Carter Carries County; Reagan Carries Nation

WAYNESBURG — Greene County voters swam against the national tide Tuesday in giving President Jimmy Carter 58 percent of their votes.

Complete unofficial returns from the county's 51 precincts placed the final total at 8,196 to 5,333 in favor of the president over Republican challenger Ronald Reagan, with independent John B. Anderson picking up just 454 votes for a three percent showing.

County Commissioner Richard Cowan, who served as Reagan-Bush chairman in the county, said he was "naturally very pleased" with the nationwide result.

"It looks like a very definite shift in attitude toward government at both the state and national level," he said.

He also noted that while Reagan had carried only eight precincts in the county, his vote total exceeded the Republican registration by some 1,500 votes and he did somewhat better than Gerald Ford did four years ago in running against Carter.

William C. Groves, chairman of the Greene County Democratic committee, expressed satisfaction with the county vote but disappointment in the national result.

"I was most surprised at the magnitude of the Reagan victory," he said. "I knew there was a lot of dissatisfaction in the country, but I didn't think it was so great."

Groves said he was particularly proud of the turnout of voters in the county, which was far above the national average.

A total of 14,207 of the county's 17,478 registered residents cast ballots, for a showing of 81.2 percent.

When it came to comparisons, Carter ran low among Democratic candidates in the county. The best showing in a contested race was made by Congressman Austin J. Murphy, who garnered 78 percent of the county's votes in his landslide victory over Republican Marilyn Coyle Ecoff.

Decomposed Body Found In Old Barn

By JIM MOORE
Staff Writer

BLACKSVILLE — The badly decomposed body of a Morgantown murder victim was found in an abandoned barn on coal company property near here Thursday evening by West Virginia State Police. News of the gruesome discovery was not made public until Friday morning when a suspect was arrested.

Police found the body of 65-year-old W.E. Stamper, a resident of the Airport Motel in Morgantown, under the wooden floor of the barn which is located at the intersection of Township Routes 351 and 526 in Wayne Township.

The farm on which the barn is located was known locally as the Doc Phillips farm. The land is now owned by Consolidation Coal Co. and is about two miles north of the Blacksville No. 1 mine and the West Virginia border.

Lodged in the Monongalia County Jail is Georgann Lewis, 26, of Morgantown, a mother who is separated from her husband. No bond was set because the court must first appoint an attorney to represent her in the case.

According to Charles Behm, deputy Greene County coroner, the body was underneath the floor boards which in turn were partially covered with hay. "The victim was wearing a pair of trousers and a shirt and he appeared to have been dead for a long time," Behm said.

According to state police in Morgantown, Stamper was reported missing on June 20. Police said they believed they had a motive in the case but refused to give further details. They also said another arrest will probably be made in the case within a few days.

The body of the victim was removed to the West Virginia University Medical Center for examination.

According to a spokesman at the motel where Stamper lived, he was retired and had been living at the motel for about three years. He was reported missing by his ex-wife according to a motel employee. "He told us he was going to Florida," the spokesman said.

According to other sources, Mrs. Lewis is a friend of Donald Smith, 30, of Morgantown, who was arrested about two weeks ago for the murder of Lonnie E. Hinerman whose body was found along the Monongahela River in Pt. Marion early in September.

There is speculation on the part of authorities that the motive in both murders was robbery. There was no identification found on either body.

Supreme Court Rules In Child Award Case

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pennsylvania Supreme Court, entering an international tug-of-war over the custody of two children, Friday upheld a Danish decree awarding custody to the mother.

The court upheld a Superior Court ruling which said Greene County Court erred in awarding custody of the boy and girl to their father, Thomas Zaubi.

The high court ruled that the children, Thomas, 10, and Kirstine, who will be 7 on Sunday, should remain with their mother, Marianne Hoemje, a Danish citizen.

The high court said the state's Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction Act compels courts to recognize decrees from foreign nations.

Courts can modify foreign decrees if there is physical or emotional harm, but the Supreme Court said this wasn't shown to be the case.

The mother filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in Greene County Court in May 1978. That court awarded custody to the father, contending he showed harmful conditions that required the change of custody.

The high court ruled, however, that the ruling was based on facts which had previously been litigated and resolved against the father in Denmark.

A dissenting opinion of the court said the best interests of the children have been subordinated to avoid a jurisdictional conflict, violating a cardinal rule in custody matters.

The opinion said the mother engaged in an "international seize, run and sue pattern" and beat her husband to the courthouse door by taking the case to Danish courts.

The court said the mother took the children to Copenhagen, Denmark, in April 1975 without their father's consent. The father followed and attended court hearings in which a Danish court awarded a divorce decree and custody to the mother.

During a visitation period, and while awaiting an appeal, Zaubi fled to the U.S. with the children, court documents said.

The children's whereabouts were hidden from the mother for more than eight months, by shuttling them between Cleveland and Nemocolin, Pa.

Radio Equipment Okayed

By BOB EICHENLAUB
Greene News Editor

WAYNESBURG — Andy Busti, warden of the new Greene County jail, was authorized to purchase radio communications equipment for the jail at Friday's meeting of the Greene County commissioners.

A remote base station will be installed in the control room and four walkie talkies will be purchased for the use of guards so that they can communicate with the control officer when they are not at their guard stations, where telephones are located.

"When a guard is in a hallway and wants a door opened (they are electronically controlled from the central station) they won't have to return to their station to make a call," Busti said, adding that instant communications may be very important in other ways as well. "With this equipment, no member of the jail staff will ever be out of touch with other members."

He also said that installation of the base station will put the jail in radio communication with the sheriff's office in Waynesburg and the police central control station at state police headquarters.

Busti said he had obtained a low bid of $5,451 from the Motorola Corp. to furnish and install the equipment. He was authorized to proceed with the work, and also was asked to have the Motorola representative meet with John Higgins, county maintenance superintendent, relative to the purchase of equipment for his department.

The commissioners indicated they will establish a prison board to oversee administration of the jail in the near future, and after that has been done will schedule a meeting to review salaries for staff members.

Two requests for county financial support in 1981 were tabled for action when the county budget is adopted. One from Bowlby Public Library requested an allocation of $33,000, which is $3,000 more than was appropriated this year. The other request, with no amount of aid stipulated, came from Greene Valley Youth Activities at Jefferson.

It was announced that all county offices will be closed next Tuesday because of the election. The commissioners will not meet that day.

Veterans Day Parade Set

BOBTOWN — For the first time in the community's history, a Veterans Day Parade will be held in Bobtown thanks to the efforts of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Girl Scouts.

The parade will be held at noon Saturday, Nov. 8, with all units assembling at the Bobtown Elementary School and marching to the town's honor roll.

Immediately following the parade, the invocation will be offered by the Rev. John Cucaro of the Greek Catholic Church at Newtown and the Albert Gallatin High School band will play the national anthem.

Leonard Santore, Greene County commissioner and a former state commander of the VFW, will offer brief remarks. He will be introduced by Mike Danko, commander of VFW Post 5567.

Featured speaker for the ceremony will be Tom Davies, retired lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Army, who now resides in Morgantown.

Also taking part will be the Mapletown High School band and Grace Gould, a member of the VFW auxiliary who will present a wreath. James Brozik, chaplain of the VFW post, will also take part. Taps will be played by Edward Franks with the echo played by Nick Pekar. Joe Weaver Jr., of Taylortown, will give the benediction.

Parade commanders are John Pavlosky and John Wanto.

Three Injured In Accident

WAYNESBURG — Three women were injured in a three-car accident at 2:45 p.m. Tuesday at the intersection of Route 21 and the road leading to Waynesburg Central High School.

