told the writer that he, too, was under arrest.

The writer refused to accompany the policemen without a warrant—signed by the Mayor!

This happened at 2:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The warrant hasn't yet arrived at press time, and this is Wednesday evening. And we defy the despots of our City Building to bring a warrant for this alleged offense to the Republican office and arrest the writer—not today, not tomorrow, nor at any other time in the future.

And as long as there is breath left in the old carcass we'll keep shoving open and well-known wrongs to the attention of the City administration.

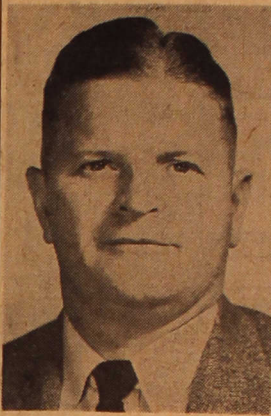

Some guy whose name starts with "Shake" once wrote:

"Lay on, MacDuff, and damned be he who first cries, 'Hold! Enough!'"

(P. S. We understand that Walter Bruce also collected garbage Tuesday afternoon from the local armory, and the same threat was made to the custodian, the writer nor the garbage collector we called—have been arrested! There's a "nigger in the woodpile"—or should we say "garbage mess"?—and it's not Walter Bruce!

Governor Scranton Cites Slash In Spending

Leroy Titus Heads Heart Campaign

LEROY TITUS

Leroy Titus, County Treasurer, will be chairman of Greene County's 1964 Heart Fund campaign. Proceeds of the campaign will be used to fight heart and circulatory diseases, now responsible for more than 54 percent of all deaths in the United States.

The annual nationwide campaign, which supports the research, education and community programs of the American Heart Association and its affiliates and chapters, begins with the opening of Heart Month, February 1. It continues through February 29.

"I am happy to accept the chairmanship of the 1964 Heart Fund campaign and to join actively in this health crusade which is saving hearts in our own community and throughout the nation," Mr. Titus said.

"This assignment is challenging because the Heart Cause is so very important. It is unique in that it is concerned with a great complex of disease which constituted the Number One U. S. health problem of our times."

The Heart Fund house-to-house visitation will begin February 1, 1964, and end February 16. Volunteers will visit neighbors to distribute information about the heart and its diseases and to receive contributions.

Mr. Titus, is a native of Greene County with residence in Carmichaels. Before his election to the County Treasurer's office he was a contractor in material sales in all of Western Pennsylvania.

Receives Award of Life Underwriters

Richard H. Tracy, agency manager, Equitable Life Assurance Society was awarded the coveted Chartered Life Underwriters in Miami Beach, Florida, on September 11.

The American College of Life Underwriters grants the C. L. U. or C. L. U. Associate designation to persons in life and health insurance, who pass a series of professional examinations and meet the stringent experience and ethical requirements of the College. This year 103 men and women were awarded the designation, bringing to 11,632 the number of persons who have received it since the College was founded in 1927.

Richard H. Tracy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Tracy, East Greene Street, Waynesburg, joined Equitable Life as an agent after separation from the Air Force in January 1947. Mr. Tracy graduated from Waynesburg High School and attended Bucknell University, Lewisburg, before entering the Air Force in January 1941.

He separated from service after World War II as a Major serving in Alaska and South Pacific, and was recalled in the Korean Conflict serving in Japan and Korea.

Mr. Tracy was a district manager for Equitable Life in Gateway Center, Pittsburgh, until May 1962, when he was promoted to agency manager in Philadelphia.

Mr. Tracy and his family reside at 1001 Kingston Drive, Cherry Hill, N. J.

Governor Scranton said Monday night his administration has made progress "in chopping fat out of state expenditures."

"But we know that we have a long way to go," the Governor added in remarks prepared for the Pennsylvania convention of the Kiwanis International at Albright College, Reading.

"I am determined that by the time I leave office, Pennsylvania will be more aware than ever of the need to fight continually for economy in government."

The Governor said "it's tough cutting the tentacles of the bureaucratic octopus," but listed these "signposts of progress along the road to waste-free government:"

Reduction of the state payroll by about 3,000 employees.

Purchasing procedures designed to cut 5 per cent of $5 million, out of the annual cost of materials purchased by the Commonwealth.

A crackdown on the unauthorized use of state autos, which the Governor claimed, resulted in the saving of $400,000.

Migration Costs State 204,000; Births Up 63,000

WASHINGTON—The Census Bureau has estimated that 204,000 more people moved out of Pennsylvania than moved into it during the two years ending in mid-1962.

