Water Company Wants Money From Mather

WAYNESBURG — The Southwestern Pennsylvania Water Authority filed a petition in Greene County Court Friday asking for enforcement of a 1978 court order which directed that the Mather Water Co. pay the authority $8,220 for water furnished to the private company.

C. Robert McCall, authority attorney, said he was filing the petition at this time because the Pennsylvania Supreme Court recently refused to review a decision by the Commonwealth Court which affirmed the ruling by the county court, thus ending almost three years of appeals.

The original lawsuit was filed by two residents of Mather, Isadore and Charlotte R. Virgili, when Southwestern threatened to shut off the supply of water to the Mather Company because it had not paid its bill. The court enjoined the authority from terminating service — an injunction which is still in effect.

Following a protracted hearing, the court on Dec. 16, 1978 handed down the order demanding payment of the bill. It stipulated that if the money was not paid a trustee would be appointed to receive payments of water bills from the company's 330 customers until the back bill has been satisfied.

When contacted Friday, William J. McCormick of Bentleyville, owner of the Mather Water Company said he had tried to work out a schedule of payments to satisfy the obligation but has been unable to do so.

"The authority has demanded payment in one lump sum and we're just not in a position to do so," he said.

McCormick also confirmed that an application has been filed in federal court requesting reorganization of the Mather Water Company. His attorney, Gordon Harrington of Washington, said the application was filed in bankruptcy court asking for a "Chapter 11 reorganization," which would result in the setting up of a schedule of payments to creditors. He also said the action in federal court would, in his opinion, preclude any enforcement of the 1978 Greene County Court order.

Coroner's Jury Will Probe Fatal Accident

Washington County Coroner Farrell Jackson will hold an inquiry Nov. 6 into the circumstances surrounding the violent traffic accident which claimed the lives of five people Oct. 24.

The purpose of the non-jury proceeding, Jackson said, "will be to get on record the information which is known." Jackson said the inquiry will also put an end to rumors that tend to surface following an accident of this nature.

Killed in the head-on collision on Interstate 79 were Washington attorney Kevin Koss, his 3-year-old daughter, his parents, and 36-year-old Kenneth L. Courie of Carmichaels.

Jackson said Wednesday that tests on the blood-alcohol level of Courie showed he had a reading of .35. A reading of .10 is considered the legal level of intoxication.

The accident occurred when Courie's pick-up truck, which was traveling northbound in the southbound lanes, collided with Koss' car that was southbound.

Greene Street To Be Repaired

HARRISBURG — PennDOT officials Thursday awarded a $354,629 contract to Frank Gavlik & Sons Construction Co. of Charleroi for renovations on Greene Street in Waynesburg Borough and Franklin Township.

Five bids were submitted for the project. Other firms and their bids included Cedar Creek Construction Co. of Belle Vernon, $371,293; Marsolino Construction Co. of Uniontown, $407,070; Burrell Construction Co. of New Kensington, $446,389; and H.J. Schneider Construction Co. of Pittsburgh, $477,807.

Plans call for removing 218 linear feet of brick pavement, milling 1,655 feet of existing pavement and constructing 551 feet of new pavement. Also, the overlay of 2,000 feet of existing pavement and construction of sidewalks, shoulders, concrete divider, guard rail and drainage.

Construction is expected to begin Jan. 4, 1982.

Tires Slashed

KIRBY — Four tires on a vehicle owned by William Martin of Pursglove, W. Va., were slashed sometime between 4 p.m. Saturday and 12:30 p.m. Sunday while it was parked along Route 19 near Kirby.

Damage was estimated at $60.

Hound Of Halloween

Chewie, a five-year-old basset hound, seems to be getting his licks in for Halloween. It may also be his way of choosing just the right pumpkin; something like squeezing fruit at the market when the grocer isn't looking. If you hear rustling in the pumpkin patch, don't worry, it's just Chewie, the friendly short-legged, long-eared haunted hound of Halloween, going from pumpkin to pumpkin in his hunt for the best in the pumpkin patch.

Telephone Co. Eliminating Operators; 911 Proposed

WAYNESBURG — An announcement by Mid-Penn Telephone Co. that local telephone operators will be phased out by October 1982 has spurred efforts by the Greene County Communications Board to initiate the emergency 911 system in the county.

An informational meeting was held Thursday morning before the Greene County Commissioners who must eventually approve any county-wide system.

At the present time, police calls are funneled through the state police barracks where five county-employed dispatchers handle the calls. Fire and ambulance calls can be handled through a central switch board at the Waynesburg Firehall or by calling the separate firehalls.

Tim Hawfield, Waynesburg Borough police chief who chaired the meeting, pointed out there are over 70 separate listings in the local phone directory for fire companies. Three police department listings and ambulance services are listed in the yellow pages.

Hawfield cited the lost time involved in finding the correct listing and emphasized delays could mean a loss of life.

Gordon Curry, an official of Mid-Penn, explained his firm is committed to phasing out local operators by next October. He said when a local resident dials "0" after that date, the operator who answers will be in Altoona because of an agreement with the Bell System.

"The caller may refer to an emergency on Love's Hill and the operator in Altoona will have no idea where Love's Hill is located," Curry said. In the past, local operators have been a great help during an emergency because they were familiar with the area.

Curry said Mid-Penn could install four or five trunk lines to a local dispatch center which has the 911 emergency number. It will be up to local officials, however, to determine just where the dispatch center would be located.

Larry Potter, a communication specialist for the Pennsylvania State Police, was the next to speak and expressed concern about placing the 911 dispatch center in the local state police barracks.

"Our primary concern is in the area of responsibility," Potter told the group. He went on to say the current agreement between the county and the state police which covers police calls only is agreeable in a broad sense, but any future changes would have to be covered more specifically.

"Regardless of future agreements, state police personnel will not become involved in dispatching for fire or ambulance calls," Potter said. "The state police do not want to become a partner in any future system but they will gladly become a part of the system."

Mike Mulholland, a communication specialist for Troop B of the state police, offered testimony as a citizen of Waynesburg, a local businessman and a state police officer.

"We have the foundation for the 911 system now and I would like to see the system started," Mulholland said.

He further explained the console at the local barracks could be switched to the new system without much difficulty. He also stated that 95 percent of emergency calls are of a police nature and it shouldn't take much technical work to put the system into operation.

