Waynesburg Council Appoints Borough Tax Collector

WAYNESBURG — Douglas E. Wagener of 590 Huffman Street was appointed borough tax collector at a special meeting Monday evening of Waynesburg Borough Council.

The appointment, which was made unanimous after he had received five of nine nominating votes, fills a vacancy created on April 1 by the resignation of James C. Clark. Clark, who had been elected to a second four-year term last November, quit the office because of poor health.

Wagener, 28, is a 1976 graduate of Pennsylvania State University. He was employed by the Washington-Greene Community Action Corp. for five years, joining the agency as a planner and advancing to the position of deputy director for Washington County.

While with community action Wagener served as chairman of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania Coalition on Food and Nutrition. He also was a substitute teacher at Waynesburg Central High School.

Wagener's appointment is effective immediately. He said he hopes to set up an office in the business district for use during the tax collecting period. Location of his office will be announced as soon as arrangements have been made.

Council President Glenn Richards explained at the start of the meeting that 17 people had responded to the borough's request for applications.

"These applications were then reviewed and the five persons whose resumes and other written material indicated were best suited for the job were interviewed by council as a whole," he said.

He explained that since there was no clear-cut leader among the five finalists, it was decided that each council member would nominate the person of his choice by signed, written ballot. When this was done, Wagener received five of the nine nominations, after which he was appointed unanimously.

The tax collector is responsible for collecting real estate taxes and per capita taxes from borough residents for the borough and the Central Greene School District. He receives 2.5 percent of what he collects for the borough and 2.5 percent of the first $250,000 he collects for the school district. The school district percentage then drops to two percent. During 1981, Clark earned $15,500 from the job.

Commissioners Stalled In Plans

WAYNESBURG — A petition by the Greene County commissioners for permission to tear down the old Sayers-Hooper building on East High Street has run into a roadblock in Judge Glenn Toothman's concern over the preservation of historic buildings.

Commissioner L. R. Santore reported at Thursday's meeting of the board of commissioners that he had met Wednesday with Judge Toothman and had been informed that the jurist will not approve the petition.

"He feels the property should be put up for public sale if the county has no use for it," Santore said. "He feels there are people who would be interested in buying it and restoring it."

The two-story brick structure, located between the new County Office Building and the old County Office Building, dates back to the early 1800s, making it one of the oldest structures in town. It was purchased by the county in 1974 and for several years the public defender's office was housed on the second floor, with two businesses occupying storerooms on the first floor. A third storeroom was housed in a one-story building which at some point was added to the original structure.

The building is now vacant. The commissioners requested permission to raze it after receiving an architectural report that it was in dangerously poor structural condition and would require extensive renovation if it were to continue to be used.

Santore suggested that the commissioners seek bids for the building, with the stipulation that only the building and the lot on which it stands be sold. The lot behind the building would be retained by the county and the sale agreement would stipulate that the buyer tear down the small addition on the east end of the structure to give the county better access to the side of the new County Office Building.

Commissioner Richard Cowan pointed out, however, that sale of the building would deprive the county of control of the lot between the two county office buildings. "We don't know what use the county might want to make of that land in the future," he said.

Under present state law, approval by the court of common pleas is required before the county can purchase, sell or demolish any property.

During the discussion it was brought out that House Bill 223, which is now on second reading in the State Senate, would amend the law to strip the courts of their power to veto decisions made by the commissioners with regard to the purchase or disposition of county property. The bill was introduced in 1981 and the commissioners have been informed that some action on it can be expected.

The commissioners therefore decided to wait until they see what happens to the proposed legislation before making any decision on Santore's suggestion that the Sayers-Hooper building be sold.

Adopts New Zoning Rule

CARMICHAELS — A zoning ordinance, adopted unanimously by the Cumberland Township supervisors at a meeting Thursday night, will become law April 21. The final draft of the ordinance for the township was reviewed for minor language changes.

The supervisors passed Resolution 5-82 dealing with adopting a C-Schedule for filing fees listed in the zoning ordinance, and Resolution 4-82, dealing with applying for a $50,000 community facilities grant from the Department of Community Affairs for the sewer system in Crucible.

The supervisors expressed their appreciation to the Cumberland Township Planning Commission for the many months of work spent in preparing the ordinance.

The supervisors awarded a contract to A.C. Moyer of Lemont Furnace for approximately 25,000 gallons of E-3 emulsion, delivered on the job, at 74 and one-half cents per gallon and for 6,000 gallons of dust-control mixture at $1.04 per gallon. The Moyer bid was the only one received.

The supervisors will attend a convention of the State Association of Township Supervisors to be held at Hershey April 18, 19, and 20.

In response to questions, the supervisors said that tax revenues from earned income taxes are predicted to be substantially lower this year due to layoffs and closing of mines.

Wayne Twp. Lacks Material Invoices

SPRAGGS — The Pennsylvania Department of Transportation has now entered the financial maze in Wayne Township after one of their auditors questioned several expenditures made from liquid fuel tax funds.

Involved are checks which total $28,000, but a PennDOT official was quick to point out it doesn't necessarily mean the entire amount was illegally spent.