Diane Seaman, 25, Greensboro, was admitted to Greene County Memorial Hospital for observation and was listed in satisfactory condition. Mary Baley, 48, Carmichaels, and Vickie Gashie, 24, Greensboro, were released following treatment for cuts and bruises.

State police said cars operated by Baley and Gashie collided when the Baley car pulled onto Route 21 into the path of the Gashie car. The Baley vehicle then struck a car operated by Richard Welling, 59, Rices Landing, which was stopped at the intersection in front of the Bortz automobile agency.

Workshop On Energy

WAYNESBURG — Everything you've ever wanted to know about conserving energy and about alternate ways of heating your home can be learned this week at the Greene County Fairgrounds.

That, at least, is the goal of the Home Energy Fair to be held Thursday through Sunday, Nov. 6-9. It will involve inventors, engineers, college professors, exhibitors, farmers, students, community activists and others.

The forum will be a combination of speakers, workshops and exhibits dealing with the concepts of solar, wind, wood and alcohol-fuel energies, as well as home insulation and other methods of conservation.

People who are involved in innovative projects, such as the TERAD House project at West Virginia University and the New Village project in Fayette County — a partnership between a group of Pennsylvania residents and the Institute on Man and Science — will be on hand to tell what they are doing and what they hope to accomplish.

The Home Energy Fair will begin at 5 p.m. Thursday and something will be going on each morning, afternoon and evening thereafter until it comes to a close at 5 p.m. Sunday.

The fair is being sponsored by the Greene County Home Energy Alternatives Team (HEAT) in cooperation with the Association for Rural Conservation, Greater Waynesburg Area Chamber of Commerce, Greene County Vocational-Technical School, Cooperative Extension Service, Greene County Housing Plan, Operation Outreach, state Bureau of Forestry, Warrior Trail Community Union, Washington-Greene Community Action, Waynesburg college and Ryerson Station State Park.

Concepts of solar, wind and alcohol-fuel sources will be explored by people who have developed ways to implement these cheaper and safer forms of energy so that home owners and builders can afford to use them. They will show that such things as solar greenhouses, water heaters and wind generators can be used in this region.

Couple Spearheads Stop Sign Campaign

WAYNESBURG — An East Waynesburg couple is spearheading a campaign for the erection of a four-way stop sign at the intersection of Porter and Walnut Streets, one block north of the East Ward School.

Daniel and Shirley Shannon, whose house is located at the intersection, have circulated a petition and obtained the signatures of between 25 and 30 property owners in the neighborhood. They are also asking residents of the area to attend the Waynesburg Borough Council meeting on Nov. 10 to seek the support of council in petitioning the Department of Transportation to approve placement of stop signs on Porter Street, which is a state highway.

"Residents of the borough and other people who travel this road are quite aware that these problems exist," Shannon said. "PennDOT, which maintains this road, was petitioned for a four-way stop intersection in 1977 but the petition was denied."

"We feel the time to do something is now — before someone is killed or seriously injured. How many close calls or how much property damage has to be done before positive action is taken?"

The petition points out that Porter Street comes to a slight rise at Walnut Street, which prevents motorists from seeing beyond the rise, and that there is now way to prevent people from speeding.

It also notes that approximately 45 children walk from the north side of Porter Street to the East Ward School each day, and that it is principally a residential area with children constantly crossing the street. In addition, a school bus picks up and discharges children at the school on a daily basis.

Porter Street measures 27½ feet from curb to curb, but parking is permitted on one side which restricts the travel lanes to a total of 20 feet. Telephone poles and signs are set one foot from the curb.

Southeastern Greene Approves 'Plan Con'

By CHRISTIE MOLZON
Staff Writer

MAPLETOWN — The first part in a $4 million building renovation program for three elementary schools in the Southeastern Greene School District was approved by its board Thursday night.

The motion to approve Section A of the Plant and Construction (Plan Con) procedures and forward them to the Department of Education passed with one board member, Robert Headley, abstaining.

The plan calls for upgrading the Bobtown, Glassworks and Penn Pitt Elementary Schools. The report states the community rejected a single building concept "a couple of years ago," because it cherishes its neighborhood school concept.

The plans, which are not final, recommend the following renovations to include: Bobtown — special education, two kindergarten rooms, art, music, large group instruction, music practice and instrument storage, multi-purpose room with stage, new kitchen and storage area, health, an administrative suite and two additional classrooms.

Glassworks — kindergarten, multi-purpose room with stage, kitchen and storage area, administrative suite, faculty room, seminar room and one additional classroom.

Penn Pitt — four new classrooms, special education, art, music, large group instruction room, multi-purpose room with stage, kitchen and storage area, administrative suite and library.

Architect Robert Scheeren presented the report to the board, noting 10 additional classrooms have been added to the plans because of projected 1995-96 enrollments. The high school building, he noted, shows adequate space for any enrollment increases on that level. Scheeren told the board the building program will cost "a little over $4 million."

The board expects a response, in about three weeks, from the Department of Education on Section A. The Department of Education will also indicate how much reimbursement the district will get for making the renovations.

The board also revised the school calendar to make up eight missed school days. School was closed for seven days during a strike by the non-professional employees. The revision has classes scheduled for Nov. 11, Feb. 13 and 16, April 16 and 20, and June 1, 2, and 3.

The board delayed any action on correcting the sewage treatment plant at the high school. The Department of Environmental Resources has cited the district for the faulty system.

4-H Achievement Awards Presented

WAYNESBURG — Selection of a king and queen and presentation of a number of awards highlighted the annual 4-H Achievement Night program at the Greene County fairgrounds.

Murray Hoy of Waynesburg R.D.4 and Barb Varner of Waynesburg R.D.3 were elected 1980 4-H king and queen. Both are members of the county lamb club and serve on 4-H County Council.

Senior attendants were Mike Belding of Waynesburg R.D.2 and Melanie Bennett of Mt. Morris. Junior attendants were Dustin Donaldson of Pine Bank and Sharon McDougal of Spraggs.

Achievement Night is held each fall to climax the 4-H club year in the county, and those who won awards during the year are recognized.

Carol Mooney Adamson of Brave Star Route and James McDougal of Spraggs were selected for the annual 4-H Alumni Awards on the basis of their contributions to the 4-H program, both during the time they were in the program and as adult leaders.

Roger W. Smith, county 4-H leader, gave the address of welcome and conducted the program.

Plaques presented to the outstanding 4-H boy and girl by the Farm Credit Cooperative went to June Morgan and Jim Batcho.

Miss Morgan, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morgan of Waynesburg R.D.3, has been in 4-H for nine years and has assumed leadership roles in the East Franklin Home Ec Club and county program.

Bateho, son of Mrs. Jackie Cowell of Spraggs, is a junior leader in the crafts club he helped organize; is president of the Mt. Morris Horse and Pony Club and County Council, and has been active in county, regional and state activities.

The Danforth Awards, which go to the boy and girl who show character and leadership in their 4-H work, were presented to Vicki LaCount, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert LaCount of Waynesburg R.D.2, and Jeff Mooney, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mooney of Sycamore R.D.1.

Miss LaCount has been a member of the East Franklin Club for seven years, was a dress revue winner this year, and is a teen leader. Mooney has been a club member for eight years with projects in the beef, swine and dairy clubs. He is a member of the livestock judging team and has taken part in regional and state activities.

Recognition was given to 13 members from throughout the county who took part in the Leadership Congress at Penn State in June; to winners in both the senior and junior division at the annual Dress Revue; to those who attended Kamp Kon-O-Kowee; those who attended State Capital Days at Harrisburg, and winners in the county, district and state horse shows.

