Send In The Clouds

While everyone will be looking for rain clouds to be forming over Waynesburg Sunday for a successful July 29th Rain Day this year, members of the Special Events Commission were busy Monday painting the Rain Day logo on the Greene County Courthouse steps. The Special Events Commission has a complete slate of activities planned for both Saturday and Sunday most of which will take place in the courthouse area. Since the paint will begin washing off with the first rain, the logo will be covered until Rain Day activities begin. Those painting from the left are, Jodi Miller, Carolyn Augustine, Donna Lechowicz, and Judy Biltzer.

Bond In Cocaine Case Is $220,000

Suspect Requests Bail Reduction

WAYNESBURG — There were several developments Monday in the cocaine dealing investigation being conducted by Waynesburg Borough police.

The Greene County Court was asked to reduce the amount of bail set for John G. Balsamo of Waynesburg who was arrested on June 29, and an additional charge was filed against William R. Henderson of Sycamore R.D.1.

The request for bond reduction was made by attorney Robert Brady of Washington as Balsamo was arraigned Monday on two counts of delivery of cocaine, two counts of criminal conspiracy, and a count of conspiracy to commit arson.

Balsamo's bail was set at $220,000 by Magistrate John Watson at the time of his arrest and he has been held in the county jail since that time.

"Mr. Balsamo has a business in this community which is not running since he is in jail," Brady said. Balsamo operates a pizza shop on West High Street.

District Attorney Charles Morris objected to reduction of bail without a hearing being held. Judge Glenn Toothman agreed and asked Brady to file a written request for such a hearing so that one could be scheduled.

Another of the suspects in the ongoing investigation which has resulted in the arrest of five persons to date was also arraigned Monday. He is Michael Conklin, 24, Waynesburg, who is charged with two counts of criminal conspiracy and two counts of arson.

Waynesburg police lieutenant David Clark Monday morning filed an additional charge against William R. Henderson, 41, of being an accomplice in the delivery of $500 worth of cocaine in August 1983.

Henderson, who was being held in jail on a charge of delivering $800 worth of cocaine, was arraigned before Magistrate Ruth Hughes, who added $35,000 to his bond, bringing it up to $105,000. A hearing was scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday, July 31, before Magistrate John Watson.

In another matter in court Monday, Judge Toothman approved a petition by defense attorney John Stets to have Harvey A. Shekerko of Waynesburg admitted to Mayview State Hospital for 30 days for purposes of a psychiatric evaluation. Shekerko has been charged with criminal homicide in connection with the death of 4-year-old James E. Caldwell on March 21.

Policeman Wants His Job Back

WAYNESBURG — An attorney representing former Waynesburg Borough patrolman Michael J. Fuller claimed in Greene County Court Wednesday that his client's dismissal from the police force in September of last year "was a scheme on the part of the borough, the chief of police and the lieutenant to get rid of Fuller."

The statement by attorney Robert N. Clarke was made during arguments presented before Judge Glenn Toothman on Fuller's petition for reinstatement — based primarily on the contention that he should not have been penalized for failure to comply with an illegal order from Lt. David Clark.

Fuller's dismissal stemmed from an incident on Aug. 19, 1983, when Lt. Clark overheard part of a conversation at the police station between Fuller, Patrolman Glenn Bates and a state police trooper. He reached the conclusion that the borough officers were being critical of the police department to an outsider in violation of a policy which prohibits public critical discussion of matters involving police department affairs.

Bates complied with an order from Clark to write a report about the subject matter of the conversation. In it he stated that no matters of departmental policy were discussed.

Fuller, who was off duty at the time of the conversation, refused to submit a written report, although ordered to do so by both Clark and Chief Timothy Hawfield.

Fuller, a veteran of five years on the police force, was suspended by Mayor Roy Huffman and on Sept. 12 was dismissed from the force by borough council. Council's decision was subsequently upheld by the borough Civil Service Commission following a public hearing held on Oct. 13.

Clarke argued that Fuller's firing was out of line with prior practice and was completely out of line with the alleged offense. He also contended that there was an appearance of bias on the part of the Civil Service Commission in that the chairman of the commission, Ewing B. Pollock, is a law partner of the borough solicitor, William P. Thomas.

In a written brief submitted in support of his oral arguments, Clarke stated:

"Disobedience of a legal order is a specific ground for suspension, removal or reduction in rank. When an order is based upon a regulation which sweeps overbroadly into areas of speech protected by our Constitution, then the police officer who is dismissed for refusing to obey that order has been wronged in the most fundamental sense.

"An order which demands that a police officer reveal what he has casually, privately discussed during his off-duty hours is an order which need not be obeyed because the guarantees of the Bill of Rights still have the force of law in this community.

"Furthermore, the procedures which are employed to deprive a police officer of his livelihood must be fair and unbiased. Where charges brought do not conform to statutory language and where an appearance of partiality exists, then the agency which participates in the deprivation has failed to perform its function as required by law.

"Patrolman Fuller was not in-

Carmichaels Girl Is Miss Rain Day

WAYNESBURG — Jodi Burge, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman McMillan of Carmichaels, was crowned Miss Rain Day 1984 at the annual pageant held Sunday night at Waynesburg Central High School.

Miss Burge was crowned by Michelle K. Morris, last year's pageant winner.

Some 500 people watched the 18 contestants compete in a talent competition, a personal interview, and sportswear and evening gown modeling.

Miss Burge received a $200 U.S. Savings Bond and trophy as winner of the sixth annual contest sponsored by the Greater Waynesburg Area Chamber of Commerce. She also received two $50 bonds as winner of the talent and evening gown modeling portion of the pageant. She performed an acrobatic ballet dance.

Tammy Machesky, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Machesky of Waynesburg R.D.1, received a $150 bond and trophy as first runner-up.

