Agreement Signed To Finish Wheeling Creek Project

WAYNESBURG — The Greene County Conservation District board of directors agreed this week to sign a supplemental agreement which must be submitted to Congress before a dam can be built in Richhill Township to complete the Wheeling Creek flood control project.

The supplemental agreement is necessary because the Wheeling Creek Watershed Commission has revised the project to eliminate the construction of a second dam in Richhill Township—one which would have provided water recreational facilities for the county in addition to serving as an impoundment to control flood waters.

The Conservation District board had withheld approval of the supplemental agreement because it felt Greene County should be entitled to recover the $50,000 it contributed to the flood control commission a decade ago—a contribution which was made when the recreational lake was still part of the plan.

At a conservation district board meeting this week, Ann Bower, watershed commission executive director, explained that the 1966 agreement involved contributions not only from Greene County, but also from Washington County and from Ohio and Marshall Counties in West Virginia. She said that all were made as outright grants without any stipulations as to the scope of the project.

The board then agreed to endorse the supplemental agreement, which had previously been signed by the Conservation District boards of Washington County and Marshall County.

Mrs. Bower said Friday that the agreement will now be executed by the watershed commission at its next meeting on March 22 and will then be forwarded to the state conservationist for his signature prior to being submitted to Congress. Congressional approval is required because of the change in scope.

The flood control project, to be financed primarily with federal dollars, is designed to prevent periodic flooding of Wheeling Creek at Wheeling, W. Va., through the construction of dams throughout the watershed. Five dams have been installed to date—four in West Virginia and one in Washington County.

The final one will be built as a "dry" dam (with no permanent pool of water) on the Enlow Fork of Wheeling Creek, straddling the border between Greene and Washington Counties. The dam which was eliminated was planned for the Dunkard Fork of Wheeling Creek, near Ryerson Station, also in Richhill Township.

Mrs. Bower said that one of the factors leading to a decision to eliminate the Dunkard Fork dam was lack of local funds.

She explained that it will cost an estimated $8.2 million to build the Enlow Fork facility, with $7,328,000 of that amount being provided by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and $922,000 by the watershed commission.

The Dunkard Fork dam would have cost an estimated $13 million and would have required a local contribution of $2,755,000.

"We have the money to build the Enlow Fork dam but the commission would have faced the problem of raising close to three million dollars if it had decided to go ahead with the Dunkard Fork facility," Mrs. Bower said.

While elimination of the Dunkard Fork dam will reduce flood protection at Wheeling from 100 percent to 89 percent, the commission feels that certain measures can be taken in the flood area to offset the shortfall. The U.S. Corps of Engineers has agreed to work with all agencies involved to set up a program of technical assistance for residents in the flood-prone area.

The present timetable for construction of the Enlow Fork dam calls for construction to begin in late 1983.

Board Seeks No Smoking Ordinances

CARMICHAELS — The Carmichaels Area School Board, in seeking a method to restrict smoking in its school buildings, will ask local municipalities to adopt "no smoking in public buildings" ordinances.

Secondary Principal William Harr, reporting on the matter during a board meeting Thursday night, said that research shows that the best and legal way to do it to have the local governing bodies enact a no smoking ordinance for all public buildings except in designated areas.

The board agreed, by a 5-2 vote, to a policy committee recommendation to request the Cumberland Township Supervisors and Carmichaels Borough Council to adopt such an ordinance. The school board would then be in a position to consider having such designated areas in its school buildings.

It was noted that both the supervisors and president of borough council have indicated they would support such an ordinance. Violators would face the possibility of being taken before a district magistrate and fined.

In other action the board accepted the resignation of Edgar Hoyle as head varsity wrestling coach and expressed its appreciation for his services for the past 15 years.

The board approved the employment of Elizabeth Haligowski as secretary in the business office. Her employment is effective immediately.

The negotiations committee reported that contract negotiations with the non-professional staff will begin Tuesday, Feb. 23.

The board approved an education committee recommendation for a one time only policy for a college release program for high school seniors involved in the recent Social Security benefits ruling. The 10 to 12 students involved would attend college in the afternoon until the end of this school term and thereby qualify to retain their Social Security benefits.

The board approved sponsoring a sports-scholastic banquet annually for all seniors who are athletes, band members, cheerleaders, majorettes and the top 10 academic students.

A $1,000 appropriation from the athletic fund was approved by the board to renovate the baseball field backstop. A plaque will be placed at the field to designate that the funds for the renovation were donated to the school in 1978 when John Yeash received the funds for the school as part of a baseball athletic award.

Elementary Principal Terry Ganocy reported the Greene County Spelling Bee will be held March 24 in Waynesburg. The Carmichaels Area Spelling Bee is scheduled for 7 p.m. March 2. He noted that several students in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades participated in a Washington-Greene AAA Traffic Safety Poster contest with nine students winning an award.

Repep Murders Still A Mystery

The investigation into what caused the murder-suicide near West Alexander hit another roadblock Tuesday when results of laboratory tests on a blood sample from Lawrence Repep showed no evidence of drugs or alcohol.

Washington County Coroner Farrell Jackson said the lab report showed "negative, everything's negative."

Repep last Thursday morning shot his wife, Ruth Ann, 38, and their two sons, Benjamin, 5, and Lawrence Michael Repep Jr., 3, in their farmhouse in West Finley Township.

After receiving the lab report, Jackson speculated that either investigators had not "found out what the problem was, or it happened because he (Repep) was mentally unbalanced."

The coroner said the house was basically in order—no disturbed as would be expected if someone had charged about in anger.

Melissa Lammie, 17, Repep's stepdaughter and the only survivor of the massacre, was unable to give state police a clue to go on when she was interviewed at a relative's home Friday.

In struggling to get away from Repep, Melissa's hand was gashed by his gun. The McGuffey High School senior then ran to a neighbor's mobile home for help.

"When you stop and think about it, it's a miracle that she got away from him, a man as strong and big as he was," Jackson said.

Repep weighed between 180 and 190 pounds and was stocky and well built. "He appeared to be a very strong individual," the coroner commented.

He likened the mystery surrounding the West Alexander tragedy to that of any suicide: "You have the same problem as to why."

Jackson also talked to members of Repep's family to determine a cause. Although they were very cooperative, they "could not come up with anything," he said.

The laboratory also returned results on Theodore Small, 34, of Homestead, who shot himself last Thursday morning on Route 40 just west of Scenery Hill. There was no trace of drugs or alcohol in Small's blood, Jackson said.

Consol Plans Second Mine For Richhill Township

WAYNESBURG — Consolidation Coal Co. will apply for a state permit to construct a second mine in northwestern Greene County.

The proposed Greene County No. 2 Mine would be built in the same valley at Enon in Richhill Township where land preparation work is under way for development of the company's Bailey Mine.

Project manager Don Keel said the second mine would be "about four months behind" the timetable for the Bailey Mine, which would mean the first coal would come from it in late 1983 or early 1984.

The Bailey Mine is expected to produce 2.3 million tons of coal per year after it reaches full production and will employ 550 people. The No. 2 mine is also being designed to produce 2.3 million tons per year and would provide 525 jobs.

The application to the Department of Environmental Resources for a mine drainage permit and permission to operate the No. 2 mine will be made in the name of Consol Pennsylvania Coal Co. It stipulates that the shaft, slope and other surface facilities will lie within the permit area of the Bailey Mine. "No additional surface disturbance will be created outside of the area covered by the Bailey Mine permit," it states.

Both mines will remove Pittsburgh seam coal from Consol's 26,000-acre Manor reserve field.

Keel said the shaft and slope of the No. 2 mine would be about one-half mile north of the Bailey mine and would take coal from the northern part of the field. The Bailey mine will work to the south. Both mines would use the same washer and preparation plant, with the coal being shipped over a new railroad line which will be built from Enon to tie into the Monongahela Railroad line in West Waynesburg.

Keel said that while Consol is proceeding on the assumption that construction of the second mine will begin by late spring or early summer, it could be delayed.

"Although construction is provided for in the 1982 budget, we are not fully committed to a timetable until we firm up some sales commitments," he said. "At this time, however, everything looks very optimistic."

One of the questions, he explained, centers around the demand for coal by Rheinische Braunkohlenwerke AG (Rheinbraun), one of West Germany's largest mining companies.

Under an agreement with Consol, Rheinbraun has a 24 percent equity in the development of up to five underground mines, of which Bailey and Greene County No. 2 would be the first two. Under a sales agreement, the German firm will also take an additional 24 percent of the coal from the Bailey mine.

"We are not yet completely sure of how much coal Rheinbraun would take from the No. 2 mine, and we are also in process of negotiating with American utilities and other overseas customers for sale of the balance of the coal," Keel said. "A lot depends on the market."

Coal going to the overseas market would be shipped by rail to Baltimore, Md., where Consol is in process of developing a coal exporting terminal.

Long-range plans call for eventual development of as many as five mines to remove coal from the Manor reserve and the adjoining Nineveh reserve field, which is also owned by Consol.