Jeff Mooney, Jamie Henry, Clark Patterson, Matt Belding and Mark Belding comprised the county livestock judging team which competed at the Livestock Exposition at Harrisburg in October, while Leah Hoy, Eva Willison, Pam Pecjak were on the horse judging team which took part in the state contest held at Penn State.

Rob Haines was recognized as representing the county at the district dairy show at Washington, while June Morgan was cited as county winner in food, nutrition and clothing in the national metal awards competition.

Peggy Brown was recognized as county winner of the 4-H poster contest, with Melanie Bennett having received a certificate for her poster theme, "4-H Pathway to Leadership."

The Background Of Integrity

There are millions of men in this world whose word is trusted—whose handshake is a binding contract—whose integrity others accept without question.

We've come a long way from the days when a strong man and a stout club were the social graces.

And this growth in man's capacity for integrity has paralleled his growth in religious expression.

Of course, the cynics will point to men and nations who still live by the code of the cave man. Must we believe that the clock of progress has turned . . . is running backward?

The sound, the sensible, the sincere still feel the strength of God's Bible in every handshake. With their children they are finding new spiritual opportunity and hope in the churches they cherish.

Are you with them? Are you, too, pushing forward the frontiers of faith?

CHURCH COURSE

A four-hour "Christian Life and Witness Course" will be offered by the Bates Fork Baptist Church at Sycamore, at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 16.

The course is designed to teach those taking part how to lead others to a saving knowledge on a one-to-one basis, or it can develop counseling abilities for use in local church evangelistic meetings.

Registration must be made by Nov. 12 and the fee is $2.50. Those who desire baby-sitting services should make note of the fact on the registration form and list the ages of the children.

GUEST SPEAKER

Rev. Raymond L. Zents Sr. will be the featured speaker at a missionary service to be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, November 1, at the Brave Assembly of God Church.

Rev. Zents has been a missionary in Upper Volta for 34 years.

SUNDAY SERMON

Dr. Stewart Johnson will speak in the subject "Love Means Needing to Say You Are Sorry" when he speaks during this Sunday's 10:45 a.m. worship service at the First Baptist Church of Waynesburg. The Chancel Choir will sing under the direction of Gerald Manolas and Roger Smith will lead the moments from children. Sunday School at the church begins at 9:30 a.m.

Wade Reunion Big Success

The fourth annual Wade reunion was held Sunday, Oct. 26, at the Mt. Morris fire hall with approximately 120 attending. A covered dish dinner was served at noon.

President Sherlene Wade conducted the business meeting, during which plans were made to update some of the Wade family history. Those assigned to locate information were Mrs. Willis (Mildred) Blaker, Caroline B. Wade family, and Mrs. Marion (Sherlene) Wade, Francis Marion Wade family.

All officers were re-elected. In addition to Sherlene Wade, they are Bridget Ann Wade Benson, vice president, and Mrs. Ellen Campbell, secretary-treasurer. A musical program was presented by Bridget Benson, Valerie Campbell, Margie Fox and Kenneth Haines and games were conducted by Bridget Benson.

Prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Wade of Madison, Ind., who traveled the longest distance to attend; Mrs. Pearl Haines and Mrs. Martha Statler, mothers with most children present; Artie Wade Renner, oldest lady present; Furman Wade, oldest man present; Erin Lorraine Haines, youngest baby present. Mr. and Mrs. Cassius Wade were recognized for having been married 67 years.

The 1981 reunion will be held at the same place on the last Sunday in October.

GUEST SPEAKER — Rev. Russell Collett, of Clarion, will be guest speaker at the Waynesburg Church of the Nazarene at services to be held Sunday morning.

Rev. Collett started a new church in Clarion in June, 1978 and the church now has 168 members.

Sue and Steve Caudill of Saginaw, Michigan, will present a gospel concert at 7 p.m. Sunday.

WAYNESBURG FLORAL

Democrats Carry County By Substantial Margin

WAYNESBURG — All Democratic candidates won by substantial majorities in Greene County in Tuesday's presidential election.

Among Republican candidates, Ronald Reagan was making the best showing, but he was still running far behind President Jimmy Carter with just 35 percent of the county vote. Carter was rolling up more than 61 percent of the vote, with independent candidate John Anderson getting less than three percent.

The totals in the 41 precincts were 5,472 for Carter, 3,118 for Reagan and 271 for Anderson.

Marilyn Coyle Ecoff of Upper St. Clair by a margin of 6,983 to 1,727.

Senate seat, former Pittsburgh Mayor Pete Flaherty was again receiving the solid support he has always had from Greene County voters. He was leading Philadelphia Arlen Specter by a majority of 6,376 to 2,497.

Democrat Michael A. O'Pake was leading Republican LeRoy S. Zimmerman by 5,674 to 2,895. Among Republican candidates, Zimmerman's total was exceeded only by Reagan's.

trailing with 2,336 votes. State Treasurer Bob Casey, who was also running for re-election, had 5,500 votes to 2,422 for Republican R. Budd Dwyer.

Four Arrested In Uniontown Fights

UNIONTOWN — A Carmichaels man was among four persons injured and three other Carmichaels men were among four persons arrested in connection with fights and shootings which took place early Saturday morning at the Holiday Inn at Uniontown and fights at the Uniontown Hospital.

with Robert Earl Thompson, 33, Daisytown. During the fight, police said, Thompson allegedly shot Hixon in the leg. The three Carmichaels men were arrested as a result of the fight at Uniontown Hospital. Uniontown patrolman Ronald Machesky was injured while trying to break up the fight. State police said he was released following treatment for the injuries.

He was committed to the Fayette County jail in lieu of $5,000 bail. Phillip Dennis Riggi, 23, and Guy S. Riggi, 35, were arrested for disorderly conduct and were released after receiving citations at an arraignment before Magistrate Lawrence Blair.

Thompson was arrested on multiple charges and was arraigned before Magistrate Eugene Simmon. He was committed to Fayette County jail in lieu of $25,000 bail, but was later returned to the hospital and was admitted for treatment of injuries he suffered in the fights.

The second shooting at the motel took place about 3 a.m. when a man came to the lounge and demanded to see Thompson. When refused admittance, he fired through a door to the lounge and wounded Joseph Masciale, a bystander, in the face. He then fled on foot.

Brothers from Daisytown face charges in connection with two separate shootings. Charles Hixon, 21, Carmichaels, and Joseph Masciale, 22, North Versailles, are both listed in fair condition at Uniontown Hospital. They suffered gunshot wounds in two incidents at the Holiday Inn.

State police said the first shooting took place about 1 a.m. and was followed by a disturbance at the hospital about 2:30 a.m. in which a Uniontown city police officer was injured. The second shooting took place at the motel about 3 a.m.

State police said the violence broke out about 1 a.m. when Hixon became involved in a fight in the motel lounge.

Nemacolin Native Elected President Of Jr. College

By JOHN L. O'HARA Staff Writer

Dr. Stephen Korcheck, a native of Nemacolin who starred in both football and baseball at the former Cumberland Township High School and went on to a college education at George Washington University in Washington, D.C., has reached the pinnacle of scholastic achievement at the college level.

He was elected president of Manatee Junior College in Sarasota, Fla., last week. He was selected from a field of 134 educators considered for the position which was gradually narrowed down to a final group of three.

He immediately assumed the duties of his new position as he has served as acting president since last July.

Prior to entering the teaching profession, Korcheck was a professional baseball player. He was a catcher with the Washington Senators of the American League, and with whom he signed a contract immediately after graduating from college.

