W. Greene Strike Issues Discussed

By Christie R. Molzon, Staff Writer

ROGERSVILLE — Approximately 200 people attended a public meeting at the West Greene High School Thursday night called to give a broad overview of issues separating the school board and striking teachers.

Those representing the school board were Anne Bower, Jim Helpenstine and Lawrence Headley. On the teacher's side were Larry Piper, Ron Jesso and Joe Zimmerman.

Marie Carter and Ed Porter served as moderators for the meeting, first asking questions given to them earlier by residents and then taking questions from the floor. "We're not here to settle the strike, just to let each side know how we feel — that we want our children back in school," Mrs. Carter said.

The meeting, which was very orderly, lasted about an hour and a half. The only time there was a burst of applause from the audience was when one man urged the board to accept the union's offer of fact-finding so that students could resume classes. Teachers in the district have been on strike since Sept. 13.

The major block to settling the strike has been money. It was reiterated that the board's position is $1,400 for each of three years and that the union is asking for $1,800 the first year; $1,700 the second and $1,600 for the third year. There also has been disagreement over a vision plan.

Both sides indicated there is still room for further negotiating despite the wage differences. "You've heard our last proposal and the teacher's last proposal," Mrs. Bower said. "I don't think they have that written in stone, I think we still have room to go." And the three teacher representatives nodded their heads.

Another negotiating session is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 18 with state mediator William Herschberger.

Both sides also indicated they are waiting to see what will happen next week in the Southeastern Greene School District where the board has gone to court seeking an injunction against striking teachers.

Prior to the meeting, several students stood outside the school with signs and many in last night's audience were students. Asked about possible classes for seniors, Mrs. Bower said that possibility would probably be discussed at the next regular board meeting, scheduled for Oct. 20.

Both sides disagreed whether there is adequate money in the budget to pay increased salaries. Mrs. Bower said the budget will only cover a $1,400 increase, but Zimmerman said the figures "come out to over $1,800 a year — the money is there." Headley said if what the teachers are requesting is granted, taxes will not increase this year but will probably increase over the next two years.

Jesso said the latest board proposal was voted on by members of the West Greene Education Association and was rejected 60-10 in a roll call vote.

Asked why the board hasn't just hired other teachers, Headley said, "Because I haven't had a chance to bring that up to the board yet." But Zimmerman retorted that the district would just be faced with another contract expiration in three years time and possibly another strike.

The teacher's union has long supported the board agreeing to fact-finding as a means to ending the strike. Under that proposal, a fact finder would study the budget and district economics while classes resume. After 40 days he or she would make a ruling on the case and the teachers have said they will bind themselves to the fact finder's ruling.

Mrs. Bower said the board has not agreed to go along with that proposal because it felt that the fact finder would look only at monetary issues. "The board feels there are other things that have great value too and wouldn't be considered," she said.

A call for both sides to settle non-economic issues and let a fact finder resolve the wage issue met with applause from the audience.

PUC Upsets Ruling On Alco Gas

HARRISBURG — The state Public Utilities Commission Friday overturned an emergency order that would have left up to 85 Greene County homeowners without natural gas service.

Handed down earlier by Administrative Law Judge John K. Clements, the order would have allowed Alco Oil Co. to abandon gas lines to many of its customers in the western part of the county.

PUC attorney Robert P. Meehan filed exceptions to Clements' Oct. 1 ruling, saying additional studies are needed before a fair decision can be made.

Meehan said a field inspection of Alco's lines has not been completed and a rate analysis should be made. He also requested a financial report on Alco Oil Co.

As a result of the PUC decision Friday, additional hearings will be held in Pittsburgh on Alco's request to abandon service.

Alco maintains it would cost $1.2 million to replace old and leaking gas lines and 85 customers could not support the necessary costs. Don Boldon, a spokesman for Alco, said Friday the issue does not involve those who are currently receiving free gas.

Friday's ruling halts any cutoffs of gas service by Alco.

Alco is charged with threatening to cut off service, failure to install new gas service and gas main lines, and operating a utility without a permit. Alco answers the charges by saying they are not in the retail gas business but only provide service to customers along their lines as a convenience.

Following complaints filed by four customers, PUC investigated and found the lines in very poor condition. The PUC sought to declare Alco a public utility and bring the firm under PUC guidelines.

Alco then asked for permission to abandon the service, claiming it had lost $118,000 on the residential service operation in the past few years.

In a related development, Boldon, Alco general manager, said that regardless of the final outcome, it will have no effect on the 80 to 100 people who receive free gas under Alco agreements.

He said these evolved over a period of many years and involve people who receive the gas as part of lease agreements, right-of-way agreements and similar reasons.

"If retail customer service is discontinued, these people will continue to receive free gas," he said.

Contract Talks In Court

By Bob Eichenlaub, Greene County Editor

WAYNESBURG — A full day of contract negotiation was held Monday under supervision of the Greene County Court in an effort to end a teacher strike which is entering its eighth week in the Southeastern Greene School District.

Although little or no progress was reported when the talks broke off at 5 p.m., Judge Glenn Toothman directed that both sides be back in court at 9 a.m. today to continue their efforts to end the long walkout.

Negotiators for both the school board and the Southeastern Greene Education Association were in court Monday for a hearing in the school district's request for an injunction. It has asked the court to order the teachers to return to work on the grounds that continuation of the walkout "poses a clear and present danger to the health and welfare" of the district's 1,100 students.

In directing that the two sides attempt to resolve the issues without the necessity of a hearing, Judge Toothman said:

"There is no magic in the courtroom or in the law. Only a willingness on the part of both parties to reasonably discharge their respective duties and responsibilities can bring an end to this impasse."

At the end of Monday's session, board negotiator John Stets said Judge Toothman has indicated he will probably hold a hearing on the injunction on Wednesday if the two sides are still deadlocked at that time.

Stets said that the board, which has been offering raises of $1,200 in each year of a three-year contract, Monday offered a proposal of a 7 percent salary increase in each of the three years, but that it was rejected. That increase would have meant a raise averaging approximately $1,200 in the first year, which would have compounded in the second and third years. The SGEA has been seeking raises of $2,100 in the first and second years and $2,200 in the third year.

Most of the district's teachers and some interested residents were in court early Monday morning for the scheduled hearing, with PSEA attorney Ron Watzman representing the teachers' organization.

Stets argued that the most immediate danger to students lies in the fact that, by his compilation, they can no longer receive the 180 days of education mandated by the state.