Consol, with headquarters in Upper St. Clair, is the nation's second largest coal producer. It is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Conoco Inc., which was purchased in 1981 by DuPont to create the ninth largest corporation in the United States.

County May Face Fiscal Problems At Curry Home

WAYNESBURG — Greene County faces the possibility of major financial problems at the Curry Memorial Home because of a freeze on Medicaid payments.

Projections of what the freeze will mean and the problem of sharply escalating health insurance costs for county employees were the major topics of discussion at Thursday's meeting of the county commissioners.

The alarm on the county-operated nursing home was sounded by auditor John S. Milinovich during a presentation of the Curry Home audit for 1981 when he noted that operating revenues during 1981 had decreased by one percent while operating costs had escalated by eight percent.

The net operating loss for the year amounted to $383,526, with expenditures totaling $2,107,342.

In essence, he said, a ceiling has been placed on medical assistance cost rate adjustments so that the payments will gradually fall below the present level of close to 95 percent, with the first impact of that ceiling being felt last year.

"As costs continue to rise, it's conceivable that the county could again be in a position where the level of federal funding will fall back to 55 percent, where it stood before Medicaid payments were increased," Milinovich said.

He explained that the federal government now picks up 56 percent of all allowable operating costs at the nursing home, with the state picking up 90 percent of the balance of 44 percent. These costs are picked up, however, only so long as they do not exceed the maximum.

In the past this ceiling has been raised each year to keep pace with inflation. With the freeze, the ceiling remains constant and allowable costs which exceed it are not reimbursable.

"It's another example of the federal government's giving something and then taking it away after you've become used to having it."

The auditor also noted that the federal funds are now being paid on a more current basis which, while increasing the cash flow, reduces the cushion the county has had at year-end in the past.

In prior years, he noted, there was usually some $300,000 which was due the county on Dec. 31. This year the outstanding medical assistance account stood at just $40,800.

Another factor which will have a major impact is that the county during 1981 amended its auditing procedures to reduce by one year the time lag in receiving adjustment payments. As a result, it received both its 1979 and 1980 adjustments in 1981 for a total of $600,000. In 1982, the total adjustment which is due is the $40,800.

Milinovich agreed that the more timely payments could offset some of this loss, but warned that the Curry Home budget will require close monitoring during the year.

In 1981, the average cost of maintaining the 111 Curry Home residents was $1,630 per month for both the 103 patients requiring skilled care and the eight persons requiring intermediate care. As a result, the commissioners adopted a resolution to increase the established rate for skilled care residents from $1,600 to $1,800, and the rate for intermediate care from $1,450 to $1,650.

Health Insurance
James Billy, Blue Cross and Blue Shield representative for Greene and Washington Counties, met with the commissioners to discuss reasons why the county's medical insurance rates will be increased by 56.1 percent on April 1.

The county provides Blue Cross, Blue Shield and major medical coverage for its 200 employees. Employees who wish

Date Set For Distribution

WAYNESBURG — Greene County's allocation of 6,000 pounds of government surplus cheese will be distributed Saturday, Feb. 27.

The five-pound loaves of American cheese, which are being made available by the Department of Agriculture, will be distributed through six centers in the county on a first-come basis.

To be eligible, a person must be at least 18 years of age and a resident of Greene County and must be eligible for public assistance, food stamps, Medicaid or supplemental social security.

Each household will be entitled to one block of cheese only, regardless of the size of the household.

Barbara Coccari of Catholic Social Services said that 875 of the loaves of cheese will be distributed through the six centers, with Lions Club volunteers staffing five of them and the Salvation Army the sixth.

Lions Club participation is being coordinated through William Nalitz of Waynesburg. They will staff centers at the Rogersville fire hall (100 loaves), Waynesburg fairgrounds (275 loaves), Mt. Morris Community Center (100 loaves), and the Clarksville fire hall (75 loaves). The Salvation Army will distribute 275 loaves at the Glades Hill Community Chapel on Route 88 south of Carmichaels.

"Each center will open at 11 a.m. and will remain open until 3 p.m. unless the cheese runs out before that time," Ms. Coccari said.

Mrs. Coccari, who is coordinating the county distribution, said that 375 of the 1,200 loaves of cheese will be distributed by the Greene County Food Bank to its clients who are unable to get to a distribution center because of age and infirmity.

Those going to the distribution center will be asked for proof of identity and proof of eligibility.

Crash Injures Local Doctor, Mother, Child

WAYNESBURG — A well-known Waynesburg physician was one of three persons injured in a two-car accident at 5 p.m. Friday at the intersection of North Porter and Braden Streets.

Dr. D. Paul Greenlee, 79, Bonar Avenue and Fifth Street, suffered a possible hip fracture and multiple facial lacerations.

Barbara Jean Kisner, 27, of 201 Mountainview Drive, and her two-year-old son Joshua were treated at the Waynesburg hospital.

Waynesburg Borough police said Dr. Greenlee was crossing Porter Street when his car was hit broadside by the Kisner vehicle.

other related facilities.

"This revised project will provide the additional facilities needed to accommodate men's and women's sports, an expanded intramural program and increased recreational use, as well as bringing facilities in the existing gymnasium up to acceptable quality," Marsh said.

A special meeting of the board will be held in late March or early April, at which time the trustees will consider whether available funds will permit letting a contract for the new construction portion of the revised project, he said.

"The trustees reaffirmed that the most critical capital need of the college is additional recreational facilities," he said.

Original plans had called for construction of a new recreation center for intramural sports and activities. It was to have included a basketball court, swimming pool, volleyball courts, exercise areas with a weight room, wrestling area and training room, a sauna, steam bath, courts for handball, squash and paddleball and special rooms for dancing and concerts. The present gym was to have been remodeled for continued use by intercollegiate athletics.

The latest estimate on the cost of that project had been estimated at $3.5 million. No estimate has been made on what it will cost to carry out the revised project, but it is expected to be considerably less.

In addition to making a decision on the recreation facility, the board of trustees also took action on setting tuition and fees for the 1982-83 academic year. Action on all other aspects of the 1982-83 operating budget was delayed until the special meeting in late March or early April.

Tuition and fees for the upcoming academic year (effective Aug. 28, 1982) were increased by 9.2 percent, which Marsh said is the lowest annual percentage increase in six years.

Semester charges (one-half of the academic year) were set at $2,300 for tuition (an increase of $200); $80 for the activity fee (an increase of $5); $510 for a double room (an increase of $35), and $550 for the full meal plan (an increase of $50).

"It is anticipated that most Pennsylvania independent colleges will increase tuition and fees from 10 percent to 15 percent, and several independent, church-related colleges in the region have already announced increases in the 10 to 15 percent range," Marsh said.

"The trustees are anxious to keep our charges as low as possible and still maintain the high quality of our educational programs and other services to students. Our charges for next year will continue to be lower than charges at many other institutions of our type."

He added that the trustees will seek additional student aid funds to help students with legitimate need.

Waynesburg College To Revise Recreation Center Plans

WAYNESBURG — Waynesburg College will revise the scope of its proposed recreation facility under new guidelines set forth by the college board of trustees during a meeting Friday.

"The board voted to move forward with consideration of a recreational facility that the college could afford without a burdensome debt," college President Joseph F. Marsh said Monday.

The project will now include a new intercollegiate gymnasium and necessary renovation of the current gymnasium for intramural and recreational sports, with upgraded locker rooms and

Game Commission Takes Pains To Increase Bluebird Population

By CHRISTIE MOLZON
Staff Writer
GARARDS FORT — State subsidized housing in the area is going to the birds — and it's working.

Thanks to the efforts of the "Food and Cover Corp" of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, the lovely bluebird, once a bird facing extinction, is making a comeback.

The widespread use of the pesticide DDT in the 1960s killed many bluebirds who ate contaminated insects. With the ban on DDT in 1972, the bluebird has a better chance of survival. The Game Commission has been giving the birds even more help by providing them with houses larger birds cannot infiltrate.

Jim Spiller, farm game manager, and Albert Brown, a foreman for the Game Commission, oversee the Food and Cover Corp project. Spiller asks those farmers who have leased land to the Game Commission for hunting purposes if a birdbox can be placed on their property. Over 300 birdhouses for the bluebirds have been set up in a four county area — Washington, Greene, Allegheny and Beaver counties. The men estimate 75 to 85 percent of the houses are used by bluebirds though sometimes sparrows may make their nests in the boxes. Each bluebird box is numbered and it is checked every year for use and its condition.

The houses are made from poplar grown on State Game Lands. They have a one and one-half inch diameter opening so larger birds, such as starlings who will destroy bluebird eggs, cannot enter.

Dick Belding, land manager, noted the bluebird is a bird people seem to be naturally attracted to. After a story on the project appeared in one publication Belding received about 100 requests in two weeks time for birdhouse construction plans.

"They're completely beneficial," Belding said of the birds that thrive on insects and keep some plants, such as multiflora rose, in check.

Some bluebirds do winter in the local area but most migrate south. Preparing for next month's return of the bluebirds, laborers Joe Durco and Robert Correll were busy constructing birdhouses last week.