Township officials could not find invoices for some $32,000 for which checks were written. Since the tentative audit was completed on April 5, township officials have found acquired several duplicate invoices and have requested the state auditor to return and review the invoices.

The auditor also questioned the purchase of $3,420 worth of red dog without going seeking bids for the material. Last year, townships were required by law to seek bids on any expenditure over $2,500.

Also questioned was an invoice for materials obtained by former supervisor John Jenkins. The $964 check was for concrete blocks, paneling and furring strips. Members of the current board said Thursday they could find no indication of the material being used by the township.

Tony Geracci, the auditor who posted the tentative audit figures, said Thursday that his official report has not been filed with PennDOT and all questions must be posed to the press office in Harrisburg.

The board learned the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board has scheduled a hearing into the dispute between Wayne Township and several township employees who joined the Constructors and General Laborers Local 286 last year. Township officials claim the union contract approved by the previous board of supervisors is illegal.

The hearing will be held June 16 in Pittsburgh.

Only one bid for gasoline and diesel fuel was received. Jacobs Petroleum Products of Waynesburg agreed to supply 5,000 gallons, more or less, of gasoline for 94.9 cents and diesel, 1,000 gallons more or less, for $1.03 5 subject to price increases from the distributor. The bid will be reviewed.

Shrouded In Solitude

Clothed in rain gear, this woman seems alone with her thoughts and fishing pole Saturday afternoon along the banks of the north fork of Wheeling Creek just below the Ryerson State Park dam. Her solitude would not seem that unusual had Saturday not been the first day of trout season — a time when this location is elbow to elbow with anglers. But by mid-afternoon Saturday rains had thinned the ranks of those suffering the first-day fishing fever.

Carmichaels Area

OK Teachers' Recall

CARMICHAELS — The Carmichaels Area School Board approved the recall of three furloughed teachers at its meeting Thursday night.

The action was taken on the advice of the school board education committee, which has evaluated the entire school district as to classroom overcrowding. Chairman Edward Chess said the most critical area is in the junior high school. He said the need in senior high will be apparent in about two years.

Chess said there are no additional classrooms available in the elementary schools to alleviate their overcrowding but there are additional rooms available in the junior high building. The committee recommended that three teachers who were furloughed in 1976 be recalled for the 1982-83 school year at the junior high school.

The teachers are Lynn Severini, Lois Swestyn and Thomas McCombs. It was not determined if they will be available to resume their positions.

The motion to approve the recall initially failed 4-2 with one member abstaining, but a second motion passed 6-1.

Chess said it is evident that classes are not going to get smaller. He pointed out there are 88 students in this year's high school graduating class, while there are 142 in the first grade. Classes at the junior high level average more than 120 students each.

Dr. Dolores Zoldo, district superintendent, said overcrowding has been especially serious in the junior high, and it will be gaining even more students in the next three years. She said the recall is a step in the right direction.

Building committee chairman Zigmund Bokas said the district's schools are in "very bad shape." He said it is impossible to list a priority for needed improvements.

"How do you compare a falling ceiling in one school and a corner of the Nema-colin building which an engineer has said could fall at any time?" he asked.

He recommended, and the board approved, the preparation of an elementary building use survey based on present and predicted enrollment. The architectural firm of Foreman, Bashford and Wallace of Zelienople will make a survey of what it would cost to maintain present buildings.

Central Greene Gets Bids For Field Lights

County May Get Another Nursing Home

WAYNESBURG — Cumberland Associates of Pittsburgh has applied to the Health Systems Agency of Southwestern Pennsylvania for a certificate of need which, if granted, could lead to the construction of a 120-bed nursing home in Greene County.

HSA official said the partnership has acquired an option on 4.4 acres of land immediately south of the Greene Plaza shopping center on Route 21 near the Waynesburg Interstate 79 interchange.

The HSA application was filed by Property Developments Associates Ltd. of Pittsburgh on behalf of James McCarthy of Pittsburgh. Estimated cost of constructing the private nursing home, according to the application, is $3,170,500.

Dennis Murphy, an HSA official, said the HSA review board will not act on the application before July, after which the application would be subject to review and approval by the state Department of Health. He said Cumberland Associates hopes to begin construction by winter of this year so that the nursing home could be opened by November 1983.

Murphy also said the developers have applied to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for Section 232 loan insurance as part of its financing plans.

Cumberland Associates is the second firm which has announced plans to construct a nursing home in Franklin Township.

Greene Health Care Association has already obtained a certificate of need for construction of a 120-bed nursing home on property it has under option near Waynesburg Central High School.

The association is a partnership consisting of the Uniontown architectural firm of Altman and Altman, the Fairchance Lumber Co. in Fayette County, and Grandview Health Care Inc., a corporation based in Franklin which operates a number of large nursing homes throughout Pennsylvania.

Wesley Altman, one of the partners, said Friday that the group is still planning to erect the facility, but will do so with private financing after withdrawing an application to HUD under Section 232.

While Altman made no estimate of when construction will begin, he said that final plans are now being prepared.