Second runner-up and winner of a $100 bond and trophy was Tracy Stuck, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stuck of Waynesburg. She also received a $50 bond as Miss Photogenic and a $50 bond for sportswear modeling.

Third and fourth runners-up each received a $50 bond and trophy. They were, respectively, Tammy Hardin, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Hardin of Carmichaels, and Ann

JODI BURGE

Cowan, 18, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Cowan of Waynesburg.

Five talent achievement winners were also named, each of whom received a $50 bond. They were Tracy Elliott, 18, Crucible; Tracy Shultz, 17, Waynesburg; Melissa Headlee, 16, Garards Fort; Barbara Bamberger, 17, Graysville, and Dayne Cochran, 16, Carmichaels.

Judges were Pat Palermo, instructor of music at the Ellis School in Pittsburgh; Jodi Welch, assistant professor of dance at Point Park College, and Beverly Misgalla, owner of a dance study at Bethel Park.

New State Police Barracks Dedicated

WAYNESBURG — Dedication ceremonies for the new Pennsylvania State Police barracks in Franklin Township were held Friday morning with Judge Glenn R. Toothman as keynote speaker.

Located along Elm Drive across from the Waynesburg Central High School entrance off Route 21, the new facility has been in use since the beginning of April.

Dedicatory remarks were offered by Deputy Commissioner Cyril J. Laffey. Also taking part in the ceremonies were Sgt. John M. Hamborsky, station commander, who also acted as master of ceremonies; the Very Rev. Francis A. Nazimek, Our Lady of Consolation Church and the Rev. David Barrett, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Waynesburg.

Several local officials attended, including state Rep. Barry Stout, county commissioners L.R. Santore and Dan Bailey, District Attorney Charles Morris and a former station commander, Joe Souders, now county treasurer.

Laffey told the audience that new substations were a high priority when he took office several years ago. "We enter a new era for these dedicated troopers," he told the audience.

In his address, Toothman paid tribute to the men and women of the state police force. "Their's is a job where they put their lives and honor on the line day after day," he said. "(Today) is a time to remember with honor and respect the members, past and present, of the force whose training and skill will ever be tested ... by that which perforates an orderly society."

Thomas M. Fahy, representing Penmark, officially turned the building over to the commonwealth and praised the reception his firm has received from Greene County residents. Penmark also owns the adjacent Greene Shopping Plaza.

Corporal Elmer Schifko conducted a tour of the new facility which was open to the public throughout the afternoon.

County Phone System Work Is On Schedule

WAYNESBURG — Gordon Curry, vice president for operations of ALTELE Pennsylvania Inc., Waynesburg service area, said the $1.2 million construction program for 1984 is proceeding on schedule.

Approximately $819,000 worth of construction is presently in progress. Exchanges where money is being spent include: Fredericktown, $161,000; Carmichaels, $131,400; New Freeport, $33,800; Jefferson, $71,800; Waynesburg, $149,700; Rogersville, $61,000; Brave, $21,200; and Mt. Morris, $188,500.

Areas within the exchanges where work is being done include: Crucible, Dunn's Station, Jollytown near Hero, Mt. Morris Sportsman's Club, south Muddy Creek, Route 88 south to Paisley, and Coon Run Road.

Expenditures involve the construction of aerial cables replacing wire facilities and the installation of small distribution cables and large feeder cables ranging in size from six pairs to 600 pairs. These cables extend from the switching centers to outlying areas. The construction also includes a trunk cable from Waynesburg and Rogersville to carry digital service trunks for long distance and local calling. About $172,000 will be spent for electronic digital carrier equipment which will be located in Taylorstown to provide private line service to customers.

Curry said, "The majority of construction is aerial instead of buried. This involves replacing and rehabilitating old pole lines rather than buried cable. Approximately 447 poles have been installed in Greene County this year as replacements of old poles."

The outside plant construction, for the most part, is required to replace an obsolete plant and to provide additional plant facilities to meet customer service demands for upgrading to one-party service.

One and two-party service has increased to 79.5 percent, as compared to 63.5 percent five years ago.

Bike Parade Is Planned

CARMICHAELS — The 14th annual Coal Show Bicycle Parade will be held in Carmichaels Friday, Aug. 24, with children and adults invited to participate.

Cash prizes will be awarded for the best decorated bicycle or tricycle as well as other categories. Judging will be done at Central School and participants must be there by 5:30 p.m. for judging.

The parade of bikes will leave the school at 6 p.m. behind the Carmichaels Area High School Band. The parade will move up Market Street to the town square and down George Street to the coal show grounds where prizes will be awarded.

Judging will be done by age groups. Those who do not receive a cash prize will be given a carnival ride ticket and small soda.

Five $2 prizes will be awarded in the age 1 to 5 group, ages 6 to 10, 11 to 15 and 15 and over. Five dollar prizes will be given for the oldest bike, oddest bike, youngest child peddling and oldest person peddling.

Local Lawyer Arrested In Drug Investigation

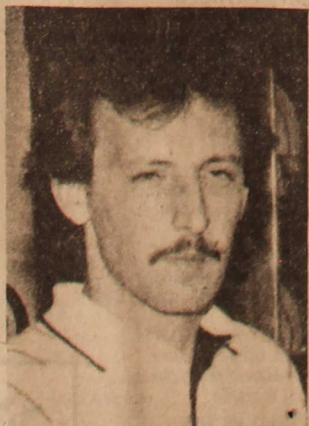

WAYNESBURG — The ongoing drug investigation being conducted by Waynesburg Borough Police resulted in the arrest Thursday afternoon of Robert Duncan Berryman, 32, Waynesburg R.D.2.

Berryman, an attorney, turned himself in at the police station after a warrant for his arrest was obtained by Lt. David Clark.

He is charged with 15 counts of possessing cocaine, with the offenses being alleged to have occurred between Jan. 1, 1983, and Feb. 3, 1983, at Balsamo's Pizza Shop, Waynesburg, and at the home of its owner, John G. Balsamo.