The bluebird is not the only bird being helped by the Game Commission — houses for the sparrow hawk and wood duck are also set out. Monies to promote the bird program come from hunting license fees. People interested in helping with the Food and Cover Corp project are welcome to contact the Game Commission.

The birdhouses should be placed close to an open field so the birds can find insects. They make nests of fine grass and lay three to four eggs.

The Game Commission's bluebird project in the area was started only four years ago, but already the men connected with it have seen an increase in the bluebird population — a comforting thought considering how close the species came to annihilation. Man almost destroyed the small songbird — but now man is helping it prosper.

Weight Limits Readied

State Taking Tougher Stand Against Strip-Mine Operators

WAYNESBURG — The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, acting through the Department of Transportation, will be taking a tougher stand with coal strippers on March 1 when weight limits on several county roads will be 10 tons and higher bonds will be required to assure reconstruction of roads.

The 10-ton weight limit will be placed on many roads in PennDOT's District 12 which is comprised of Washington, Fayette, Greene and Westmoreland counties. In addition, coal hauling firms will be required to post a bond of $6,000 or $12,500 per mile of road depending on the type of road being used.

In past years, firms were only required to post $750 for each road being used.

Roads in eight townships in Greene County will be posted with the new 10-ton limit including state highways in Jefferson, Morgan, Whiteley, Monongahela, Greene, Cumberland, Center and Dunkard townships. Most, if not all, strip mining operations in the country are currently taking place in those eight townships.

Residents in Morgan and Jefferson townships have been especially upset for the past few years because of bad road conditions caused by heavy truck traffic. Police were called to monitor situations in Clarksville on at least two occasions.

Some roads in Morgan Township have been damaged to the point where school officials have banned buses from them.

Coal strippers met with local highway officials in June 1981 and the problem was believed to have been settled. However, the 30-day moratorium granted by PennDOT to allow for road repair did not help the situation.

A PennDOT spokesman who wished to remain anonymous said Sunday part of the blame lies with the department because no follow-up action was ever taken. "These roads which were built 50 years ago can not hold up under these heavy trucks," the spokesman said.

The roads on which weight limits will be placed are as follows:

Route 30081 from Clarksville to the Addleman farm in Morgan Township.

Route 30051 from station 48, being a point known as Pitt Gas Road, to station 124, being a point known as Castile Run in Jefferson Township.

Route 30050 known as Seven Creek Crossings from Stewart's Hill to Chartiers in Jefferson Township.

Route 30014 known as Whiteley Creek Road from Kirby to Frosty Run in Whiteley Township.

Route 30086 known as the Homeville

Road from Ridge Road to the Jefferson Road in Morgan and Jefferson Townships.

Route 30066 known as Whiteley from Little Ceylon to Paisley in Monongahela Township.

Route 30016 known as the Minor Mapletown Road from the intersection of Route 616 to Mapletown Bank in Greene and Monongahela Townships.

Route 30103 known as the Chartiers Road from Rogers Hill to Castile Run in Morgan Township.

Route 30055 known as the Jefferson Road from Jefferson to the county line in Morgan Township.

Route 30021 known as Minor Road from Garards Fort to Five Corners in Cumberland and Greene townships.

Route 30027 known as the Garards Fort Road from Garards Fort to Bailey's Crossroads in Greene and Cumberland townships.

Route 30043 known as House Run from the West Virginia line to West Point Marion in Dunkard Township.

Route 30075 known as the Mapletown Hill Road from Wiley to Mapletown in Monongahela Township.

Route 30130 known as the Bobtown Road from Wiley to Bobtown in Dunkard Township.

Route 30089 known as Claylick from Bristoria to Rutan in Center Township.

Students Win Citizen Awards

CARMICHAELS — Good Citizen award winners from three county high schools will be honored Thursday, Feb. 25, at the meeting of the Greene Academy Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution to be held in Greene Academy in Carmichaels.

Selected by their schools are Richard A. Zelina of Mapletown, William Lee Faddis of Jefferson-Morgan and Patricia Hanley of Carmichaels.

Zelina is ranked first in his class at Mapletown High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Zelina of Bobtown.

He received the Bausch & Lomb science award, a certificate of merit from the PHEEA and serves as treasurer of the National Honor Society. A basketball letterman, he is also vice president of the band, a member of the concert band, Varsity Club, YEA, yearbook staff, Future Business Leaders of America, the audio-visual club and is a member of the student council.

He plans to attend Lehigh University or Case Western Reserve to major in computer science.

William Faddis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Faddis of Rices Landing and enjoys working with computers. He is also active in athletics and outdoor sports.

A member of the computer club, he is the senior class representative on student council and a member of the baseball team. He has been a member of the Boy Scouts for several years and has also visited Mexico as a member of the Spanish Club.

He plans to attend West Virginia University and major in computer science and sometime in future hopes to own his own computer software company.

Patricia Hanley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hanley of Nemaocolin, is president of the National Honor Society and the student council.

In school, she is also active with the Conservation Club, Drama Club and Spanish Club. She is a six-year member of the concert and marching bands and was named to the all-county band for three years.

She was selected girl of the month by the local Woman's Civic Club and is a varsity cheerleader. She was named to the Society of Distinguished High School Students. She plans to attend college and major in elementary education.

County Faces Fiscal Problem to have coverage for dependents must pay the difference in cost.

Last year, Billy explained, the county paid some $80,000 in premiums while more than $160,000 was charged against the county account because of claims which were paid, for a net loss of $81,760.

"For every dollar which was taken in two dollars was paid out," he said. "Even though you got an increase of 50 percent you are still below the community rate."

Commission Chairman Joseph Pawlosky said that the county still plans to solicit proposals from other hospital insurance carriers before accepting the new contract.

Representatives of three boards of supervisors in the county were also on hand for the session with Billy because of increases which they face in Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage.

They were Richhill Township, facing a 41.8 percent increase, Jefferson Township, facing a 34.1 percent increase, and Franklin Township, which faces a 32.3 percent increase.

"Is costing us $600 a month to provide coverage for five people, and that's too much," Richhill Township Supervisor Jack Whitlatch said.

Billy explained that the townships are part of a municipal pool in southwestern Pennsylvania, and that the claims experience of the entire pool is reflected on rates in individual townships.

The possibility of creating a group to cover all townships in the county was discussed, with the commissioners suggesting that it could be made a subject for consideration at the annual township convention in May.

A letter from the Corner Pocket Appaloosa Horse Club was read in which club president Ron Weeter of Holbrook complained that the club has been denied rental of the infield and a barn for a horse show on the weekend following the county fair in August.

He contested a decision by the fairgrounds manager that the county would not have sufficient time to clean-up the grounds during the week between the fair and the horse show.

The commissioners said they felt the matter could be resolved and indicated they will discuss it with John Higgins, superintendent of the county maintenance department, and William Whoolery, fairgrounds manager.

Contracts for conversion of the basement floor of the new County Office Building for use as an adult day care center were awarded on the basis of bids received last week.

Total cost of the project, which is expected to reach some $130,000, will be borne by the Southwestern Pennsylvania Area Agency on Aging (AAA), which in turn will receive six years of free rent to operate the day care center.

Reese's Mill: Grinding No More

WAYNESBURG — Historic Reese's Mill is no more.

The 142-year-old landmark along Route 18 just northwest of Waynesburg has become a victim of progress. Local citizens for the past 20 years had talked about saving the mill but no action was taken.

Although the razing of the landmark is almost complete, the grist mill could reappear in another state in the future.

John Skovran of New Salem obtained the salvage rights from mill owner Robert Reese of State College. Skovran will take the machinery to his 15-acre farm in Fayette County and will divide the lumber with the two men helping dismantle the building.

"I hated to see a historic place like this fall victim to the coal company's bulldozer, so I contacted Mr. Reese and made a deal for the mill," Skovran said Wednesday.

A pipe fitter by trade, Skovran said he has received inquiries from Indiana and Illinois and also Philadelphia concerning the possibility of re-constructing the mill. "Some park in Indiana was especially interested," he said.

Skovran said his primary purpose in razing the mill was to preserve some history. But he also believed there could be some financial rewards as well. He also said local citizens and the Greene County Historical Society had contacted him but no deals have been made.

Skovran expressed some disappointment when he found most of the lumber used in the three-story building was not oak, as first believed, but poplar. However, he did make one unusual discovery — a 15-foot section of wooden pipe and a connector for the pipe.

Monongahela Railroad is expected to begin construction on the new rail system to Consol mines next month and the mill was in the path of the new tracks.

A large barn next to the mill has been leveled but some of the huge rafters are reportedly going to become a part of a local tavern renovation.

County Arts Council Meets

CARMICHAELS — The Greene County Council on the Arts elected new officers, heard a financial report and reviewed classes to be offered this Spring at a meeting held this week.

Elected to one-year terms were James Hopton, president; Ruth Atalski, vice president; Priscilla Jack, treasurer and directors for a three-year term, Hopton, Frank Melega Jr. and Norma Jean Kline. A secretary and a third director will be elected at the March meeting.

Hopton replaces Marcia Biddle, who has served as president for the past two years.