The county is now spending about $50,000 annually to support the county-wide police network, with most of the expense involved in payroll for the five dispatchers.

It was also brought out during the meeting that House Bill 911 has been referred to committee. The bill states in part, "the General Assembly declares it to be in the public interest to provide a toll-free number 911 for any individual within the Commonwealth to gain rapid, direct access to emergency aid."

The act would provide for an emergency telephone contribution rate whereby a fee would be assessed against telephone subscribers for the recurring charges for the 911 system. The fee could not exceed a two percent charge for administrative expenses.

Assuming the basic local rate is $10 per month, subscribers would pay 20 cents per month for the 911 system.

Members of the county communications board will schedule a meeting soon to continue with plans to implement the system.

College Names Trustees

WAYNESBURG — Attorney Kenneth J. Yablonski, the Rev. Dr. Lester W. Crummy and writer Marcia McKenna Biddle have been elected to three-year terms on the board of trustees at Waynesburg College.

Board president Ewing B. Pollock, who announced the elections, noted all three were elected as "alumni trustees" who are recommended to the board by the 6,000-member Alumni Association through a membership vote.

In making the announcement, Pollock pointed out that trusteeship of an independent college carries special responsibilities, particularly in a time of tightening budgets.

Yablonski is senior partner in the Washington law firm of Yablonski, King, Costello and Leckie. A 1956 graduate of Waynesburg College, he went on to earn his doctor of jurisprudence degree from West Virginia University, and is admitted to practice law before all the courts of the Commonwealth, the Supreme Court of the United States, and the second, third and fourth circuit courts.

Yablonski, chairman of the board of directors of Centerville Clinics, Inc., is counsel to the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Citizens and is a member of the governor's advisory committee on coal worker's respiratory diseases. He has lectured at several colleges and universities, and was honored as the Pittsburgh Jaycees "Man of the Year" in 1974.

Dr. Crummy, hospital chaplain at Shadyside, West Penn and St. Francis hospitals in Pittsburgh, has served previously on the board of trustees at Waynesburg College. In addition, he has served the Alumni Association as a member of the board and as president, and has been president of the Allegheny County Alumni Chapter.

A 1940 graduate of the college, Dr. Crummy earned a master of divinity degree at Western Theological Seminary in 1943. For the next 21 years, he served four pastorates in the Pittsburgh area, joining the Hospital Chaplaincy Service of the Pittsburgh Presbytery in 1964. General chairman of the "Transition in Strength" development program at the college in the early 1970s, he was honored by Waynesburg College with a doctor of divinity degree in 1977.

Marcia McKenna Biddle has written a weekly newspaper column, "Between the Bookends," for the Observer-Reporter and Waynesburg Republican for more than 10 years.

A former elementary teacher, she has published both children's fiction and juvenile books including a biography of Dallas Cowboy star Tony Dorsett. She has received several writing awards for her works.

Mrs. Biddle was a member of the alumni board of directors for several years, and has completed one term on the college board of trustees. She served as chairwoman of the Greene County phase of an alumni effort to help raise funds for the proposed recreation center at the college.

Behm's Vote Total Reaches 85 Percent

WAYNESBURG — Frank J. Behm of Jefferson collected 85 percent of the vote in Tuesday's election on his way to a sixth consecutive four-year term as Greene County coroner.

The unofficial tally of returns from the county's 51 precincts give Behm a total of 7,366 votes, with 1,259 going to his Republican challenger, David Szarell of Nineveh.

The coroner race was the only county-wide contest in an election in which most of the interest was centered on scattered races for township and borough offices.

The 9,570 county residents who went to the polls represented a 55 percent turnout of registered voters. It went as high as 80 percent in Whiteley Township where tax collector and supervisor races generated a lot of interest, and 77 percent in Carmichaels Borough, where the mayoralty battle was the apparent drawing card.

At the other extreme, only 37 percent of Washington Township voters got out, probably reflecting the fact that all candidates for local offices were running without opposition.

Sheriff Remo E. Bertugli, running without opposition for a second term, led all candidates with 8,321 votes.

Democrat jury commissioner Bernice Kuharek polled 5,203 votes and Republican jury commissioner Margaret A. Perrin got 2,861. Although voters were directed to cast a ballot for just one of the candidates, both were automatically elected.

As might be expected in a county where Democrats outnumber Republicans by a majority of more than three-to-one, voting for the numerous state judicial posts heavily favored the Democratic candidates. The results:

Supreme Court (Two to be Elected) — William D. Hutchinson (R), 2,243; James T. McDermott (R), 2,189; S. L. Farino (D), 4,584; Robert E. Colville (D), 5,640.

Superior Court (Four to be Elected) — James E. Rowley (R), 2,254; Vincent A. Cirillo (R), 2,241; Perry J. Shertz (R), 1,688; Stephen J. McEwen Jr. (R), 2,054; Richard DiSalle (D), 5,377; Peter Paul Olszewski (D), 3,912; Donald E. Wieand (D), 4,019; John McLane (D), 4,870.

Commonwealth Court — Madeline Palladino (R), 2,172; Joseph T. Doyle (D), 5,675.

On the question of retaining Justice Robert N.C. Nix Jr. as a member of the State Supreme Court, Greene County electors voted 4,648 to 3,364 for retention.

Three of the five referendum questions which were on the ballot received the approval of county voters.

The water project loan referendum was approved 3,574 to 2,336; the volunteer emergency services loan referendum passed 4,290 to 1,514, and the constitutional question involving legislative reapportionment got by 2,730 to 2,464.

The resolution on legislating increases in retirement benefits was defeated 3,094 to 2,523, and the resolution on the use of aviation fuel excise taxes lost 2,891 to 2,472.

Coal Sale Recorded

WAYNESBURG — The sale of 4,091 acres of Pittsburgh seam coal in northwestern Greene County and southwestern Washington County for $2.9 million has been placed on record in the register and recorder's office at Waynesburg.

The coal was sold by Conoco, Inc., Stamford, Conn. to a newly-created company, the Conrhein Coal Co. of Upper St. Clair Township, Allegheny County.