However, the State gained in total population during that period because births exceeded deaths by 267,000. The net gain was 63,000.

Pennsylvania's population was estimated at 11,382,000 on July 1, 1962. It was 11,319,366 at the 1960 census.

Apparently there was a general movement of people out of areas of heavy unemployment.

West Virginia had a much greater loss proportionally than Pennsylvania. It lost 112,000 through net migration. Since its excess of births over deaths was only 48,000, the state had a net estimated population decline of 64,000.

The West Virginia population was estimated at 1,796,000 as of mid-1962.

Ohio was much more fortunate. It gained 25,000 through migration. This combined with 306,000 in excess of births over deaths made a net population increase of 332,000 in the two years, six times the Pennsylvania gain.

Ohio was listed for 10,038,000 population in mid-1962. That is more than a million behind Pennsylvania.

As was the case in the previous decade, the big gainers among the states were Florida and the Far Western states of California, Arizona, Nevada and Hawaii.

West Virginia, Vermont and Missouri were the only ones with net losses in total population, but a number of Eastern and Midwestern states had small gains similar to Pennsylvania's. Illinois had a migration loss of 287,000, even more than Pennsylvania's.

Newfoundland's Sense of Humor

OTTAWA—Names show a sense of humor and the Canadian island province of Newfoundland claims a record in this department.

It boasts such places as Jerry's Nose, Nick's Nose Cove, Bumble Bee Bight, Ha Ha Bay, Blow-me-down, Run-by-guess, Little Hooping Harbour and Joe Batt's Arm.

On the sadder side, there are Gripe Point, Bad Bay, Bleak Island, Heartbreak Point, Confusion Bay and Wreck Cove.

VINE GROWS PLACES

MODESTO, Calif.—This squash vine wanted to grow places. It sprouted in Mrs. Georgia Carlson's yard, traveled into Joe Wilson's yard, then climbed 10 feet up into a peach tree. Still energetic, it produced 17 large squash.

Draft Here To Stay Claims Hershey

WASHINGTON—Lieutenant-General Lewis B. Hershey says the military draft system he has directed for two decades now is a permanent and necessary feature of American life.

The veteran Selective Service director made his comment in testimony last winter before a House appropriations subcommittee and it was made public today.

Prehistoric Ice Saved For Tests

CHICAGO—Ice can get too cold for its own good, reports the Cardox Division of Chemetron Corporation.

The ice, gathered from the Antarctic, Alaska, Canada and Greenland, will be studied as part of U. S. polar research. Had the temperature dropped too low during the journey, Cardox says, the extreme cold might have cracked the ice and destroyed much of its scientific value.

Young Whistler In Household

HOUSTON—Sixteen-month-old Renee Cortez of Houston can already be pretty fresh with the boys—she whistles.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cortez, said she first started whistling when she was around a year old.

"My husband and I whistle around the house and she just started puckering up herself," Mrs. Cortez said.

Attend the Church of Your Choice Regularly

Indian Summer

This is our Indian Summer, when field and hill and woodland unite in glorious blazes of color. Never have the clouds seemed so full, the skies so blue, the days so right for living.

It is also the time when we prepare for things to come. Granaries are filled. Fences are mended. Roofs are repaired.

And over town and country alike drift the autumn's two most beloved trademarks:—the sharp, clean scent of burning leaves, and the familiar aroma of the kitchen, where fruits and vegetables are slowly simmering into goodness on the fires. . . .

The hand of God—the "Great Provider"—is everywhere evident now. But throughout the year, God provides for us in an even more important way, if we but give Him the chance. Through Him, we can all prepare for coming events by fortifying our souls with a faith that cannot be shaken, no matter how severely our hearts and minds are tried.

Be of good courage and he shall strengthen your heart, all ye that hope in the Lord. —Psalms 31:24

We need the material security so evident everywhere in America in Indian Summer. But we also need a spiritual storehouse of moral reserve that only our churches can help us to build. No man can neglect it. And by attending church regularly, he will learn a great, though simple truth:—that the strength of God is also his own.

Electric Drying Is 'Better Than Sunshine'

This is the homemaker's typical reaction to drying clothes in an electric dryer—especially in the wintertime. And no wonder! The electric dryer has brought clothes drying from the backyard to the inside comfort and convenience of the home.

