Institute Agrees To Help Fund County EMS Office

WAYNESBURG — The Greene County commissioners executed a reimbursement agreement with the Emergency Medical Service Institute of Pittsburgh at their meeting Thursday.

It will provide the county with a payment of up to $4,000 for the first six months of 1984, representing half the estimated cost of staffing and maintaining the county EMS office during that period.

The EMS Institute is regional coordinator for emergency medical services in southwestern Pennsylvania. It uses funds from the Division of Emergency Health Services of the Pennsylvania Department of Health to provide matching funds to counties which employ EMS coordinators.

Greene County was not eligible for the money in 1983 because it did not have an EMS coordinator. It again became eligible for the grant on Jan.

1 when it employed Robert Demchak of Crucible as county coordinator.

The agreement is subject to renewal on July 1 for the 1984-85 fiscal year, with a full year reimbursement of $8,000.

The county EMS office is located on the third floor of the old County Office Building in Waynesburg. It provides training programs for emergency medical technicians and other services under the direction of the Greene County EMS Council.

The post of EMS coordinator was eliminated from the 1983 county budget as a cost-saving measure, but was restored with adoption of the 1984 budget.

In the only other development at the meeting, the commissioners received a progress report from Betsy Lucas, director of the Eldercare Center located on the ground floor of the new County Office Building.

The center was opened in May to provide day care services for elderly persons who are handicapped. It is operated by the Washington-Greene Community Action Corp. under a contract with the Southwestern Pennsylvania Area Agency on Aging.

Mrs. Lucas said the center is currently providing services to about 15 elderly persons and has been growing "slowly but steadily" as more people become aware of what it has to offer.

Commissioner John Gardner brought up the need for a parking space for the handicapped in front of the building to accommodate the van used to transport clients to and from the center.

"There is a loading zone there, but too often someone is using it when the van attempts to load or unload," he said. Gardner suggested that Waynesburg Borough officials be approached with the idea of reserving a space for the handicapped.

Firm Sues To Regain Royalties

WAYNESBURG — The L&J Equipment Co. of Masontown filed suit in Greene County Court Friday to recover oil and gas royalty payments from wells on land which it claims to own in Dunkard Township, Greene County.

L&J President James Fillaggi contends that the payments were improperly made to a former owner of the land from September 1981 to February 1983, and that all royalty payments have been withheld since that time.

Defendants are Gereta Koppel of Larchmont, N.Y.; Jack R. Ross of New York, N.Y.; William C. Cartinhour Jr. of Rockville, Md., and Carl R. Mapel Jr. of Point Marion.

The complaint states that Koppel drilled the wells in 1981 on 161 acres of land which L&J purchased in 1970 from the estate of Jacob Durr, and on 65 acres of land which the company purchased in 1971 from Mapel and others.

It claims that first Ross and then Cartinhour, as successive agents for Koppel, improperly made royalty payments to Mapel until February 1983, and that Cartinhour has withheld all royalties since that time. It also states that Koppel has refused to vacate the property.

The lawsuit asks that Koppel be ordered to remove the wells and that she and the other defendants be required to account for the royalties L&J should have received.

Doctor, Hospital Reach Agreement

WAYNESBURG — A legal dispute between Greene County Memorial Hospital and Dr. Roy A. Springer of Waynesburg is in the process of being settled.

Springer, who has served as staff radiologist at the hospital for more than 20 years, filed suit last week to block action by the hospital administration and board of trustees which he claimed was aimed at removing him from his position.

A preliminary hearing which had been scheduled for Monday morning was continued, with Judge Glenn Toothman announcing that a tentative settlement has been reached. He said that terms of the settlement will be spelled out in a stipulated court order which the attorneys for both sides will prepare for presentation, probably later this week.

Neither Robert McCall, who is Springer's attorney, nor William P. Thomas, chairman of the hospital board of trustees, would comment Monday on terms of the agreement, which was described by Toothman as an "amicable arrangement."

"We would prefer not to comment until the court order has been handed down," McCall said.

Springer charged in his lawsuit that the hospital had ignored requirements of medical staff bylaws in opening his job to bids from other physicians. He named as individual defendants Hospital Administrator Michael Flinn and the 14 members of the board of trustees.

Specifically, the complaint said, the hospital had ignored regulations which require that the governing body of the hospital may act only on staff appointments, reappointments or revocation of appointments with the recommendation of the executive committee of the medical staff. He claimed the medical staff has, and will continue, to recommend his reappointment without qualifications or limitations.

Waynesburg Fire Chief David "Pete" Walker said the barn was completely engulfed in flames by the time firefighters arrived. They received the call at 6:45 p.m.

Walker said he was told that children had been playing with a cigarette lighter in the barn and got some hay on fire. He estimated the loss at approximately $1,500.