A spokesman for Consolidation Coal Co., a Conoco subsidiary, said the transaction is part of development plans for the new mine to be built on the county line in Richhill Township, near Wind Ridge. It is being developed as a joint effort by Consol and Rheinbraun, one of West Germany's largest mining companies.

Coal which was sold is identified as lying in Richhill, Morris and Gray townships in Greene County and in East Finley, West Finley and Morris townships in Washington County, with the bulk of it being in Greene County.

The Greene County part of the transaction produced $13,804 in real estate transfer tax revenues for the West Greene School District, $13,514 for Richhill Township, $116 for Morris Township and $174 for Gray Township.

In addition to the outright sale, memoranda of leases were placed on record from Conoco to Conrhein and from Consolidation to Conrhein for additional holdings of Pittsburgh Coal in the same area.

Annual 4-H Market Hog Sale Held

WAYNESBURG — A total of 23 4-H market hogs brought $6,819 at the 12th annual 4-H Market Hog sale Wednesday night at the Greene County fairgrounds.

The grand champion hog, a 226-pound middleweight division champion consigned by Don Henderson of Waynesburg R.D.2, was bid in at $2.20 per pound by John and Judy Hamilton, of Carmichaels R.D.1, and Jean Hamilton, of Fairview, W. Va. Henderson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henderson.

The reserve champion hog was shown by Jim Behm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Behm of Wind Ridge. The 232-pound hog was purchased by Moundsville Livestock Auction for $1.80 per pound. It was the reserve champion in the middleweight division.

Doctors Reattach Boy's 3 Fingers

DETROIT — Surgeons at Children's Hospital in Detroit Tuesday successfully re-attached three fingers on the left hand of a Clarksville boy who caught his hand in a cement mixer at his home.

Reported in stable condition Wednesday night was Jason Swinchock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Swinchock of Clarksville.

The boy was playing in the yard while his father was mixing cement to pour sidewalks at their home which is under construction. The incident occurred at about 2:20 p.m.

East Bethlehem Township Police rushed the boy to Brownsville General Hospital for emergency treatment. The family chartered a plane and left for Detroit at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday. A registered nurse also went along on the emergency flight with the parents.

Gun Turret Blocks Crossroads

RUFF CREEK — Ruff Creek looked like it was under siege Thursday.

The country store crossroads at the intersection of Routes 19 and 221 is the last place you would expect to see a 55-ton gun turret from a warship, but that's what car and truck drivers found blocking their way as they left Interstate 79 to reach the Route 19 detour to Washington.

The 110,000 pound steel turret was being carried on a lowboy which bot-tomped out on a high point in the middle of the intersection, where it remained for more than two hours while lines of tractor-trailers and other vehicles crept around it through a muddy parking lot. And when another lowboy also was hung up on a high spot in the makeshift detour, traffic backed up onto the interstate.

Paul Moore of Knoxville, Tenn., driver of the lowboy, said he was en route from Louisville, Ky., to Boston, Mass., where the reconconditioned gun turret is to be installed on a U.S. Navy vessel.

"I could probably have broken it free, but the drive line of the tractor twisted and that was that," Moore said.

It took three wreckers to pull the heavy vehicle out of the way and off to the side of the highway, where it still sat late Thursday afternoon while arrangements were being made to repair the tractor.

Lowboy carrying 55-ton gun turret is "beached" at Ruff Creek.

Dairymen Will Honor Martin

Leonard Martin of Waynesburg will be honored at the 59th annual dinner meeting of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association to be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 11, at the Greene County Fairgrounds.

Martin retired in August after 38 years of service as a dairy association supervisor, of which 35 years were spent in service to dairymen of Greene and Washington Counties.

Martin has seen many changes in the dairy herd program. He was a supervisor when the employees did their own sample testing and worked through the changeover to the Central Testing Lab and computerization of records.

During his career, he was responsible for an average of about 20 herds a month, but for brief periods during his career he handled as many as 30 herds.

Former herd owners or others who worked with Martin are invited to attend the meeting, along with current dairy herd improvement members. Tickets can be obtained from any dairy association supervisor or at the Greene County Extension Service office in Waynesburg. Reservations should be made by Wednesday, Nov. 4.

Waiting to hear

Life without a mailbox would be lonely indeed. Everybody wants to hear from someone.

Why is communication so essential to man's well-being? Because we feel that life is incomplete without the fulfillment that comes to us from other lives.

And yet a wide circle of friends can also leave gaps in our lives. And so we pray. For we require divine guidance as often as we need human support. Just as we need to renew the ties of family and friends, so always we need to be in touch with the God who is Father of us all.

Would you like to hear from God? Before you even realized it — God was waiting to hear from you! Prayer is that simple... that universal.

Fire Destroys Mobile Home

CARMICHAELS — A fire early Thursday destroyed a mobile home occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McMinn located on Route 88 near the Glades Church, two miles south of Carmichaels. The fire broke out shortly before 1 a.m.

Volunteer firemen from Carmichaels-Cumberland, Crucible and Nemaquin were called, but the home was fully involved when they arrived.

According to Bill Groves, chief of the Carmichaels-Cumberland Fire Department, the fire probably started in the living room.

Firemen were hampered by the lack of water. There are no fire hydrants in the area. All contents of the mobile home were destroyed but firemen were able to save an adjacent home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Vincent McMahon.

Fire damage was estimated at $20,000.

The McMinnns were able to rescue their dog and parakeet but nothing else. "They were lucky to escape with their lives," Groves said.

RICES LANDING — The Rices Landing Volunteer Fire Department has set the weekend of Nov. 7-8 for its annual fund raising drive.

Those who are planning to be away during the weekend are requested to drop the collection envelope, with the proper postage, in the mail. These individual contributions are the main source of income for the fire company.

The fire company is also requesting voters to support the referendum calling for low-interest loans from the state for volunteer fire, rescue and ambulance services.

Strip Mine
Blasts Lead To Hearing

WAYNESBURG — The Greene County Court has scheduled a hearing for 10 a.m. Friday, Nov. 6, in a Morgan Township strip mine blasting case.

The hearing was scheduled at the request of an attorney representing James E. and Mildred R. Good, Gerald L. and Denise G. Brumley and Wilbur V. and Sherry L. Hetrick, all residents of Teagarden Homes, near Clarksville. Defendant is the Boyle Land and Fuel Co., Greensburg, which is conducting a strip mine operation near Teagarden Homes.