David W. Jones, a Charleroi electrical contractor, who submitted the low base bid of $94,484, or the Miller Corp. of Uniontown, whose bid of $92,000 for an alternate type of lights and poles was $2,484 less than that of Jones for the same alternate. Miller was $3,000 higher than Jones on the base bid.

It marked the second time the school district has solicited bids for installation of lights on the athletic field so that they can be installed to permit night games for the next football season.

The low bid received Tuesday was well below the low bid of $108,000 received several months ago and reflected the fact that the school district in the meantime has conducted core borings to determine the amount of rock contractors will encounter in setting the poles.

The district also took bids for 18 doors, steel frames and hardware to be installed on classrooms at the Margaret Bell Miller Middle School. The bids, which were in the $9,000 range, were also tabled for evaluation.

Dr. Ronald Ferrari, district superintendent, explained that the middle school was designed with "open" classrooms. While there are room dividers which are being used, there are no doors to block off corridors.

"We have talked to teachers, principals and parents and all agree that the noise level is much higher than was anticipated," he said. "The doors, which will be installed by our own people, should solve the problem."

A calendar for the 1982-83 school year was adopted which calls for a teacher in-service day on Friday, Aug. 27, and the first day of classes on Monday, Aug. 30, about one week later than usual in recent years. It provides for the usual holidays as well as four snow make-up days and sets Friday, June 3, as the last day of school in 1983.

The calendar is coordinated with those of other school districts in the county to maximize use of the county vocational-technical school.

Course offerings for the coming school year at Waynesburg Central High School were approved, with Dr. Ferrari indicating that high school enrollment will be up by 38 students, from 917 to 955. Three new course offerings are scheduled — a TV workshop, and courses in drafting and home maintenance in the Industrial Arts Department.

A proposal by business manager Walter Stout to take advantage of the Pennsylvania School District Liquid Asset Fund as an alternate method for investing school district funds was approved. Through the fund, school districts throughout the state can pool their funds to obtain maximum interest. Stout said the district earns approximately $150,000 per year through investments.

A five-year lease agreement with Waynesburg Little League, Inc., for use of Crawford Field in Waynesburg was approved.

A request for use of the high school auditorium by Creative Dance Arts Society for a dance recital on June 17-19 was turned down on the grounds that rules and regulations were violated at previous dance recitals.

The special education program and budget for the coming year was adopted in the amount of $145,608. It calls for nine classroom teachers and two home-bound teachers. The state will reimburse the district in the amount of $40,222.

Trustees Issue Statement Backing Marsh

WAYNESBURG — The executive committee of the Waynesburg College board of trustees has issued a statement supporting college President Joseph F. Marsh in reaction to a constitutional faculty "no confidence" resolution.

The statement was adopted unanimously by the 10 members of the executive committee who attended a meeting Friday. Marsh distributed Monday copies of the statement to faculty members.

It was the first official response of the board to the faculty action on April 1. At that time, members of the constitutional faculty, which is made up of both administrators and teachers, adopted the "no confidence" resolution by a vote of 39-17. It read, in part:

"Our displeasure lies in the inability of the president to provide leadership and vision in developing and husbanding the resources of the college, his failure to provide support for under-utilized academic programs, his reluctance to plan effectively, his perception of collegiality as a manipulative management tool, and his inability to relate with his professional colleagues at this institution."

One of the major bones of contention apparently was a feeling on the part of the faculty that some college programs were being scrutinized and could be subject to elimination because of the relatively few students enrolled.

The text of the statement adopted by the board executive committee is:

"The board of trustees unequivocally supports the president. He alone is accountable to the board and to proper evaluation by the board. The board recognizes that healthy differences necessarily exist regarding the allocation of available resources; however, it is the board that must make the final judgment on questions of policy.

"The board is committed to excellence — not only in academic programs but also in extracurricular activities and all other areas of the college. The board does not accept the premise that quality and productivity are mutually exclusive, and cannot be indifferent to the number of students enrolled in various programs.

"Accordingly, the board reaffirms its strong mandate issued Sept. 25, 1981, that the college continue to operate on an annual balanced budget and undertake a complete review of the curriculum, all academic programs, student services and administrative structure with a view toward reducing costs and increasing revenues.

"The board believes that the current challenges facing higher education in this region is an occasion for clarifying the goals, purposes and priorities of Waynesburg College.

"The board is continuing the evaluation process of the president and the administration that was begun over a year ago, in February of 1981, as proposed by the president himself."

Attend the Church of Your Choice Regularly

The Oak View Methodist Church

Oak View Church Raising Money

WAYNESBURG — The Oak View United Methodist Church will be conducting a building fund crusade for the purpose of retiring the debt of the new church and to provide for continued improvement of the new facility.

The Oak View Church at 160 Rolling Meadows Road is the result of a merger of Coal Lick and Morrisville churches. Some 300 persons can be seated in the new sanctuary.

To meet their financial goal, the congregation has enlisted the aid of the Rev. John Henry Shadburn from the Office of Finance and Field Service of the National Board of Global Missions. He will direct a stewardship crusade with the intensive phase of the fund-raising effort from April 15-28.