The council is now accepting dues for 1982. Dues may be sent to the council at Box 309, Carmichaels, Pa. 15320.

Viola Donovan, treasurer for the past two years, gave a financial report covering 1980 and 1981. The accounts will be audited by Horne and Nypaver accounting firm.

Mrs. Biddle gave a report on grants that have been received by the council.

This marks the third year the local council has been eligible for matching government grants. A matching grant of $2,500 for 1982 has been approved by the Pa. Arts Council and the Greene County commissioners have approved the $2,500 in matching funds.

The council has also applied for a technical aid grant for Carmichaels Area Jaycees to create a community theater. The state council has granted $300 plus expenses and Jaycees will have Tom Gaydos, head of the theater department of Robert Morris College as consultant.

State council also approved a $2,000 grant for the architect class to be taught for 10 days by Daniel Morris, associate professor of art at Waynesburg College.

Affiliated Artists have approached the county council to determine if a visiting artist in residence will be sought.

County council has been requested to apply for a grant to underwrite the costs of the Westmoreland Symphony for the county Messiah presentation. The state council booklet, Guide to Programs, is available at the academy for interested art groups.

Arrangements are being made by Jim Hopton and Frank Melega to sponsor a Youth Arts exhibit in May. It would be county-wide and also include music departments of the five county school districts. Information has been sent to all elementary art and music teachers for grades kindergarten through eighth grade.

The children will be asked to enter art for the exhibit and elementary bands and music classes would perform, to demonstrate the accomplishments of children in the county.

Hopton will also instruct a children's calligraphy class for fifth grade and up, beginning March 27.

The county council is seeking space in Waynesburg to conduct baby ballet classes. Information is available by calling 966-2731.

Contract Agreement Reached

Employees of the Washington-Greene Community Action Corp. may soon have their first union contract.

John Wilson, CAC executive director, said Friday that a tentative agreement was reached at a bargaining session Thursday evening with District Council 84, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSME).

The agreement is subject to ratification by the 179 employees who are members of the bargaining unit and by the CAC board of directors, which will next meet on Monday, March 1.

The contract, covering wages, fringe benefits, hours and working conditions, would run through June 30, 1983. It would cover employees who work out of both the Greene and Washington County offices. Details of the contract were withheld pending ratification.

Wilson said it was his understanding that the union will schedule a ratification meeting for next week. Minnie Frye of Washington, president of the CAC local, was not available for comment.

Community Action employees voted to join the union in January of last year and negotiating sessions have been held periodically since that time.

Cumberland Twp. Agrees To Accept $25,000 Grant

CARMICHAELS — The Cumberland Township Supervisors agreed to accept a $25,000 Community Facilities Grant from the Department of Commerce at their meeting Thursday night.

Money from the grant will be used for sewer lines at the Crucible renovation project. A second resolution adopted by the supervisors authorized a tax anticipation loan, if needed, from the Carmichaels First National Bank until earned income taxes are received.

The resolution allows for up to $60 thousand to be borrowed in $20 thousand increments if a

Waynesburg Man Is Arrested

WAYNESBURG — William H. Kiser, 31, of 253 South Morris Street, Waynesburg, was arrested by borough police at 5:03 p.m. Saturday. He was charged with driving while intoxicated and reckless driving.

They also agreed to ask township police to make periodic checks at Anne Coover Drive, Betty Boulevard, and Ringneck Hollow Road in response to reports of prowlers in that area.

The supervisors said that while sewer user rates for Crucible have not yet been established, they will be lower than rates in the Carmichaels-Cumberland Township area

Trout Stocking Schedule Changed

WAYNESBURG — Two changes in the trout stocking schedule for the Greene County have been announced by Gary E. Deiger, Greene County waterways patrolman. Whiteley Creek will be stocked on Thursday, March 18 (not March 15 as previously reported), and the North Fork of Ten Mile Creek will be stocked Friday, March 19 (not March 22 as previously reported).

The rest of the schedule remains unchanged.

GRANGE MEETING
Carmichaels Grange will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 2, in the grange hall.

Methodist Church Project

Local Program Promotes Crafts

CARMICHAELS — Several Methodist churches in Greene County have joined together to promote an arts, crafts, talents and services program (ACTS) which will provide supplemental income for United Methodist Churches in the area.

The program was made possible by a grant from "Together," a project of the United Methodist district.

An ACTS shop will be operated out of the fellowship hall of the Carmichaels Methodist Church located at the corner of South Market and Morgantown Streets. The shop will open March 1 and store hours will be 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Monday, Thursday and Saturday and from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Fridays.

The first step in the project was the selection of an official logo. The winning entry came from Edward Walko, operator of Edwards Department Store in Carmichaels.

Churches in each area of the county will have a representative to collect the arts and crafts. The items will be sold at the ACTS store at a 20 percent mark-up over the supplier's price. All revenue will remain in the county and will be used to continue the ACTS project.

Contact persons are as follows:

For the northwest corner which includes Bethany, Nineveh, Valley Chapel, Union Valley, Fairview, Hopewell, Swartz, Nebo and Rogersville churches, the contact is Helen Dinsmore at 428-4113.

The north central area which includes churches of Waynesburg, Forcye, Oak Forest, Mt. Pleasant, Throckmorton and Oak View, will have Joyce Johnston at 627-9838 as contact person.

The northeast will include Millsboro, Carmichaels, Bobtown, Rices Landing, Jefferson and Mt. Calvary churches and the contact person is Barbara Roberts at 592-5556.

Oneida Grimes at 447-2221 will represent the southwest region which includes Jollytown, Laurel Run, Pine Bank, Grandview, Mt. Zion, and Pleasant Hill churches.

The southcentral area includes Kuhntown, Kent Chapel, Claughton, Valley Chapel, Spraggs, Fairall, and Kirby and will have Jane Debolt as representative. Her number is 435-7280.

Lynn Snyder at 324-2647 will serve the Southeast area which includes Mapletown, Bald Hill, Shardon Chapel, Taylorstown, Mt. Pleasant, Davistown, Mt. Morris and Shannon Run churches.

Next time you see a church standing in the snow, its spire raised to the winter sky, think how hard it was to attend church services in your grandfather's day.

Then it was a matter of getting up in the cold chill of early morning, hitching up horse and sled and jingling across the country-side with sharp icicles of wind stinging your cheeks. Yet few stayed at home because of the weather.

Today, it is relatively easy for all of us to get to church. Whether we live in the city or in the country, modern transportation can bring us conveniently to the very doors of the church. Yet we are far more apt to stay home than grandfather was.

Grandfather realized there was so much to be gained by making his pilgrimage through the snow that only sickness could have kept him at home. He knew that few experiences were richer than worshipping in the church of his choice each week. If we stop to think . . . and if we're honest with ourselves . . . we'll know it too.

Faces From The Past-Do You Recognize Them?

"I do" was expressed by hand for the happy bride and groom pictured above in a "sign language" style ceremony in Waynesburg in the mid-1930's by the Rev. Warren M. Smaltz. The newlyweds were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Mishler, who were graduates of the school for the deaf and blind at Pittsburgh. The picture was taken on the lawn of a Waynesburg church which they attended.

Fact and Folklore
 John O'Hara

Is Greene County, the southwestern cornerstone of Pennsylvania, doomed to become a county without many of the visible marks of its early history when it was a beautiful rural area and a region almost sufficient to itself?

It became a county in 1796 when it was declared by the state legislature to be separated from Washington County of which it had originally been a part. Waynesburg was made the county seat because of its central location being only some six miles from the exact geographical section of the county at the village of Clinton, which is a few rods east of Rogersville.

The first session of court was convened near the village of Khedive in Cumberland Township, a few miles west of Carmichaels. As soon as the first courthouse was built in Franklin Township, court was conducted in the county seat.

Early historians of the county have written various descriptions of the courthouse which was built of logs. As the decades rolled by, the ancient log structure was expanded. The original log courthouse was sold by the county to a private citizen and somewhere during those two ownerships, it was modernized.

From time to time, another type of metal was used as a protective covering for the original logs that dated back to the post-revolutionary war period. The logs are in excellent condition.

Various area historians who have visited Waynesburg as guests of the local historical society, had high praise for the excellent care the building has received. They also said because of that dedicated care, by present owner George Albert and previous owner Marshall Wood, no trouble would be encountered in preserving it as a historic structure.

For those not familiar with its location it is on East Greene Street adjacent to the fire hall. It has been taken care of down through the centuries and it could be a living sort of historical attraction to complement the near two-century old Waynesburg parks on the north side of town.

Unfortunately for Greene County aspirations to link its present to the past, at least two other such "links" were destroyed due to public indifference.

Both were glaring incidents when the famed Double Covered Bridge which spanned Ten Mile Creek in Franklin Township at the site of the present Monongahela Railroad overpass across Ten Mile Creek.

Its beautiful arch beams with colorful circus bills were sold for fire wood or allowed to rot in the stream when the structure was destroyed.

Another was when the historic "Pin Bridge" that spanned Ten Mile Creek between Jefferson and the then new mining community of Mather was destroyed and not preserved when it was replaced by a modern concrete span in the early 1940s.