No longer is it necessary on washday for homemakers to subject themselves and the family laundry to the wear and tear of weather. Electric drying is truly an all-weather convenience and, unlike the weather, it is kind to fabrics and colors. With flameless electric drying, clothes stay as clean as when they were taken from the washer. Because there are no fumes, clothes don't pick up any soot and come out of the dryer completely odorless. Since flameless drying is fast, clothes can be ready to wear again in minutes instead of the hours required by the old-fashioned clothesline method. In addition, clothing and linens dry with a minimum of wrinkles to make ironing easier.

Attracted by convenience, ease of installation, low purchase, operation and maintenance costs, almost a million American families purchased flameless electric dryers last year. They are discovering for themselves that electric clothes dryers last year. They are discovering for themselves that electric clothes drying is "better than sunshine."

with a flameless electric dryer

Flameless, fumeless electric clothes drying is truly care-free. No soot, no pilot light to worry about, and your clothes come out sunshine fresh. You save money, too, when you buy an electric dryer—as much as $50 over a flame-type model. Electric dryers have one-third fewer parts than other types of dryers, so you save money on repairs, too.

In homes of many West Penn customers, electric dryers can simply be plugged in. In any case, installation is easy and low cost—no fuel pipes or flue required.

So, waltz your way happily through washday with a money-saving, flameless electric dryer. See your dealer—he will be glad to show you a wide selection of models and features.

Many dealers are holding laundry demonstrations this fall. Plan to attend one—you'll find it well worthwhile.

Conservation of Wild Animals of World Is Ultimate Aim of New Wildlife Fund

All over the world wildlife is in trouble.

In Saudi Arabia less than 100 of the shy and beautiful Arabian Oryx remain due in large part to the persistent hunting of this species by Arabs in jeeps using machine guns.

In Italy robins, nightingales, thrushes, and skylarks can be bought in poultry shops.

In Somali leopards are threatened as a fad for leopard-skin fur coats grows.

In the Malagasy Republic (Madagascar) tree dwelling lemurs are decreasing as forests are cut and hunting is unrestricted.

In the Galapagos Islands one of the most unique communities of plants and animals in the world is being decimated by what can only be called vandalism by visitors to these largely unprotected islands.

In the United States bald eagles and ospreys decline rapidly as research shows an increasing accumulation of DDT in their eggs making them infertile. And only a comparative handful of grizzly bears remain as their habitat disappears and shooting takes a yearly toll.

In Africa all the remaining great animal herds are threatened, with the rhinoceros already on the ragged edge of extinction.

All in all over 1000 species of animals have been brought to the border of extermination as an exploding world population clears land, drains swamps, fells forests, shoots indiscriminately pollutes air, water, and soil, and gives too little protection to the other creatures on our planet.

Now, into this situation has stepped a new organization called the World Wildlife Fund. The fund was organized specifically to raise money which in turn will be channeled to existing conservation organizations to help in their efforts to save wildlife and the wild places animals must have to exist.

Already the fund has financed wholly or in part well over 30 projects. Some of these are:

The purchase in Iceland of a remote oasis of ice and lava which was scheduled for soft-wood forestry development but which will now form Iceland's first national park.

The acquisition in Spain of a part of a famous Marismas at the mouth of the Guadalquivir River. This will help save one of the most important marshlands wilderness areas in Europe, home of the last flamingos in Spain, and site of several breeding places of the Spanish Imperial Eagle, now down to 150 individuals.

In Arabia three of the Arabian Oryx have been caught by an expedition with the hope that these will form a breeding stock to help establish a reserve population of these very rare antelopes.

Support has been given for a new research station set up on the Galapagos Islands which it is hoped can help save the dwindling populations of the giant tortoise, the Galapagos penguin, the Galapagos flightless cormorant, and other species unique to these islands.

In the United States and Canada the fund has given support to the campaign to save the whooping crane of which only 48 existed in the spring of 1962.

In Borneo an effort is being made to save the orangutan whose total numbers are dwindling rapidly.

These are only a few of the projects the fund is supporting. The fund estimates it will need $3,000,000 a year to carry out its plans. It is hoped this money can be raised from interested groups and individuals all over the world.

Why should we save our wildlife?

Wildlife is part of every country's natural heritage. In its beauty, variety, and endless source of interest it is a natural resource that every country should protect and pass on to the next generation unimpaired. Some countries are finding their animals and birds great tourist attractions.

Experiments in Africa have shown that the remaining animal herds not only draw hundreds of tourists each year, but that the herds can also be managed as valuable sources of meat.