Balsamo was arrested three weeks ago on charges of criminal conspiracy, delivery of cocaine and criminal solicitation to commit arson. Berryman is the fifth person to be arrested in the course of the investigation.

The suspect was arraigned before

ROBERT BERRYMAN

Magistrate John Watson, who set bail at $20,000. A hearing has been scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday before Magistrate Ruth Hughes.

Hospital To Start Building Project

WAYNESBURG — Greene County Memorial Hospital will break ground for its $5.8 million construction and renovation program at 10 a.m. Thursday, July 26.

Following the ceremony, the McAnallen Corp. of Washington will begin work on the project. They are expected to take a year to complete the project, which will add 14,000 square feet of new space and 9,000 square feet of renovated space to the hospital.

New space will be provided through construction of a three-story addition to the wing built in 1961. It will contain a new five-bed special care unit equipped with advanced electronic monitoring and life support systems; a second-stage coronary care unit; an ambulatory care center for outpatient surgery; and ambulatory clinics.

Additional space will also be provided for the radiology department, clinical laboratories and physical therapy department.

A number of other areas throughout the hospital will be renovated, including the emergency and dietary departments.

The project represents the first phase of a long-range master plan developed to keep the hospital current with advances in health care.

Jacktown Fair Opens Aug. 1

WIND RIDGE — One of the nation's oldest, if not the oldest, continuous county fairs will officially open Wednesday, Aug. 1, and run through Saturday, Aug. 4.

The Richhill Agricultural Society will present the 119th edition of the annual Jacktown Fair.

Organized July 6, 1866, the society has sponsored a fair each year for over a century atop the scenic hill in Wind Ridge.

Hannah Amusements will open its midway attractions on Tuesday, July 31, and the opening parade, featuring Miss Jacktown Fair, will be held Tuesday evening.

A band contest also will be held Tuesday night in the fairgrounds.

Actual fair activities will begin at 8 p.m. Wednesday with a pony pulling contest. A new feature will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. when "pedal power" is introduced.

The pedal pull consists of two pedal tractors which are standard with the exception of pneumatic tires on the driving wheels. The tractor is hitched to a weight transfer sled similar to the ones used in the full-sized tractor pulls.

The sled has a moving weight box to which the weights are added and is scaled to the tractor's size. Competition is by groups, 3 years to 10 years old. Both boys and girls will compete.

Also on Thursday, a fireworks display will be presented by the world-famous Zambelli family.

A demolition derby will be held at 8 p.m. Friday with tractor and horse pulling contests at 1 and 8 p.m., respectively, on Saturday.

The usual livestock and produce judging will be done throughout the week in addition to needlecraft, floral exhibits, art, photography and craft judging and grange exhibits.

Society officers are Mike Gardner, president; Raymond McCracken, vice president; Thomas M. Tharp, recording secretary; and Josephine Bristol, secretary-treasurer.

Rices Landing Hosts Festival

RICES LANDING — The annual Rices Landing River Festival had something for everyone, beginning with a square dance Friday night and concluding with movies at the fire hall Sunday night.

In between there were foot races, a firemen's "lay and spray" contest, a ski and water show, a pancake breakfast and ecumenical church service, concerts by the New Covenant Singers and the Greater Uniontown Barbership Quartet, canoe races, a quilt show, a waterslide and a break dance contest.

The event is held each year by the Rices Landing Volunteer Fire Company, with most of the events taking place on the former lock wall along the Monongahela River.

The 10K run was won by Paul Jost, whose winning time of 33:03 was just 15 seconds faster than that of Tom Bell. Joe Hellicke finished third in 35:40. All three are members of the Washington County Roadrunners.

The two-mile run was won by Rick Puskar in 12:43.

The Greensboro Volunteer Fire Company won the "lay and spray" contest in 1:02, which was seven seconds faster than the time turned in by Rices Landing in laying hose and knocking a plastic bucket from the top of a barrel. Jefferson finished third.

Bob Robson and Dave Tanner won the canoe race held Sunday afternoon in 2:13. Paul Battaglini and Joe Martin finished second in 2:15 and Joe Brosika and Mark Patton were third in 2:16.