"Even if classes were to begin Tuesday, only 174 days of classes could be held if the four days between Christmas and New Year's were retained as holidays and classes weren't held on Memorial Day.

As a result, he said, the district will lose part of its state reimbursement for this year; college-bound seniors will be affected; students who want to enter the job market will be adversely affected because classes will have to be held until June 30; and other employees of the school district and its contractors will lose work.

Watzman, on the other hand, argued that the 180 day cutoff won't come until Oct. 22 because the only holidays on which classes cannot be held are, by law, Christmas and Memorial Day, with Christmas falling on a Saturday this year.

He also contended that full reimbursement could still be obtained and a full year of instruction held even beyond that date through lengthening of the school day.

"The law requires 990 hours of instruction for secondary students and 900 hours of instruction for elementary students," he said. "If class hours are lengthened, the required hours can be reached in less than 180 days."

Watzman also argued that the school district's request for an injunction was invalid since the district failed to meet the requirement of submitting a copy of the complaint to the SGEA prior to its being filed on Thursday with the court. He said he would be filing preliminary objections asking that the complaint be dismissed for this reason, and for the reason that the district has not shown the required existence of a clear and present danger to students.

J-M Board Ratifies Pact

By Stan Diamond, Staff Writer

JEFFERSON — On a 6-3 vote Monday night, the Jefferson-Morgan School Board ratified a three-year contract with its teachers and approved a revised school calendar to make up the 26 days lost during a teachers' strike.

Robert Harry, Robert Goslin, and Paul D'Antonio voted against the new three-year contract which gives teachers a $1,700 salary increase each of the three years. Voting for the contract were Stanley Fowler, Charles Ferencak, Dr. Stanley Falor, Karen Sabo, Louie Baniecki, and Floyd Haney.

The new contract also gives teachers individual vision care the first year and family coverage the second and third years; extracurricular activity salary increases of 10.1 percent the first year, 9.17 percent the second year, and 8.4 percent the third year; life insurance coverage increase from $10,000 to $15,000 in the final contract year; and an increase of reimbursement for unused sick leave at retirement to $12.50 per day up to a maximum of 200 days.

The only comment on the ratification came from Robert Harry. He pointed out following the vote that the $1,700 equals an increase of $1.25 per hour and that under the personal day provision in the new contract teachers will be able to accumulate up to six unused personal days which could be then be used consecutively.

The Jefferson-Morgan Education Association ratified the agreement Oct. 9 and returned to work Oct. 11. The teachers had been on strike since Sept. 2.

The revised school calendar approved Monday night makes up the 26 missed days by taking away six holidays and adding 20 days in June. It tentatively calls for the final day of school and graduation to be on June 30. The date is tentative because the revised calendar includes three snow days which, if not used, would be taken off the end of the calendar which could make the final day and graduation on June 26.

Other non-school days which have been changed to school days in the revised calendar are Nov. 29, deer day; Feb. 21, Presidents' Day; and April 4, the Monday following Easter. Christmas vacation will be Dec. 22 to Dec. 24, with early dismissal on Dec. 22.

The new school calendar leaves little room to maneuver should the district need to close four days because of snow or ice conditions. The only holiday day left to hold school would be Good Friday. According to state law, the only days school cannot be held are Christmas Day and Memorial Day.

In other matters Monday, the board heard a favorable audit from Jim Milinovich of Milinovich and Co. Inc., of Waynesburg, school auditors. Milinovich summed up the audit by saying, "It was a good year, a healthy year."

Mrs. Sandra Whetzel, of Mather, was offered employment as a secondary math teacher to fill a vacancy. Her salary was set at $12,135.

Ken Macek, district superintendent, reported that as part of American Education Week, Nov. 15-19, tentative plans are for a parents' visitation night from 7 to 9 p.m. on Nov. 18 for both the secondary and elementary schools.

The board approved a request from Vicki Monas, elementary supervisor, to apply for a federal grant of between $4,000 and $11,000 for a micro-mini computer for the elementary school which will have applications in all subject areas.

Consol Nears End Of Mine Radiation Cleanup Process

WAYNESBURG — Consolidation Coal Company is near the end of a lengthy radiation cleanup process at a remote site in western Greene County where low-level contamination resulted from a leak deep inside a mine exploration bore hole.

A company spokesman said Tuesday that 28 people have undergone medical examinations, with all tests to date proving to be negative. Decontamination of the site is proceeding under supervision of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission and the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources.

The contamination occurred when a metal container housing two aspirin-sized pellets of Americium ruptured several hundred feet underground in a hole which was being drilled to explore coal reserves. During recovery of the container, some contaminated mud was raised to the surface, where workers stepped in it.

According to the NRC, Americium is a synthetic element which emits fairly low levels of radiation. It is licensed by the NRC for use in measuring the depth and density of a coal seam.

The accident happened Aug. 27 and the site in Gilmore Township, about 20 miles southwest of Waynesburg, has been sealed off since that time.

Consol spokesman Paul Kvederis said all 28 people who came into contact with contaminated materials have been given medical examinations, with 13 of them receiving whole body gamma counts. They include Consol employees, drilling contractor employees and others who were at the scene.

"Results have been completely negative," he said.

In addition, 30 others have been contacted to determine if they want full body counts because they may have had secondary contact with contaminated materials.

A decontamination chamber has been erected at the site and will be used, starting this week, to decontaminate the drilling rig and four other vehicles which were on the site when the contaminated material were brought to the surface, Kvederis said.

He added that the site will remain sealed off until NRC experts are satisfied that every trace of radiation has been cleared away.

"Hopefully that won't be too long now," he said.

Planning Commission OKs Two Projects, Subdivision

WAYNESBURG — The Greene County Planning Commission Monday night approved two building projects and a subdivision, each with some stipulation, and also approved the 1983 budget.

Unanimous approval was given to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tyler and Mr. and Mrs. Darla Kuper for development of three parcels totaling some 37 acres in Aleppo Township. The land owners said no immediate development of the three lots is planned at this time.

The commission, although approving the subdivision, recommended topography reports be included with each deed in order that potential owners are aware of some necessary erosion and sedimentation controls.

With stipulations, the commission approved construction of a drive-in bank for First Federal Savings & Loan Association in the Morrisville section of Franklin Township. All planning commission requirements have been met but the commission asked for copies of agreements made between First Federal and others, such as utilities.