He maintained his residence in Washington, and during the winter months completed all of the requirements for his master's and doctorate in the education and school administration.

A visual impairment forced him to abandon his baseball career prematurely.

After completing his training in teaching and school administration, Korcheck joined the faculty at Manatee as a classroom teacher and baseball coach. He held a number of key positions at Manatee, including that of dean of academic affairs since 1976.

Because of his experience as both an athlete and professor, Korcheck has an unusual rapport with the students with whom he has worked in the classroom and in extra-curricular activities which often have a more direct relationship to their later lives.

Korcheck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Korcheck, were among the early residents of Nemacolin. His father is deceased but his mother, the former Anna Opest from Uniontown, still resides there.

Korcheck is the second member of his family to achieve the doctoral degree in an academic subject. His brother, Dr. Robert Korcheck, is a professor of English at California State College.

His other brother, Michael, a standout baseball player with the International League farm team of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was being groomed as the successor at shortstop for Pee Wee Reese at Brooklyn when he was fatally stricken with a kidney ailment.

The academic tradition is being continued in Korcheck's own family by his son, Stephen Jr., who is a sophomore in the United States Air Force Academy and his daughter, an undergraduate at Manatee College.

Korcheck and his wife and family plan to spend the Thanksgiving holidays at his mother's home in Nemacolin.

Another stop he will be certain to make while in Greene County will be at the home of his former high school coach, Al Cree, who is living in Carmichaels again after completing his long coaching and teaching career at Monongahela.

Authority Lowers Rates

WAYNESBURG — The Franklin Township Sewer Authority Tuesday night voted unanimously to reduce rates next year, approved the 1981 budget and accepted the resignation of one of its members.

The decision to reduce rates was made largely in light of higher than expected fees and assessments collected this year.

Next year, customers will be paying $6 instead of $10 for the first 1,000 gallons of water used $4 instead of $5 for each additional 1,000 gallons used.

Those who have private wells will pay $16 instead of $20 each month.

The authority expects to take in $718,305 in 1981 with $444,630 coming from initial funds and $131,500 from users. The bulk of the expenses will go to pay off the debt service, with $87,071 for interest payments and $62,500 to pay the sinking fund principal.

The authority accepted with regret the resignation of Harold Ray Strosnider who cited schedule problems caused by his job. Strosnider recommended the authority ask for the appointment of Jerry Hardy as his replacement.

The authority will recommend to the Franklin Township Supervisor — who must fill the vacancy — that Hardy be appointed for the unexpired portion of Strosnider's term.

In other action, the authority agreed to ask the township not to issue septic tank permits for new homes in the Dark Hollow area. The authority is studying plans to extend the existing sewer into this area to serve four homes and a possible housing development.

The authority engineer reported that the Department of Environmental Resources and the Army Corps of Engineers have approved an additional $197,000 to cover added expenses for laying sewer line in rock formations along Ten Mile Creek.

The authority will recommend to the township supervisors that they approve the planning modules and sewer plans for Greene County Duplexes, a housing development north of Route 188.

Of Highway 'Wish List'

The Greene County commissioners and county planning commission were understandably disturbed when they learned last week that the Route 21 bypass around Waynesburg has been dropped from the latest version of the Department of Transportation's 12-year highway improvement program.

They have been fighting for years to get the road built and have carried their campaign to every state and federal government official who would give them a hearing.

In the opinion of most people, county and local officials are correct in categorizing the bypass as Greene County's top priority highway need. Not only would it relieve steadily increasing traffic congestion in the Morrisville area, but it is a vital link in any plan to provide better highway access to the western part of the county, where mine development being predicted for the county would take place.

Elimination of the bypass seemed particularly unrealistic to the commissioners because the new Economic Development Committee of Governor Thornburgh's cabinet just a few months ago agreed to place construction of the road on its list of high priority needs for the state.

The Transportation Department's District 12 office defended the decision on the bypass by pointing out that the road did not fit into any of the categories of projects it was permitted to include in the proposed new 12-year program.

Quite obviously the Department is trying to stretch available state money as far as possible by scheduling projects which are eligible for a high percentage of federal road monies. Most of the work in Greene County, for example, would center on Interstate 79, with the federal government picking up 90 percent of the tab. The remainder would be bridge improvement jobs, which qualify for 80 percent federal funding.

To be objective, it is difficult not to agree with one District 12 official who categorized previous highway improvement programs as "wish lists." Money to build the roads was not available when they were placed on the list, and there was little hope that it ever would be available.

In contrast, he said, the Department knows it will have the money it needs to carry out work proposed in the new 12-year program.

Construction of the bypass, viewed realistically, depends upon passage of legislation which would provide funding for highways in energy impacted areas, particularly those used as coal hauling roads, the official feels.

We suspect it also depends upon political clout and on the willingness of state residents to accept the higher gasoline taxes which are needed to provide the additional revenues the state must have if it is to improve our existing highways and build new ones.

Waynesburg Boy
Wins Scholarship

WAYNESBURG — Clark Patterson has won the Century III Leaders Scholarship competition at Waynesburg Central High School, according to principal John P. Barbero.

CLARK PATTERSON

The 17-year-old senior is now eligible to compete with other high school seniors throughout Pennsylvania for two $1,500 scholarships, two $500 scholarships and also for a $10,000 national scholarship that will be awarded in a conference of state winners in Williamsburg, Va.

Patterson must now write a brief projection outlining what he thinks is one of America's future challenges and how it should be met.

Clark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Patterson of Waynesburg R.D.4. He is active in the Waynesburg band, playing the French horn. In the stage band he plays base guitar. He is a member of the National Honor Society and also participates in wrestling and various 4-H programs.

Veterans Day Parade Plans

JEFFERSON — Members of Filer-Sadlek American Legion Post 954 have completed plans for Tuesday's Veterans Day Parade and observance at Jefferson.

The parade will begin at 10:52 a.m. at the Jefferson carnival grounds and move to the center of town where the parade will stop for the traditional 11 a.m. moment of silence and gun salute for deceased veterans.

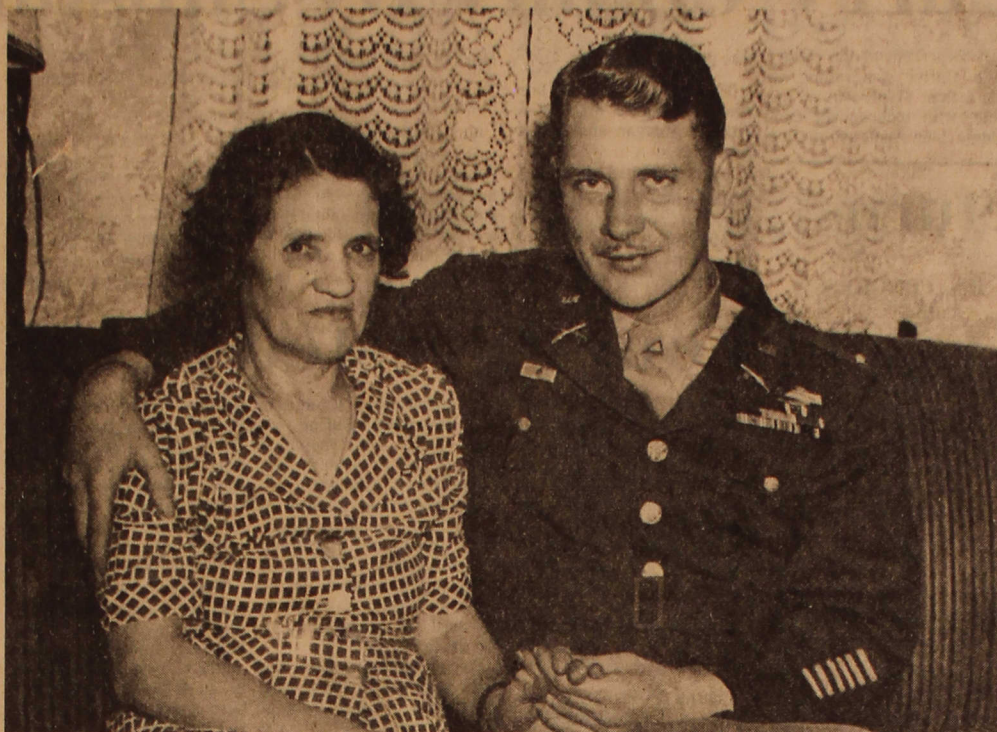

The parade will proceed to Jefferson-Morgan High School for the program featuring an address by Major James Hey of the 99th Army Reserve Headquarters.