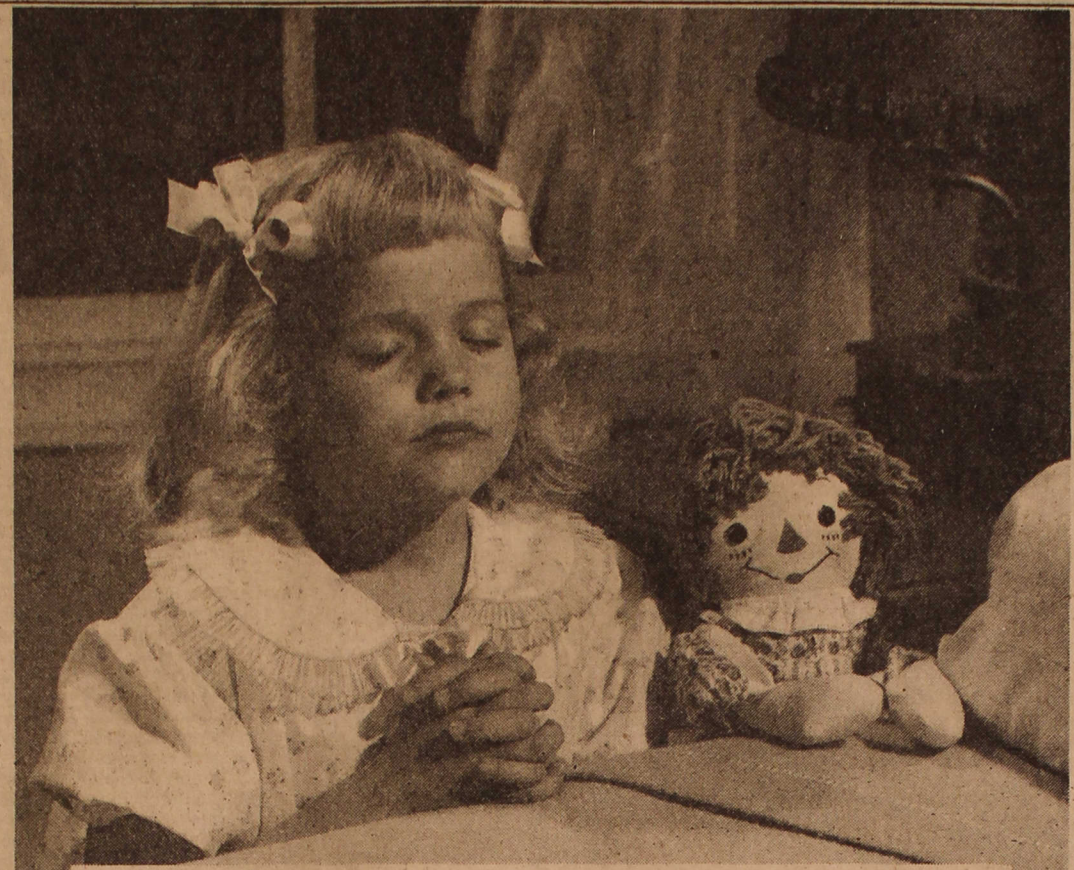

The Electric City Crew (Bruce Gueseman, Carl Brooks and Herbert Hungerford of Jefferson) won the break dance contest. Second place went to the Soul Sonic Breakers (Isaac Meloin, Eric Boger, Mike Boger, Eric Pilgreen and Chucky Dennis). Homer Stephen and Stan Durco of the Home Town Breakers finished third.

College Museum Open Saturday

WAYNESBURG — The Waynesburg College museum will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday as part of the Waynesburg Rain Day observance.

Special displays on the history of Greene County are highlighted by rare documents, maps and photographs. Of special interest to children will be a black light demonstration that shows rocks changing color in the dark.

The museum is located on the first floor of the Paul R. Science building on North Washington Street. Admission is free. Those visiting the museum are asked to use the Franklin Street entrance.

GOD MUST SMILE

There was never a more serious moment in Barbara's life. Nor any more remarkable in Raggedy Ann's. Barbara's parents smiled and thought of tomorrow. So must have God. For God rejoices in a child's faith. Knowing that gradually it will grow wiser— Though it cannot ever be more sincere. And He smiles lovingly at what we are today. Knowing, all the while, what we can become tomorrow! Is your child—are you—growing in the faith of your church?

Commissioners Resurrect County Jail Board

WAYNESBURG — At the suggestion of Sheriff Remo Bertugli, the Greene County commissioners have re-established the county jail board.

During their meeting Thursday, the commissioners adopted a resolution to rescind their action of May 3 abolishing the board — a decision which was made because of the difficulty of obtaining quorums for monthly meetings and the consensus among board members that it was not needed.

"It's ironic, but since that time several problems have come up which the sheriff feels require board action rather than being handled by him alone," Commission Chairman L.R. Santore said.

Two of the problems involve lawsuits filed in federal court by two prisoners who were in the jail until just recently. They involve a number of complaints about the jail, including commissary prices, the quality of food, lack of counseling, inadequacy of the law library and medical facilities and matters involving the handling of mail and use of the telephone.

"With return of responsibility for operation of the jail to a board, the services of the county solicitor will again be available to handle legal problems and that should save us money," Santore said. He noted that the sheriff's department has a solicitor on a small annual retainer but that it does not cover litigation.

The board, officially designated as the Board of Inspectors of the Greene County Jail, was established originally in December 1980 after the new county jail was opened. It transferred responsibility for management of the jail from the sheriff to the board, which is made up of the three commissioners, Judge Glenn Toothman, the sheriff and District Attorney Charles Morris.

Because the board was abolished in May, Santore said it will probably have to reorganize. At that time a decision will be made on meetings. "All that the county code requires is one meeting each three months at the jail," he said.

In other action at the meeting, the commissioners endorsed an application by the Greene County Library System for a grant of $29,000 under Title I of the Library Services and Construction Act.

The money would be used to purchase additional materials for the library to expand services to older residents and those who are undereducated, unemployed and economically disadvantaged.

When contacted after the meeting,

Marjory Johnston, library system coordinator, said that the money, if forthcoming, would be used primarily for large-print books and materials on vocations, career information and similar items to meet special needs. It also would serve the needs of people who reside in outlying parts of the county by making the materials available through book deposits in various parts of the county.

The commissioners were notified by the state Department of Agriculture that the county's allocation of funds for administration of the Temporary Emergency Food Assistance Program has been increased by approximately 30 percent for the final quarter of the 1984 federal fiscal year, which runs through Sept. 30. It will increase the county's allocation for the final three months by $1,579 to a total of $6,754.

Funds provided by the program are used for the purchase and distribution of food through the Greene County Food Bank. The amount each county receives is based on a formula which considers poverty and unemployment statistics.

The commissioners negotiated an agreement with Alltel, covering updating the telephone system in the county office building and installing telephones on the third floor of the county office building, where new offices are being established. It calls for a monthly rental of $115. The commissioners said that elimination of several existing extensions will probably result in a small savings over the cost of the present system.

Industrial Appraisal Co. was again contracted to provide the county with the annual update of county property appraisals needed to establish insurance coverage levels. The firm will receive $955 for the service.

The commissioners approved payment of $17,462 to the A.C. Moyer Construction Co. for resurfacing of roads at the airport and the fairgrounds. Payment will be made out of state Liquid Fuels money allocated to the county.