From a cultural and historic standpoint, such losses to the community and the county are irreparable to the county and its people.

New Road Bonding Program Should Ease Truck Problem

When Frank R. Riggle of Clarksville R.D.1 went before the Greene County board of commissioners recently to complain about the condition of a state highway in Morgan Township he expressed frustrations which are felt by many people who live side-by-side with strip mines.

His road, State Route 30081, is probably one of the worst examples around because of the large number of heavily-loaded trucks which must use it. As Riggle said, the once fairly-good blacktop road has deteriorated into a mud road which is rutted and dusty during the summer, rutted and muddy in wet weather and during winter thaws, and extremely slippery when frozen.

But there are many others in the tri-county area which are nearly as bad — secondary rural roads which are being reduced to one big pothole because they weren't built to withstand the pounding of dual-wheeled trucks.

Armed with new state legislation, the Department of Transportation is finally trying to do something about it.

Strippers no longer will be allowed to post a token bond of $750 for each road they travel. On March 1, the roads will be posted with a weight limit of 10 tons and coal truck operators will be required to post bonds of from $6,000 to $12,500 for each mile of road before they will be permitted to use a highway. As repairs are needed and made, they will be charged against those bonds.

It should be noted, however, that a strip mine operator won't be required to pay for a road which has already been beaten into submission. PennDOT will have to restore a road to good condition before a stripper's bond can be used to keep it in that shape. That should be done as soon as possible.

Above all, the Department of Transportation will have to keep on top of the situation if the new system is to function properly. If enforcement is lax, the new program won't work any better than the old one did.

PennDot Removes Weight Limits On Five Bridges

UNIONTOWN — Weight limits have been removed on five state highway bridges in Greene County.

John Claypool, Department of Highways District 12 engineer, said the action was taken after a survey indicated that the weight restrictions could be removed without any repairs being made and without any danger to the traveling public.

The Greene County spans are among 21 in District 12 where the posted weights have been lifted. The district encompasses Greene, Washington, Fayette and Westmoreland counties.

Claypool said that less than half of the 233 bridges in District 12 have been reviewed to date.

The study of weight restrictions was initiated after the Mon Valley Progress Council (MVPC) questioned the "inordinantly high" frequency of posted bridges in District 12. "The state average for posted bridges was eight of every 100," MVPC highway committee chairman Al Ferrari said. "Yet in our four counties the figure was 18 out of every 100 and businesses and industry were having an extremely difficult time shipping products or receiving materials or serving the public."

Eventually, 40 or 50 bridges may be removed from the list of weight restricted structures. This would be accomplished without any repair or rehabilitation funds being expended to upgrade the structures, Ferrari said.

The listing of bridges in Greene County:

Route 3001, Richhill Township, Crabapple Creek in Crabbapple; Route 30003, Jackson Township, over Job Creek west of Macedonia Church; Route 30048, Morris Township, over Brown's Creek in Nineveh; Route 30048, Morris Township, over Brown's Creek west of Nineveh, and Route 30061, Cumberland Township, over Bell Run north of Bailey school house.

Townships Turn Down Stream-Clearing Plans

WIND RIDGE — Boards of supervisors in Richhill and Aleppo townships have turned down a proposal by the Department of Environmental Resources for stream-clearing projects.

"We did not feel that the problem was great enough to justify what it would have cost us," Richhill Township Supervisor Jack Whitlatch said.

"The townships would have been putting in much more than the state would." The two townships were notified recently that the DER had set aside several thousand dollars for the Greene County projects from a special appropriation for alleviating stream damage.

Involved was a plan to remove debris from 350 feet of the South Fork of Wheeling Creek in Richhill Township. The Aleppo Township phase involved removal of a tree and debris pile from the South Fork and the clearing of 200 feet of Mudlick Fork of Wheeling Creek south of McCracken. In all cases the debris was left behind by a flood in August 1980. The supervisors explained that while the state would award a contract for the work itself, the townships would be responsible for a number of costly items. They would have to provide and maintain access roads into the work sites as well as a parking area for construction equipment, a place to stockpile materials, and a site close to the work area for disposal of refuse. They would also be responsible for planting vegetation along streambanks after the work was completed.

In addition, the townships would have to obtain the necessary rights-of-entry from property owners and search out and arrange for removal of any utility lines which would interfere with the project.

The supervisors said that the DER proposal was apparently made as the result of efforts from a private citizen who felt that the streams should be cleared. He approached local state legislators, who in turn suggested the project to the DER.

Audit Shows 1981 Books In Order

WAYNESBURG — The Franklin Township Supervisors, at their regular meeting Monday afternoon, received good grades for their fiscal management and book-keeping during 1981 following an independent audit.

Jim Milinovich of Milinovich & Co., Inc., noted the township ended the calendar year with a healthy balance sheet which included $260,000 invested with banks and a cash balance of $16,000. Milinovich complimented the board and its secretary for the manner in which the accounts were kept.

In other action during the short meeting, the board voted to send a letter to a West Waynesburg home owner reminding him of the ordinance concerned with fire damage and the steps necessary to prevent a health hazard.

An audit of the sewer revenue fund also was presented to the board by Milinovich, who said the account was in order.

A long discussion was held on policy concerning strip miners using township roads. It was determined that a bond will be required to assure damaged roads would be repaired and also that all regulations will be enforced to the letter of the law.

Public Records

WAYNESBURG — The following deeds were recorded during the past week in the office of Greene County Register and Recorder Thomas Headlee:

Waynesburg
 Monte C. Bedillion, Avenal, N.J., to Faye E. Clayton and Margaret L. Jones, Waynesburg, lot, Rinehart Street and Third Avenue, $2,000.

Trees Still Available

WAYNESBURG — The Greene County Conservation District still has a limited number of tree seedling packages available. Orders will be taken until the allotment is gone or March 19, which ever comes first.

Each package will contain a total of 10 trees. Five are Colorado Blue Spruce which are four-year transplants five to 10 inches in height and five White Pine, three-year transplants, four to six inches high. Cost of each package is $6.

Trees will be distributed at the Greene County Fairgrounds on Friday and Saturday, April 16-17. Trees are to be paid for when they are picked up.

You can order by mail from Greene County Conservation District, 60 West High Street, Waynesburg, Pa. 15370 or phone the district office at 852-1171, extension 319.

AROUND TOWN
 By THE STAFF

It's still several weeks before Spring will be here officially, but that Spring feeling is in the air in Greene County already as this is being written Wednesday morning. It's nothing in particular that can be seen or felt, but it's there in the way the birds are stirring to chirp and the daylight lasts a little longer each evening.

It's going to be a big weekend for former Waynesburgers now living in Florida, particularly those who attended or were graduated from Waynesburg College. They will be meeting for their third annual get-together in Miami.

Many of them are permanent residents, such as Frank (Pete) Ullom and his wife, the Moe Scarrys, the Harry and Bill Penns, and others. The Walter Perrins, whom live in Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. FrankNivert, who live in Falls Church, Va. in suburban Washington, D.C., will also be at the gathering of permanently transplanted Greene Countians.

Dr. D. Paul Greenlee, well-known Waynesburg physician and surgeon, is reported to be making a good recovery from fractures and other injuries he suffered late last week in an automobile accident near his home in the Bonar Addition. He underwent surgery at Monongahela General Hospital at Morgantown the day following the two-car collision.

Miss Peggy Bailey of West High Street, who resided in Atlantic City during most of her high school days, has been visiting several former classmates who still reside in that city.

It was a sad day for Greene Countians who revered the century-old mill dam at Resse's mill for virtually all of their lives when the ancient but still sturdy structure was razed last Tuesday to make way for construction of a new coal-hauling railroad line from Waynesburg to Richhill Township.

The interior equipment, still in excellent condition, had been removed earlier. It has been salvaged and may later be installed in another location by a Fayette County resident, John Skoran of New Salem, who has purchased the material from its recent owner, Robert Reese of State College. The Reese brick dwelling located several feet north of the new railroad right-of-way may not have to be removed, however. John Skoran, who bought the flour mill equipment, will sell it to any person wanting to preserve it as a historical attraction. Skoran is a metal testing consultant and has worked in that capacity on international construction projects such as the new oil and gas field exploratory projects in Alaska and Canada. His attention to the mill was the result of a small news story which reported that the building had to be razed because of the railroad.

One of the most esteemed residents of Nemaacolin, George Holupka, was honored as 1981 Man of the year for that community at a recent banquet held by the Nemaacolin Volunteer Fire Company. A total of 150 persons attended the banquet to honor Holupka, who has resided at Nemaacolin since the 1920's. The honor guest was presented with a plaque commemorating the occasion and his wife Patty received a bouquet of roses.

Charles Plaska served as master of ceremonies. Paying tribute to the honored guest for his many services to the town were such long-time friends as Al Cree, David Hartley, Bob Korcheck, Joe Zeigler, Dick Kreickert, Joe Lindstrom and Mickey Holupka.

To The Editor:

Within the past month, I have become aware of the legislative tax break amendment that "slipped through" Congress.