Approval was also given for a First National Bank of Carmichaels bank near Greene Plaza. Again, the approval is conditional on other agreements being made with the water company and Franklin Township for road cuts.

County Planner Valerie Cole presented a 1983 budget of $41,035, representing a 2 percent increase over 1982. The budget includes an 8 percent wage increase for all three employees.

The commission, following a commendation for having operated well within the 1982 budget, adopted the 1983 budget unanimously.

Linda Kolat, assistant county planner, reported on a conference she recently attended in Wilkes Barre.

The Comforts of Home

To our forefathers, this was living at its best... but the hard chair, the iron pot and the open grate would not be our idea of comfort.

Today kitchens sparkle with bright, easy-to-clean metals, and cupboards are filled with helpful appliances. We relax in foam-padded chairs and sleep on spring-filled mattresses. Almost every aspect of modern life is slanted toward speed and convenience.

Man, with his marvelous God-created brain, has overcome many obstacles, and there seems to be no limit to his inventiveness. God has given us a world full of possibilities, and minds that constantly seek to improve our environment.

But to make the most of our opportunities, we must ever develop and renew the resolute "faith of our fathers." Come worship with others and receive that heritage of inspiration and light.

Marriage Vows Taken

WAYNESBURG — The Washington Street United Methodist Church was the setting Saturday, October 2, 1982, for the wedding of Karen Sue Marshall and Jonathan Musgrave.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Marie Marshall of 334 South Washington Street and the late Amity Marshall. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Musgrave of Tionesta R.D.1.

The double-ring ceremony was celebrated at 3:30 p.m. with the Rev. Ralph Brownfield officiating. Erma Ewing, cousin of the bride, was organist and Jackie Burns was soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother. She selected a gown of white organza which featured a scoop neckline and accents of lace and pearls on the bodice. The high waistline was also trimmed in lace and pearls, as were the sheer, bishop-style sleeves. The A-line skirt and chapel train were enhanced with silk venise lace motifs dotted with pearls.

Her matching camelot cap of lace and pearls held a fingertip veil of imported illusion, with lace motifs and floral lace edging. She carried a cascade bouquet of ivy, fern and stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Robin Dayton of Waynesburg R.D.1 attended the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kim Lee of Mt. Morris, Donelle Capriotti of Sewickley Heights, Carolyn Orndoff of Waynesburg and Mrs. Sandra Marshall of St. Louis Mo., sister-in-law of the bride. They wore floor-length gowns in huckleberry.

Terry Dayton of Waynesburg R.D.1 served as best man. Ushers were Bill Smoljanovich of Holbrook; Larry and Ed Marshall, brothers of the bride, and Mike Petrick Jr. of Cleveland, nephew of the bride. Travis and Troy Musgrave, sons of the bridegroom, served as ring-bearers.

A reception for 250 guests was held at the Waynesburg Moose Lodge with Cindy Jackson attending the guest book.

The bride is a graduate of Waynesburg Central High School and Penn Commercial College. She is employed at Fairmont Supply, Waynesburg. The bridegroom, a graduate of Beth-Center High School and Airco Technical Institute, is a welder.

Following a wedding trip to the Poconos, the newlyweds are residing at 354 1/2 South Washington Street.

Dr. Cowan Assumes New Duties

WAYNESBURG — Dr. Richard S. Cowan Jr., chairman of the Department of Business Administration and Economics for the past 11 years at Waynesburg College, assumed his duties Oct. 1 as vice president for development at the college.

Cowan joined the Waynesburg College faculty in 1971. He earned his bachelor's degree in economics at Washington and Jefferson College, his master's degree in marketing from Pennsylvania State University and his doctorate in business and industrial economics from Lehigh University.

In addition to his experience at Waynesburg, he was a member of the faculty at Lehigh University, a research assistant at Penn State, and served as a captain in the U.S. Army. He has published more than a dozen articles since joining the college faculty.

"Waynesburg College has had an excellent record of voluntary support from corporations, foundations and individuals in recent years, and we are confident Dr. Cowan will build on this record," college President Joseph Marsh said of Cowan's appointment.

Homecoming Court

Janet Lynn Harper Weds

The wedding of Janet Lynn Harper and Dr. Arthur James Patterson Jr. was celebrated Saturday, Sept. 25, 1982, in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Monaca, with the Rev. John Milhok officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Huston C. Harper of 138 Mulberry Lane, Monaca. The bridegroom is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur James Patterson of Waynesburg R.D.2.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She appeared in an off-shoulder gown of alencon lace with elongated bodice and short puffed satin sleeves. The full Belgium net skirt with alencon appliques was bordered with a scalloped edge of schiffley embroidery. A wreath of flowers held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of blue-tipped white flowers.

Charlene Melko attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Sandy Hrelec, sister of the bride; Kathleen Gruber; Anita Patterson, sister of the bridegroom; Lorraine Roscoe and Suzanne Sambol. They wore off-shoulder gowns of light blue organza.

Carl Patterson served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Dr. Ed Balaban, Dr. Frank Lomagistro, Dr. Paul Kim, Dr. Ray Jones and Dr.

MRS. PATTERSON

William Bradford.

The bride is a graduate of Beaver County Community College and is a registered nurse. She is an operating room nurse at Central Medical Center and Hospital at Pittsburgh.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Waynesburg College and the Medical School of Jefferson College in Philadelphia. He is chief surgical resident at West Penn Hospital, Pittsburgh, and plans to relocate to Waynesburg and enter practice with his father upon completion of his residency.

Gorby-Zawada Vows Heard In Holy Trinity Church

Terri Lynn Gorby and John Michael Zawada were married Saturday, October 9, 1982, in Holy Trinity Church, Connellsville.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 2:30 p.m. by Father Henry Bruska.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gorby of Graysville R.D.1. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Stephan Zawada of Dunbar R.D.1.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a three tiered gown with each tier trimmed in eyelet lace. The fitted sweetheart bodice was of Alencon lace, carried through to the long full sleeves with three-inch cuffs. Her five-foot train featured rows of ruffles trimmed in eyelet lace and her floor-length veil was held in place by a band of white silk roses. Her cascading bouquet was white roses trimmed with baby's breath and lace.