At the request of the Penn's Southwest Association, the commissioners agreed to write the Civil Aeronautics Board supporting Pittsburgh petition to retain gateway authority for international service to London, England, at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

TWA, which flew the route for four months in 1981, has requested that the authority be moved to St. Louis, Mo.

The Allegheny County commissioners have asked that it be kept in Pittsburgh and that the service be taken over by USAir.

Raising Money For Heart Campaign

County Criminals Can't Be Called 'Heartless'

WAYNESBURG — A number of county officials will join others from the community in spending time in "jail" on Saturday, July 28.

"Whatever the charge, it certainly won't be failure to have a heart," according to a spokesman for the Southwestern Pennsylvania Chapter of the American Heart Association.

The local residents will be confined in an outdoor "cell" as part of Waynesburg Rain Day festivities until they are able to raise bail (jail bail) for the Greene County Heart Campaign.

Each of the accused will try to raise bail of $100 by telephoning potential bondsmen, in the form of donors, who will most likely be their friends and co-workers. Other pledges to free them — or keep them jailed — will be accepted by volunteers at the jail on July 28.

Greg Hook, a member of the Greene County steering committee planning the event, said the outdoor cell will be set up in front of the courthouse in Waynesburg.

"Interested persons are invited to stop by between 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. and participate in the fun," he said. "If you can't visit that day, you can call in your bail pledge at 627-7989."

"Remember that we're fighting for your life and that proceeds from the event will help support the Heart Association's research, education and community service programs."

Hook can be contacted at 627-3017 for additional details.

Those participating in the program as volunteer prisoners will be Tom Hill, Rusty Rice, Allen Nixdorf, Nancy McCann, Dick Cowan, Petey Carlson, Victor Carlson, John Hardisty, Dave Coder, Carl Baily, John Blosser, Bob Sonneborn, Bill Hook, Shirley Stockdale, Dan Bailey, John Gardner, Valerie Cole, Dave Arnold, Jim Harris and Bill Connor.

Students' Parents File Suit Over Alleged Attack On Sons

WAYNESBURG — The parents of two Mapletown Junior-Senior High School students have sued for damages for an alleged attack on their sons by a school bus driver.

The lawsuit was filed Monday in Greene County Court by Teddy Cree of Greensboro and Glennora Cree of Dilliner R.D. 1 on their own behalf and on behalf of their sons, Robert, 16, and John, 13.

Named as defendants are Ralph Keener of Dilliner R.D. 1, a school bus driver; Lewis Brumley, Marsha again while he was lying on the ground. It states that Keener then took him into the high school building, where he again struck the youth in the presence of the principal, knocking him into wall lockers.

At the request of the parents, the school board conducted an investigation and at a special meeting in November removed Keener from the approved list of school bus drivers.

But on Dec. 13, at the request of the bus contractors, the board reinstated him to the approved list of drivers

Miss Rain Day And Court

Jodi Burge, 14, center, was selected 1984 Miss Rain Day Sunday night during the annual Miss Rain Day Pageant. She was selected over 17 other candidates judged on talent, an interview and sportswear and evening gown modeling. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman McMillen of Carmichaels and will reign over Waynesburg's annual July 29th Rain Day activities and represent the Greater Waynesburg Area Chamber of Commerce at events throughout the year. Members of her court are, from left, Tammy Hardin, 17, of Jefferson, third runner-up; Tracy Stuck, 17, of Waynesburg, second runner-up; Jodi Burge; Tammy Machesky, 19, of Waynesburg; first runner-up; and Ann Cowan, 18, of Waynesburg, fourth runner-up.

Area Game Protector Describes His Job

WAYNESBURG — Robert P. Shaffer, district game protector for the eastern half of Greene County, issued an invitation to "those interested in the outdoors and conservation" to consider a career with the Pennsylvania Game Commission during a talk Monday to members of the Waynesburg Rotary Club.

Shaffer, who makes his home in Carmichaels, is a 25-year veteran as a game protector. He has been in Greene County for the past five years.

Noting that no Greene County native has ever become a game protector, Shaffer told the Rotarians that "this county should be a prime source for game protector applicants because of the extensive hunting and outdoor activity that goes on year 'round."

He described his job in some detail, emphasizing the training and preparation which each candidate must face before receiving a commission as a game protector. He said that anyone with a high school education who is in good physical condition can apply for the Civil Service examination which is the first step to a career with the Game Commission.

After successfully completing the exam, the applicant faces an interview plus a visit at home by a Game Commission official. Applicants who are accepted attend the commission's Conservation School near Ridgway for up to 12 months of instruction and practical work on a 90-acre tract of land which first began as a bird sanctuary.

Commenting on the commission's statewide structure, Shaffer said that the agency has an annual budget of some $24 million which is funded solely by hunting license fees.

Rain Day Enthusiasts See End To Dry Spell

Just about the only thing missing from Waynesburg's Rain Day festivities this weekend will be a rain dance.

Despite misses in the past two years, Rain Prophet John L. Daily is confident such incantations won't be necessary to get the time-honored tradition back on the right track come Sunday, July 29.

The retired attorney is confident that he will have good news when he gets his usual telephone calls from newspapers, radio stations and television stations throughout the United States. Since as little as a few drops will do, he has usually been able to say it has rained, with the record of success now standing at 93 times in 108 years.

The attention Rain Day receives would come as a big surprise to the unknown farmer who began the whole thing many years ago when he happened to remark to a drugstore clerk that it always seemed to rain in Waynesburg on July 29.

For many years, the unusual bit of folklore was no more than an annual notation on the ledgers of that drugstore and those of its successors. But in the late 1920's free-lance newspaperman John L. O'Hara of Waynesburg picked up on the oddity and it is largely through his efforts that it has become part of the nation's weather lore.

As usual, the Greater Waynesburg Area Chamber of Commerce has scheduled fund events to celebrate the weekend, with most of them centering around the courthouse.