Committee chairmen include Charles Adamson, general chairman; Harold Ray Stroosnider and Charles Bland, visitation; Louise Pitcock and James Haines, advance leadership gifts; Bonnie Kiger and Dianne Jones, publicity; Linda Bland and Freda Stroosnider, spiritual emphasis; Sara Williamson and Jeannette Staggers, fellowship; Phylliss Canan and Louise Smith, production and Mary Lou Orndorff and Pam Hall, auditors.

Ministerial Association Plans 4-Day Revival

CARMICHAELS — Members of the Carmichaels Area Ministerial Association held a work session this week to complete plans for a community-wide revival campaign.

The four-day "Spiritual Awakening" campaign will begin Thursday, April 29, and run through Sunday, May 2, with services each day at 7 p.m. in the Carmichaels Area High School auditorium.

Evangelist will be Stan Scott, a television newscaster for 20 years who now conducts a preaching-teaching evangelistic ministry.

In addition to conducting the evening services, he will speak at the 11 a.m. service Sunday, May 2, at the First Christian Church of Carmichaels.

Those completing plans for the revival were the Rev. David Little, Fairdale Free Methodist Church; the Rev. Domenick Sgro, First Christian Church; the Rev. Harold Kelley, Greene Valley Reformed Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Don Gillenwater, Glades Baptist Church; the Rev. Bernard Shuey, First United Methodist Church; and the Rev. Paul Markovits, St. Paul Lutheran Church.

College Gospel Choir To Perform Concert

WAYNESBURG — The Waynesburg College Gospel Choir will present its second annual spring concert at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 24, in Alumni Hall on the college campus.

The Gospel Choir was founded by Kevin Williams, a senior at the college, and by Jan Harris, director of the college Upward Bound program.

"The idea came to me as a result of taking a course in ethnomusicology taught by Jim Randolph," Williams said. "When I mentioned an interest in forming a gospel singing group, Professor Randolph referred me to Mr. Harris, who is an excellent pianist. He agreed that it was a good idea and soon we had 10 students who wanted to join."

Looking For A Few Good People

WAYNESBURG — The Greene County Health and Welfare Coordinating Council is accepting nominations for its annual Golden Key awards.

The awards are presented each year to an individual and to an organization judge who have made significant contributions during the preceding year to the health and welfare of county residents.

Barbara Coccari, council president, said nominations are being solicited from council members and the public. Nomination forms are available from Babe Chambers at the Community Action Office located on the second floor of the Old County Office Building in Waynesburg.

Nominations not made on the form should include the name and affiliation (if any) of the person making the nomination, the name of the individual and the organization being nominated, and the reason the individual and organization are being nominated. Nominations are to be submitted to Ms. Chambers by April 30.

Nominations will be evaluated by a committee of the Health and Welfare Coordinating Council, with the Golden Key awards to be presented at the council's May meeting.

The first award was made in 1969 to Bud Pearce, who organized the council. Other winners have included the Rev. Robert Borland, Joan Owens, Ms. Chambers, Ms. Coccari, Hospice, Greene Valley Farms and the Red Cross.

OPEN HOUSE
Members of the Oakview United Methodist Church on old Route 21, east of Waynesburg, will hold an open house in the church social rooms in observance of the 25th wedding anniversary of their pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. William Ryan.

Friends are invited to call Sunday, May 2, between the hours of 1 p.m. and 5 p.m.