The amendment was attached to a Black Lung Bill and was quietly approved by voice vote.

According to an editorial in this publication (Observer-Reporter, Feb. 3, 1982) and in correspondence with Rep. Austin J. Murphy, all of our elected persons in Washington and also in the states can now deduct $75 each day for 275 days and for travel expenses each day. Congress was actually in session for only 165 days.

The legislators are using their office in the same context as in the private business world, but being being representatives of the people, it is important for them to see their work as a trust to those who placed them where they are.

We receive our income tax forms soon after Christmas and are expected to have our taxes paid in full by April 15. The government rally doesn't worry about how the rent or house payment gets paid or how much it takes to travel to and from our jobs. The legislators know what their salaries will be before they run for office.

Why should they be at liberty to quietly slip through this amendment to give themselves this lucrative deduction in lieu of a pay raise?

Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker (R. Tenn.), agitated over attempts to re-deduct the December vote predicted that "we're not going to repeal it. I think it is a bum ramp. We're not going to repeal it. It would be a first-rate tragedy if that were to be changed."

In correspondence with Rep. Austin J. Murphy, he has given me background on this legislation. He states that he has presented legislation to rescind this tax benefit, as have a few other lawmakers.

If you can feel strongly that we should all have similar guidelines for paying our income taxes, I urge you to write to Congressman Austin J. Murphy in support of House Bill 5475 to repeal the special income tax benefits enacted during 1981 with respect to living expenses for members of Congress.

Rebate Forms Are Delayed

WAYNESBURG — Application forms for senior citizen property tax and rent rebates are being delayed this year while the legislature decides whether to expand the program's benefits, according to state Rep. Bill DeWeese.

The legislator said applicants should not be concerned about the delay and that forms would be available as soon as legislative action on Senate Bill 1102 is completed. The measure would change eligibility requirements for the program and liberalize its benefits.

Red Raiders Exhibit The Perfect Way To Win

By DENISE BACHMAN
O-R Sports Staff

WAYNESBURG — It was a prime example of how to execute a match plan to perfection.

Waynesburg Central High School's wrestling team knew that if it had any hopes of advancing in the WPIAL Class AA Team Championships, its lower-middle weights would have to turn in strong performances against South Fayette in the first round.

So Waynesburg head coach Joe Ayersman couldn't have been anything but extremely pleased as the Red Raiders put a lock on the match after the first eight bouts, building a 37-2 lead, en route to a 37-17 victory here Saturday night.

"It was a super team effort," Ayersman said. "We had to do it in the first eight weights. And all of the first eight boys did a real good job."

"The first four weights got the ball rolling for us. The momentum keeps going for you and the psychological effect helps. This is the way you like them."

The Red Raiders, who finished atop Section 8-AA with an unscathed 9-0 record, will meet Charleroi, a 33-30 winner over Kittanning Saturday night, Thursday night at Chartiers Valley.

Jeff Lapping, wrestling at 98 pounds, began Waynesburg's early domination when he picked up a 10-2 major decision over Joe Iagnemma. As it turned out, Lapping's win played a major role in the Red Raiders' fate.

"That first one was the key bout," Ayersman said. "We knew their guy was good, but Jeff has been improving since the first of the year."

Waynesburg's success in the lighter weights came as no surprise to South Fayette head coach George Bordo.

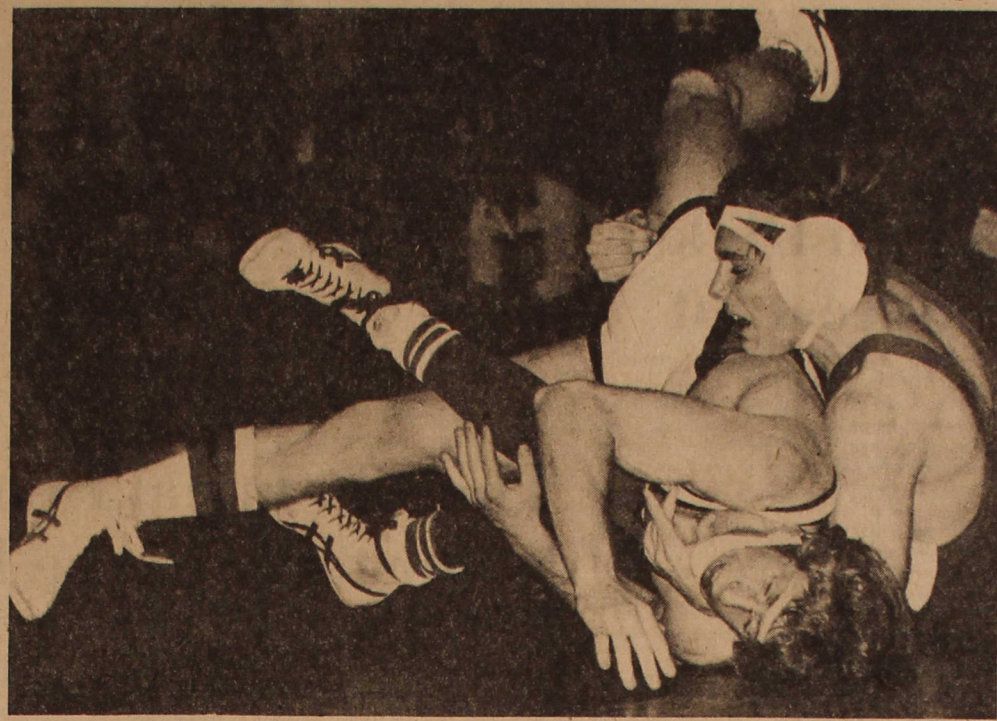

"They just killed us in the light-weights, which is where we were worried about," Bordo said. "But I didn't think the 98-pounder would handle our boy as well as he did. You have to give him a lot of credit."

Waynesburg kept the shutout intact after the next two bouts as Greg Eddy (105) won a 16-0 superior decision over Jim Iagnemma and John Throckmorton (112), a defending WPIAL champion, captured a 17-0 superior decision over Pete Thomas to increase the Red Raiders' lead to 14-0.

The Lions, who finished the season with a 7-2 Section 9-AA record behind section winner Washington, finally put some points on the board at 119. But then, so did Waynesburg.

The Red Raiders' Jim Hughes, who missed the last two matches and returned to practice last Thursday for the first time since his absence, scored an escape with just four seconds remaining in the bout to secure a 6-6 draw with Jim Johnson.

Ed Shriver (126) and Todd Eddy (132) wasted little time increasing Waynesburg's lead to 28-2, notching pins at 3:51 over Glenn Colussy and at 1:49 over Jeff

Moran, respectively.

"Shriver got a big fall and Hughes did a good job tonight," Ayersman said. "I thought the score would be a little closer. They're a good team, but we just took it to them. This is the lineup that's either going to make us or break us."

Bill Gerace (138) and John Kuntz (145) continued the winning streak for the Red Raiders. Gerace, who scored a reversal with 13 seconds left in the bout, squeaked past Matt Marcelline 9-8, before Kuntz put the match out of reach for the Lions with a pin at 3:31 over Bill Sovitski.

"I'm not satisfied with the way we wrestled," Bordo said. "We told the kids that Waynesburg likes to throw the legs in, and we did everything we weren't supposed to do. But Waynesburg is one of the toughest teams we've faced all year and they're always tough down here."

"But I'm not disappointed. It's just one of those things. This team has come a long way and we've got a lot of bright spots."

In the remaining bouts, Emil Radnick (155) dethroned John Echerd, 4-3; Bryan Moyer (167) won by default over Tom Garber; Jaime Carter (185) beat Brian Popp, 9-2 and heavyweight Mike Pasterky outlasted Steve Raber 7-2.

"This was the best we've wrestled all year," Ayersman said. "You wouldn't have thought it was the same team that wrestled McGuffey (last Tuesday). It looked like we really wanted it tonight."

Waynesburg Wins In OT Charleroi, Raiders To Tangle

JOHNSTOWN — Two free throws by Paul Stanley with 31 seconds to play in overtime gave Waynesburg College an 80-78 basketball victory over the University of Pittsburgh-Johnstown Monday night to end the Yellow Jackets' regular season with a 17-3 record.

With 33 seconds on the clock, Waynesburg's Tim Walker missed the first of a one and one with Stanley grabbing the rebound and being fouled.

The Mountain Lions played for the last shot but turned the ball over with 13 seconds left to the Yellow Jackets, who maintained possession until only one second remained on the clock.

Waynesburg, which will meet LaRoche College Friday night in the first round of the NAIA District 18 tournament, led by 13 points twice in the first half but UPJ cut the advantage to 57-51 at halftime.

The Mountain Lions took their first lead at 67-66 with 11:22 left in the game.

Maples 67, Rockets 57

JEFFERSON — Four players reached double figures to pace Mapletown High School's boys basketball team to a 67-57 Section 15-A season finale victory over Jeff-Morgan here Friday night.

High scorer for the Maples, who upped their section record to 5-13 and overall mark to 7-17, were Jim Dugan who scored 24 points; Pete Salosky, 14; John Gaynor, 13 and Rick Orsky 12.