The defendants instituted a lawsuit against Boyle Sept. 27, claiming that heavy dynamite blasts have caused extensive structural damage to their houses, as well as a shifting of sewer lines which has caused flooding of their basements.

In requesting a prompt hearing Friday, an attorney for the plaintiffs said the level of blasting has increased since the lawsuit was filed. "Damage is so severe that the health and safety of the property owners is being jeopardized," he said.

Health
Director Dismissed

GREENSBORO — The Southeastern Greene Community Health Center, at a public meeting this week, announced the dismissal of Lydia Ashton of Greensboro from her position as center administrator.

Mrs. Ashton, who was instrumental in establishment of the health center several years ago, had been suspended on Sept. 28 by the center board of directors. Neither she nor board president Keith Drew would comment on reasons for the board action.

Drew said the board held two sessions of hearings following the suspension and took the action to dismiss the administrator when she declined to resign.

The center operates clinics at Greensboro and Bobtown. Lori Duraney has been named acting administrator.

Safety Course For Hunters

WAYNESBURG — A hunters' safety course will be offered from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 8, in the Nema-colin Union Hall.

This will be the final course offered in the county prior to the opening of deer season. Additional information is available by calling Walter Mahle at 627-9265.

Faces From The Past

Scarcely a generation ago the word cancer was still so shocking it was difficult to induce the public "to look it in the face." In the first efforts to raise money for research, volunteers for fund drives were difficult to find. In Greene County, Attorney R. Wallace Maxwell of Waynesburg (rear) and Earl King, a school principal at Rices Landing, were among the initial campaigners.

AROUND TOWN

By THE STAFF

Another election was held Tuesday but tabulations were still incomplete as this part of the Republican was being written. One sure thing was that Remo Bertugli will continue as sheriff as he was running unopposed.

Anyway, in a county with such an overbalance of strength in the Democrat party, which traces back to the original settlers who brought their Jeffersonian philosophy with them when they came here from Virginia, it's still only very seldom that a Republican can muster enough votes to be elected to a major county office.

Mrs. Cory F. Herrod of East College Street in the East End has been confined to her home for several weeks because of a hip injury suffered in a fall at her home. Mrs. Herros is the mother of Harold Herrod who operated an extensive home delivery newspaper route in Waynesburg and Franklin Township until his retirement.

Weather conditions have been almost ideal this year for small game hunting but there is comparatively little interest among Greene County hunters except for those who hunt grouse. All of their time and enthusiasm is now being saved for the deer season, with Greene County having become one of the top deer hunting counties in the state. It's ironic, but most of the men who worked hardest to get the state to start a deer herd started in the county are no longer here to enjoy the fruits of their efforts.

A Greene County woman, Mrs. Eileen Bird of the village of Time in Morris Township, is a patient in University Hospital at Morgantown.

Levi Fuller, retired Greene County auditor who died early this week at the age of 91, was one of the best links to the early days of life in the eastern end of the county, particularly along the Monongahela River when most of the merchandise from Pittsburgh was shipped to the county on river boats. He was also a long-time sports fan, particularly on early-day baseball, and always liked to reminisce about the early days of sports. He attended many Pirate home games, too.

The second annual Mad Anthony Arts Festival at the Waynesburg College gymnasium has been announced for Dec. 4 and 5. Artists and craftsmen from Greene County and from the Three Rivers section (Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio) will exhibit their creations. The event is being sponsored by the Waynesburg College Alumni Association. The Greene County Council on the Arts will also cooperate with the college in staging the event.

The recent election of Dr. Lester Crummy of Pittsburgh as an alumni trustee at Waynesburg College recalled the fact that when he enrolled as a freshman at Waynesburg he resembled Thomas Dewey, the Republican nominee for president that year. It was so striking that an enterprising Waynesburg freelance photographer-reporter sold a sidewalk picture of the future minister to the former Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, which printed it on the front page. The Sun-Tele is long defunct, but Dr. Crummy and Waynesburg College are still going strong. The two other Waynesburg alumni trustees named this fall are Marcia McKenna Biddle of Carmichaels and Atty Kenneth J. Yablonski of Washington.

The recent Halloween observance was one of the most calm and orderly in the town's history. It was a far and faint echo of the riot-roaring times in years gone by when revelry lasted far into the night.

College Board
Elects Trustees

WAYNESBURG — Attorney Kenneth J. Yablonski, the Rev. Dr. Lester W. Crummy and writer Marcia McKenna Biddle have been elected to three-year terms on the board of trustees at Waynesburg College.

Board president Ewing B. Pollock, who announced the elections, noted all three were elected as "alumni trustees" who are recommended to the board by the 6,000-member Alumni Association through a membership vote.

Fact and Folklore

John O'Hara

This is the concluding installment of a two-part resume of the Orndoff (originally spelled Orndorff) family and its first members who came to the United States from the Rhine River valley of Germany. They settled mostly around Philadelphia and Winchester, Va. before coming across the Allegheny Mountains in the latter part of the 1700's to settle in what is now Greene County, but then was still part of Augusta County, Va.

It centers around Jesse and Catherine (Strosnider) Orndoff as they were known in this area, rather than as Orndorff.

It was a long, tedious trip on foot and sometimes by wagon where the terrain was not too steep. Space, of course, was at a premium and virtually the only personal sort of link to her less wilderness-like home back at Winchester that Catherine could bring was a bush bearing old-fashioned roses.

The site they finally selected as their future home was at the base of a long hill and beside a brook which was to become known as Red Crossing on a road that was little more than a rutted trail. It is located a scant half-mile east of what is now Route 218, more commonly known as the Smith Creek Road.

It was there they built a small log hut and it was there that Mrs. Orndoff planted the rose bush. It proved to be as hearty and determined to survive as its owners were.

The rosebush came dangerously near to being lost, however, when the road was being widened out long after the cabin had fallen into ruins. It was saved when one of her descendants, Mrs. Elizabeth Orndoff Miller, transplanted several cuttings from the original bush to her home on East High Street in Waynesburg. It has since been transplanted at other locations by relatives and friends of Mrs. Miller.

The story of both the rose and the Orndoff and Strosnider families and the fact that their early members came here by horse and wagon is now perpetuated in a special competitive class at the annual Waynesburg Horse Show.