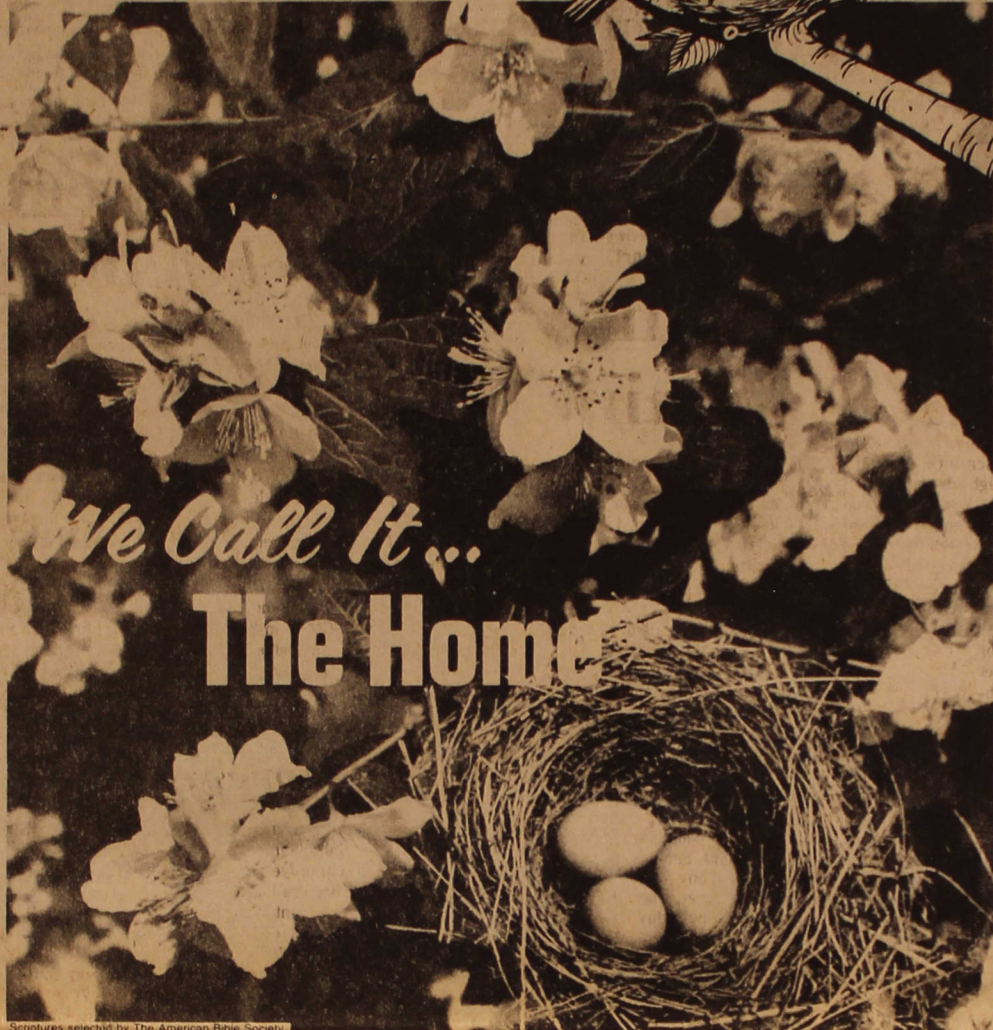

Fulfilling a central role in nature's system of child development is the nest.

In our very complex human society mankind relies heavily on the nest. We call it the home.

Beware of the current tendency to think of the home as an institution. It's so easy to separate home, school, church . . . and their vital inter-related functions.

Rather think of the home as a nest . . . the shelter in which devoted parents provide the proper environment and the essential loving care to get youngsters ready for Life. Education and religious training should be rooted in that family experience.

Life in a nest is governed by instincts. Life in the home is the outgrowth of sound knowledge and sincere faith.

Mrs. Carolyn McClure stands beside her Cessna 172 at the Greene County Airport.

She's A Pilot Because She Couldn't Resist A Bargain

By JIM MOORE
Staff Writer

WAYNESBURG — For the time being, Carolyn McClure is a unique figure at the Greene County Airport, but she hopes that situation will be corrected in the near future.

Believed to be the only female licensed pilot in the county, and certainly the only female in the county owning her own plane, Mrs. McClure bemoans the lack of female companions at the local airport.

She became a pilot a few years ago when a 1956 Cessna 172 was being offered for sale at a very reasonable price. "It cost less than a new automobile," Mrs. McClure said. Although she was not a pilot, she felt the bargain was too good to pass up and she purchased the plane.

It has been a continuing love affair ever since. The time was ripe because Mrs. McClure, as president of the Central Greene School Board, was doing little but attending meetings and answering hundreds of phone calls each week. She was looking for a hobby or a project that would get her away from the house and that ever-ringing telephone.

Perhaps her interest in flying was the result of her husband having been a pilot when time permitted. Her husband Paul died in an industrial accident about 12 years ago and her three boys were busy with their own activities. She first received instructions from Andre Carrigan, a furloughed USAir pilot. When Carrigan was recalled, she began taking lessons from Dennis Hillen of McMurray, also a USAir captain.

Now with 200 hours of flying experience, Mrs. McClure has continued her association with Hillen and is now the flight director and ground school instructor for Hillen Flying Service based at Greene County Airport.

Her love of flying has continued despite two close calls in an aircraft. On her first flight after soloing, Mrs. McClure was landing at the local airport and the right landing gear collapsed. She escaped injury by keeping her head and going through the right procedures.

Her second brush with death was even closer. She was a passenger in a plane being piloted by her cousin, Jan Dunham, a veteran pilot who flies a regular freight route for a commercial service. Shortly after taking off, there was a complete electrical failure. The ladies survived the foamed-runway landing without a scratch.

Mrs. McClure is the only female member of the recently former Greene County Flying Club and is "naturally" the secretary of the group. She is also a member and secretary of the Washington Flyers Club and the Airplane Owners and Pilots Association. She is especially proud of being a member of the 99's, a ladies-only flying group based at the Greater Pittsburgh International Airport.

"A plane is not a rich man's toy," she said. "My plane insurance is about what I pay for the car and I don't spend my money for clothes and beer, so why not fly?"

"Because of the economy, many people are selling their aircraft at bargain prices," she said. She says a plane is a good investment since there is little if any depreciation, unlike a car. She is confident she could receive several thousand dollars more for her 26-year-old plane today than she paid several years ago.

At one time, she hoped her three boys would become interested in flying but they didn't. Instead they made quite a name for themselves in wrestling, especially Craig and Gary who won a trunk full of medals and trophies. Keith, her youngest son, was also a wrestler.

Gary, a construction worker, is just now getting interested and is taking lessons.

She enjoys her work at the ground school and thinks nothing of flying to Morgantown for lunch or another city for breakfast.

"This my life now and I love it," she added just before giving her plane its first spring cleaning.