Robert E. Titus will be master of ceremonies for the program which will include remarks by Jack Lucas, Post 954 commander; service songs by the Jefferson-Morgan High School band; and a vocal solo by Rudolph Milovac accompanied by Theresa Vukmanic.

Members of Post 954 who have died during the past year will be committed to the Post-Everlasting of the American Legion during a special service.

Faces From The Past—Do Your Recognize Them?

Brothers Were POWs

The possible release of American citizens held hostage in Iran recalled memories for many Greene County residents who knew two Waynesburg brothers William and Woodrow Haines who were among the thousands of GIs captured by the Japanese during World War II. Pictured above is Capt. William Haines, with his mother, Mrs. Mary Haines, shortly after he returned home. The other prisoner of war was his brother Woodrow Haines, who now lives at New Freeport. He arrived home shortly after his brother.

By the time this column is in print, the people of the United States will have elected a president and hopefully will be on the road to correcting any of the problems that are ahead, regardless of which is the winning party.

Speaking of politics it now seems strange that there once was a time when women were not permitted to vote. They had a long and rocky fight to "sell" the rest of the nation of their equality in choosing their own governing officials that it now seems inconceivable that it had ever existed.

Hard as it may be for today's teenagers to believe, there actually was a time when television didn't exist and when people wanted to hear live orchestras or singers perform they had to watch talent in their own community.

For its size and population, less than 5,000 in those days, Waynesburg did pretty well for itself for musical performances.

This is speaking of the town bands that existed before Thomas Edison invented his first "talking machine" on which most of the modern musical reproduction still rests to this day.

Also, it is aside from the ancient "fife and drum" corps which were handed down from the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812 and the Civil War.

The first traces of a Waynesburg town band goes back a bit before the turn of the century. Proof of this can be found in Fred High's "Waynesburg Prosperous and Beautiful" history which includes a picture of the late Ned Walton, a tuba virtuoso, who was truly noted as the greatest and best known artist of his day on that particular instrument.

During his long professional career, he toured the nation with many of the best classical orchestras. After retirement, he returned to Waynesburg and often played in the traditional Saturday night concerts on the courthouse plaza.

One of his youthful companions along Main Street in those days was the late Frank McGurgan who had such a wealth of musical talent that he was a self-taught player of all the concert instruments and trouped with several big circus bands and in smaller groups in concert halls and on the Keith Vaudeville circuit before becoming an arranger for New York publishing firms.

Specific information is lacking in detail on the early bands in Waynesburg as in other

Waynesburg's July 29th Rain Day coast to coast television exposure continues to unite local residents with former and new friends. For instance, Mrs. Kate Whyte, who has spent several winters in St. Petersburg, Fla., received a letter from one of her winter colony friends, Blanche Shellhouse of West Chester, Ill., a saying how much she enjoyed the telecast because of their long friendship as three other of her friends who spend the winters in Florida did earlier. Local friends of Mrs. Claire Baily, formerly of Waynesburg and a past Waynesburg College May Queen, have received letters telling how exciting it was to watch the familiar scenes around the courthouse unfold on the TV screen in her home at Columbia, Pa., near Philadelphia.

And Miss Catherine Sayers discovered that she and a Mrs. Dittwiler of Kansas had a common great-great-grandfather in the person of William Sayers, who lived in Waynesburg. The connection was very appropriate as Miss Sayers is a great niece of the Allison brothers, William and Albert, who were the store clerks to whom an unknown farmer first told of the unique sequence of rains in Waynesburg.

Mr. and Mrs. George Vukmanic of Mather have returned from a visit at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Vukmanic of Washington, D.C.

Speaking of football enthusiasts of the tri-county communities of Jefferson, Mather, Carmichels and Fredericktown will be airborne early Friday for the Pittsburgh-Tampa Bay game in Florida this Sunday. The groups will be bused back and forth to Greater Pitt Airport but the Carmichels fans will be bused to Columbus, Ohio for their flight. All three will be hauled by McNally Bus Lines of Waynesburg.

Other bandmen prior to World War II included Glenn Brewer, who played the alto horn; Leander Moore, Harold Moore, Albert Moore and Nellie Moore, the last three on the tuba, coronet and bass horn.

By that time an entire group of younger musicians were ready to pick up the thread which had kept Waynesburg's musical tradition going. They included Frank Jamison Jr., who later had his own group, Kay Lively, who later headed a dance band in Pittsburgh and on radio stations; Ted Orndoff, a trumpeter; Bill Whie, a nephew of Frank Jones; the late Bud Schreiber, the late Calvin Heasley, Bob and Chauncey Lively and the Davis brothers, John, Bob and James.

Bob became an Army bandmaster in World War II and later trooped with Fred Warning and was in the pit orchestra for the original production of South Pacific and through its record-breaking run on Broadway.

Yes, there was lots of music in the air in Waynesburg before noise replaced melody and many names are not listed here. For instance, Earl McClelland, a good trumpeter who became a state civil engineer. Those who know of others are invited to send them to the Republican at Waynesburg, Thanks.

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. — Bond has been denied for a Morgantown woman being held in connection with the death of a 65-year-old man whose remains were found Thursday night in an abandoned barn in Greene County.

Circuit Court Judge Larry Starcher denied bond for Georgiana Lewis, 26, of 264 Randolph Road, who has been charged with murder. She remains lodged in the Monongalia County jail at Morgantown.

She was arrested early Friday in connection with the death of Wilvey E. Stampler, 65, of the Airport Motel, Morgantown, who had been missing since June 20. His decomposed body was found under the floor of a barn in Wayne Township, north of Blacksville, on property owned by the Consolidation Coal Co.

Under The Dome
Bob Eichenlaub

Robert Elliott, a former member of the Central Greene School Board, struck a responsive chord with a lot of people when he went to a school board meeting last week to urge that some sort of action be taken now to make sure that grade separations would be included in any plans to construct a coal hauling railroad into northwestern Greene County.

His point was that the county should make every effort to prevent a recurrence of what happened when the Waynesburg Southern Railroad was built a decade or so ago.

The grade crossing on South Morgan Street was ready to be built before the Public Utilities Commission agreed to hold a hearing on Waynesburg Borough's petition for a grade separation, and there was never any chance that the PUC would accede to the borough's position. The railroad won hands down and the grade separation has become the subject of repeated complaints and requests for its elimination.

The last time the borough went to the PUC seeking relief it was told the grade separation could only be built if the borough could find some way to pay the several million dollars it would cost.

The Department of Transportation's best response to a request for help was to agree early this year to include it as a project for second round funding under a New Incentive to Save Lives program which depends upon federal allocations for getting off the ground.