The World Wildlife Fund likes to think of itself as a sort of modern Noah's Ark. The wildlife it helps to save today will be here to delight our grandchildren and their grandchildren for years to come.

What are the problems wildlife is having in your country or community?

Errors in Letters Linked to Boss

NEW YORK—Note to executives: If your letters are error-prone lately the trouble may be with your dictation, not your secretary's typing. A testing firm, Buyers Laboratory, Inc. discovered in tests of dictating equipment that errors are likely if names are dictated without being spelled, if the dictator's enunciation is poor, if he excessively raises or lowers his voice and if words unfamiliar to the secretary are used.

Tetanus Deaths Unnecessary, Says AMA Health Official

Despite the outpouring of new "wonder" drugs, man's ancient enemy, tetanus, has not yet succumbed to a cure. Even so, death from tetanus, or "lockjaw" as it is commonly called, is "almost entirely unnecessary," says Raymond L. White, M.D., Director of Environmental Medicine for the American Medical Association.

"As a disease, tetanus is completely preventable," Dr. White noted. "The only reason it persists is that people fail to get immunized, or fail to maintain their immunity. Out of sheer neglect, three-fourths of the people don't have the protection they need."

Puncture wounds are a common cause of tetanus.

"If it weren't for medicine's continual concern over the possibility of tetanus—if practically every time a physician saw a wound he didn't take precautions against tetanus—the disease would rank much higher among human killers."

Tetanus is caused by a deadly poison emitted by certain bacteria which contaminate certain types of wounds—especially puncture wounds, or wounds with imbedded dirt.

The bacteria itself cannot survive long enough in the open air to infect wounds. But its seeds or spores can.

Tetanus spores are usually produced by bacteria growing within the air-free intestinal tracts of mammals, including man, and reach the ground in animal manure. Within the intestines, bacteria cause no harm to their host, other than to serve as factories for the production of spores.

Once on the ground the spores, which are unaffected by air, and are borne great distances on the wind, can survive for as long as 11 years. Besides cultivated land, they are commonly found in household dust and the grime of city streets. Some have even been detected in hospital operating rooms—tracked in on street shoes.

The spores in some sections of the country are nearly as common as dirt, and await only the right kind of wound to start their chain of infection.

Because of its peculiar nature, tetanus has never been a mass killer like some infectious diseases. It is, however, a vicious enemy, killing 60 per cent of those it strikes.

Development of immunity against tetanus, says Dr. White, requires a series of inoculations —three injections four weeks apart, followed within six to twelve months by a booster dose. To maintain this protection, additional booster shots are necessary every four years.

"Protection," he said, "should begin early in life—one to two months after birth—for the scrapes and falls of childhood offer tetanus many opportunities."

"But adults need protection too. With the new emphasis on outdoor living, with accidents on the increase and with the spore of tetanus in the dust and dirt all about us, we can only look forward to an increase in this deadly disease unless we make better use of our good sense, get immunized and keep immunized."

Mrs. C. C. Rush Again Heads Drive For Girl Scouts

Mrs. Calvin C. Rush of Waynesburg, has again accepted chairmanship of the 1963 Girl Scout Fund Campaign, which will be held now through October 12.

Mrs. Rush is the leader of a local Brownie Scout Troop; president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Greene County Medical Society; president of the Children's Literary Guild, and president of the Children's Library Association.

The Greene County Girl Scout organization is part of the Southwestern Pennsylvania Council, which is a member agency of all Community Funds in its territory, which also includes Allegheny County, Fayette County, Washington County and part of Somerset County in Pennsylvania, and Monongalia and Preston Counties in West Virginia.

Where there is no community takes upon itself the obligation of raising its own funds and coincides its drives in non-chest areas at the same time of the year as Chest and Fund drives are held. Solicitations are made to business, industry and friends of Girl Scouting.

"When Greene County became a part of the Southwestern Pennsylvania Council just a year ago, it began to receive the wide services which only a large Council is able to offer."

Mrs. Rush stated: "Girls in the Council have a wide choice in selecting camp sites, either for themselves on an individual basis at one of the three established camps, or with days or for week end camping at the ten Council cabin sites throughout the area." Mrs. Rush pointed out. "All of the camp sites are maintained from Council funds."

"The cookie and peanut sale held by Scouts also provides funds which do two important things quite separate from the on-going services. Mostly cookies build camps, but they also in-cent."