Hearing about its history, Donald Shelton, a Hyde Park, N.Y. high-ranking official of the American Horse Show Association and also a prominent rose gardener, obtained a cutting of the bush and added it to his nationally-known collection of roses at his mansion.

Jesse Orndoff, founder of that particular branch of the family, served in the war of 1812 and died in 1816, a month before his youngest son was born. He and his wife Catherine had two sons and four daughters.

Jesse Orndoff's widow later married John Gordon, following the death of his wife, Nancy Rinehart Gordon. John Gordon was the father of Mary Gordon, who had married Jesse and Catherine Orndoff's son, William Orndoff.

Catherine and John Gordon had two sons, Zedekiah, who lived at Oak Forest, and Winfield, who later went to California. John and Catherine Gordon later located in Perry County, Ohio. John Gordon had also originally migrated from Frederick County, Va.

William Orndoff, eldest son of Jesse and Catherine Orndoff, were the parents of nine children. One of them, William, was known as "One Armed Billy" or "Smith Creek Billy" because of having lost an arm in a fight with a man who had stolen his wallet and slashed his arm with a knife.

Another son, Phineas, married Elizabeth Kimball and one of their six children, George B. Orndoff, was the father of Mrs. Elizabeth O. Miller, wife of Floyd H. Miller, long-time Waynesburg newspaper editor.

Mr. and Mrs. George Orndoff's son Ralph was killed in action in France during World War I. Their other sons and daughters were Phineas, who married Elizabeth Kimball, Mrs. James (Ruth) Taylor, Miss Edith Orndoff and Mrs. Harry (Florence) Higgins.

Currently the thriftiness and the enterprising spirit of the original founders of the clan can still be found in Greene County at the nationally-known Belgian horse breeding farm of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Orndorff on the Smith Creek Road, some three miles south of Waynesburg and less distance than that from the farm where the youthful bride and her spouse planted the first sprig of the now-famous Orndoff rose.

And just to prove that the Orndoff and/or Orndorff clans in Greene County are as hearty and progressive as they were when their forebear, 19-year-old John Orndorff from Dusseldorf, Germany stepped off the good ship Edinburg at the port of Philadelphia on Oct. 2, 1753, Charles Orndorff's son has a prosperous farm machinery business going side-by-side with the family Belgian farm.

It's a family affair now getting into its fourth generation and dates back to the time when a young bride and her husband came all the way across the Allegheny Mountains, not merely to see what lay on the other side but to tame the wilderness and share its bounty with their fellowmen.

Court Ruling On Roads Puts Teeth In Ordinance

Lot plan developers in Greene County have been placed on notice that the county's Subdivision and Land Development Ordinance is something that can't be ignored.

Rather surprisingly the pointed warning did not result from any action by the county planning commission, which administers the ordinance. It came about as the result of the frustration felt by a group of Jefferson Township home owners who have been battling for months for improved roads and drainage in the development in which their homes are located.

They took their fight to the Greene County Court, where a visiting jurist from Fayette County ruled that the developer must stand the cost of building roads to the standard required by the ordinance, even though he did not allow for the cost when he sold the lots.

The ordinance, Judge Fred Adams stated, "imposes an absolute duty on the developer to construct lots to the standards set forth in the (county) ordinance." He added that this duty is not affected by any failure on the part of the planning commission to enforce its regulations back in 1976 when the plan was developed.

The Subdivision and Land Development Ordinance was adopted in 1972. It sets forth rigid standards for both conventional housing developments and for mobile home parks. The problem has always been one of enforcement.

With Judge Adams' ruling, assuming it is upheld if taken to an appellate court, that job should be a lot easier in the future.

Firemen's Relief Money Disbursed

HARRISBURG — Greene County municipalities will receive a total of $43,747 as their share of more than $20 million in volunteer firemen's relief association fund allocations and paid firemen's pension fund allocations currently being distributed by the state Department of the Auditor General.

Auditor General Al Benedict said this year's total allocation exceeds last year's allocation by $1.3 million.

State contributions to the firemen's relief associations comes from a two percent gross premiums tax on foreign fire insurance companies and from surplus money in the Fire Insurance Tax Fund. "Foreign" refers to a company incorporated out of state.

Fire Will Be Investigated

NEMACOLIN — The state police fire marshal will be asked to investigate a fire which destroyed an unoccupied mobile home here Saturday night.

Nema-colin Volunteer Fire Chief Charles Plasko said the home was engulfed in flames when firefighters arrived at the scene at 10:30 p.m. Saturday. An adjacent mobile home, also unoccupied, received some heat damage.

Plasko said the two mobile homes were either sold or in the process of being sold and he was not sure of their ownership.

Man Charged With Burglary

WAYNESBURG — Malachi R. Vernon, 40, of Waynesburg has been charged by Waynesburg borough police with three counts of burglary and five counts of theft.

Vernon is accused of burglarizing the Moose Lodge Oct. 1 and the Agway Feed Store sometime between Sept. 19 and 21.

Vernon, who was already in Greene County Jail, was re-arrested and then arraigned before Magistrate John Watson. An additional $25,000 bond was placed against him and he was returned to jail.

Special Event Day Planned

WAYNESBURG — In an effort to familiarize as many older persons as possible with the programs sponsored by the Southwestern Pennsylvania Area Agency on Aging (AAA), a Greene County special event day will be held. Hours are from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 10, near the AAA office at 136 East High Street in Waynesburg.

On this occasion, the AAA will take the opportunity to celebrate the first anniversary and rededication of its new, fully-equipped van and other activities provided by its Mobile Services Unit. This specially designed, 35-foot vehicle travels to various communities throughout Fayette, Greene, Washington and the Mon Valley portion of Westmoreland counties.

Thousands of older persons in the predominately rural area of Pennsylvania reside far from established senior citizens centers. So that they may take advantage of the many services and programs offered by the AAA, the mobile unit makes periodic scheduled visits to these areas. In this way, the AAA is uniquely able to reach out to the greatest number of isolated older persons.

During the Greene County special event day, the mobile unit staff and volunteers of the AAA will offer arts and crafts demonstrations; films, health, nutrition and consumer education; legal services; lunch between noon and 12:45 p.m.; rent rebate and tax information; Social Security and Medicare information and multi-phasic health screening.