Economics Is Topic At College Luncheon

WAYNESBURG — David W. Hunter, chairman and chief executive officer of Parker/Hunter, Inc., will speak at an informal luncheon meeting at noon Wednesday, April 28, in the private dining room of Benedum Hall on the Waynesburg College campus.

Hunter will discuss the need for economic education and the viability of free enterprise and will present a case for investing in common stock.

In addition to his position with Parker/Hunter, he is president of the Bond Club of Pittsburgh and a director of the Better Business Bureau of Greater Pittsburgh, the Con-

DAVID HUNTER
Summer Credit Counseling Service of Western Pennsylvania, and the Pittsburgh Security

Traders Association.

Hunter's talk is the second in a three-part series of luncheon meetings designed to involve residents of Greene County with the financial world. The first seminar featured Dr. Richard Cowan, chairman of the college's Business Department, who shared his economic predictions for 1982.

Hunter's talk will be preceded by a luncheon, cost of which is $3.25. Because of limited space, reservations should be made by calling the college Development Office by noon Tuesday, April 27.

Contract Approved

Members of Local 3-843 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers voted 75-33 Saturday to ratify a three-year contract with Equitable Gas Co., a company spokeswoman said.

The local represents 165 production and transmission employees in Waynesburg, Clarksburg and Weston, W.Va. They maintain gas pipelines, gas wells and related facilities in the Pittsburgh-based company's production and transmission systems.

The old contract expires at midnight Tuesday.

According to the spokeswoman, the new agreement includes a wage increase and improved medical and pension benefits.

Business Students Visit Consol Offices

WAYNESBURG — In observance of Professional Secretaries Day, students in the secretarial science section of the Business Administration Department at Waynesburg College visited Consolidation Coal Co. offices near Pittsburgh Wednesday.

Consol officials welcomed 23 students and offered a tour of the facility which has 550 employees including 75 secretaries. Eva Tomassetti, a graduate of the secretarial science program at Waynesburg College and now the director of library services at the Consol office, demonstrated the micro-image terminal for the students. Students also watched demonstrations of the mechanized storage facilities which include rotating banks of legal-size, file drawers and the Elecompak, a book shelf on tracks.

Private secretaries in the legal department demonstrated the use of word processing equipment. Each secretary had a hookup to a copier and a high-speed printer.

Students also visited the office of Bobby Brown, president and chief operating officer of the company, who spoke to Patty Speck, executive secretary to Brown, who described her duties.

Students were presented with a pewter tray and a piece of coal formed into the shape of animal at the conclusion of their visit.

Theme of the week is "Secretaries Make America's Business Grow," according to Dr. Mildred Cipic and Helen Barbor, members of the college faculty who planned the events.

Although there are already a record 3.6 million secretaries on public and private payrolls, statistics show a shortage of qualified secretaries.

The U.S. Department of Labor says the demand for secretaries will increase 46 percent by 1990.

Philadelphians Donate Goods

WAYNESBURG — Greene County Community Action Corporation employees Calvin Clark and Shirley Hall drove into Waynesburg early Saturday night with a flatbed stake truck brimming with canned goods, a ton of clothing and one young cherry tree.

They left Waynesburg at 7 a.m. that morning headed for Carlisle. Their truck, donated for the trip by Clark's father, was to meet another vehicle, this one donated by Earl Stout, president of District Council 33, of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) in Philadelphia. In Carlisle, the transfer of food, clothing and cherry tree would be made from one vehicle to the other for the remainder of the trip to Waynesburg.

But it was all the result of a Philadelphia resident, Russell Schaefer, and the 62 residents of his block. Schaefer read an article February in a Philadelphia newspaper about the rural poor in Greene County and decided to enlist the help of his neighbors to collect food and clothing for these people.

And it wasn't just his neighbors that Schaefer got involved with the project. A corrections officer with the Philadelphia Detention Center, Schaefer also got donations from fellow employees and center superintendent David Owens who allowed him to use a city-owned truck to store the goods at the prison. Even the inmates got into the action by washing, folding and packaging all the clothes collected.

In Carlisle Saturday, Clark and Hall met Schaefer and his friends Dennis McCloskey, Howard Johns, Dan O'Halloran with the AFSCME Union's vehicle under the watchful eye of AFSCME driver Alfred Watkins.

The clothes donated by the Philadelphia residents along with those donated by the Church Women United from Latrobe, will be distributed by the Community Action Corporation in their annual public clothing distribution from 9-30 a.m. to 5-30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday at the Waynesburg Armory.

Oh yes, the cherry tree. Schaefer told the Greene County CAC employees that the tree had been donated by the Fairmount Park Commission to be planted along the Appalachian Trail for all Greene County residents.

Milk Referendum Opposed By Union

HARRISBURG — Dairymen in Greene and Fayette counties will lose over $70,000 annually if the proposed statewide milk referendum is approved, according to a spokesman for the Pennsylvania Farmers Union.

James Brown, president of the family farm organization, said the figure is based on data from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Crop Reporting Service.

According to figures from the 1980 Annual Summary, Greene and Fayette counties' milk production was 71,360,000 pounds. Based on the ¾ of one percent rate of assessment proposed in the check-off, the fee would be 10 cents per hundredweight of milk (cwt).