Crash Kills 2 County Natives

WAYNESBURG — Two members of a former Greene County family were killed in a highway accident near their Camp Verde, Ariz., home.

Fatally injured in the head-on collision were Lenora Mae Myers, 70, and her daughter, Ellen Lee Myers, 50.

Mrs. Myers was born November 1, 1913, in Waynesburg and was a daughter of the late William and Ellen Dunn Porter of Jefferson R.D.1. She was the widow of Richard Myers, also a former resident of Jefferson R.D.1.

Mrs. Raymond D. Filby of Jefferson received word of their death this week. The accident happened November 14, 1983, when the car Mrs. Myers was driving was struck head-on by a car operated by Ernie Beauty, 53, of Camp Verde.

Mrs. Myers' grandson, Todd Myers, 16, was severely injured in the accident and was recently released from a Flagstaff, Ariz., hospital.

Mrs. Myers, who was a graduate of Jefferson High School, is survived by four sons, Richard William and James Frederick Myers, both of Camp Verde R.D.2, and Charles C. and Harold Porter Myers, address unknown.

Mrs. Filby said that the family had resided in Arizona for the past 12 years.

Robert Lunsford, manager of industrial relations for Gateway, recently presented a $1,350 check to Michael Flinn, hospital administrator. The money will become a part of the hospital's Essentials for Excellence campaign.

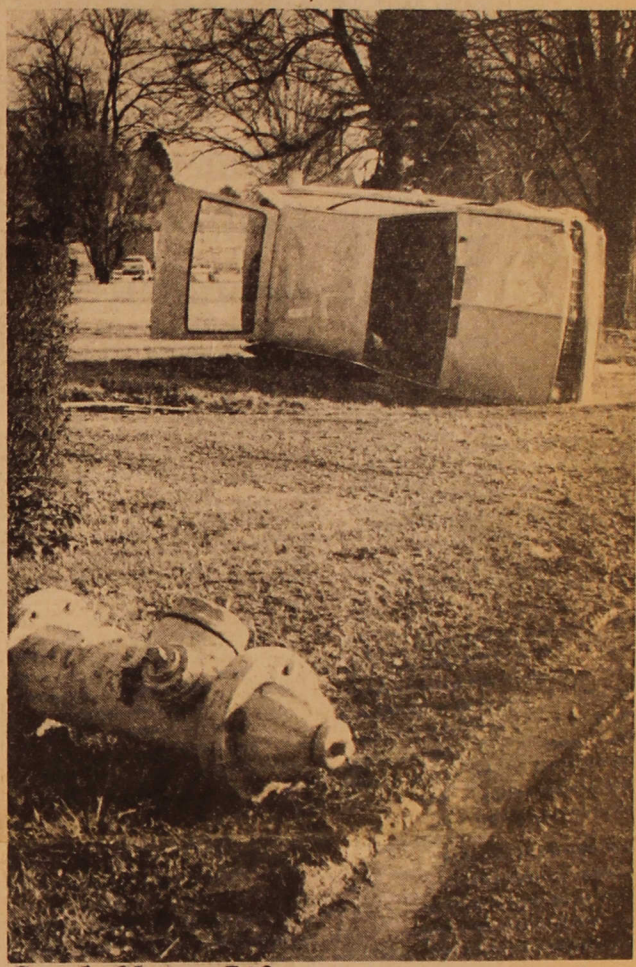

Lunsford reported the company committee comprised of employees from UMWA Local 6330 and management staff chose the hospital as the recipient for the gift because it wishes to support the efforts of the hospital in providing care for Greene County residents.

A 69-year-old Clarksville man was killed and his wife injured in a one-car crash near the Greene County Memorial Park at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday. John E. Moore was pronounced dead at the scene of a fractured cervical vertebra by Deputy Coroner Craig Rohanna. Moore's wife, Robina L. Moore, 69, was treated and released at Greene County Memorial Hospital. State police said Moore was traveling west on Route 188 when he skidded on a patch of ice and hit a fire hydrant roadside near the Ed Thistlethwaite home. The vehicle came to rest on its side.

Deadline Approaches To File Property Tax

WAYNESBURG — Greene County residents who hold certain stocks and bonds and other investments which are subject to the county's personal property tax are reminded that Feb. 15 is the deadline for filing their annual returns.

Failure to meet the filing deadline will result in the imposition of penalties, chief county assessor Perry Bavera said.

Returns to date have been very slow, he said. Of the 409 accounts on record, only 185 have been filed.

The tax is levied at the rate of four mills and produces about $34,000 in revenue.

It is levied on mortgages held by individuals, promissory and judgment notes, certain stocks and shares in mutual funds, articles of agreement, and other income producing investments.

"Anyone who is in doubt as to the taxability of securities they hold should contact the county assessment office," Bavera said. He added that return forms are available at the office.