Jeff-Morgan drops to 1-16 in the section and 2-18 overall. George Taylor was high scorer for the Rockets with 23 points, while Jon Wolse and Kurt Virgin each scored 15 points.

and increased it to 74-66 at the 8:09 mark.

The Yellow Jackets scored eight unanswered points for a 74-74 tie with 5:46 on the clock but neither team scored again in regulation time as UPJ held the ball for the last four minutes in a futile attempt to get a possible winning shot.

Tim Eberly stuffed in a basket for UPJ to open scoring in the extra period with Raymond Natili tying the score on a pair of free throws. Chuck Glasser's basket put UPJ ahead again with 3:19 to play but 18 seconds later, Waynesburg's Tim Tyler hit twice at the foul line for a 78-78 deadlock.

Bearcats 68, Raiders 47

BENTLEYVILLE — The brother act came through again for Bentworth High School's boys basketball team.

Jeff Conn scored 19 points and his brother Tony added 16 en route to leading the Bearcats to a 68-47 Section 9-AA-A win over Waynesburg here Friday night. Bill Kooser also had 12 points for Bentworth.

The Bearcats finish the regular season with a 13-3 section record and 18-3 overall mark, while the Raiders are 9-7 in the section and 11-12 overall.

Kurt King was the only player to reach double figures for Waynesburg, pouring in 14 points.

If anybody thought Charleroi High School's wrestling team would be in the semifinals of the Class AA WPIAL Team Championships, it wasn't head coach Lee Hall.

Consequently, Hall didn't hold much hope for the Cougars.

But Charleroi came through with a 33-30 upset to earn the right to meet Waynesburg, 37-17 winners over South Fayette, in the semifinals Thursday night at Chartiers Valley.

"I was definitely surprised," Hall said. "We hadn't done that well this year and they (Kittanning) had done well. There was no reason to think we should win."

Even Waynesburg head coach Joe Ayersman was slightly taken aback by the outcome.

"I was surprised, but then again I don't know that much about Kittanning," Ayersman said. "But we have no preference who we wrestle. We just want to wrestle."

As has been the rule throughout the entire season for the Red Raiders, 14-4 overall, their lighter weights are going to play a major role in determining their fate.

They had no trouble against South Fayette as Jeff Lapping at 98 pounds, Greg Eddy (105), defending WPIAL champion John Throckmorton (112), Jim Hughes (119), Ed Shriver (126), Todd Eddy (132), Bill Gerace (138) and John Kuntz (145) combined to put the Raiders up 37-2 and the match out of reach.

"It's going to depend on the first eight or nine weights," Ayersman said. "We're going to have to wrestle like we did the other night. We can't afford a letdown."

"The kids just realized they had to wrestle well against South Fayette to do what they did to, and it's going to take a super effort against Charleroi."

In the upper weights, the Cougars are extremely strong. They are paced by Jim Edwards (167), who has yet to lose posting a 17-0 record, and Eric Uhlman (185), who is 19-5 this season.

Jackets Discover A Winning Touch

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS — Waynesburg College got back on the right path in NAIA District 18 basketball competition Saturday by edging Alliance College 57-55.

Yellow Jacket head coach Rudy Marisa was happy to achieve the win despite the closeness of the score against a team with a losing record.

"We played with more intensity and spirit than we have been doing lately," said Marisa. "Raymond Natili really broke out of his slump with 23 points."

"We had heard before that Alliance was better than its record (2-8 in the district) would indicate."

"Alliance gave us a fine game and proved very hard to defeat."

The game was close throughout with the Yellow Jackets leading by just 31-29 at intermission.

Natili, who had nine baskets and five free throws, was joined in double figures by Paul Stanley with 15 points.

Steve Crone's 20 points led Alliance, while Harold Mong added 16.

A change has occurred in the NAIA playoffs, according to Marisa. The Jackets were scheduled to play Saturday night at home but that's been changed to Friday night.

Waynesburg, with a 10-5 record, holds a half-game lead over Point Park (9-5), which faces Pitt-Bradford tonight. Should Point Park lose, the Yellow Jackets would capture third place and play Behrend Friday (7:30 p.m.).

Should Point Park defeat Pitt-Bradford, Waynesburg would be tied with the Pioneers, but still fall to fourth place in District 18 on tie-breaking criteria. A fourth-place finish means Waynesburg plays LaRoche Friday (7:30 p.m.).

Mikes 100, Pioneers 41

ROGERSVILLE — It was a very frustrating way to end the regular season for West Greene High School's boys basketball team.

The Pioneers were dealt a 100-41 Section 15-A loss by Carmichaels here Friday night, lowering their section record to 1-17 and their overall mark to 1-19.

West Greene head coach Jim Romanus was quite upset after the game, but not because of the Pioneers' play.

"Carmichaels deliberately ran up the score on us," Romanus said. "They full court pressed for the last four minutes with their starters. Then they even kept fouling us to stop the clock and scored their 100th point with one second remaining."

Trojans, 70-39

CALIFORNIA — Tammy Lincoski scored 17 points and teammate Lori Leyda 16 to pace California High School to a 70-39 victory over Jefferson-Morgan Friday afternoon in WPIAL Section 15-A girls basketball action.

Senior Audrey Lewis scored a game-high 32 points for the Rockets, including the 1,000th point of her career. Lewis, who was celebrating her birthday, reached the plateau in the fourth quarter.

Forward Rene Scrip also hit double figures (10) for California, which raced out to a 19-2 first-quarter lead.

The Trojans finish the regular season atop the section with a 17-1 record, their only loss coming to second-place Geibel. California is 22-1 overall.

BENTLEYVILLE — Bentworth High School used 16 points from senior point guard Maureen Jansante and 12 from Wendy Adams to defeat Waynesburg, 49-46, Thursday night in WPIAL Section 9-AA-A girls basketball action.

Jan Kerestian also pitched in 11 points for the Bearcats, now 6-11 in the section.

Waynesburg (10-8) received 16 points from Sandy Koratich.

Scoring Leaders

Maples' Dugan Captures Top Honors

By FRED SIGLER
O-R Sports Staff

A combination of hard work, plenty of practice and attending basketball camp sessions has paid off in a Washington-Greene County scholastic scoring championship for Mapletown High School senior Jim Dugan.

The 6-foot Dugan, who has shown vast improvement in his three seasons as a starter for the Maples, finished his final season with a 615-point total on 228 field goals and 159 free throws for a 25.6 average. He averaged 10 points per game as a sophomore and 17 as a junior.

"I never expected at the start of the season to be the district scoring champion," said Dugan. "I just kept working hard all year."

"I think one reason why I scored so well was that I had a greatly improved jump shot. I went to Rudy Marisa's basketball camp at Waynesburg College last summer. He and his staff really helped me a lot with my shooting."

Dugan said he was impressed with the caliber of basketball this season in Section 15-A, of which Mapletown is a member.

"Our section seems to get better every year," Dugan said. "California was probably the best team we played all season."

"I guess I've been playing basketball since I was about seven years old and first played on an organized level in junior high school," he said. "I've also played in all the youth baseball programs in the area and am bowling in a league at Masontown after starting in a junior program when I was 12 years old."

JIM DUGAN

Dugan is as yet uncertain as to whether he will attend college, but he said he is considering studying computer science at Waynesburg College.

"Jim is the kind of player you build your offense around," said Marisa's head coach Francis Bigley.

"He likes to drive to the baseline and shoot the jumper and has really perfected that type of shot this season. He has worked very hard to improve his shooting. I tell all of my players that if they work hard enough, they can be just as good as Jim."

"If we ever got in a situation where a last-second shot would win the game, we tried our best to get the ball to him."

Dugan's best effort this season was a 38-point performance against Fair-chance-Georges.

The Mapletown star succeeds Mon Valley Catholic's Lance Spurnak, now playing for Washington & Jefferson College, as district scoring leader.

Only three Washington-Greene district players other than Dugan averaged more than 20 points per game.

Burgettstown's John Knisley, Dugan's main challenger during most of the season, had a 24.3 average; Bentworth's Jeff Conn finished the regular season at 23.1 and Tim Winters of Waynesburg had a 21.8 mark.

The final top 10 also included McGuffey's Mark Burd, 19.4; the Highlanders' Brian Rothermund, 18.9; Dana Nichols Carmichaels, 18.1; Pat Godwin, Fort Cherry, 17.8; Vince Clements, California, 17.3; and Dave Franz, Canon-McMillan, 17.1.

Scholastic Wrestling Roundup

It was, to say the least, a surprising win for the Charleroi High School wrestling team.

But maybe the most astonished person during the Cougars' 33-30 upset of Kittanning in Saturday's first round of the WPIAL Class AA Team Championship was Charleroi head coach Lee Hall.

"I was really surprised," Hall said. "Our kids were really fired up."

But the win, which raises the Cougars' overall record to 8-9, still doesn't change Hall's mind about the team tournament.

"I still don't like it," he said. "I think this should be the time when kids are preparing for the sectionals."