Tours of the AAA mobile unit and Greene District Office will be conducted from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

For further information on the services offered through the Southwestern Pennsylvania Area Agency on Aging or to schedule an appointment for a mobile services health screening, contact the AAA Greene District Office at 136 East High Street, Waynesburg, Pa. 15370 or call 852-1510 or toll free 800 342-8980, extension 432.

These services are offered to the senior citizens of Fayette, Greene, Washington counties on a regular basis.

There are no fees for these services; however, donations are accepted.

The Southwestern Pennsylvania Area Agency on Aging (AAA) mobile services unit will be on display Tuesday, Nov. 10 in Waynesburg.

Rogersville Bridge Repair On Agenda

ROGERSVILLE — The half-century old Rogersville bridge which crosses the South Fork of Ten Mile Creek will be replaced next year, according to the state Department of Transportation.

Erected in 1930, the 45-foot span on Route 21 has been slowly crumbling for the past several years. The sidewalk through the bridge has been closed for safety reasons for the past several months.

Cost of the new span is expected to be some $500,000 when the work begins next fall.

Costs could go higher if

PennDOT is unable to retain the abutments and piers. Engineers will test the concrete and if it is determined the abutments and piers will not last another 20 years, they will be replaced also.

Not only will be two, 45-foot spans be replaced but extensive improvements are also planned for the approaches to the bridge. The traveled portion of the bridge is 45 feet wide.

It was also announced that 10 other bridges in the district will receive major renovations within the next four years.

Board Chooses Blake
As Deputy Warden

WAYNESBURG — Hubert Blake of Waynesburg was named acting deputy warden of the Greene County jail during Thursday's meeting of the county commissioners.

The appointment was made at the request of Warden Andy Bystry to fill a vacancy created when Deputy Warden Gordon Baughman was granted a six-month leave of absence.

The commissioners and treasurer Joseph Souders, sitting as the county salary board, approved an increase in Blake's salary from $806 to

The board also acted on Bystry's long-standing request for a salary differential between regular guards and guards who are designated as shift commanders by granting $50 a month increases to the three guards who act in that capacity. They are Irvin Yoders Jr., Howard Watson and Louis Nickler.

During the discussion, the commissioners indicated they are in process of revising the county's job classification and salary scale to take into account some of the recent changes in county jobs.

Jackets Battling Back

By DENISE BACHMAN
O-R Sports Staff
WAYNESBURG — Four wins, three losses and one tie. Certainly not a record to brag about. Especially for Waynesburg College, a team which had high expectations of making the playoffs at the start of the season.

But this team has something no record could measure. Heart and character.

The Jackets have battled adversity throughout the entire season — countless injuries, players quitting the team and questionable officiating at times — and despite suffering a disheartening 17-14 loss to a rather weak Grove City team last Saturday they have nothing of which to be ashamed.

A 4-3-1 record going into their final game against California State College Saturday is quite admirable in view of the circumstances they've come up against.

"We have had so many diversified things happen to us," head coach Hayden Buckley said, "that I think the good Lord is testing me to find out how good a coach I am."

"It's been said an oak tree gets stronger with every storm, and we certainly have had many storms. This year we've had our share of distracting events. Really, my only complete disappointment this season was the outcome of the game on Saturday."

Going into the game, Grove City appeared to be a pushover with only one win to its credit and a majority of its losses being blowouts.

But the Jackets had trouble controlling their overconfidence, and were unable to pull their offense and defense together at the same time.

"We played very poorly in the first half offensively," Buckley said. "We fumbled, were intercepted and overthrew people. But the defense played pretty good."

"Then we came back and played pretty good offense, but the defense didn't play too well. We were hitting them, but we kept missing tackle after tackle after tackle. We did more things to let them out of holes."

Buckley realizes any team can beat another team on any given day, but he never dreamed the Jackets would fit into that category.

"It has happened to other teams," Buckley said, "but I didn't think it would happen to us. But it did."

"It had nothing to do with playing ability. It was a complete breakdown as far as mistakes go. The spirit was there, but we had no intensity."

The picture was not as grim as it seems, however.

Despite the various breakdowns, the defense, led by Washington High School graduate Fremont Catlin, turned in some solid performances. Catlin was named defensive Jacket of the Week after making 17 tackles, four assists and one quarterback sack.

"We had two or three good goal line stands," Buckley said, "but in between we didn't play too well."

Richie Barnes, another Washington High School graduate, was tabbed specialty teams Jacket of the Week, returning a punt 15 yards, which Buckley said he almost broke for a touchdown, and a kickoff for 39 yards. Barnes also filled in for the injured Tom Manzari at safety and turned a few heads with his play.

Sophomore wide receiver Cline Hunt, the Jacket of the Week on offense, continued to make acrobatic catches, grabbing three passes, including 41- and eight-yard touchdown passes.

"I just hope we can lick our wounds and come back," Buckley said. "Against Cal State, it's going to be a question of who can survive the loss of last week mentally."

Mikes' Chess Big On Desire

By FRED SIGLER
O-R Sports Staff

He has to because almost all of his teammates and opposing players are taller and heavier than he is.

Chess, a senior at Carmichaels High School, where he is on his way to earning his second football letter, claims to be 5-3 and 140 pounds.

Mike head coach Tom McCombs estimates his smallest player is 5-1 or 5-2 and 125 or 130 pounds at the most.

At any rate, Chess is like a midget in a game dominated by giants.

But that doesn't stop him from seeing a lot of action at the safety position in the Mikes' defensive backfield in addition to limited duty as a running back.

"I like to play defense because it gives me a chance to hit guys bigger than I am," said Chess. "My size certainly isn't any handicap. I may be at a disadvantage because I'm small but I may also have an advantage because I can outrun a lot of them."

"I think we're in the best small high school conference around. (The Tri-County South Class A Conference). There are very few weak teams. The rest of us are pretty evenly-matched but Mon Valley Catholic really has a great team. For them to lose, they would have to play a very poor game and the other team would have to be almost perfect."

Chess is playing his fourth season on the varsity squad after starting his football career in the Carmichaels Midget League, where he competed for five years.