Waynesburg Man Pleads Guilty

WAYNESBURG — Charles Duane Kiger, 46, Waynesburg R.D.3, was fined $300 and given a suspended jail sentence of 11½ to 23 months when he pleaded guilty in Greene County Court Friday to aggravated assault.

The charge stemmed from a bar-room fight on July 1, 1983, in which the defendant was charged with assaulting Edward S. Zerambo of 105 East High Street, Waynesburg.

As a condition of suspension of the jail sentence, Kiger was ordered to pay Zerambo's medical bills.

Food Co-Op Planning To Hold Open House

WAYNESBURG — The Community Foods Co-Op will hold an open house from noon to 8 p.m. Friday at 103 East High Street, Waynesburg.

The open house will feature free samples of many of the foods available to members of the co-op.

The co-op was started about three years ago so the Waynesburg area would have a local source of foods such as whole grains, dried fruits, nuts, peanut butter, homemade breads, no-salt or low-salt items, cheeses, herbs and spices.

In its early stages, the co-op acted as a buying club and members got together to place large bulk orders.

Since the summer of 1982, they have run a storefront operation so members would have a large selection of items available at all times.

Members pay an annual membership fee and the amount they are charged for the items they buy depends on whether or not they help in the day-to-day operation of the co-op.

Anyone attending the open house will have the opportunity to become a full co-op member and temporary memberships will be available at the door as well.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Kathy Bill at 627-9702.

Funds Available For Firefighters

HARRISBURG — State Rep. Bill DeWeese, D-Waynesburg, wants firefighters in his legislative district to know that special funds are available to help rural fire companies meet the costs of equipment, training, communications and other needs.

The funds are provided through the Department of Environmental Resources under the Federal Rural Development Act of 1972 and are intended for fire protection in sparsely populated rural areas and in communities with populations of under 10,000.

DeWeese said the federal funds, although matched by the state, are limited and fire companies interested in applying for aid must have their completed application returned to Harrisburg by March 5. The total

Election Law Is Clarified

WAYNESBURG — Members appointed in December to the boards of education in two Greene County school districts won't have to run in this year's election, but their offices will be on the ballot in 1985.

The procedure was set forth in a Greene County court order handed down Friday by Judge Glenn Toothman in response to a motion for clarification of the election law submitted by attorney John Stets, solicitor for the Carmichaels Area and Southeastern Greene School Districts.

The law specifies that where a person is appointed to a board to fill a vacancy, he or she must run in the next municipal election for the unexpired portion of the term of office for which the appointment was made.

Friday's ruling, in essence, holds that the 1984 election is not a municipal election since no local government offices are to be filled this year. The next election involving municipal offices will be held in 1985.

The situation arose in the two school districts because board positions carrying both four-year terms and two-year terms were filled during the 1983 election. The law permitted candidates to run for both the longer and shorter term offices.

First Federal Reorganizes; Hike In Assets A Record

WAYNESBURG — A strong performance and the ability to adapt to a year of change and challenge enabled First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Greene County to register new all-time highs in 1983.

In a progress report at the institution's annual reorganization meeting Wednesday in Waynesburg, President James L. Brewer cited record increases in assets, savings and mortgages. He noted that savers earned a record high of more than $15 million in interest during the past year.

For the first time in 60 years of helping savers and home buyers, First Federal's assets climbed beyond the $200 million mark, Brewer said. At year end, the asset figure was $205,320,791, an increase of more than $15 1/2 over the 1982 total.

Other institutional successes and new records achieved in 1983 which highlighted the president's report included:

- Strong savings deposit growth

- of over $13 million up to $181,579,372.
- Total mortgage loans granted in the amount of $27,745,827, increasing the portfolio to $158,164,643.
- The addition of $1,247,305 to Reserves and Surplus, boosting the figure to $18,615,290 and continuing to classify First Federal of Greene County as one of the nation's strongest savings and loans.
- An increase of $18 1/2 million in checking accounts to $23,733,380, which was enhanced by the opening in 1983 of a drive-through facility in Morrisville and the installation of three automatic teller machines, including two in the Uniontown area.
- Boosting the local economy with a disbursement of $1,396,338 from Christmas Club accounts.
- Providing increased flexibility for savers with the adoption in 1983 of a Greene Key plastic debit card and a highly-successful Money Market Deposit account, known as Tri-Chek.

Board Chairman Isaac Moredock of Rices Landing presided over the annual reorganization meeting, during which three directors were re-elected for three-year terms. They were Harry S. Anderson, Carl E. Spragg and Joseph D. Hart, all of Waynesburg.

Other directors are T. Sayers Baily, James L. Brewer, Henry T. Cochran, James L. Haines, Isaac Moredock, Ewing B. Pollock, Richard L. Baily, director emeritus, and Morgan Henderson, director emeritus.