"These are 1980 figures, and production all across the state has been on the increase, so the total amount is likely to be higher," Brown said. "Not only will $70,000 a year come out of the pockets of dairy farmers, it will leave the local economy. That's $70,000 that won't be used for mortgage payments, food, clothing or general used to stimulate the communities in the two counties."

The Pennsylvania Farmers Union is opposed to the proposed referendum. If enacted, $9 million a year would be deducted from the milk checks of the state's dairymen to fund a generic advertising and promotion program for the Commonwealth's dairy industry. Farmers Union delegates unanimously voted at its annual convention to oppose the referendum.

"There is no concrete evidence saying that generic advertising will work," Brown explained. "In fact, over the last 20 years, over a half a billion dollars has been spent for generic advertising of dairy products nationwide, but milk consumption decreased by 28.3 percent. Dairymen will be paying into a program that could show similar response. Farmers Union feels the program would waste hard-earned money."

Brown is urging all dairy farmers in both counties to vote against the proposed referendum. The farm leader reminds cooperative members to cast their ballot or their cooperative association will vote for them.

Ballots should be mailed to the Department of Agriculture between May 8-22, 1982.

Carmichaels Area Students Schedule Spring Activities

CARMICHAELS — Students in the Carmichaels Area School District have scheduled a varied list of spring activities to which the public is invited.

The high school drama club will present an old-fashioned melodrama, "Lost in the City," at 8 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 23-25, in the high school auditorium.

The elementary faculty staff will challenge the secondary staff in two championship games — one basketball and one volleyball. The games will be held at 7 p.m.

Friday, April 30, in the high school gymnasium, with the $1 admission fee being used for elementary school fund-raising projects.

A scholastic-athletic banquet will be held at 6-30 p.m. Thursday, May 6, at the Carmichaels fire hall to honor high school seniors, both boys and girls, with outstanding academic and scholastic records for the 1981-82 school year. Jack Bogut, a Pittsburgh disc jockey, will speak at the event, which is being sponsored by parents and friends. Tickets are being sold at the high school.

The annual spring concert by the Carmichaels Area High School band will be held in the auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday, May 7. There is no admission charge.

The high school chorus will present an evening of music at 8 p.m. Monday, May 10, in the auditorium. Theme is "Years Gone By." There is no admission charge.

The elementary band and chorus will present a music festival at 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 19, in the high school auditorium. There is no admission charge.

County Vo-Tech Students Attend Lancaster Seminar

WAYNESBURG — Several students in the DECA Club at the Greene County Vocational-Technical School were among 1,500 students participating in a three-day career development conference and vocational competition held recently in Lancaster.

Members of the DECA Club are students in the distributive education classes at the vo-tech school, Denise Kolenda, distributive education teacher-coordinator, and Francis Greesy, school coordinator, accompanied the students. Local judges for the restaurant competition were Teresa Ficara, manager of the Waynesburg McDonald's, and Sonya Oleynik, trainer.

All the students attending the conference have career goals in the fields of marketing and distribution.

The seven students participating from the Greene County Vo-Tech School were Lida Morris, a Waynesburg Central High School senior who competed in the restaurant management area; Shelly Richard, a Waynesburg Central junior who prepared a written manual in general merchandising; Susan Gilbert, a sophomore from West Greene High prepared a written manual in food service; Melody Fox, a Waynesburg Central junior competed in the general merchandise category and was elected State District Vice President; Robin Price, a senior from Jefferson-Morgan High competed in the warehousing category.

Shirley Dille and Veronica Koval, a junior and sophomore respectively from Waynesburg Central represented the Greene County DECA Chapter as voting delegates.

Myers, Fla., and Mrs. Harry (Velma) Forsyth, of DeMoines, Ohio; and one brother, Charles (Bud) Crookard, of Rices Landing R.D.1.

Her husband, William W. Kerr, died October 29, 1981.

Cooks Who Face Furloughs Protest School's Plans

WAYNESBURG — Nineteen cooks who will be furloughed when the Central Greene School District reduces the scope of its school lunch program have protested the district's plan for future staffing.

A grievance has been filed on their behalf by the Central Greene Service Personnel Association, a union affiliated with the Pennsylvania State Education Association which represents non-professional employees of the school district.

It centers on the district's proposal to keep just seven full-time cooks and to replace the other 19 full-time (5 1/2 hours or more) employees with 12 part-time cooks, most of whom would work four hours a day.

"We are not disputing the school district's right to reduce the size of its staff," PSEA representative George Haines said Wednesday. "But the contract provides employees with certain protections and we feel the plan to use part-time people violates those rights."

The principal issue, he explained, centers on the fact that part-time employees are not entitled to medical insurance coverage or any of the other fringe benefits which full-time employees receive.

In addition, part-time employees are not eligible to belong to the union.

If the board rejects the grievance, the issue will be submitted to binding arbitration by a state arbitrator.

Reduction of the cafeteria staff results from a recent decision by the Central Greene school board to withdraw the district from the National School Lunch Program effective with the start of the 1982-83 school year in August.