He was a reserve as a freshman and sophomore and lettered in his junior year as a defensive back and specialty team member on the Mikes' WPIAL Class A playoff team.

He has also played two seasons on the Carmichaels baseball team as a second baseman.

"He's a very hard worker and a real good kid to have on the squad," said McCombs. "He has to try even harder than most players because of his lack of size. He's not fast but he's quick and can catch up with a lot of guys bigger than he is."

"In our win over German Township, he really surprised me when he came from the opposite side of the field to catch one of their players around the seven-yard line, saving a touchdown. He can play a lot of football in our conference because we're

EDDY CHESS
All small schools and don't have a lot of big guys like many larger schools have.

Chess, who does not participate in winter sports, keeps in condition between football and baseball seasons by lifting weights.

"He is much more muscular than he looks because of his weight lifting," said McCombs.

Chess realizes that with his lack of size, he is not a college football prospect. After graduation, he plans to enroll at Waynesburg College or Penn State University and major in business.

Jackettes Buzzing Again

By JOHN BARKER
Sports Writer
WAYNESBURG — They've dominated women's collegiate volleyball in western Pennsylvania for the past four years and this year, the Waynesburg College Jackettes have plans to do the same.

"It's been a while coming," said Lorraine Cassidy, Waynesburg's head coach. "I think 1977 was the turning point of the entire program when we started recruiting players on partial scholarships just like the men's teams."

LORRAINE CASSIDY

While the regular-season games are certainly important, the season revolves around two major tournaments which decide whether Waynesburg will return to the nationals.

"The regular season wins only help in the seeding of the teams at nationals. It all comes down to whether you can win the tournaments," said Cassidy, now in her eighth season at Waynesburg.

The District 18 tournament will be held at Westminster

College tonight with Waynesburg (15-1), Behrend (13-5), Villa Maria (6-8), Geneva (7-10) and Pitt-Bradford (3-10) among the competing teams.

The District 18 tourney winner will represent Pennsylvania in a bi-district match against West Virginia's District 28 winner with the winner advancing to the NAIA National Tournament.

This year's national volleyball tournament will be held at Concord College in Athens, West Virginia.

Last year, the Jackettes won the NAIA District 18 women's volleyball title, and for the fourth consecutive year, the Pennwood West Tournament which included Robert Morris, Duquesne and Waynesburg.

The District 18 title propelled the Jackettes to the NAIA National Tournament in Pittsburg, Kansas, where they were eliminated in the early rounds.

"We had a good team last year... some of our girls come from Norwin High School and those girls have done a great job for the team. We have three or four Norwin girls on the floor all the time," Cassidy said.

"My feeling in the beginning of the season was that we weren't going to be as strong as last year. We lost two seniors from last year's team and I wasn't real sure of how good we were going to be. I scheduled a hard match right in the beginning of the year to see how we would do and we won."

"That early win over Grove City and Concord College helped put the team in a good mood," she added.

Since then, the Jackettes have breezed through the season with relative ease. Waynesburg's only loss in 16 games was to Juniata.

"Up until that Juniata match, our schedule had been fairly light. Most teams get better as the season goes on and so do we. I hope that we are heading toward a peak in our season," said Cassidy.

Waynesburg recently defeated Robert Morris in a close match, 3-2. It was a test of the team's depth as well as its spirit.

"That was a tough match," Cassidy said. "We were without the services of junior Valerie Benish, and she's a real leader on the team. We only have nine players and only one senior and she (Chris Dixon) is our first substitute."

The juniors are Benish, Sue Sotak, and captain Chris Cashmere. The sophomores are Sue Tolson, Rhonda Marino, Natali Crooks, Karen Mottura and Karen Connolly.

Gone from last year's team are Kathy Lazar and Lynn Sofaly.

"I really didn't know how the girls would react without Sofaly to count on — she was a good player," Cassidy said.

"Cashmere has to be one of our better players because she can play the ball very well. Both she and Valerie Benish are tough players; they play intelligently. I guess I would have to say they are our strongest players. They think well and their technique is good."

"This team is good, no doubt about it. But they've got to keep up the good play and keep their heads up."

California, 45-6
ROGERSVILLE — California High School vaulted into the thick of the wild race for second place in the Class A Tri-County South Conference here Friday night by routing West Greene 45-6.

California, Carmichaels, Jeff-Morgan and Frazier are all tied with 5-3 conference records, one-half game behind German Township. But German has the unenviable task of playing Mon Valley Catholic, the conference leader at 7-0.

Steve Tatar scored three touchdowns for California, now 6-3 overall, a two-yard run in the first quarter a 41-yard run in the third and an 80-yard kickoff return in the third.

Doug Deutsch grabbed a 15-yard pass from quarterback Brendan Folmar and Scott Bodnar ran four-yards for another score to give California a 21-0 halftime lead.

West Greene scored its only points on a 40-yard run by Mark Horr but Tarat's two TD's, a one-yard run by Bob Hardison and a one-yard run by Mike Zahand gave the Trojans the final cushion.

West Greene, which plays winless Mapletown next week, drops to 0-9 overall and 0-8 in the conference.

Carmichaels, 19-0
BENTLEYVILLE — Running back Mike Rumanick scored two touchdowns Friday night to lead Carmichaels High School to a 19-0 WPIAL Class A Tri-County South Conference football victory.

Rumanick caught a 12-yard pass from Mike quarterback Dick Krause for the only score of the first half.

Carmichaels held on to its 7-0 lead until Bill Mundel ran eight yards in the fourth quarter to increase its lead to 13-0. Rumanick closed out the game's scoring with a 51-yard run later in the quarter.

The win gives the Mikes a 5-3 conference record while dropping the Bearcats to 3-5.

Fair-Georges, 20-8
YORK RUN — Mapletown High School, no thanks to West Mifflin South, is now holding a dubious distinction among WPIAL member schools.

The Maples now have the WPIAL's longest losing streak, 17, extending that mark here Friday night as Fairchance-Georges defeated Mapletown 20-8 in a Class A Tri-County Conference game.

West Mifflin South had lost 18 straight games until Friday afternoon when it defeated West Allegheny 7-0.

Basketball League Forms

WAYNESBURG — The Greene County Council for Leisuretime Activities has announced the winter basketball league will begin Tuesday, Nov. 3, in the Waynesburg High School gym.