Mrs. Sheri Watson of Waynesburg was maid of honor and wore a coral gown. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Shelley Rohm, the bride's sister, of Wind Ridge; Mrs. Patty Gorby, sister-in-law of the bride, of Waynesburg; Mrs. Betsey Day of West Finley, Ms. Peggy Bissett of Cameron Star Route, Waynesburg, Ms. Carla Main of Pine Bank and Mrs. Kim Roberts of Rices Landing. They wore apricot gowns. The entire bridal party carried silk flowers made by Donna Stewart.

Michael Zawada of Dunbar, the groom's cousin, was best man. Ushers were Ed Zawada of Atlanta, Ga., the groom's brother; Dave

MRS. ZAWADA

Anderson of Connellsville, Rudy Stanec and Bill Vanec, cousin of the groom, and Ed Palermo, all of Uniontown, and Ed Stanish, cousin of the groom, of Lemont Furnace.

A reception was held at the Carmichaels Fire Hall. Five hundred guests attended, including the bride's 95-year-old grandfather, Clarence Gorby of Washington R.D.5. Mrs. Cathy Kinsell of Clarksville was in charge of the bride's book. The bride is a graduate of West Greene High School. Her husband is a graduate of Connellsville High School and California State College. He is employed at Krogers in Waynesburg.

No Chill In Cheers

WAYNESBURG — It was cold. It rained, hailed and there was even some snow, and black clouds loomed against a dark blue sky.

But that didn't stop Waynesburg College coeds from donning their evening gowns to ride floats and convertibles. Nor did it put much of a damper on the spirits of spectators who lined High Street Saturday for the annual Waynesburg College Homecoming parade.

The parade preceded the homecoming football game with Frostburg College, at which Gillian Friday was selected and crowned as homecoming queen.

The shivers were worthwhile for young women in the Sigma Kappa Sorority. Their float, "Go Greek," won the $150 first prize awarded by Student Senate, the college organization which sponsored the parade.

Braving the elements to show off the float were Terri Kaminsky, Lisa Monas, Peggy Carpenter, Gina Bartouch, Lynn Maloy, Lois Baily, Dee Rohanna and Robin Teagarden.

Second prize and $100 went to another sorority, Phi Sigma Sigma, for a "Jamaica Holiday" entry, while third place and $50 was won by the Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity.

College cheerleaders distributed candy and orange balloons to children along the parade route and music was supplied by the Bethel Park High School band, which also presented the halftime show at the football game.

Gas Service Abandonment Cannot Be Justified

Some 85 households in western Greene County who faced a cutoff of their natural gas supply are feeling a bit easier after the Public Utilities Commission ruled last week that more study will be needed before the Alco Oil Co. will be permitted to abandon service.

It probably means they will continue to have gas to heat their homes through this winter, and won't face the need to convert to propane or some other alternate fuel until at least next spring.

It's an odd situation.

Alco, which is involved in the business of producing gas for sale to major companies, inherited the customers when it purchased the Dun-Mar Oil and Gas Co. Dun-Mar, over many years, had furnished free gas to people in exchange for leases and rights of way. It also allowed other households along its lines to tie in and furnished them gas at a rate much lower than those of the big companies.

Since it was a private arrangement, it apparently escaped the notice of the PUC, which is supposed to regulate the affairs of all public utilities.

The problem came when four customers complained to the PUC that the lines were in such poor condition that their pressure was well below standard. When placed on notice, the state agency told Alco it would have to accept status as a public utility and be subject to PUC regulations, which would include bringing its lines up to standard.

Alco contended that the 85 customers could not afford the $1.2 million it would cost to replace the old and leaking lines and asked that it be permitted to abandon the lines. It also claimed it had lost $118,000 on the residential service in the past few years.

An administrative law judge at Pittsburgh agreed that the company should be permitted to discontinue the service immediately, but the PUC feels that would be a bit precipitate. They want further studies and hearings before a final ruling is made.

The irony is that it was a complaint from customers which brought the PUC into the picture. And even though Alco might be in a difficult position, it would be unthinkable to put a lot of people — many of them poor and elderly — in a position where they might not have heat during the coming months.

County Considers Cutting Spending

WAYNESBURG — A meeting of elected officials and department heads was held by Greene County commissioners Friday to discuss ways of cutting back expenditures during the balance of this year.

Included was the possibility of staff cutbacks, which commissioners said could become necessary if the county is to avoid a repetition of last year. In 1981, a substantial deficit forced the county to defer payment of bills and resort to financial juggling until a tax anticipation loan could be obtained after Jan. 1, 1982.

"We're not in any real trouble yet, but we would like to end this year on a break-even basis so we don't project a problem into next year," Commissioner L.R. Santore said.

Both he and Budget Director Anna Louise Cree agreed that the county is in better shape this year than it was at the same time in 1981, but there are several things which pose problems. Heading the list of problems is the fact that a Medical Assistance payment which the Curry Memorial Home receives each year has been reduced from $352,000 to $40,000 because of new legislation.

On top of this, the county was required to make an unbudgeted payment of $55,000 for settlement of a lawsuit brought by the former nursing supervisor at Curry Home. The county also has paid $49,000 in architectural fees for the Curry Home expansion project which will not be recouped until the project is carried out, and has experienced a drop of about $20,000 in receipts, to date, from 1982 real estate taxes.

Additionally, $300,000 remains to be paid on the $1.5 million tax anticipation loan obtained for 1982.

The county, with more than 250 people on its staff, has a quarterly payroll of more than $800,000. As of Oct. 1, total expenditures had reached 81 percent of amounts budgeted for 1982, or about 6 percent above schedule.

At the meeting Friday, the elected officials and department heads were briefed on the situation and were told another meeting would be held Nov. 1 to again review it before any decisions on staff reductions are made.

One of the alternatives to layoffs was the possibility of reducing the work week to four days. If this should become necessary, elected officials said they would be willing to give up a pro-rata share of their salaries.

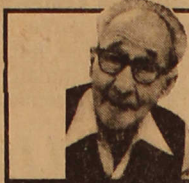

"All of the elected officials and department heads were very cooperative," Commission Chairman Joseph Pawloski said. "They seemed just as concerned about saving dollars as we are. We wanted to brief them on the situation so they can be ready if anything does have to be done."

Commissioner Richard Cowan said he believes the county will be able to get through the year in good shape without the necessity of any drastic measures. But he also said the meeting was valuable in clearing the air.

Faces From The Past-Do You Recognize Them?

Excavation begins on North Washington Street for the new gymnasium in the early 1930s. The picture is the property of John O'Hara. Now, a half-century later, major improvements are being completed at the local athletic facility.