In addition to renaming Brewer as president and Moredock as board chairman, members of the board re-elected the following officers: Louis DeMay, first vice president; Kenneth C. Baily, vice president-secretary;

Richard V. Morgan, vice president-treasurer; Edward S. Goodwin, vice president; Scott S. O'Neil, vice president-assistant secretary; John E. Mariner, assistant secretary-treasurer, and Thomas R. Scott, assistant secretary.

College, Church Share In Teacher's Estate

WAYNESBURG — Waynesburg College and the First Baptist Church of Waynesburg have each received $181,614 as principal beneficiaries of the estate of a retired school teacher who died last year.

The payments were made with final settlement this week of the estate of Helen Wood Scott of Waynesburg. Mrs. Scott, who resided at 359 North Richhill Street, died Jan. 2, 1983 at the age of 77. She was the widow of Guy R. Scott and was the last of her immediate family.

With the exception of $15,000 in personal bequests and a gift of $20,000 to Chowan College at Murfreesboro, N.C., Mrs. Scott directed in her will that her estate be divided equally between the college and the church.

Computer Purchase Delayed

ROGERSVILLE — Pending a review of the district's computer program, the West Greene School Board delayed action on the purchase of two computers for the gifted student program at its recessed meeting Thursday night.

Board President Rick Barnhart said it would be in the best interest of the district to review the entire computer program before spending money on more computers. He asked that the administration and interested teachers review the program and then make recommendations on what equipment is needed.

Superintendent Paul Polink said the matter could be brought before the board at its next meeting on Feb. 16. The equipment was requested by Judith Weeter, teacher for the gifted students, who has 15 students in the program.

New Grant Will Assist The Homeless

HARRISBURG — State Public Welfare Secretary Walter W. Cohen has announced Greene County will receive a $14,675 grant to provide emergency shelter to needy residents through local voluntary agencies.

Cohen said the grant was part of a new $6.1 million statewide Department of Public Welfare administered shelter program, developed by the Thornburgh administration in cooperation with Speaker of the House K. LeRoy Irvis.

"With this new grant program, more than $14 million has been targeted at Pennsylvania's homeless and hungry. These additional funds will immediately help the commonwealth's network of voluntary agencies provide shelter for the homeless during the winter," Cohen said.

"Voluntary agencies can use their share to maximize the number of needy citizens served through their emergency programs."

Existing block grants administered by the commonwealth will provide $3 million of the total, while an additional $3.1 million is being allocated by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, directly to communities.

Lori Wise of New Freeport was hired by the board as majorette and colorguard sponsor for the band.

Approval was given for Polink, Frank Blout, Robert Lees and Vernon Smith to attend a Micro-computers Technology for Administrators Conference in Pittsburgh, Feb. 15-16, at a cost of $450. The conference is hosted by the Allegheny Intermediate Unit.

The board approved spending no more than $600 to equip a darkroom in the high school and authorized its maintenance superintendent to put a door on the room at a cost not to exceed $350.

Approval was also given to purchase a guard for the high school gym scoreboard at a cost of $600.

There will be a two-hour early dismissal of school on Friday, Jan. 27. The dismissal is the result of an arbitrator's decision that teachers be given compensatory time for a day before the holidays when school was not dismissed early.

According to Joe Simatic, manager of the authority, two eight-inch lines had been repaired and service restored by 3 a.m. However, a six-inch line serving six homes in the Dry Tavern area was still being repaired late Wednesday morning.

Simatic explained that despite the rising temperatures the last two days, the frost line was driven deeper. Also, he said, the expanding and contracting of the cast-iron pipe causes additional problems.

The first break occurred at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Jefferson Borough.

Extension Of Water Line Step In Right Direction

On the surface, news of a water line extension in Franklin Township is hardly a headline story; however, a closer look at the project would reveal the possibility of a major impact on the township and on Greene County.

The project, which includes the extension of a water line for about 1,000 feet west of West Waynesburg, is expected to cost around $100,000. Part of the project will be paid for through a $50,000 state grant and Emway Resources has promised another $17,500. In addition, a local gas company will provide services and materials to further reduce the local share.

Although the extension will only service 20 homeowners initially, there is more to the story.

Township officials hope to extend the water line to the Center Township boundary and hopefully the line will eventually lead to Rogersville and beyond to West Greene High School.

With water service, sewerage service will not be far behind and this will attract future expansion for homes and businesses. At the present time, the lack of water and a sewer system prevents any such growth.

Homeowners in the village of East View are eagerly watching the extension project because they have had water supply problems for years. Some homes have been discharging waste into Ten Mile Creek causing pollution problems that may eventually draw the ire of state agencies.

Not only will new construction aid Center and Franklin townships by adding to the tax base, it will also bring additional revenue to the county coffers. New businesses mean new jobs both during and after construction projects.

Franklin Township officials are to be commended for their efforts in looking to the future. Hopefully, Center Township supervisors and the county commissioners will have a similar eye to the future when they are called upon to decide such issues.