Games will be held on Nov. 3, 5, 10, 12, 24, 30 and Dec. 2, 8, 9, 14, 15 and 22. The gym will be reserved from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on those days.

Carmichaels Board Fails To Hire Wrestling Coach

CARMICHAELS — The Carmichaels Area School Board held an adjourned meeting Monday at which it again failed to hire a junior high wrestling coach, a matter which has been pending for weeks.

With just five members present, the board decided after a brief executive session that it would defer a decision until the regular meeting on Thursday, Nov. 19.

"I feel there aren't enough members here to act on this matter," board member Erma Jean Thomas said.

The only applicant for the post is Richard McWilliams of Carmichaels, a veteran coach in the Carmichaels midget wrestling program and uncle of former Carmichaels Area High WPIAL champion Mike McWilliams. He is a foreman at the Nemaacolin mine and vice president of Greene County Wrestling Boosters Inc.

The junior high position opened up when Gary White resigned as assistant varsity coach and James Hines, former junior high coach, moved up to that post. McWilliams has been recommended for the job by Edgar Hoyle, varsity coach.

McWilliams, who was at the meeting with two persons who are running for the school board in Tuesday's election, had no comment about the lack of a decision. He did note, however, that wrestling practice is scheduled to begin on Nov. 12, one week prior to the next board meeting.

In the only action at the brief meeting, the board approved use of a high school wrestling mat by the boosters' organization for a takedown tournament to be held Nov. 21 at Waynesburg College.

It also approved attendance by groups of teachers at three workshops.

Kings College opened in New York on July 7, 1754, with eight students and one instructor. Today it is known as Columbia University.

Scholastic Roundup

The Maples were unable to stop all-purpose back Pat McDonough, who tossed a 45-yard touchdown pass in the first quarter and ran three-yards for another score to give F-G a 14-0 halftime lead. He added a two-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter.

Mapletown cut the York Runners' lead to 14-8 in the third quarter when Bill Watson ran 32-yards for a touchdown. Watson then caught a pass from Ed Pekar for a two-point conversion.

Fair-Georges is now 3-5 in conference play and 3-6 overall while Mapletown drops to 0-9 overall and 0-8 in league play.

John Murphy. Hoak scored the extra point.

Hoak later kicked a 23-yard field goal to secure the game.

KO, 21-7
CANONSBURG — Keystone Oaks High School running back Dave Cargein led the Eagles to a 21-7 win over Canon-McMillan in Western Class AAAA Conference competition Friday night.

Beth-Center, 10-6
FREDERICKTOWN — Frank Hoak became an instant hero here Friday night, kicking a 23-yard field goal and an extra-point to give Beth-Center High School a 10-6 victory over Waynesburg in a Class AA Century Conference here Friday night.

John Eckerd returned a punt 57-yards to for Waynesburg's only touchdown.

Both teams remained scoreless in the first two quarters but Beth-Center erupted in the third on a long pass from Lee Gozdich to Hoak to set up the touchdown, a 30-yard run by

Waynesburg Wins Title

Meeting Draws Large Turnout

CARMICHAELS — A meeting of Carmichaels Borough Council Monday night erupted into a shouting match.

There was an overflow crowd of town residents present, including several former council members. The issue was proposed construction of a new borough building to replace the one that burned several years ago.

John Paletta, Doris Murphy and Edward Zalar, all former members, reminded council of the problems encountered in attempts to build a borough structure in the years when they were on council.

Accusations became very heated between past and present members. Paletta said "he would personally see to it that council didn't bury the town with a new building" and at times made strong verbal attacks against one of the present members.

The council building committee reported that plans and specifications for the new building will be ready for bidding purposes in a few days. Council will then hold a special meeting to review them and at that time will vote on the solicitation for bids.

Solicitor Robert Berryman said that due to the Carmichaels Area School Board's rejection of a resolution regarding the borough building property, no bank construction loan can be obtained until that situation is resolved.

John Clarchick, who owns the building currently being used as borough headquarters, said he wanted to set some rumors straight. He said he is "not kicking council out of his building." He added that there is no lease and that council is free to leave if it wishes. He also reminded council he had offered to sell the town an adjacent building.

Council pays $100 a month rent, which includes some utilities, at its present headquarters at the corner of Market and South Streets.

There was extensive discussion on repairs needed on Cranberry Alley, which was torn up when Carmichaels Arbors was built. A letter will be written by the solicitor to the Arbors developer and contractor regarding the problem.

Council will receive $729 as its share of the funds from the dissolved Carmichaels-Cumberland-Rices Landing Planning Commission.

The police report for October noted that the ESP speeding device was used three times during the month, with police issuing seven citations.

On-street parking revenue amounted to $1,041 and meter fines $152. Police investigated 19 complaints, issued 12 traffic citations, arrested two persons for criminal mischief and three for creating disturbances.

In response to a question, Police Chief Robert Arameish said that it is a state law that motorists must stop at crossings for pedestrians and said police issue warnings when they fail to do so. He said it is a matter of educating motorists that they are violating a state law.

Council received a request for action on the Barkman property on North Market Street. A resident of the area pointed out that it is abandoned and has become a hazard. Council has not yet passed new and amended ordinances which would give it the power to act in such situations, but indicated it would investigate other possible solutions to the problem.

The street committee reported it had investigated the possibility of providing ramps for the handicapped, but that 42 would be required if all intersections were modified and the cost would be prohibitive.

Council will meet as a committee of the whole at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 16, to prepare a preliminary budget for 1982.

Deweese Supports Idea Of Coal-Severance Tax

WAYNESBURG — Rep. H. William DeWeese has informed the Greene County commissioners that he will support their idea of incorporating a severance tax on coal into tax reform bills currently under consideration in Harrisburg.

The commissioners have advanced the idea because some 47 percent of Greene County's property tax revenues come from major coal companies in the forms of levies on their reserve and active coal holdings in the county.

They have said that while they support the idea of giving relief to home owners through property tax reform, they do not support any of the proposed reforms because at the same time they would eliminate taxes on coal.

DeWeese, in a letter to County Commissioner Richard Cowan, said that he will propose amendments to these bills "which would allow local options for the severance tax on coal and other minerals as a way of gaining real estate tax relief for property owners."