Fact & Folklore

John O'Hara

Another of the highly-enjoyable two-day festivals of the Greene County Historical Society attracted large crowds of local residents and many more from an area of six or seven states, according to registry books for the event.

And once again, as it has for the past few years, the "trips" on the hundred feet of restored track of the old Waynesburg & Washington narrow gauge railroad was the star of the show.

It was particularly so for those who had a chance to ride in the cab of the ancient engine if they had been a passenger on the old line on its trips back and forth to Washington, as this writer had been.

After several minutes of "getting up steam," the two or three warning toots of the whistle came, and within a few moments — yes, moments, not minutes — the memories started to roll.

It was the same sort of sideways lurch that was felt when the first shots of steamflowed into the cylinders as it had done millions of times in the long history of the line's thousands of runs between the southwestern Pennsylvania communities of Waynesburg and Washington.

After that lurch and a slight hesitation, it seemed to "jerk" sideways and then settled down to the rhythm that seemed to assure the fireman and the engineer and the handful of others in the cab that the old engine would surely make it once again to the other end of the hundred feet of restored narrow gauge track.

And then the cheerful blast of the whistle gave double assurance the destination would be reached, just as the line patrons felt on trips of years ago.

It was entirely different standing in the cab than it was watching from the sidelines.

For those such as this writer whose youth was centered largely around the railroad the memories flowed as smoke poured from the stacks.

Memories of men like John Farrell, the master mechanic of the line, and his brother-in-law, James Cunningham Sr., who was Farrell's assistant and whose oldest son, Joe, became a railroader in Central America and later returned to Pittsburgh.

Virtually all of the South Side boys had the run of the roundhouse and the yards and considered themselves as somehow or other being a part of the railroad itself.

These included the late Charles Sowers and all three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Black, who had the largest house south of Main Street at the corner of Elm and Richill. The three boys, George, Albert and Jack, were all exceptional athletes. Albert later became a coach, teacher and principal at St. Albans, W.Va., near Charleston, where his nephew, Dick Drury, is now a technician at a television station after a stint of playing in organized baseball.

Also from the same corner came W. Walter (Buck) Montgomery, who became the first coach and started the football dynasty at the former Jefferson High School, now Jefferson-Morgan.

That part of Waynesburg South Side in those days had a slight cosmopolitan touch through the Italian families that lived there when they came to Greene County to help lay the first pipelines to Pittsburgh. These included the Vilellas and the Grecos.

Because of the particular way the engine lurched, just as it did in the old roundhouse many years, this writer was somehow back there again with the Cunninghams, Bob Dryer and his younger brother, Bill, both now deceased.

It made a person remember the Cunningham boys, Joe, the oldest, later worked on railroads in the state of California, in Central America, and finally back in Pittsburgh, where he died after having been a soldier of fortune on two continents. His younger brother, Jim, died in California after he retired. Leo, the youngest, who sailed the world after World War II as a member of the U.S. Merchant Marine, now lives in Costa Rica.

Riding a half dozen shuttles on the restored locomotive at the Historical Society festival also revived memories of many more of the neighbors from the South Side. James Cunningham was an expert machinist who learned his trade in the Pittsburgh rail yards. There were also the Marchios, with one of the younger sons of the family now a professional musician who plays background music for Hollywood motion picture studios.

The brick station house and baggage rooms at the W&W terminal on the South Side are still standing, but are now badly weathered by the years. For people who remember, the continued existence of the old locomotive at the society museum is a thrill.

Volunteers Needed For Meal Delivery

The Waynesburg and Carmichaels Senior Citizens' Centers are in urgent need of drivers to deliver meals to shut-ins in the Carmichaels and Waynesburg areas.

If you can deliver meals on Thursday, either one day a month or every week, contact the Waynesburg center at 627-6366. Drivers are also needed on a stand-by basis to deliver meals when regular drivers can't. Delivery of meals is done from about 11 a.m. to noon.

In the Carmichaels area if you can deliver meals at any time, please contact the Community Action Senior Services at (800) 542-0358. Meals are delivered between 10:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m.

Mime Entertains Rotary Club

WAYNESBURG — Noted mime Craig Babcock, currently touring Greene County through the auspices of the Greene Council on the Arts, entertained the Waynesburg Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon meeting Monday.

Calling himself a "solo, free-lance mime," Babcock is participating in the visiting artists series sponsored by the U.S. Steel Foundation and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Babcock illustrated several skits which come under the heading of "illusionary mime," in which no props are used. Emphasis is on muscle control as Babcock explained and performed the "cane trick," the "hands-on-the-wall" trick and the "ups and downs" trick.

AROUND TOWN

By THE STAFF

The best kept secret in Greene County this year seems to be the upcoming general election on November 2. There is little pre-election activity even among the old pros in local politics and time if fast running out. Absentee ballots for those unable to get to the polls have already been distributed by mail.

But there is interest in the hunting season especially for deer and grouse but seemingly little interest for other small game like rabbits and pheasants.

The resurfacing of Greene Street in Waynesburg from the eastern borough line to Richhill Street at its western end is being completed just as the weather seems to be "breaking up." The major improvements to the busy street are the best to have been made in decades within the borough limits. It also includes new curbs and storm drains.

The exodus of Waynesburgers who own winter homes in Florida or Arizona will be getting in full swing shortly after the November election. The trend isn't hastened to any extent this year because of the good weather that has prevailed for the last two or three months.

William George, well known Waynesburg automobile mechanic, has moved his repair shop on South Washington Street to the former Bill Budge shop on the ridge road between Route 19 and Interstate 79 in Franklin Township. Mr. Taylor and his wife will continue to reside at their home on South Washington Street. George, and William "Bill" George, the Hall of Fame Chicago Bear football player who was killed recently in an automobile accident, lived across the street from each other in Morrisville when they attended Waynesburg High School together many years ago. Although the both had the same name, they were not related.

Al Minicucci Jr., a former Waynesburg College varsity football player during the coaching regime of the late Stan Keck, was among the alumni who attended last weekend's Waynesburg College homecoming. He formerly lived at Millsboro. He is now an administrator in the Roseville, Mich. public school system. Waynesburg tied its homecoming game against Frostburg College of Maryland. It was the coldest day so far this fall with the homecoming crowd at College Field even seeing some snowflurries and hail along with the game.

FREEPORT TOWNSHIP

Jo Lane and Peter P. Ceconi, Jeanette, to Consol Land Development Co., one-third interest in Pittsburgh Coal tract, $200.