So that is probably that as far as the Morgan Street crossing is concerned.

Elliott's concern is that the same thing will happen with any railroad built to bring out coal from new mines which eventually will be built in the Deer Lick and Wind Ridge area. Consolidation Coal Co., which owns the coal fields, is already making field surveys to determine the best route for such a line.

But wherever it goes, it would be tied into the Waynesburg Southern in West Waynesburg, and that would mean it would have to cross Route 21 and 18 at some point just west of Waynesburg.

Elliott is correct in saying that a grade crossing would be intolerable. He is also correct in saying that the county, Franklin Township and Central Greene School Board should make their position as clear as possible as soon as possible.

The county's representatives in the General Assembly, the Public Utilities Commission, the Department of Transportation and the coal company should be notified that a grade crossing on such a busy highway would greatly impede traffic flow and interfere with the movement of school buses and emergency vehicles.

Incidentally, when the new railroad is built and put into use it will greatly increase train traffic over the Morgan Street crossing and that problem will become even worse than it is now. It should not be compounded by another grade crossing on the county's only highway to the western part of the county.

My friends Mazy and Honey Bunch dropped in the other day for coffee. "Try to cheer her up," Mazy whispered.

I thought for a while. "I can't think of anything cheerful to talk about," I whispered to Mazy.

"Try harder," Mazy ordered. "Honey Bunch is so depressed."

"Well, so am I. Ever since the Steeler game..."

Honey Bunch started sobbing.

"Now you've done it," Mazy cried. "You brought up the one subject you should have stayed away from."

"Oh, sorry," I said. "I didn't know it was the Steelers that Honey Bunch was depressed about. I thought it was probably politics."

"Not this year," Mazy said. "Honey Bunch is paying no attention to politics. She has said all along that the election should just be decided in the Sugar Bowl."

"I hate to mention this," I said, "but that doesn't make any sense."

"It does to Honey Bunch. She says that Georgia ought to play Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl for the national championship. If Georgia wins, so does Carter."

"I get the connection between Georgia and Carter, but Reagan is not from Indiana, and he didn't go to Notre Dame."

"He did in the movies," Mazy informed me. "Remember, in the Knute Rockne movie, he played the Gipper?"

"Yes," I said, unenthusiastically. "But what if Alabama goes to the Sugar Bowl instead of Georgia?"

"Honey Bunch has looked into that. She asked some people from Alabama if Bear Bryant would accept the office. They said he wouldn't — it would be too big a step down for him."

"Honey Bunch must really be depressed, to be thinking up junk like this," I said.

"Well, it keeps her mind off the Steelers. Actually, her depression started last summer, when she realized that the Pirates weren't going to win the pennant. And then Penn State lost to Nebraska."

"Then what happened?"

"In one weekend, Pitt lost to Florida State, the Steelers lost to the Bengals, and Waynesburg lost to Westminster. Honey Bunch nearly went under."

"That was a bad one," I agreed.

"And then the Steelers lost to Oakland. And since they lost to Cleveland, Honey Bunch hasn't been fit to live with. She just mopes around the house, snarling at her family and muttering to herself."

"Maybe she should give up watching football," I suggested.

"She's tried, but it doesn't work. She knows it's Sunday afternoon, and she gets these psychic feelings that something terrible is happening. Finally, she turns on the TV and, sure enough, she's right."

"Is that why she's wearing that black armband?"

"Yes. She put it on after the Cleveland game and she won't take it off."

"Well, try to look at it this way, Honey Bunch," I said. "The Steeler defense isn't dead — it is just away."

WAYNESBURG — "None of 'em are easy," said Waynesburg College football coach Hayden Buckley after his Yellow Jackets had bombed Grove City 48-0 here Saturday afternoon.

West Greene, 53-6

ROGERSVILLE — All season first-year West Greene High School football coach Earl Finney has been looking for points, but getting them only in small numbers. But, Friday night his Pioneers erupted for 53 points and steamrolled hapless Mapletown, 53-6.

The lopsided scoring margin was one of the largest, if not the largest, in the school's history.

Senior tailback Jay Jones scored four touchdowns and rushed for 273 yards in leading the Pioneer attack. West Greene rolled for a total of 570 offensive yards, 432 on the ground and another 138 passing.

It was all West Greene after Mapletown quarterback Jeff Cetin returned the game-opening kickoff 78 yards for the only Maple points of the game. After that nothing went their way.

Jones scored the first of his five touchdowns on a four-yard run and Doug Snee booted the point after to give the Pioneers a 7-6 lead and the West Greene locomotive was building up a head of steam.

But, with due respect to Buckley, this one had been a laugher. Waynesburg took advantage of early Grove City turnovers and scored seven points in the first 15 minutes and another 28 in the second quarter. From then on, Buckley was able to clear his bench for most of the remainder of the game.

While his Jackets scored a season high 48 points, the veteran Waynesburg coach still wasn't exactly pleased with his team's offensive effort.

"Our defense made it too easy for the offense. They got back those early turnovers and the offense was able to take advantage of them. That's what we have to do, make the other team's mistakes work for us, but the offense didn't have to work a lot.

"This kind of game does give the coaches a chance to look at a lot of people. Some of the players who haven't got much playing time this year are able to get in a game and that gives them important game experience," Buckley noted.

"The second team offense was kind of a disappointment to me, too. They turned the ball over five times, three times on fumbles and twice on interceptions, but those kids were able to put the ball in the end zone a couple of times."

Despite all of the points, Waynesburg had only 266 yards total offense, — 145 rushing and 121 passing — which indicates the kind of field position the defense was able to give the offense all day.

Waynesburg's first points came as a result of Sam Procida's eighth interception of the year. Later in the game he was to tie the school record of nine interceptions a season. Two others were nullified by penalties. Procida is currently the leading pass interceptor in the nation, according to NAIA statistics.

Tailback Keith Davis scored the first Jacket points on a two-yard run and Ted Rodavich booted the point after to make it 7-0. A fumble recovery late in the first quarter led to the Jacket's second touchdown, a one-yard plunge by Davis.

The kickoff following Davis' second touchdown was fumbled by Grove City and recovered by the Yellow Jackets and three plays later

Mark Hess took a 21-yard scoring pass from Mike Forbes to make it 21-0.

Following Waynesburg's next offensive series, during which it was unable to move the ball, punter Kirk Neal dropped the ball at the Wolverine one, where it was downed by Tom Manzari.

On the first play from scrimmage the Wolverines fumbled. Waynesburg recovered and in one play fullback Bob Astleford plunged in making the score 28-0 with 9:15 remaining to play in the half.

Just four minutes later, Astleford went 30 yards for his second score of the quarter as the Jackets were quickly turning the game into a total rout.

The reserve offense saw action the rest of the way. Late in the third quarter Cline Hunt went in with a 30-yard scoring strike from Casey Cavanaugh and midway through the fourth quarter Mark Clarke scored on a two-yard run to complete the scoring.

"The turnovers we had could have hurt us," Buckley said, "but the defense just had a great day and wouldn't allow Grove City to get into the end zone. But if we have to play some of the reserve kids in the last two games of the season and they make some of those same mistakes, we'll get our ears pinned back," Buckley said after the game.

The Yellow Jackets are now 3-3 on the season and travel to backyard rival California State Collete this weekend before concluding the 1980 season with a night game at Duquesne on Nov. 15.