In other matches, Jeff-Morgan fell victim to Jeannette 31-22 in Class AA while in Class AAA Shaler swept pass Valley 42-17, Uniontown dumped Thomas Jefferson 42-17, and Derry crushed Fox Chapel 40-18.

Jeff-Morgan for the second time in as many years dropped its first-round match, this time to Jeannette, champions of Section 10.

Gary Basinger (98), John Jento (105), Eric Cottle (126), Mike Knight (132), and Al Starostanko (185) managed victories for the Rockets, the Section 8 runnerup.

After jumping out to a 19-9 lead, the Rockets were beaten in five of the remaining six bouts.

Jerry Cilli (112), Derrick Hall (119), Chris Grondwisk (138), Kelly Vottero (145), Larry Hall (155), Joe Yorio (167) and heavy-weight Roy Hall were victorious for the Jayhawks.

Jeannette advances to the semifinals of the Double-A tournament against Washington, the defending Class AA team champion.

With the loss, Jeff-Morgan's record falls to 12-3.

Jeff-Morgan School Board Amends Medication Policy

By STAN DIAMOND
Staff Writer
JEFFERSON — A medication policy was amended as it applies to elementary students and the school calendar was changed to make up six instruction days during a meeting Monday night of the Jefferson-Morgan School Board.

The district's student medication policy as it addresses non-prescription medication which may be brought to school by elementary students was changed to not allow the medication to be self-administered.

Demetria Howard, school nurse, told the board that the elementary students are too young to responsibly administer non-prescription medicines such as aspirin, cough drops and cold tablets. She said there has been a problem with many of the students in the six to 11 age group taking too much medication or even giving it to other students. She said there is no problem with prescription medicines because those medications are placed in the school office and administered by school personnel according to instructions.

The policy was amended to have non-prescription medication handled in the same manner. The policy will take effect as soon as parents are notified of the change, which is expected to be within the next two days.

The policy change will not affect the high school students.

Board member Dr. Stanley Falor, a physician, said cough drops do help eliminate a tickle in the throat but said he could see a problem on a volume basis.

The school calendar was changed to make up two instruction days lost in January because of bad weather and four days lost in February because of a water shortage. The water shortage was caused when the Monongahela River had to be lowered below water company intake valves to enable a barge lodged in the Maxwell Locks and Dam to be removed.

The days will be made up on April 7, May 28 and June 1, 2, 3 and 4 with graduation to be June 4.

Kenneth Macek, district superintendent, announced that Greene County Memorial Hospital has offered a scholarship not to exceed $1,000 for nursing training for a student from the Jefferson-Morgan district. A similar scholarship will be offered to the other four school districts in the county.

The scholarship can be used by the student for any accredited nursing training and there would be no obligation to Greene County Memorial Hospital which does not offer a nursing program.

The board hired Howard Hair as girls' softball coach and John Curtis as boys' baseball coach. Both are part-time employees. Their salary for the coaching position was set at $650. Ernie Benedict, a full-time teacher, was hired as track coach, a co-ed sport at the school. His salary will be established according to the district's contract with the professional association.

A proposal of $650 from Milinovich and Co. Inc. of Waynesburg to audit the district's earned income (wage) tax as collected by the Central Tax Bureau was approved. Under the proposal the auditing firm also will audit the wage tax collected for Jefferson Borough with the borough reimbursing the school district $85 for the audit.

The board accepted Prochon's offer for the brick building and the seven acres of land after a previous offer of $62,000 from John C. Gill of Rices Landing R.D.1 was voided after court action when Gill was unable to produce the purchase price.

The district's petition to the court to approve the sale to Prochon also asks that Gill be assessed a $32,347 deficiency judgement to cover both the difference between his bid and that of Prochon and also other expenses incurred as a result of his default.

Macek said he has received some 20 applications for the position of head high school football coach. He said a special meeting can be set for the board to screen the applications with a possible hiring by the end of March.

Mapletown High Picks Ms. FBLA Contestant

MAPLETOWN — Lisa Ann Rumble, a senior at Mapletown High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Rumble of Greensboro, will represent her school as a contestant for Ms. FBLA during the Region 4 Spring Leadership Conference of the Future Business Leaders of America.

The conference will be held Tuesday, March 2, at Bentworth High School and will include FBLA Competition teams from 12 high schools.

Contestants for Ms. FBLA will be judged on a personal interview, leadership skills and a written test on the purpose and goals, history and bylaws of Future Business Leaders of America, parliamentary procedures and written communications.

Lisa's activities at Mapletown High include being president of the FBLA Chapter, member of the Girls Athletic Association, Youth Education Association, president of Student Council, business editor of the yearbook, library aide, co-head majorette and a student secretary.

She was her school's candidate for the title of 1981

Pennsylvania Bituminous Coal Queen, and was elected an attendant of the Homecoming and prom courts.

She has studied dance for the past 15 years and is currently a student dance teacher. She also has studied the piano for the past eight years.

Miss Rumble is a member of the United Methodist Church at Mapletown and is pianist for the Sunday School and worship services.

Following graduation she plans to attend Waynesburg College where she will major in business administration.

'The Chemical People:' A Fight Against Teen-Age Drug Abuse

WAYNESBURG — Greene County Memorial Hospital and county school districts will take part in a major community outreach effort to take action against teen-age drug and alcohol abuse in nine southwestern Pennsylvania counties.

Entitled "The Chemical People," the effort is being mounted by the Coalition for Addictive Diseases in Southwestern Pennsylvania and by WQED, Pittsburgh educational television station. It will include nine locally produced television specials, with major funding being provided by the Richard King Mellon foundation.

The television series, including national and local celebrities and experts, will be broadcast by WQED May 10-13 and May 17-21. The nine specials will explore the difficulties and solutions to the problem of chemical substance abuse by teenagers.

More than 100 school districts and communities in the nine counties will actively participate in "The Chemical People" outreach project.

As part of the Greene County effort, a local town meeting, to be held on May 10, is being organized under direction of Greene County Memorial Hospital. Its purpose will be to create a permanent community task force that will continue to take action against teenage drug and alcohol abuse.

Future announcements will detail the hospital's plans for the town meeting, as well as for follow-up discussions.

Wife And Mother Is Student, Too

MAPLETOWN — The word "homework" has a special meaning in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mateleska of Bobtown.

Homework brings the entire family together in the evening, with mom studying right along with the three youngsters in the house.

Mary Mateleska, 30, decided this past summer to go back to school and get her diploma. She had studied for the GEDT test, but a family tragedy caused her to quit the project. After much thought and with the determination to complete her education, she contacted William Guappone, Mapletown High School principal.

He suggested attendance at regular classes such as Problems of Democracy, English and math instead of studying at home for the GEDT test. She was very hesitant because of the age difference and doubted if the younger students would accept her.

After discussing the plan with her husband, Mary decid to enroll in the fall term. Mary also had promised her late father that she would finish school if he would allow her to marry. John was serving with the U.S. Army in Florida at the time.

Not only has Mary adopted well to the classroom, but she has obtained highest honors with all "A's" on her report card. "The teachers have always been ready to help at any time and the students have been the biggest supporters," she said.

Some of the students treat her like any other student and some treat her like a mother. Teachers deal with her like any other student.

Mary must also take gym classes and was one of only eight girls in the senior class to qualify in the President's Physical Fitness team.

She considers Mapletown a big high school because her school in Florida had 350 students in kindergarten through 12th grade, all in one building. If she had finished her senior year, her class would have graduated 11 students.

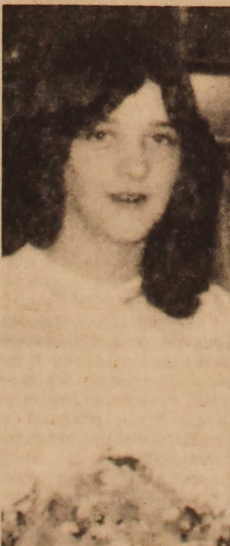

Mary and John are the parents of three boys, John, 11; Jessie, 8, and Freddie, 6, who are students at Bobtown Elementary School. After taking care of her household chores and helping the kids with their homework, Mary is lucky to begin her own studies by midnight.

Her husband, John, 33, is a first class repairman at the Shannopin Mine tippie near Bobtown. He recently completed the West Virginia Career College course in business management.

Students Enter Math Honorary

WAYNESBURG — Several students were recently inducted into Waynesburg College's math honorary society, Kappa Mu Epsilon in recognition of students who have maintained a 3.0 average after completing nine hours of mathematics.

New members include: Jeff Clemens, Greensburg; Karen Connolly, Sycamore; Natalie Crooks, Smithtown, N.Y.; David Kerr, Rockville, Md.; William McCarty, Fredericktown; Susan Pool, Waynesburg; Sue Ellen Mortimer, Hollywood, Fla.; Albert Solomito, Hawley; John Stewart, New Freeport and Mark Stover, Sarver.

TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. James M. Morris announce the marriage of their daughter, Debbie, to Brian Bosworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Bosworth on Saturday, Feb. 20. Friends and relatives are invited to a reception at the Waynesburg Moose Lodge at 5 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 28.