Activities this year will include appearances by Miss Rain Day, activities for children, umbrella and window decorating contests, musical concerts, arts and crafts displays, food booths, a fun run, dancing exhibitions, a Rain Day dance, antique car show and many others, spreading over both Saturday and Sunday.

It might not have rained for the past two years, but that hasn't affected the durability of Waynesburg's peculiar tradition. But it would be much nicer if it does rain this Sunday.

Balloons Released For POWs, MIAs

WAYNESBURG — As part of weekend ceremonies to remember those unaccounted for from the Vietnam War, over 2,000 red, white and blue balloons were released over Waynesburg Friday.

The balloon release was part of "National POW-MIA Recognition Day" as proclaimed by President Reagan. A vigil for the missing servicemen will continue over the weekend in front of the Greene County Courthouse until noon on Sunday.

Vern Smith of Waynesburg, pastor of the Word of God Ministries Church in Monongahela, spoke at the Friday morning ceremonies. Smith urged those in attendance to "go to war for your husbands and your brothers — get involved."

"The battle we need to fight is a spiritual one. There are many thousands of men still in prison today, not only in Asia but in the United States," he said, addressing the emotional and physical problems some Vietnam veterans have faced since their return.

At noon, 2,490 balloons, one for each American serviceman missing from the Vietnam War, and one for a Waynesburg man unaccounted for from the Korean War, were released.

Each balloon carries a card with the name of one of the missing. People who find a balloon are urged to mail the cards back and they will then be forwarded to Speaker of the House Thomas (Tip) O'Neill.

Local residents concerned about the missing servicemen; as well as veterans of that war, will take part in the vigil in front of the courthouse and a candlelight service on Saturday at midnight.

An informational booth has been set up for those wanting to help in the campaign to get a final accounting on each person missing since the war ended.

Central Greene Receives State Money For Remedial Programs

WAYNESBURG — The Central Greene School District has received an allocation of $115,420 in state funds to be used for educational remediation programs.

Superintendent Nancy I. Davis said the appropriation, provided as part of the district's basic subsidy, was $72,540 more than had been anticipated when the 1984-85 budget was set up.

She explained that the money is being provided as part of Governor Thornburgh's "Pursuit of Excellence in Education" program.

"I'm enthusiastic about it," Mrs. Davis said. "It's extra money that can be used for instructional improvement."

Part of the funds will be used for the mandatory testing program to be held in October. At that time, students in grades three, five and eight will be tested on their basic skills in reading and math.

The testing program is intended to pinpoint instructional weaknesses which can be addressed through remediation programs using the balance of the extra funding.

On top of that, Mrs. Davis said, school districts which prepare plans for special remediation programs will have an opportunity to apply for additional funds under two other new state programs which will make a total of $11 million available throughout the state for remediation.

"The grants will be given on a non-competitive basis according to a formula based on need," she said. "We plan to apply for funds under both programs."

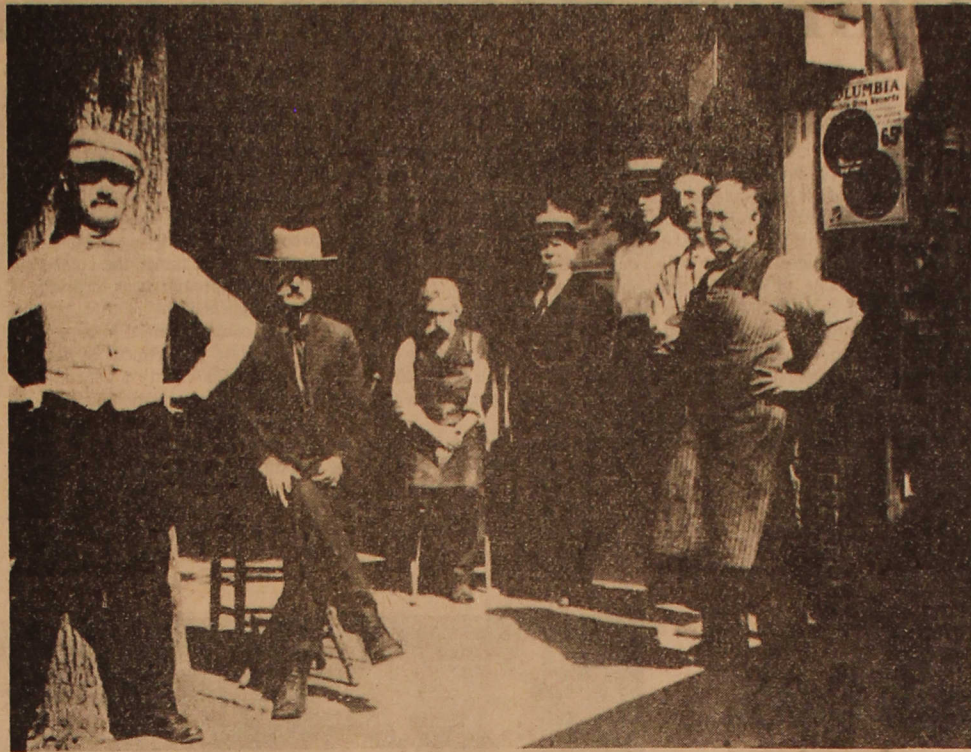

Mrs. Davis said the district will receive more information about the new state programs at conferences to be held this month. She and board member Lila Ayersman will be leaving today for a conference at Bucknell University, and she and 10 members of the administration and faculty will be attending another conference in Shippensburg July 24-27.

Tests Offered

WAYNESBURG — Area residents can take advantage of free vision and hearing screenings on Aug. 10-11 during the annual Greene County Fair.

The screenings are sponsored by the Waynesburg Lions Club and Eye & Ear Hospital of Pittsburgh.

Franklin Twp. Supervisors Approve Sewer Agreement

WAYNESBURG — Pending residential developments commanded most of the attention of the Franklin Township supervisors at their semi-monthly meeting Monday afternoon.