Open House for Mrs. Bertie Boord

The 90th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Bertie Bayles Boord will be celebrated with open house in the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boord of Greensboro, with whom she resides.

Friends are invited to call after two o'clock.

Mrs. Boord's husband, Raymond Boord, died several years ago.

She is very active and is an expert gardener.

Mrs. Boord is also an active member of Taylortown Methodist Church.

Trailer Home Is Overstuffed

FORT BENNING—Mrs. Robert T. Smith was faced with a problem when she won living room and dining room and dining room furniture, a billiard table, electrical appliances and 1,500 pieces of linen on a television show. She and her Army captain husband live in a trailer here. Her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Swan Haworth of Louisville, Ky., came to the rescue by offering to store the loot, until the Smiths move into a house.

Pennsylvania, Kentucky Riflemen Shoot-Out to End October 12

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — In the late 18th and early 19th century Pennsylvania gunsmiths, mostly of German extraction, hand-crafted a long, muzzle-loading rifle of amazing accuracy.

The weapon was used extensively in Pennsylvania's forest fastness and throughout the Appalachian region, but achieved prominence as the ultimate weapon of its time in the wilderness of Eastern Kentucky—the historic "Dark and Bloody Ground."

In the hands of intrepid pioneers, the long rifle was often the difference between survival or death at the hands of Indians.

Daniel Boone, himself native to Reading, Pa., highlighted a score of names deeply etched in America's history books who depended on the long rifle for protection.

Adventurers such as Boone, Kenton, Clark, Harrod and others stired the imaginations of youthful readers in elementary school history courses. These early settlers, often ambushed and nearly always outnumbered, depended on the long rifle as the "equalizer" against the fiercest Indian tribes the white man had yet encountered in the New World.

The long rifle was, and is, accurate on a squirrel at 70 paces and often spelled the difference between game on the table or dreary meatless diets.

It was the long rifle, fired by General Andrew Jackson's ragtag army, which sent withering fire into the ranks of England's finest during the War of 1812 and brought the collapse of crack British regiments in the battle of New Orleans.

Its fame and place in history thus assured, the long rifle became known as the Kentucky Long Rifle, after the state in which it reached its peak in development and use. Then it slipped into obsolescence and oblivion as the breech-loader replaced it.

Some Pennsylvania historians, nettled at the appellation "Kentucky Long Rifle" for a gun originally crafted in the Keystone State, stirred the dust of history by insisting the weapon should properly be, "the Pennsylvania Long Rifle." Kentucky historians were quick to take advantage at the Pennsylvanians' claim and the feud was on. Claims and counter-claims bounced across the two states and in the spring of this year the feud became white-hot in intensity.

Colonel George Chinn, director of the Kentucky historical society, took dead aim at Pennsylvania historians with a stinging riposte:

"They made Mononaghela rye whisky up there that was only fit for lamp oil and it took Kentuckians to show them how to make bourbon. They made a rifle too, but it took Kentuckians to show them how to use it. They are the claimingest people . . ."

History buffs may argue the critical point where war broke out between Pennsylvania and Kentucky this spring; but this much is known—things became very lively after Colonel Chinn's remarks last April.

On the last week of May Pennsylvania couriers broke through the Cumberland Gap and were captured soon thereafter outside Middlesboro, Ky., in rugged Southeastern Kentucky. After a brief interrogation, armed Kentuckians (long rifles, naturally) allowed them to proceed to Kentucky's capital city of Frankfort to deliver their challenge for a shoot-out.

The Pennsylvanians were kept under close surveillance by Kentucky riders until they arrived at Frankfort early in June. There, Governor Combs extended the hospitality of the Bluegrass State to the weary riders and formally accepted the challenge for a shoot-out to determine the claims to the long rifle.

Originally Governor Combs was to travel with a team of 10 Kentucky marksmen and have a face-to-face encounter with Governor Scranton near Reading. In a home-and-home arrangement, Governor Scranton was to come to Kentucky and have a return engagement at Barbourville, Ky., in the Southeastern Kentucky mountain country.

Affairs of state precluded this arrangement and the two shoot-outs will be held with the governor of each state presiding when the match is on home ground.

Ten Kentucky marksmen were selected in qualifying trials near Boston, Ky., last July and they traveled to Reading, Pa., for a shoot-out with the Pennsylvanians.

The 10-man Kentucky team scored 310 points of a possible 500 to top the Pennsylvania's by 10 points in the first phase of the match held on a target range set up on the grounds of Boone's homestead near Baumstown.