The commissioners will have such an opportunity in the near future when they will be asked to connect with a sewer line extension to the area of the county jail and Curry Memorial Home now served by an on-lot treatment plant. The township wants to extend the sewer system into an area of high-growth potential but they need the county as a customer at this time to make the project feasible.

Hopefully, the commissioners will take a long-term view of the plan and realize future construction in this area will mean more tax revenue.

Future expansion is next to impossible without water and sewer lines.

The Pennsylvania Future Farmers of America honored several Greene County residents during the annual mid-winter convention at Harrisburg this month.
William Wentzel, state service forester for the county, was presented with the honorary Kenstone Degree in recognition for his assistance to the FHA and Charles VanDruff, local tractor dealer, received a Citation Award in recognition for his contribution in providing farm equipment for use in the vocational agricultural instruction program.

In addition, Garry Bennett and Greg Statler, members of the Waynesburg Central High School FFA chapter, received State Farmer degrees.
Congratulations to members of the First Church of the Nazarene of Waynesburg.
They reached a landmark which represented a lot of sacrifice when they held their first services last Sunday in their attractive new church building just off old Route 21, east of Waynesburg.

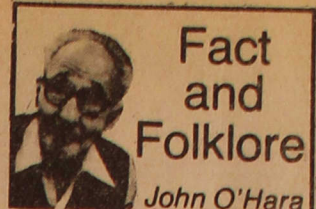

Arthur and Marcia Biddle of Carmichaels became grandparents for the first time last week when a daughter was born to their daughter Carolyn and her husband, Paul Suhey. The baby has been named Kara Ann.
Mr. and Mrs. Suhey reside at Bala Cynwyd, near Philadelphia, and the baby was born Jan. 27 in the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine Hospital. Paternal grandparents are Virginia Suhey of State College and the late Steve Suhey.

Marcia writes the "Between the Bookends" column which appears regularly in the Republican and the Washington Observer-Reporter.
The cold weather which has been plaguing southwestern Pennsylvania this winter has caused a lot of school delays and cancellations, as well as a lot of personal inconvenience in terms of non-starting cars and broken water lines.
There have been so much disruption of school schedules, in fact, that the Margaret Bell Miller Middle School at Waynesburg was forced to postpone issuance of its report cards for one week — a respite which a lot of students probably welcomed.

Fact and Folklore
John O'Hara

Everyone knows that the days are much longer in summer than they are in winter. But when you're cooped up in the house because of snow or bitter cold, it certainly doesn't seem that way.

This winter a venture upstreet is something that has to be considered before being taken. It seems that the older you get the more of a venture it becomes, but one which is worthwhile because it keeps the days rolling along toward the warming sunshine which spring will bring.

Winter is as much a state of mind as anything else, though, and for us older folk a little reflection will readily recall the time when winter was a time for special kinds of fun.

Ice skating on Ten Mile Creek was one of them.

Maybe it's my faulty recollection, but it seems the creeks don't freeze over as they once did. Could pollution be the cause? At any rate, I remember when there were a lot of pretty fancy skaters around Waynesburg. Using those old fashioned clamp-on skates, they cut a pretty figure from December through February and had a lot of fun doing it. A fire built along the creek bank or in a steel drum served to warm the hands from time-to-time, and sometimes there would be thoughtful soul who would take some hot chocolate on the outing and share it with his friends.

Then there was sled riding on some of the streets in town and the thrill of riding a toboggan or Yankee jumper (like a scooter with a runner instead of wheels) down some of the hills around town. The more venturesome would chose a steep grade, while the younger boys and girls would confine their runs to the gentler slopes. For some reason, skiing wasn't much of a sport around Waynesburg.

There were a lot less cars around in those days, and the sight of new snow on the ground when you woke up in the morning wasn't the cause of annoyance as it is for most people nowadays. For kids, especially if it came on a day when there was no school, it was positive bliss.

That would have to be on a Saturday though, because in those days classes weren't called off at the drop of a snowflake. Of course, attendance then didn't depend on the vagaries of school bus transportation. If it snowed, you put on your four-buckles and left a little earlier than usual to be sure to get to school on time. It gave you a chance to snowball the girls on the way.

Maybe it's also a sign of old age, but it doesn't seem as if even the kids enjoy winter as they once did. They, too, seem to be waiting for spring.

The schedule is as follows: March 15, 7:30 p.m., Aleppo at Carmichaels; April 5, 7:30 p.m., Carmichaels at Dunkard; the date of the Dunkard at East Franklin meeting is undecided; May 17, 8 p.m., East Franklin at Harvey's, and June 7, 8 p.m., Harvey's at Aleppo.

Guards for the Greene County Fair are Monday, Hoover's Run; Tuesday, Aleppo; Wednesday, Dunkard; Thursday, Carmichaels; Friday, Harvey's and Saturday, East Franklin.