In doing so, the district will give up the federal subsidies and the free and reduced-price meals which the national lunch program provides.

The action was taken because of the rising cost of preparing the required "Class A" lunch.

Rowe

John William Rowe, 80, of Greensboro R.D.1, died Sunday, April 18, 1982, in his home.

He was born February 21, 1902, in Midland, Md., to the late Alexander and Muvina Deeman Rowe.

A retired coal miner, he was employed by Duquesne Light Co. for 37 years. He was a member of United Mine Workers Local 6310.

Surviving are his wife, Hattie Wilson Rowe; a daughter, Mrs. Billie (Dorothy) Kennedy of Greensboro; three sons, John W. and David L., both of Greensboro, and Arthur Allan of Carmichaels; a brother, Arthur C. of Tionesta; a sister, Pearl McKenzie of Colmer, Md., and four grandchildren.

Deceased are a brother, Alexander, and a sister, Jennie Beightol.

Services will be held Wednesday in Point Marion.

Urban

Stephan Frank Urban, 77, of Mansfield, Ohio, formerly of Dry Tavern, died Sunday, April 18, 1982, in his home, after an illness of six years.

He was born August 2, 1904, in Hecla, Pa., the son of Stephan and Mary Balchik Urbanec.

He was married in June 1927 to Anna Belle (Leslie) Urban, who died in 1962.

Mr. Urban was a retired coal miner, and was a member of UMWA Local 6330. He was a former member of Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church, Rices Landing.

Surviving are four sons, Steve Urban Jr. of Hiram, Ohio, Charles Urban of North Olmstead, Ohio, Andrew Urban of Mansfield, and Richard Urban of Cleveland; one daughter, Mrs. Robert (Rose Marie) Ling of Mansfield; one sister, Catherine Vance of Dry Tavern; eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Correction

In the obituary of Rose Marie Clayton published Monday, a paragraph was deleted. A son Robert, a grandson Ronald, a sister Irene and a brother William are deceased.

DAR Announces State Contest Winners From Greene County

CARMICHAELS — Junior American Citizen Clubs which are active in elementary and secondary schools in eastern Greene County won a number of awards in contests sponsored by their parent group, the Greene Academy Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

The DAR chapter clubs had 38 state winners, with 20 of those taking first place awards. Categories were essays, poems, plays and posters on the theme "Hope for America: What Can I Do to Help."

Entries which took first places have been sent to the national Junior American Citizens for further judging. Winners will be announced April 21 at the national DAR Congress in Washington, D.C.

Greene County's state winners and a parent will be guests of the Greene Academy Chapter at a reception at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 27, in the Greene Academy building in Carmichaels.

State poster contest winners on the elementary school level were Thomas Viencek, grade one, Jefferson-Morgan, first place; Jarrod Gough, grade three, Westminister Academy, second place; Brian Swartz, grade four, Westminister Academy, third place; Jeff Kentzer, grade six, Carmichaels Central, first place; Eugenia Brooks, grade six, Carmichaels Central, second place; and Heather Vuknic, grade six, Carmichaels Central, third place.

Poster contest winners on the secondary school level, all of them from Carmichaels Area High School, were Kim Phillips, grade nine, first; Mark Chess, grade nine, second; Faith Stauffer, grade nine, third; Melvin Clark, grade 10, first; Susan Wolf, grade 11, first; Viola Whyel, grade 12, first; Deseree Brooks, grade 12, second; and Barbara Davidson, grade 12, third.

First-place state winners for plays were Heather Vuknic, grade six, Carmichaels Central, and Lori Johnston, grade 10, Westminister Academy.

The Electric Consumer's Corner

FEATURING THE OHMS FAMILY

THE AVERAGE PAYMENT PLAN LEVELS OUT ELECTRIC BILLS.

FLO, OUR WINTER ELECTRIC BILLS SURE ARE TOUGH ON THE BUDGET.

45¢, MR OHMS, WITH OUR AVERAGE PAYMENT PLAN YOU PAY FOR ABOUT THE SAME AMOUNT EACH MONTH... 1/2 OF THE ELECTRICITY USED FOR THE PREVIOUS 12 MONTHS.

EACH BILL IS FOR THE AVERAGE OF YOUR LATEST 12 MONTHS USAGE. AND EVERY 12 MONTHS WE REVIEW YOUR ACCOUNT BALANCE. IF IT SHOWS A SLIGHT OVER-PAYMENT OR UNDER-PAYMENT, WE CREDIT OR CHARGE YOUR ACCOUNT AND DIVIDE THE AMOUNT EQUALLY OVER YOUR NEXT 12 MONTHS' BILLS.

SO WE PAY ONLY FOR THE ELECTRICITY USED?

RIGHT, ALSO THE AVERAGE PAYMENT PLAN COSTS NOTHING EXTRA.

AND IT'LL HELP MY BUDGET, TOO, SIGN ME UP!

The folder, "West Penn Power's Average Payment Plan for residential customers," contains complete information. For a free copy, contact the West Penn Power office serving your location. Or write to West Penn Power, c/o The Electric Consumer's Corner, Cabin Hill, Greensburg, PA 15601.