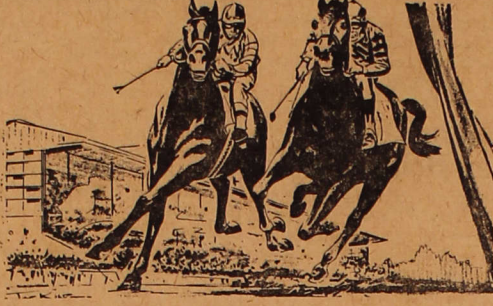

Richard Hujsa, of Allentown, shot a perfect score along with two Kentucky team members.

The stand-up shoot was at a turkey head target at 25 yards. The other two were the prone

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day Winner Take All

The racing of Thoroughbreds began as an argument as to whose horse was the swifter and for many years, most races were matches. Today the match race is a rare event. Narragansett Park was, in September of 1942, the scene of one of the more memorable match races of this century. It was brought about by the quick thinking of the late Judge James E. Dooley, president of Narragansett Park and later president of Thoroughbred Racing Associations (TRA). Whirlaway, the long-tailed hero of Calumet Farm, and Alsab, a $700 yearling turned wonder horse, had been scheduled to meet in the Narragansett Special, but Alsab shipped poorly and was scratched at the last minute. Whirlaway had previously passed up the Washington Park Handicap and the two partisan camps accused each other of "ducking the issue". Judge Dooley promptly offered a $25,000 winner-take-all purse to bring the two together the following week. The event billed as the Narragansett Championship was at weight for age at 1-3/16 miles. Both horses habitually raced behind the pace. In the match, George Woolf, on Whirlaway chose to let Carroll Bierman "set the pace". Bierman didn't try to run away and hide but "waited in front" and when Woolf made his move, Alsab held off Whirlaway's charge and won by a nose. While the race settled no argument it provided a thrilling chapter in racing history.

Red Raiders Blanked by Fort Cherry Hickory Men Too Much for Red Raiders

Fort Cherry High School from Hickory trampled on Waynesburg's Red Raiders, 19-0, Friday night at Hickory.

Fort Cherry has an unblemished record in four straight games. Bill Haley, quarterback, and Dick Brown, halfback, took on most of the running for the Hickory men.

The Raiders threatened only in the fourth quarter after they received a punt deep in their own territory. The Raiders then came up with four consecutive first downs on several fine runs by Wendel Butcher, Junior Diggs and Ken Clark.

However, the Raiders were faced with a fourth down situation on Fort Cherry's 15 and an incomplete pass ended the threat.

Both Jeff Criss and Diggs suffered injuries in the hard-fought battle. Criss recuperated enough to come back into the game but Diggs was sidelined with a wrist injury.

position at 50 yards and any style at 50 yards.

The second division of the match is set for October 12 at Barbourville, Ky.

Somewhat under a cloud is what will happen should each state win one match without a clearcut margin of victory. This may be resolved by supporters of Americana who are promoting an animal shoot-out between the two states.

It may take more than two shoot-outs to settle the controversy which has spread to areas beyond the long rifle.

One of the Pennsylvania horsemen referred to Kentucky's state bird, the cardinal, as "a Pennsylvania sparrow with high blood pressure."

A fuming Kentuckian retorted, "Merion bluegrass is Kentucky bluegrass with snob appeal."

It is hoped the shoot-out, or shoot-outs, will settle the riddle: "When is a Kentucky Long Rifle not a Kentucky long rifle?"

Keystone Staters see the solution as an easy one: "When it's a Pennsylvania Long Rifle . . . like it's always been."

It appears to be all over but the shootin'—and that may go on forever.

Jeffs Lose to Rostraver 24-12; First Defeat

Jefferson-Morgan took a loss Thursday night from Rostraver, 24-12, on the Jeff's field.

The fleet left halfback from Rostraver ran 40 yards on a reverse for the winners' first score and banged his way over tackle for the final score late in the game.

Warren Hughes, the visiting fullback, rammed a half yard for the winners' second score but it came immediately after Burkes had raced 32 yards to within inches of the goal line.

Galloway made their other score from one yard out following an advance from the Rostraver 24 after a punt exchange.

Jefferson scored in the second and fourth periods but were scoreless the other two. John Yaska got the first one on a pass from Keith Haney, the play covering six yards.

Manfredi set the scoring drive in motion with a pass interception on the Rostraver 49. Gaine of 12, 15 and eight yards by Jim Gilmer put the ball up to the scoring spot.