Community Bulletin Board

The Carmichaels Rotary Club Wednesday morning officially donated a community bulletin board for the use of residents and various organizations. The bulletin board is located on the town square in front of the First National Bank of Carmichaels. Rotary President Joseph Dell, second from left, made the presentation to Carmichaels Mayor Paul Connor. Rotary members Herbert Lunden, left, and Wilbur Brown, right, constructed and erected the board. The first message posted on the board was for the Rotary Club's pancake dinner to be held Saturday, Nov. 11 in the Greene Valley Presbyterian Church.

Social Service Department Has Three Major Functions

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by Mrs. Marcia J. McEwen, public relations specialist at Greene County Memorial Hospital, as part of a series about activities of various departments at the hospital.

WAYNESBURG — Barbara DeHaas, as head of the Social Service Department at Greene County Memorial Hospital, probably spends most of her day making contacts with patients, hospital personnel and outside agencies.

Miss DeHaas, a resident of Waynesburg, and Karen Hollis, her assistant, make about 100 to 150 contacts daily. These contacts, which include about 40 to 50 telephone referrals, involve patient admissions, consultations with physicians and nurses, home health contacts, equipment orders, and calls to agencies.

The Social Service Department has three main functions, according to its department head. These include planning discharges, seeing and screening new patients on a daily basis, and participating in monthly committee meetings.

Miss DeHaas, a graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College and a licensed practical nurse, emphasizes the complexities involved in discharge planning.

"It may sound simple, but discharge planning is a complex procedure," she said.

BARBARA DeHAAS

"During the patient's stay it involves frequent consultation with physicians, the patient, the patient's family, area agencies and other members of the team.

"All these people become involved because discharge planning can mean a variety of things, including nursing home placement, personal care home placement, medical equipment ordering, in-home helpers, or connections with various area support agencies. Some of these agencies are Meals-on-Wheels, Community Action and Mental Health."

Miss DeHaas' second function, seeing and screening each patient admitted to the hospital, can mean daily contacts with 20 to 25 patients. She and Miss Hollis determine at this time if any discharge planning will be necessary and, if it is, begin making plans immediately.

Going with the job is participation in various groups and committees. Since she must work with area agencies, Miss DeHaas is on committees for Suspected Child Abuse and Neglect (SCAN), Executive Child Advocacy Committee, Health and Welfare Council of Greene County, and the Children and Youth Service Agency advisory board.

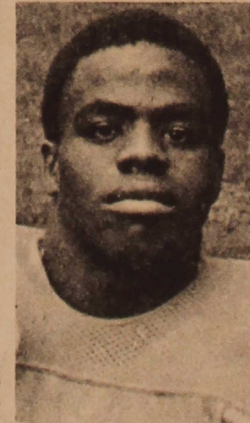

The hospital social service worker says she has always been interested in hospital social service department work. "I grew up with a medical background. I was used to coming to the hospital and I liked a hospital atmosphere," she said.

Miss DeHaas joined Greene County Memorial Hospital as head of the Social Service Department in 1976. Since then, she has had six interns — most of them West Virginia University students — gain clinical experience in her department.

"The interns adapt quite well," she said. "When they come they have an adequate enough background to understand the basics of our duties. We tell them generally what to do, and then they eventually plan their own methods of treatment with our approval."

And Miss DeHaas regards their presence as a give-and-take relationship. "Both Karen and I learn from them, too," she said. "Actually, we learn daily from our many contacts. Each proves to be a learning experience, especially when you're in contact with so many different groups of people."

Police Report

WAYNESBURG — Willard R. Firestone, 20, Scottdale R.D.1, was charged with driving while intoxicated following a minor accident at 4:30 p.m. Thursday at the intersection of East High Street and Cherry Street in Waynesburg.

Borough police said Firestone struck the rear of a car operated by Judith K. Black of Waynesburg R.D.1. He was apprehended a short distance away by a state police trooper who was driving the car behind him when the accident happened.

Neither car was badly damaged and there were no injuries, police said.

Car Blaze

WAYNESBURG — Waynesburg Volunteer Firemen were called out at about 11:30 a.m. Thursday to a car fire in West Waynesburg.

A 1970 Pontiac, owned by Beverly Szedon of Waynesburg R.D. 2, was on fire across Route 21 from the Twin Cup Restaurant.

Yellow Jackets Name Players Of The Week

WAYNESBURG — Special team player Jim Steigerwald, defensive end John Helms and center Phil Magdic, were selected as Yellow Jackets of the Week by the Waynesburg College coaching staff following last Saturday's impressive 48-0 win over Grove City College.

The win was the third in six starts for the Yellow Jackets, who have two games, California and Duquesne, remaining on the 1980 schedule.

In addition to naming the three players of the week for the Grove City game, Waynesburg coach, Hayden Buckley also announced that punter, punter rusher and halfback Kirk Neal had been a selection as Jacket of the Week from the speciality teams in Waynesburg's homecoming win over Frostburg two weeks ago.

Steigerwald was credited with recovering a fumble on a kickoff return and making solo tackles on three others in Saturday's win. "John makes things happen out there on the speciality teams," Buckley said. "He really gets after people."

Mikes Rally, Win Finale

By ROBIN ROBERTS
Sports Writer

JEFFERSON — No matter what the Carmichaels High School football team did here Friday evening their fate lay in the hands of the Frazier Commodores and the Frazier Commodores and the Frazier Commodores.

Carmichaels and Frazier each entered the last night of the WPIAL regular season with identical 7-1 won-lost records, but because the Commodores had defeated Carmichaels, it was in the driver's seat. Both teams were assured of playoff berths, but the stigma of being a wild card team was one the Mikes would rather have done without.

As it turned out, Carmichaels erupted for 26 points in the final 36 minutes against Jefferson-Morgan and for a come-from-behind 26-7 victory.

But, just a few miles away at York Run in Fayette County, Frazier was administering a 33-6 shellacking to the Runners and clinching the top spot in the Tri-County South Conference. Both teams completed the regular season with 8-1 records.

As it appears now, the Mikes will probably travel to Clairton for the first round of the WPIAL playoffs next weekend and Frazier will play either Serra Catholic or Riverview at home.

"It doesn't really make any difference who we play in the opening round," Carmichaels coach Tom McCombs said after Friday night's victory. "If it's Clairton and they're rated the No.1 Class A school in the WPIAL that will just help get the kids up a little more for the game. But I don't see any trouble in getting them up for the game."

"No matter who we have to play, we'll get a chance to see them Saturday and that should give us some better idea of what we're going to be up against."

The Mikes, at least for the first 12 minutes of last night's game, seemed to be up against more than they could handle.

The Rockets hit the field fired up and used an early Carmichaels fumble and the strong running of tailback Mark Policz and fullback Chuck Coles to push in for the first score with 5:09 elapsed in the game.

Just minutes later, the Rockets recovered a second Mike fumble and started to move toward the Carmichaels goal line again.

"When they picked up that second fumble I thought 'Boy, we're in for one tonight,'" McCombs said.

But, the Carmichaels defense held on a fourth and five situation at its own 10 and took the ball from the determined Rockets.

In the first quarter the Mikes ran only six plays from scrimmage and five of them came in the closing 1:25 of the quarter.

Things seemed to get worse for the Mikes during their first offensive series of the second half when linebacker Greg Johnston intercepted a Dick Krause aerial at the Rocket 41. But Jeff-Morgan was unable to move the ball and had to punt it away after three plays.

The Mikes took the ball from their own 14 and marched in for their first score in just seven plays, with Mike Rumanick going in from 28 yards out on an option from Krause.

"Dicky (Krause) played a great game for us at quarterback tonight. He beat them with the option. I don't feel there's a quarterback anywhere around who can run that option the way he does. He deserves all-conference honors, but he's small and only a junior and I doubt if he'll get it," McCombs commented.