An agreement with Russell Cowell was approved covering sewer service to six lots he plans to develop in Section No. 2 of the Coallick Plan of Lots, near the Curry Memorial Home.

It provides for the installation of a holding tank as a temporary measure to provide sewerage service for the six additional lots to be developed in the subdivision. Cowell, as the developer, would be responsible for servicing the tank.

At the end of two years, if municipal sewerage service is not available, the agreement requires that a community on-lot system be installed to meet Department of Environmental Resources standards. Cowell agreed to place $4,000 per lot in escrow to guarantee compliance with the agreement.

A road agreement was executed with Robert Cowell and Sons involving development of additional lots in the Colonial Place Plan of Lots. It provides that the developer place $1,200 in escrow for each additional lot which is sold to cover extension of the interior road system within the lot plan.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ankrom met with the supervisors to discuss the development of 20½ acres on the Dark Hollow Road. The Ankroms, along with Mr. and Mrs. Rick Joseph and Mr. and Mrs. Barry Baker, are arranging to purchase the land which was previously laid out for a 34-lot development — a plan which was never carried out.

They are planning to divide the tract into four large lots of some five acres each, with three of them being used for homes to be built by each of the three couples.

The supervisors voted to accept Center Avenue Extension, a new road leading to the Greene Health Care Center, as part of the township road system. Official acceptance will depend on approval of the Greene County Court and posting of a maintenance bond by the developer.

An agreement with Carnegie Natural Gas was executed. It covers any damage to a township road between Routes 21 and 188 during construction of a $1.8 million natural gas extractor facility adjoining the gas company's compressor station adjacent to the county fairgrounds.

Plans call for the installation of a compressor, heater, extractor and fractionator in addition to four 30,000 gallon storage tanks. The fractionator would extract three separate elements — propane, butane and liquid natural gas — from natural gas.

Robert Kuchar, grant administrator for Community Preservation, met with the supervisors to report on a housing rehabilitation program funded with a federal grant in West Waynesburg.

He said that four renovation projects are ready to go, with an additional five applications having been processed and approved.

AROUND TOWN

By THE STAFF

The one-room Crouse schoolhouse, located along Route 21 between East View and Rogersville, may soon be restored by the Greene County Historical Society as a memorial to the many one-roomers which once dotted the Greene County landscape.

Efforts to preserve the building have been underway for some 20 years, ever since it was closed when West Greene High School was constructed. Maybe this effort will succeed.

The Crouse school was one of the latest and best preserved buildings of its kind and it shouldn't take too much to turn it into a fitting example of the type of school which many Greene County residents who are still living attended when they were young.

Removal of the large lighted globe which marked the Norge Village laundromat in Morrisville was noted by a lot of motorists who passed by it every day on their way into and out of Waynesburg. The owner, Russell Raymond, felt that the heavy plastic ball with its bright red, yellow and blue dots should come down after 25 years because it was in danger of falling.

Greene County Memorial Hospital was scheduled to hold a groundbreaking ceremony Thursday to mark the start of construction of its new addition. The $5.8 million project will provide the hospital with additional space and with new facilities to keep it abreast of new developments in the health care field.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hathaway of Carmichaels held an open house Sunday, July 22, to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. Dick is a former faculty member at Carmichaels Area High School and was prominent for many years in high school athletics.

Greene County will lose one of its veteran ministers when the Rev. Wesley T. Huffman retires on Aug. 1 as pastor of the Jefferson Church of the Nazarene. He is a native of Center Township and has been in the ministry since 1947.

A lot of former Greene Countians, especially those from the Wind Ridge area, are expected to be back in town next week for the annual Jacktown Fair. This year's will be the 119th, making it the longest running consecutive event of its kind in the county.

Another successful Waynesburg Playground program is concluding this week after providing a lot of summer fun for boys and girls in the community. As a climax, the Recreation Authority will hold various contests for boys and girls as part of Rain Day activities on the courthouse lawn Saturday.

Fact and Folklore

John O'Hara

Sunday, July 29, is a day better known to the present generation of Greene Countians as Rain Day in the borough of Waynesburg.

Rain Day is an intriguing bit of folklore in which a legend has been handed down from generation to generation that it always — or almost always — rains in Waynesburg on this particular date.

Its very uniqueness has given it a hue of hilarity appropriate to a fantasy of this sort.

But for many older residents the date of July 29 has a deeper significance through being the day the ideals of gallantry, courage and patriotism were fused by one particular group of Greene County youths on a far away battlefield when they gave their last breath to perpetuate the American way of life.

These men were members of the county's historic National Guard infantry unit, Co. K, 110th Pennsylvania Infantry. Most of them had grown to manhood together. They fought together and many of them died together.

The 29th of July in 1918 marked the first day in the intensive fighting of the western front which eventually proved to be one of the first encounters which led to Germany's defeat four months later on Nov. 11, 1918.

The original unit of some 150 men and officers from Greene County had been expanded by a merger with a corresponding unit from Philadelphia's 103rd regiment and subsequent replacements to full war strength.

But the raw courage and dedication to a great cause which they took with them when they entered active service the preceding September was still the dominant flavor in the day-to-day life of the unit.

It also prefigured the individual attitudes of hundreds of other Greene County youths who went into other army units or other branches of the service and many of whom also made the supreme sacrifice.

When they answered the call for local volunteers as the United States became involved in World War I, members of Company K perpetuated the spirit of the New England patriots who left their plowshares in the ground to fight at Bunker Hill, at Concord and at Lexington as they fired their crudely made muskets in shots which poets wrote were heard around the world.

Their Concord and Lexington came far from home across the Atlantic Ocean in a wheat field as they advanced toward a German stronghold on a commanding knoll designated as Sergej Hill.