Gilmer bulled his way from one yard out for Jefferson's other touchdown. Rostraver had punted to the Jefferson 35. Two quick passes gained 22 and 21 yards, respectively. Two plays later it was in the scoring position.

Black bears are notoriously unpredictable and there is no such thing as a "tame" bear. He also warned anyone seeing a bear, either in the woods or at dumps, to stay well away from the animal.

Golden pointed out that bears at this time of year are on the move seeking extra food before going into their winter sleep. He said that a shortage of natural food such as beechnuts, acorns and berries in some areas is causing a few bears to abandon their normal fear of man and raid garbage pails, dumps and other sources of food in some rural communities. Golden said that under the law the Game Commission can and does pay for bear damage to bee hives and livestock but there is nothing they can do to prevent bears from raiding dumps or causing damage to personal property.

Waynesburg Takes 2nd Straight Win; Scarry's Men Come from Behind

Quarterback Harry Theofiledes put on a sensational offensive show in the second half in Williamsport, Saturday as Waynesburg overcame a 12-0 halftime deficit and defeated Lycoming, 30-12.

Theofiledes, a sophomore from Homestead, threw three touchdown passes and scored two touchdowns.

First, he connected on a 52-yarder to Wayne Fullerton and followed this up with scoring flings of 20 and 21 yards to Bob Gary. Then he capped his outstanding performance with touchdown runs of two and 19 yards.

The victory was the second in a row this season for Coach Scarry's Yellow Jackets.

County Track Club Walkers Win at Toronto

TORONTO, Ontario, Canada — John Harwick paced the Greene County Track Club to an upset win over the favored Gladstone A. C. in the Canadian National 50-kilo (31 miles) race walk championship Sunday at nearby Camp Borden.

Rounding out the Greene County team were John Caldwell and Steve Sendek. Harwick was fourth in 5:38.02, Caldwell ninth in 6:58.30, and Sendek tenth in 7:01.15.

Harwick made his highest finish in national competition as he bettered his previous best of seventh. He also turned in his fastest 50-kilo time as he knocked 31 minutes off his previous best time (6:07.07).

Sixteen-year-old Caldwell, making his first start at a distance greater than 10-kilo, is probably the youngest athlete who ever competed in a 50-kilo race walk.

Alex Oakley of the Oshawa Track and Field Club, won the event in record time. Felix Capella of the Gladstone A. C., was runnerup, and Bruce MacDonald of the New York A. C., finished in third place.

Oakley represented Canada in the 1956 and 1960 Olympics while MacDonald competed for the United States in 160. Both were in the 50-kilo event in 1960.

Winner of 30 Races Arrives At Waterford Park

Owner-trainer George Schatz, leading trainer at Waterford Park last fall, has arrived with 17 thoroughbreds that he will race for the remainder of the current meeting that ends on December 14.

Heading the list of horses that were shipped in from East St. Louis is the consistent campaigner Suncastr, an old favorite with Tri-state fans, that has won 18 races at Waterford Park during the past five years and entered the winners' circle on 30 occasions during the period from October 18, 1958 to date.

Civil Service Exam Scheduled

More than 200 new jobs in county boards of assistance will be filled from civil service lists to be set up as a result of examinations scheduled November 2 for resources examiners, the State Civil Service Commission has announced. The final date to apply is October 9.

Paul Corder, manager of Waynesburg Bureau of Employment Security, said at least one position will be established for most Public Welfare offices of assistance. Persons selected for appointment as resources examiners will investigate the ability of applicants to pay for hospital care or other medical assistance programs.

Applicants must be residents of Pennsylvania and high school graduates with three years' experience in public contact work. One year of experience must have been in work involving the investigation, examination or evaluation of income or resources. Examples of suitable experience include the investigation of insurance claims or applications for credit or loans, and auditing of financial records. Candidates with college training may substitute training for experience on a year-for-basis.

Written tests will be held at some or all of the following cities: Allentown, Altoona, Clearfield, DuBois, Erie, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, and Williamsport.

Applications may be obtained at the county boards of assistance; local offices, Pennsylvania State Employment Service; and the State Civil Service Commission, Harrisburg.

U. S. Health Bill Hits $22 Billion

NEW YORK — The American people spent an estimated $22,700,000,000 last year to maintain their health and remedy their ailments, the Health Insurance Institute reported.

The billions averaged $124 for each man, woman and child in the nation.

The money paid hospital, doctor, druggist, dentist, nursing home and other health-connected bills.