The seventh degree banquet will be held this spring. Grange President Gladys Day asks that each grange interesting in serving should submit at least two menus to her at the March 3 Pomona meeting.

Greene County deputy Gross Dinsmore and special membership chairman, Bill Irvin, announced the membership emphasis from Feb. 1 to May 31. Membership goal for Greene County is 35.

"Newswriting," By George A. Hough. Houghton Mifflin.

While reading my daughter's journalism textbook, I discovered some amusing stories. In the chapter called "Be Clear, Complete, Accurate," the heroes are of course journalists, who must work very hard to explain everything so that nobody misunderstands the story. The villains are all those who say things that nobody understands in the first place.

"In many cases," the book explains, "the reporter and news writer get their stories from people who use jargon; they must learn to translate." Examples of jargon are "easy to come by," as we all know.

According to this book, "The Bureau of Public Roads referred to an 'impact attenuation device' that turned out to be oil drums placed around an obstruction to warn motorists away or soften the bump if a car did run into the obstruction."

And "a brigadier general explained that when a program is defined, the army means that it makes 'a definite list of equipment and training that you feel is popular with that country. So many this, tha, the other thing, and it becomes definite.'" In this case, the book explains rather unnecessarily, "the explanation is as much jargon as the original."

Along the same lines, "Checking into a school district's application for federal funds, a newspaper questioned an item about 'self-contained learning packages.' A self-contained learning package, it was explained, is a book."

Another newspaper discovered that "in government circles, reading a government notice to reporters is referred to as a 'verbal posting.' And a press briefing is known as a 'verbal information opportunity.'" When Bill Moyers was press secretary for President Lyndon Johnson, he reported an incident in which the President took over the translating. "He ripped into a group of Government lawyers who had drafted an Appalachian assistance bill. 'Who the **** can red this gobbledygook?' the President thundered.

"But that's a technical document, Sir," one of the men replied. The President gave him a long, merciless stare, then with his own black felt pen he rewrote the establishing clause.

"There!" he said, holding the document out before him with a flourish. "Now they'll know down in Morgantown what we're talking about."

"Experts," though, are not always happy about having their jargon translated, it seems. A reporter from a Detroit paper told of encountering one such:

"At a press conference I attended some time back an expert on water pollution scolded the press for saying that Lake Erie was dying and that it was dying because it was dirty.

"It's not dying," he said. "It is slowly deteriorating in terms of natural plant and animal growth because of an increase in the amounts of effluent being poured into it."

"That's what we've been saying in the papers," one reporter replied: "It's dying because of all the crap that's being tossed into it."

Such frankness is not always appreciated. But, as the book concludes, "Translation is not hard once you get the knack of it. To finalize means to finish, to annualize means to put on a yearly basis, a dichotomy just means that there are two sides to the question." And aren't there always.

FREDERICKTOWN — Any doubts have been firmly buried.

Beth-Center High School's wrestling team all but nailed down the Section 8-AA title Wednesday night with a devastating 41-15 victory here over Jeff-Morgan, the defending section champion.

While it was the Rockets' first section loss of the season, the win leaves Beth-Center, the No. 2 ranked team in the Observer-Reporter's wrestling coaches poll, as the only undefeated team in the section at 6-0. The third-ranked Rockets are now 4-1 in the section and 7-2 overall.

Beth-Center, now 11-1 overall, took command early, stringing together four consecutive wins en route to a 21-0 lead. Dave Kreibel at 98 pounds, Scott Rhodes (105) and Marc Bartolomucci (119) all registered falls, while Dave Nelson picked up a 4-1 decision for the Bulldogs.

And that was a pleasant surprise for Beth-Center head coach Dick Caputo.

"It (the match) could have been close. I didn't really think the light-weights would do as well," Caputo said. "With the exception of Marc, they're all sophomores. Those two pins (98 and 105) really fired up the team."

It came as somewhat of a shock to Jeff-Morgan head coach Tony Barbetta, too. Although the match wasn't officially decided until the Bulldogs' Scott McGrady won by default over Allen Hager at 145 pounds, Barbetta felt the Rockets' fate had been determined much earlier than that.

"The match was put away long before that (145). They hit us right away and put it out of reach," Barbetta said. "They came out like a ball of fire."

"Their first four guys are tough to beat, and when you get down 21-0, it sort of takes the wind out of you."

Alan Yanak (126) sliced the Bulldogs' lead to 15 with a fall over Richard Hart.

But Beth-Center quickly retaliated with three straight wins to build a 33-6 lead. The Bulldogs' Don Johnston (132) pulled out a 3-2 decision over Lee Nelson and Sam Zets (138) clipped Dave Gamble 4-1 before McGrady's decisive win.

"I was disappointed at 132, we lost a close one," Barbetta said. "We had to win 126, 32, and 38. We had to win the close ones."