JEFFERSON BOROUGH

Sharon Price, administratrix Albert G. Belford Estate, Jefferson, to Emil A. and Isobel Berry, Rices Landing, two lots, $10,500.

Edward E. and Agnes Taer, Washington, to Frank O. and Brenda A. Largent, Clarksville, three lots, Smithfield Street, $10,000.

JEFFERSON TOWNSHIP

John S. and June C. Minor, Rices Landing R.D.1, to Roy A. and Marsha B. Remington, Clarksville, one acre, $5,500.

Ruth A. Petros, executrix Edith Tretinik Estate, Jefferson Township, to Paul G. and Evelyn Tretinik, Clarksville R.D.1, house and lot, $14,000.

MORGAN TOWNSHIP

Ralph Dougal, Clarksville, to Ralph Dougal and Audrey Wolff, Clarksville, two lots, no consideration.

No Local Operators Available To Handle Emergency Calls

WAYNESBURG — Greene County residents were reminded Thursday of the added importance of having police, fire and ambulance telephone numbers readily available in case of an emergency.

Michael Mulholland, a member of the Greene County 911 Emergency Telephone Committee, said that with conversion by the Mid-Penn Telephone Corp. to a digital switching system, local operators will no longer be available to take emergency calls and channel them to the correct place. Bell System operators will handling all operator-assisted calls.

"When you dial the operator you will be speaking to someone in Greensburg or Atlanta, Ga.," Mulholland said. "If you are trying to report a fire and say it is on Crayne's Run or Pisgah Ridge, they will have no idea of who should be called and it could create a real problem in terms of response time."

Mulholland pointed out that once the county-wide 911 emergency telephone system is placed in operation, the problem will no longer exist since there will be just one number to be called for any emergency. But that system won't be operable until at least early next year.

"In the meantime, every county resident should list the number of his local fire company, police department and ambulance service in a place where they are immediately available," he concluded.

Rail Crossing Hearing Scheduled

WAYNESBURG — Public input on the proposed grade-separated rail crossing on South Morris Street will be received at a public meeting to be held from 1 to 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 16, in the borough council chambers.

The open house will afford the opportunity to review a design location study made by Salvucci & Associates which includes aerial photographs, an environmental impact study, alternate locations and cost estimates.

Cost of the project was estimated at some $2.5 million two years ago and considering inflation factors could now go over $3 million.

Officials of the state Department of Transportation and the Federal Highway Administration will use information from the public meeting and the project will be further developed for presentation to the community at a later date.

Any interested individuals or organizations unable to attend the open house are invited to have their names placed on the highway department's mailing list and/or submit comments and suggestions by contacting: William King, District Environmental Manager, Penna. Dept. of Transportation, PO Box 459, Uniontown, Pa. 15401.

Opposition to the at-grade crossing on Route 218, near the Smith Creek Bridge, has been voiced by Waynesburg Borough, the Central Greene School District, the Greene County Commissioners and the county planning commission for many years.

Local organizations and individuals have been vocal about 100-unit coal trains which reportedly have held up traffic for up to 45 minutes. Fire officials have also complained that should an emergency occur equipment would be delayed in reaching the scene of a disaster.

In 1980, state officials said they would include the project for funding under the "New Initiative to Save Lives" program; but the $300 million in federal funds never materialized.

Waynesburg Borough has made several efforts to get the project funded. After appealing to the Public Utility Commission for a hearing on the need for a grade separation, the PUC told the borough they would only consider the matter if the borough could give assurance the project could be funded.

Officials of Monongahela Railroad have said in the past that a 45-minute delay at the crossing would be rare.

Rail traffic will be increased considerably in the future because of plans by Consolidation Coal Co. to erect at least two more new mines in northwestern Greene County.

Waynesburg's Magic

By Denise Bachman, O-R Sports Staff

WAYNESBURG — The intangible touch.

Waynesburg College's football team discovered how vital that is after it added an obvious dash of perseverance and pride, two characteristics which have been missing for most of the season, to salvage a 29-29 tie against Frostburg Saturday afternoon at College Field in their annual Homecoming game.

In the end, however, the Yellow Jackets (2-3-1) actually came away winners because the zeal with which they played at least gave them a moral victory.

"We came back like house fire,"

Waynesburg head coach Hayden Buckley said. "I'm really proud of the way the guys came back in the fourth quarter."

After a third-quarter lapse by the Yellow Jackets, who ran just nine offensive plays and watched their 14-0 first-quarter lead swing to a 21-14 Frostburg advantage, they regained their composure in the fourth quarter.

Starting at their own 18-yard line, the Yellow Jackets marched to the Bobcats' 15 where Otto Birkhead hit freshman flanker Matthew Toney in the end zone on a halfback option pass, the same play which went for 25 yards three plays earlier. After Pete Long rambled into the end zone on a pass from quarterback Mike Forbes for the two-point conversion, Waynesburg jumped out front 22-21.

"We felt we had to be diversified in our play selection," Buckley said. "The execution by Birkhead (on the touchdown) is just as fine as you're going to see."

"In the third quarter we were pinned back there and couldn't do much. We had to be conservative or they could've blown the game wide open. Frostburg has a lot of weapons for them and didn't throw any bad passes."

The Yellow Jackets' lead, however, was short-lived. After the ensuing kickoff, the Bobcats (3-1-2) capped a 67-yard drive, which was aided by a crucial roughing the kicker penalty which gave them a first down at Waynesburg's 27-yard line, on a one-yard plunge by tailback Rich Prather. Prather rushed for 171 yards on 40 carries after being held to 42 yards on 14 carries in the first half. The Bobcats converted for two points and a 29-22 lead.

The Yellow Jackets struck again like lightning. Forbes, who completed 16 of 34 passes for 288 yards, connected with split end Cline Hunt on a 53-yard pass play just three plays later and Jim Czesnakowski kicked the extra point to knot the score.

And the Bobcats almost broke the tie. Following Waynesburg's final score, the Bobcats drove to the Yellow Jackets' six-yard line where Prather fumbled and Waynesburg's Jay Jones recovered at the one.

Then the Yellow Jackets proceeded to drive again, but Frostburg averted a possible score when John Gray picked off a deflected pass thrown by Forbes inside the Bobcats' 10-yard line. It was Forbes' third costly interception as one halted a scoring drive and another led to a Frostburg touchdown.