Pure food and drink are hard to come by, according to public health authorities.

Many people have protested against interference with natural food by the use of insecticides, pesticides and food additives.

On the other hand, food authorities maintain that without the effective use of chemical agents it could become impossible to meet national needs in respect to production of fruits, grains and vegetables.

The protection of food from unscrupulous or dangerous adulteration is about 100 years old.

The first national legislation in this regard took place in England in 1860 after a member of the medical profession had been campaigning for years to have the Englishman's food made safe for consumption.

In the United States in 1906, the first general food and drug law was passed.

Only in recent years has the civilized world come to realize that its water resources are not inexhaustible and have too often been rendered undrinkable.

Efforts to restrain water pollution have been slowed down by various factors.

Yet more water is being used now than ever before and the supply is dwindling.

At the same time more wastes are being discharged into water supplies and the pollution is becoming greater.

Keeping the human race supplied with food and drink of good quality is becoming increasingly difficult.

It calls for eternal and constant research.

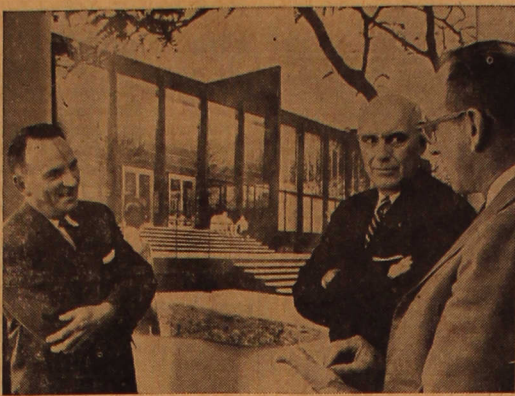

The medical profession is on the alert to detect food-borne or water-borne disorders in their patients.

Symphony Begins 37th Season

The Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra launches the 37th annual subscription series of concerts at Syria Mosque Friday night with music of Mozart, Tschalkowsky, Debussy, and Ravel. William Steinberg, who conduct the program which will be repeated on Sunday afternoon, October 6.

The symphony will play twenty-two pairs of subscription concerts at Syria Mosque this season. The season is now 29 weeks' long and will end April 26.

Of all the concerts scheduled in the subscription series this season by the orchestra, only the first pair are without soloists. Generally, the first pair of concerts are reserved exclusively for orchestral works.

This week's concerts will include performances of Mozart's Overture to "The Magic Flute," Tschalkowsky's Sixth Symphony, Debussy's Rondes de printemps, and Ravel's Bolero. "Cellist Zara Nelsova and violinist Godfrey Layesfsky will perform in solo roles with the symphony at Syria Mosque, October 11 and 13.

Drought Area Loans to Farmers In District

"The second year of drought in Pennsylvania has caused one of the worst livestock feeding problems for many farmers in the State," Raymond J. Kerstetter, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, said today.

To ease the burden on the farmers of Pennsylvania, the Farmers Home Administration has declared 42 counties emergency loan areas. This Federal aid program is authorized to make loans at 3% to farmers who cannot obtain credit from other sources.

"The main purpose of the emergency loan program is to help farmers preserve and maintain foundation herds of cattle until they can produce feed for them," Mr. Kerstetter said.

Reports received from F. H. A. county offices and the weather bureau indicated a deficiency in rainfall since April 1 in the designated counties from minus 5.26 inches in Wellsboro; 5.21 inches at Pittsburgh; 6.86 inches at Scranton, and minus 12.0 inches in Lancaster.

Emergency loans may also be made outside of designated counties to eligible applicants who have suffered severe production losses as a result of a natural disaster.

Funds may be advanced for the purchase of feed, seed, fertilizer, insecticides and farm supplies, the repair of equipment, payment of one year's taxes, rent, insurance and other essential farm and home operating expenses. Loans may not be made to refinance existing debts or to compensate applicants for their losses.

Applications can be made at the Farmers Home Administration Office, 67 West Cherry Avenue, Washington, Pa.

To be eligible a farmer must be primarily engaged in farming and have reasonable prospects for success in the farming operations he plans to carry on.

Repayment schedules depend upon purposes for which funds are advanced and upon the estimated income of the applicant. Loans for feed are to be repaid as livestock or livestock products are sold; loans for crop production are repayable when income from the crop is normally received, and loans for permanent seedings can be repaid over periods up to the expected life of the seedings.

Adequate security is obtained to protect the Government's interest.