In one of those inexplicable military misunderstandings or lack of communications, the Pennsylvania rifle company stormed the stronghold with no advance artillery bombardment. When the day was over only 43 of the original group of 250 were left unscathed.

The dead and wounded lay about them as many could not be taken to rear aid stations until darkness sheltered their movements.

It was a day in which the unit's baptism of fire was turned into a crucible of courage, a day which created a tradition of high inspiration for hundreds of youths from the home town and county of those World War "doughboys" to generations as yet unborn.

As time goes on it is a day which must become in some fitting manner a day of reverence for the past in the form of Greene County's own particular day of true greatness, a day on which so many paid with their lifeblood and others with great injuries.

It is a day which deserves more than just a passing nod, a brief moment of silence which is forgotten almost as quickly as it is observed amid the merriment incidental to a bit of folklore almost as transient as the morning fog in comparison to the enduring significance of their suffering so long ago on July 29 in 1918.

Stop The Rumors

To The Editor:

It has come to the attention of the Waynesburg Police Department that there is a great deal of speculation being done by some members of the public with respect to who may or may not be arrested in the ongoing drug investigation.

Some of the speculation being done has developed into damaging statements being made with regard to innocent persons. We would encourage the public to refrain from carrying these rumors so that the reputations of innocent persons will not continue to be impaired.

Lt. David C. Clark,
Waynesburg Police Department

A familiar business sign that brightened a section of Morrisville for almost 25 years was removed Friday morning for fear it would fall and hurt someone. The Norge Village spinning globe was removed by Richard Raymond, whose father, Russell, owns the laundromat and dry cleaning business the globe symbolized. Richard said the globe, which was illuminated at night, probably was installed in 1960 when the business opened. The heavy plastic ball with its bright red, yellow and blue dots was a familiar sight to motorists. Richard removed the globe to his back yard and plans to make something out of it, although he's not quite sure what that will be.

Specter's Visit

To The Editor:

I read about U.S. Senator Specter's visit to Waynesburg.

Wouldn't it be nice if our elected officials could schedule these "open houses" at such a time when the working person could attend them? This applies to all levels of government.

Yes, we can write letters but our letters are not always answered. We should have the opportunity to meet with, and talk to, our government officials.

Sewage Enforcement Officer Loses License

JEFFERSON — Donald Forman, a licensed sewage enforcement officer for the past 10 years, has been notified by the state Department of Environmental Resources that his state certification has been suspended.

Forman, who lives in Jefferson, becomes the second sewage enforcement officer in the county to have his license revoked by DER officials.

He will have 30 days from the date of his notice to appeal the DER decision.

During one period a few years ago, Forman, 64, served 19 townships as sewage enforcement officer, but in the past few years had reduced his workload considerably.

Forman said Tuesday he has not decided if he will appeal.

James Rogers of Waynesburg was suspended several weeks ago and he, too, remains undecided about appealing his suspension.

Car Rolls Over; Driver Is Safe

Two Rices Landing men escaped injury Saturday morning following a one-car accident on School Road near Sprowles Road in Somerset Township.

James Coode, 22, told state police he lost control of his vehicle about 10:50 a.m. after swerving to avoid striking a dog which jumped in front of his car.

The car left the road, struck a fence on the property of John Marchezak of Bentleyville R.D.1 and rolled over an embankment.

Neither Coode nor a passenger in the car, Thomas Coode, 19, was injured.

Youth Is Injured

JEFFERSON — Buddy Allen Walters, 10, of Jefferson suffered minor injuries at 9:15 a.m. Thursday when he darted into the path of a vehicle being operated by Frances Sova of Rices Landing.

The accident occurred on Route 188 in the borough. The youth was treated and released.

Historical Society To Lease Building

Crouse Schoolhouse May Soon See Repairs

By Christie Molzon, Staff Writer

GRAYSVILLE — Restoration of the Crouse Schoolhouse may soon get under way.

The West Greene School Board agreed to a lease the brick one-room school to the Greene County Historical Society at a board meeting Thursday night.

Farley Toothman, president of the historical society, and Paul Crouse, acting chairman of the Crouse School House Association, presented the board with the lease proposal. The agreement is contingent upon a review of the deed by Solicitor Robert McCall. It is the district's understanding that the deed has a reversionary clause that should the building not be used as a school, it would revert to the property owner, John McNay. However, Toothman noted that McNay had expressed his willingness to see the school restored.

The lease agreement would give the historical society a lease for $1 a year for 35 years beginning July 21. The historical society would then have the option to renew the lease for an additional 50 years at $1 a year. Toothman explained this lease is in accordance with the lease the Greene County Historical Society has with the county on its museum.

The historical society plans to form a special interest group to assume responsibility for preserving the school and for its use. Toothman said the association believes it has sufficient funding at this time to re-roof the building, put in new windows and a new door before winter.

The schoolhouse is located along Route 21 and has often been the target of vandals. Built around 1900, it was used as a school until the West Greene High School was built.

Superintendent Paul Polink presented two policy drafts to the board, one on guidelines for gifts and donations made to the schools and another on the hiring of substitute personnel.

The policy on gifts was not approved. Although a motion to approve the policy on hiring of substitute help was made, it was later rescinded when some board members indicated they needed a more specific policy. The board did approve having a policy drawn up on job descriptions for people who sponsor extra-curricular activities in the district.

Thelma Szarell was named head teacher for the Allepo Elementary School for the 1984-85 year.

The resignation of Susan Huffman as elementary physical education teacher was accepted and that position posted. It also was agreed to post a custodial position.

Kathleen Guthrie was granted a one-year unpaid leave of absence and Doris Moore was added to the substitute secretary/clerical aide list.

A motion to use substitute help when full-time employees are not available, with the exception of employees in the business office, was approved.

Polink reported that AT&T is installing the line to make a telephone hookup between the district's terminal and the Intermediate Unit's main computer.

The August board meeting will again be held in the Graysville Elementary School.