"That fumble at the one was the first break we've had this year," Buckley said. "But we threw three interceptions and that hurt us. But what really hurt us also was that roughing the kicker penalty."

Actually, the Yellow Jackets were lucky Frostburg only scored twice in the third quarter. The Bobcats had a touchdown called back because of a holding penalty and missed on field goal attempts of 39 and 33 yards.

"I told them to get mad in the second half and we came out fired up," Frostburg head coach Dean Peterson said. "The offensive line was coming off the ball better and Rich (Prather) is the type of guy who takes a while to wear a defense down."

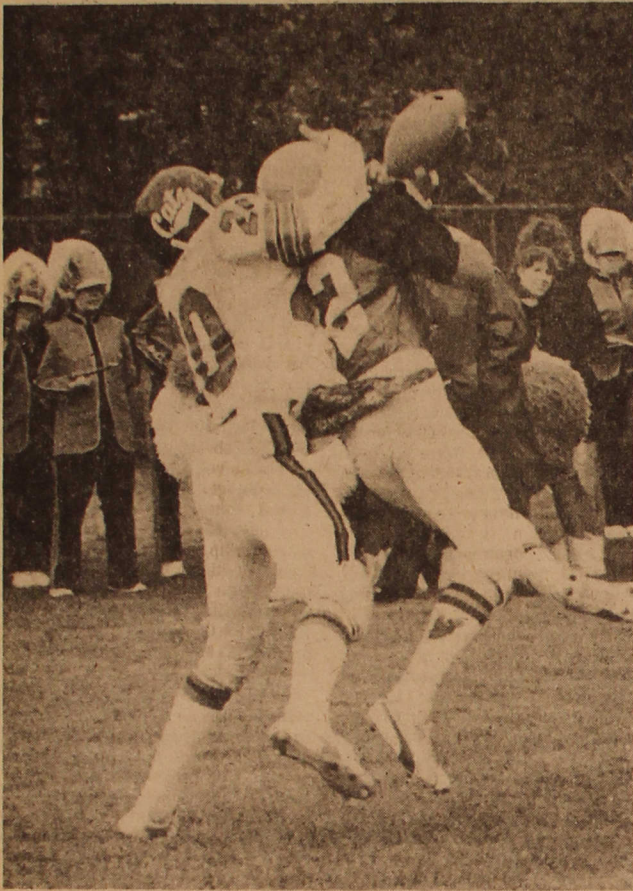

"We're a much better football team now, and we've gotten to the point where we expect to go out and beat the people we're playing. People believe we should've beaten Waynesburg today."

The Yellow Jackets didn't as they forged into a quick 14-0 lead on a 20-yard burst by Birkhead on their fourth play from scrimmage and a 20-yard touchdown catch by Toney on their next possession.

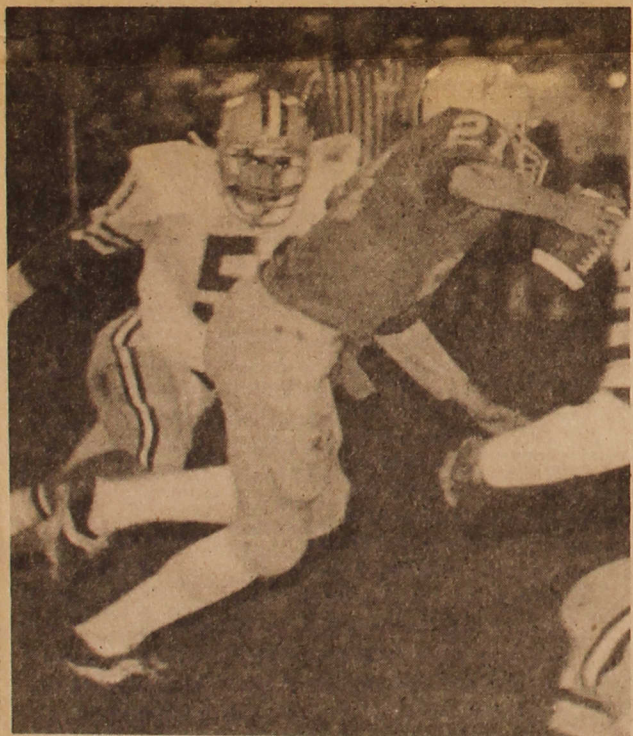

Frostburg scored their other touchdowns on one- and eight-yard passes from quarterback Jobie Waldt to tight end Pete Ball and a one-yard run by Prather.

FLAK JACKETS — Czesnakowski's 50-yard field goal attempt with 38 seconds remaining fell short. He also missed a 28-yard attempt in the second quarter. . . Hunt, who suffered an ankle injury, was the Yellow Jackets' leading receiver, hauling in 10 passes for 201 yards. . . Waldt passed for 239 yards, completing 21 of 33 passes and no interceptions. . . Waynesburg safety Steve Burchianti left the game with a hip pointer and is out indefinitely.

Final Score: Waynesburg 29, Frostburg 29

Scholastic Roundup

Devils 20, Raiders 0

BURGETTSTOWN — You usually don't win football games with total offense held to one net yard.

Of course, Waynesburg High School didn't win Friday night when the Blue Devils were held to that meager figure in a 20-0 Section 4-AA loss to Burgettstown.

The Blue Devils dominated the entire action but held only a 7-0 lead until they added two touchdowns late in the fourth quarter.

Burgettstown's Steve Arnold picked off a fumble in midair and raced 18 yards to the Waynesburg 16 to set up a one-yard touchdown sneak by quarterback Bob Alvarez with 4:38 left.

On the second play after the kickoff, Pete Borsos intercepted a Jim Ecker pass and raced 25 yards to score.

A one-yard plunge by Paul Rock climaxed a 43-yard drive after a Waynesburg punt in the first quarter.

Burgettstown netted 202 total yards including 150 rushing and 50 passing on four completions in 14 attempts by Alvarez.

The Blue Devils, 4-3 overall and 2-2 in the section, held an 11-1 advantage in first downs.

The Raiders fell to 0-4 in the section and 0-6-1 overall.

West Greene's season record falls to 0-6-1.

Rockets 12, Trojans 7

JEFFERSON — Brian Virgin's 54-yard pass to Phil Sahady early in the fourth quarter gave Jefferson-Morgan High School a 12-7 win over California in Section 4-AA football action Friday night.

The winning touchdown was set up by Lincoln Robinson, who intercepted a California pass and raced 38 yards to the JM 47.