Jerry Townsend's attempt to kick the point after failed and the Mikes still trailed, but by just one point.

Carmichaels went ahead to stay nearly five minutes later when Rick Hribal, the team's leading rusher, scored on a three-yard run off right tackle. This time the Mikes went for the two point conversion, but the run by Rumanick failed and they were forced to settle for a 12-7 halftime lead.

Carmichaels put the icing on the cake early in the third quarter when Hribal scored his second touchdown of the game on a one-yard dive off the right side of his offensive line. This time Krause flicked to Hribal for the conversion points.

The Mikes scored their final points of the 1980 regular season on a 17-yard run by Rumanick with 4:53 gone from the fourth quarter.

"The kids did a very good job after the first quarter, both offensively and defensively. The two defensive ends (Townsend and John Siko) played a very good game. I don't feel there are any two better defensive ends on the same team anywhere around."

Exam Clinics For Cancer Are Scheduled

WAYNESBURG — The Greene County Unit of the American Cancer Society will sponsor two Pap test and breast exam clinics on Tuesday, December 9 and Tuesday, December 16.

The clinic, to be held in the Greene County Vo-Tech School, will be open from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. each day.

Registered nurses from the State Health Center will be administering the pap test and doing the breast examinations with the Greene County Memorial Hospital responsible for testing the slides.

New guidelines for symptom-free individuals have been formulated by the American Cancer Society.

Appointments for the clinic will be taken by the health assistant classes at the Greene County Vo-Tech School only on November 17, 18, and 19. For appointment call 627-3106.

For those who have questions about the new guidelines or about the Pap and breast clinic, they are to call the unit office at 627-5259.

Hospice Uses Team Approach In Helping Patient, Family

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the second in a series of five articles prepared by Hospice of Greene County, which initiated a program of services to the terminally ill on Nov. 1.

The staff of Hospice of Greene County, Inc., works through a team approach with the patient and family as head of the team. The hospice team is made up of professionals from many disciplines such as nursing, social work, physicians, members of the clergy and volunteers. Volunteers do not replace paid staff; they supplement staff services.

Hospice services are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Members of the team make home visits and are on call to care for the patient and family through the time of illness and bereavement.

The Hospice philosophy connotes a team of individuals working together to provide comprehensive care. Everyone's interaction with the patient and family is essential. The team provides advice and emotional support, medical and psychological services and bereavement counseling.

Fundamental to the team approach is the concept that no one person has all the answers and that total care is made easier by a variety of personnel, and a variety of resources. Communication is essential and requires both time and effort. This is accomplished through regular meetings and careful record keeping.

The following staff people, along with volunteers, will allow Hospice to provide care to all eligible Greene Countians beginning on Nov. 1.

The executive director, hired and supervised by the board of directors, will be responsible for development, implementation and evaluation of the total Hospice program. This position is held by Denise Koppelman Harris, the first employee of Hospice of Greene County, who began working Oct. 15, 1979.

The client care coordinator assists the executive director in planning, executing and coordinating the care of Hospice patients. She monitors and coordinates the inter-relationships of the various components (both within and outside of the Hospice team) of each patient and family's care plan. She also provides skilled nursing care in the home and supervises the patient records to ensure they are current and complete and that they accurately reflect all the components of care being delivered. She is also in charge of all regular team meetings to review all aspects of patient and family care and supervises both part-time nurses. This position is held by Anna L. French, R.N., who began her duties Sept. 1, 1980.

Coordinator of volunteers is responsible for volunteer training, recruitment, screening, orientation, assignment, supervision and evaluation. She has primary responsibility for the public education and public relations part of the Hospice program. Jane Schomp, B.S.W., who holds this position, began her duties July 1, 1980.

The oncology nurse, a part-time clinical specialist with expertise in oncology (cancer) nursing, is primarily responsible to Hospice for improving patient and family care through practice, direction, coordination of teaching and consultation. Carol DeLouis, R.N., M.N., began her duties in this position in March 1980.

The home health nurse, a part-time employee, provides skilled nursing through coordination, implementing and monitoring the patient. This position is held by Robin Solosky, R.N., B.S.N., who began her duties Sept. 22, 1980.

Secretarial and clerical services, which include answering and making telephone calls, handling the mail, typing and maintaining files, are provided by Eeva Hillberry. She was the second employee and has been with Hospice since Oct. 25, 1979.

Leona Shultz, who began her duties on Oct. 6, 1980, is the part-time bookkeeper and is responsible for maintaining records relating to payroll, bills, financial reports and third party payers.

The Electric Consumer's Corner

Whom do I call if I have a question about my electric service?

Contact the West Penn Power office serving your location. That office has a complete record of your account so you'll get a faster reply than by calling one of our other offices. Besides, you'll eliminate a possible toll charge.

You'll find the address and phone number of the office that serves your account identified on your electric bill. (The code number appears on the middle portion of your bill.)

Or look in your telephone directory's white pages for the number listed under West Penn Power.

Are you sure that office can help me?

We'll certainly give it our best effort. Our employees are well trained and knowledgeable, capable of answering your questions promptly, responsibly, and fairly.

When calling the office serving you, briefly describe the nature of your inquiry to our switchboard operator. She then will connect you with an employee qualified to answer your specific question, including, if necessary, one of our engineering or customer services specialists.

What if that employee doesn't answer my question satisfactorily?

If that happens, you may wish to talk with either the customer services supervisor or the division manager.

We'll make every effort to provide you with satisfactory service. That's one of the reasons we're in business.

So don't hesitate to contact us if you have a question about your electric service. We're here to serve you promptly and, at the same time, fairly.

Flood Study Scheduled

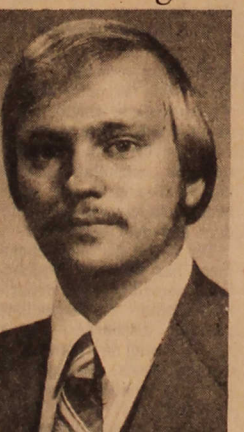

WAYNESBURG — The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will conduct a cost benefit study in Southwestern Greene County to analyze damage which occurred as a result of flash flooding last August.

Joseph Harchow of the Army Corps and a staff member of Rep. Austin J. Murphy toured the Aleppo, Deep Valley, New Freeport and Brave areas of the county last week.

As a result of the flooding last summer, Rep. Murphy felt a follow-up investigation was needed to look at the local streams and determine what could be done to alleviate the problem.

The Corps of Engineers' study will include the South Fork of Wheeling Creek, the Pennsylvania fork of Fish Creek and Dunkard Creek.

Signal Names New Manager

MICHAEL STEWART

Michael J. Stewart of Pittsburgh has been promoted to the position of manager of the Waynesburg office of Signal Financial Corp.

W. P. Conners, senior vice president of branch management, announced that Stewart has been named to the position to replace Robert D. Schroyer, who was recently transferred to the company's Gettysburg office.

As manager, Stewart will be responsible for the profitable operation of the branch, with his duties including supervision of its personnel, training, records, credit, collections and business promotion.

Stewart's career with Signal began on Aug. 28, 1978, when he was employed as a customer representative in the North Hills office at Pittsburgh, a post he held until his promotion to manager. He is a graduate of Perry High School at Pittsburgh and received an associate degree in Specialized Business from the ICM School of Business. Prior to joining Signal, he was a supervisor in the data management center of Union National Bank.

He and his wife, Sharon, currently reside on Ocala Street in Pittsburgh, but will be relocating to the Waynesburg area in the near future.

Signal Financial Corp. is a consumer finance subsidiary of Philadelphia National Corp., a $5.9 billion bank holding company.