After the Rockets' Jeff Hill battled

Bill Antonio to an 11-11 draw at 155, Jeff-Morgan picked up its final two wins of the match. Rod Perkins (167) beat Marc Chesto 12-4, while Tim Starostanko (185) tripped Pete Keruskin 7-3.

Heavyweight Dennis Angelo put on the finishes touches for Beth-Center, pinning the Rockets' John Giubileo in 1:48.

"It worked out about as well as it could have," Caputo said. "We did pull a couple out, but you have to win those if you want to go on."

Despite the win and the fact the Bulldogs have a firm hold on their first section championship since 1976, Caputo remains concerned.

"I've been coaching for 15 years, and this is the earliest we've ever peaked," Caputo said. "At least I'm assuming we're peaking. If not, a lot of people are in trouble. If we are peaking early, we could be in trouble."

"I think this puts us in the driver's seat. I think the three toughest teams are West Greene, German and Jeff-Morgan, and we've beaten them. The other ones are good, but..."

But they're not good enough, according to Barbetta.

Natili Sinks Pitt-Bradford

BRADFORD — Ray Natili saved the best for last Saturday night when Waynesburg College's basketball team met Pitt-Bradford.

Natili, who is shooting over 85 percent from the foul line this season, calmly sank two free throws with four seconds remaining in the game against the Panthers to give the Yellow Jackets a 69-68 win in the District 18 game.

"That gym was so loud and there was so much commotion there, and Raymond made the shots," said Waynesburg assistant coach Larry Marshall. "He was very confident. That was the most pressure I've seen him under in his four years of college basketball."

Natili, a senior point guard from Immaculate Conception High School, was forced to make both free throws following a wild flurry of activity as the game ended.

Pitt-Bradford was tied Waynesburg, 67-67, late in the game when forward Jon Orr was fouled. Orr missed the first of a one-and-one foul shot but teammate Keith Rolick, a 6-6 center, grabbed the rebound. Waynesburg promptly fouled him. Rolick made his first free throw giving the Panthers a 68-67 lead but missed the second. Waynesburg's Roosevelt Kirby grabbed the rebound, giving the Jackets a chance for a last shot.

As the clock ticked down, Natili, who finished with 10 points, drove to the basket and was fouled, setting up the game-winning foul shots.

"It's so hard to win in a place like that," Marshall said. "It was so loud and they've won 35 of 39 games there before we beat them. The place was just packed."

"From Ray's scoring, it might seem he didn't have a good game but he played good defense and ran the offense. He wasn't real crisp like he usually plays but the shots at the end were good."

Kirby led the Jackets with 24 points and 14 rebounds while Harold Hamlin scored 15 and grabbed seven rebounds. Paul Stanley added 15 for Waynesburg, now 11-4 overall and 8-1 in the district, first place ahead of Geneva, which is 4-2 in the district.

"We were trying to get the ball inside against them because they are big," said Marshall. "That had a lot to do with Ray only scoring 10. The way they jump, we had to try to get them in foul trouble."

"Kirby played an excellent game. He hit from the outside and took it inside when he had to."

Pitt-Bradford, now 8-8 overall and 4-5 in the district, was led by Lorenzo Newsome's 17 points. Keith Rolick added 16, Jon Orr 15 and Greg Harris 10.

Jackets Find Right Medicine

WAYNESBURG — When you're sitting on the bench in a basketball game, it's a little tough to get up, take two aspirin, and call the doctor in the morning.

But that's exactly what Waynesburg College senior Mark Doppelheuer felt like doing. All things considered, he'd rather been in Philadelphia than College Gym with a screaming crowd at his back.

But Doppelheuer, his head pounding to the point where he suggested to head coach Rudy Marisa that he may not be of much help at the start of the game, suddenly found a cure to his ailment.

And thanks to his remarkable recovery, Doppelheuer became a pain in the neck to St. Vincent College. The 6-5 forward scored 12 points and grabbed a game-high 15 rebounds, his last the biggest of the game, as Waynesburg edged St. Vincent, 62-59, in an NAIA District 18 thriller Wednesday night.

"When I was sitting down in the locker room I started to get a splitting headache and it just seemed to be getting worse," Doppelheuer said in a telephone interview from his home shortly after the game, where he sought a well-deserved respite from the noise. "But when they started getting the better of us it started to get better. I think I may have taken my mind off of it."

Doppelheuer certainly had his mind in the game against the Bearcats, as he scored all four of his field goals on offensive tip-ins and grabbed a key rebound off a missed foul shot by teammate Harold Hamlin with 35 seconds left in the game to preserve a 60-59 lead. It was a lead he had earlier provided with two clutch foul shots.

By retaining possession, the Jackets, now 7-1 in the district and 10-4 overall, managed to run the game clock to just eight seconds when St. Vincent was forced to foul Waynesburg point guard Ray Natili.