California's Randy Wadsworth opened scoring in the first quarter with a nine-yard run to climax a 64-yard drive.

The Rockets marched 64 yards to score on Virgin's one-yard sneak in the second quarter.

Virgin completed 10 of 22 passes for 167 yards with Jefferson-Morgan adding 155 on the ground and maintaining a 13-12 edge in first downs. The Trojans gained 114 yards rushing and 79 passing.

Jefferson-Morgan has a 3-4 overall record and is 2-3 in the section. California is 1-5-1 and 1-3-1.

Spartans 15, Mikes 6

CARMICHAELS — It wasn't a game that sparkled with offensive brilliance but the Mon Valley Catholic football team will take the defensive struggles anytime.

The Spartans held Carmichaels High School without a score for most of four quarters and managed to outscore the Mikes 15-6 in a Section 4-A game Friday night.

Spartan quarterback Dwayne Homa fired a 36-yard touchdown pass to Brian Sento in the third quarter and Kevin Hoover scored from three yards in the fourth quarter to provide Mon Valley's offense. The defense managed to score too, when Carl Gaudio tackled a Carmichaels' runner in the endzone for a safety.

The Mikes, who drop to 2-3 in the section and 3-4 overall, managed to score late in the fourth quarter when quarterback J.L. Lechner ran in from one-yard.

Lechner passed well in the game, completing 12 of 26 passes for 113 yards, but it wasn't enough against Mon Valley Catholic which improves its record to 4-2 in the section and 5-2 overall.

Couple File Suit Over Assessment

WAYNESBURG — A Jefferson Township couple filed suit in Greene County Court Friday in an effort to obtain a reduction in the assessment the county has established for their house.

The action was filed by Richard E. and Helen S. Moody of Waynesburg R.D.2. The county commissioners, in their capacity as the county board of assessment appeal, are named as defendants.

According to the complaint, the plaintiffs purchased 11.2 acres of land in Jefferson Township in 1981 and constructed a one-story, brick, ranch-style house. It has been assessed at $18,070, reflecting an assigned market value of $60,233.

The Moodys appealed the assessment on the grounds that it was too high when compared with the assessment on property of comparable value.

Thefts Reported

WAYNESBURG — A New Holland side delivery rake valued at $2,000 was stolen sometime within the past week from a field on a farm near Kirby, nine miles south of Waynesburg.

State police said the theft was discovered Tuesday by the owner, Rodney Fox of Waynesburg R.D.3.

Central Greene's Buildings Checked

By Bob Eichenlaub Greene County Editor

WAYNESBURG — Buildings in the Central Greene School District have been given a virtually clean bill of health in terms of their potential for air-borne, health-damaging asbestos fibers.

Results are included in a survey made in compliance with regulations of the Environmental Protection Agency and the Department of Education. Results of the survey, which were made by an engineer, were reported at a meeting Monday of the Central Greene School Board by business manager Walter Stout.

Stout also reported that since installation of lights at the high school athletic field, attendance at football games has more than doubled. Proceeds of $3,818 from the first two home games have been divided equally between the athletic fund and the general fund, with money in the latter being earmarked for the purchase of athletic equipment. In the past, he said, revenues have never exceeded the amount needed by the athletic fund.

Representatives of the Quarterback Club attended the meeting to present the board with a $12,000 check to assist with the cost of installing the lights. President Archie Trader said the money represented contributions from nearly 350 individuals and groups in the Central Greene School District who wanted to assist the club in its commitment to help pay for the lights. Other Quarterback Club officers present were Vice President John Hughes, Treasurer Edward Stiles and Secretary Reinette Jackovic.

The board approved payment of $88,800 — from the capital reserve fund, as budgeted — for the lighting project to the David W. Jones Co.

The board approved the appointment of Dr. Ronald Ferrari, district superintendent, as Intermediate Unit I legislative representative. He said the group of intermediate unit representatives from throughout the state meets four times annually to review and propose legislation affecting education.

One of the current efforts, he said, is to press for an amendment to the law which requires a school district to bus students to private schools located within 10 miles of its border, even if those schools might be in another state. An amendment is being sought to limit such busing to schools within the boundaries of the school district.

Dr. Ferrari also said the district is currently involved in a revision of its long range plan in terms of curriculum, faculty and facilities. While building advisory committees have been named, he said, members are being sought for a district advisory committee of citizens to review recommendations.

"We would like to have at least one person from each of the six municipalities which make up the district," the superintendent said, adding that interested persons can contact his office or school board members.

Several personnel matters, including some coaching assignments, were acted upon.

Sally Walker, a former standout basketball player at the high school who will graduate in December from West Virginia University, was hired as head girls' basketball coach at a salary of $1,542. Margaret Bizup, a teacher at the high school who is girls' volleyball coach, was hired as her assistant at a salary of $1,107.

Barbara Loeper of Waynesburg was hired as drama coach at a salary of $722, and John Barker, editor of the Waynesburg College Yellow Jacket, was hired as school newspaper advisor at a salary of $652. Barker is also a part-time reporter for the Observer-Reporter.

The resignation of Bill Winters as junior high basketball coach was accepted.

A one-time variance on the board policy of prohibiting the use of students in selling was granted to assist the Waynesburg Area PTA in carrying a cookbook project to completion. It will involve students in the third and fourth grades and will be run for one week in November.

It was explained that the PTA, two years ago, began collecting recipes from parents and students to compile into a cookbook for resale to the parents. The books were ordered in September 1981 but did not arrive until January 1982, after the restraint on student sales had been put into effect. As a result, the organization has been able to sell only 500 of the 2,200 copies it ordered.

WHAT'S WRONG, JOE?
IT'S OUR NEXT MONTH'S LODGE MEETING, FLO.
POOR DADDY!

I'VE MADE OVER 20 CALLS AND CAN'T LINE UP A SPEAKER.
CALL WEST PENN POWER'S SPEAKER SERVICE.
HUH?

SURE! OUR LADIES CLUB USES IT OFTEN. IT'S FREE, TOO.
YOU ALWAYS HAVE THE RIGHT ANSWER.
WE GIRLS ARE PRETTY SMART!

The Speaker Service provides timely, informative programs to clubs, schools, and other civic and community organizations. Experienced speakers present the programs "live" with the aid of movies or taped slide presentations. The programs cover a variety of subjects including conservation, the way electricity works, energy for the future, and electrical safety. For more information, call the West Penn Power office serving your location.