While Natili made just one of the two free throws to allow St. Vincent (3-4 in the district, 8-7 overall) a chance to send the game into overtime, Doppelheuer was again in the right position defensively. He reached around the Bearcats' Marty May and intercepted a pass inside, sealing the Waynesburg victory.

"Tonight Dopp and I went to the glass hard," Waynesburg senior Roosevelt Kirby, who finished with 17 points and 13 rebounds, said. "They tried to play Paul (Stanley, who finished with 15 points) tight so when they went out on him that opened things up inside for us. From there, it's just a power move to the basket."

Waynesburg never took control of the game, thanks in part to the Bearcats' effective 3-2 zone defense and patient yet productive offense. St. Vincent held leads as large as nine points with 9:44 left to play, but Waynesburg took its first advantage of the second half at 54-53 thanks to an eight-point run with 6:20 remaining.

Greene Gains 10 More Farms

HARRISBURG — Preliminary reports of the 1982 Census of Agriculture show that the number of farms in Greene County increased from 822 to 832 since the 1978 census.

All farmland totaled 149,071 acres in 1982, an average of 179 acres per farm. The Census Bureau defines a farm as any place from which $1,000 or more of agricultural products were sold or normally would have been sold. Land from which crops were harvested increased to 35,068 acres since 1978.

The county's farmers sold $6.5 million in agricultural products, according to preliminary reports from the 1982 census. The 1982 sales figure represents an average of $7,809 for each of the county's farms.

The census reports that $966,000 or 15 percent of total sales were for crops, while $5.5 million or 85 percent of the total came from the sale of livestock, poultry and their products. Preliminary data indicate that expenditures for feed for livestock and poultry were $1.6 million; total farm energy costs were $722,000; fertilizer costs were $352,000; and seed costs were $62,000.

Of the total farms in the county, 36 had gross sales of $40,000 or more; 691 reported sales of less than $10,000.

Farms operated as sole proprietorships represented 94 percent of the total. In 1982, the average age of farm operators was 52.4 years. The proportion of operators reporting farming as their principal occupation remained essentially unchanged at 34 percent since 1978.

Data in the report for 1978 and 1982 are directly comparable for acreages and inventories. Dollar values have not been adjusted for changes in price levels.

Copies of the preliminary reports can be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Named To NAIA Football Team

WAYNESBURG — James Kline, a Waynesburg College senior from Monessen, has been named to the NAIA Academic All-America football team for the 1983 season.

Kline, a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kline Sr., was selected on the basis of his academic record, as well as athletic achievements. He is majoring in accounting and is a dean's list student.

His selection marks the second time Yellow Jacket football players have received national recognition since the end of the 1983 season. Earlier, five players received honorable mention on the All-America team.

Receive Degrees

Three students from Greene County were among 2,077 students receiving associate, bachelor's and advanced degrees from The Pennsylvania State University, Jan. 7, at the fall semester commencement ceremonies.

Tami Darby of Clarksville received a BS degree in management, Kristie Cipic of Mather received a BS extended degree in nursing, and George M. Koratich of Waynesburg R.D.2 received a BS degree in petroleum and natural gas engineering.

9 Give 'Fair Share'

WAYNESBURG — Two-thirds of Greene County's local municipalities have failed to respond to a request by the county commissioners that they share in the cost of operating and maintaining the county's new 1911 emergency telephone system.

Chief Clerk Herbert Cox said Monday that nine of the 26 municipalities have agreed to contribute a "fair share" allocation of 50 cents for each resident of the township or borough.

"We're disappointed that more of the municipalities haven't responded since their residents are receiving the benefits of the system," L.R. (Butch) Santore, chairman of the board of commissioners, said. "The amount each is being asked to give is small, but it's important to the county because of the increased cost we are facing in providing the service."

The amount the 20 townships and six boroughs have been asked to contribute in 1984 totals $20,238, which is approximately half of the increased cost the county incurred when it expanded the former countywide police radio network into the 1911 system, which added fire and ambulance capabilities.

"Even with the municipal contribution, the county's 1984 cost for communications will be $71,000 as compared with $51,000 in 1983," Cox said.

To date, Carmichaels, Clarksville, Greensboro, Rices Landing and Waynesburg boroughs and Center, Cumberland, Morris and Washington townships have notified the commissioners they will make the requested allocation. Their contributions total $8,095.50, leaving the county still short by $12,132.50.

"The requests were mailed out in November to give the municipalities an opportunity to include the money in their 1984 budgets," Santore said. "I hope that the other 17 municipalities have overlooked the request. If they have, I hope they will still come through."

"The 1911 system still has some bugs to be worked out, but it promises to be one of the most valuable services ever made available to county residents. And since all residents benefit, we feel the local municipalities should pick up a small part of the cost."

The allocations requested by the county commissioners, based on an appropriation of 50 cents for each resident
